

Pass-Roll: You're On a Roll!

If you are in contact with the hot ball (the one that plays after you) and your partner ball has a decent chance of scoring on its next shot, the pass-roll is an opportunity you can't pass up!

It doesn't matter too much where you are on the court. Just do a pass-roll, in which you go past the off-side line toward the next hoop and leave your opponent far behind and out of position to score. You will be legally off-side on that shot, because you went there after contact with your opponent. The beauty of this shot is 1) you're in position to score the next hoop while being legally off-side; 2) you have eliminated the threat of red scoring and have wired it from clearing black, which is in position to score.
