God & Your Bod Part 3: Listen and Learn

2 Chronicles 18:1-34
Matthew 11:15

1. What was most memorable, challenging, or encouraging from the message this week?
2. Looking back on your life, what is the worst piece of advice that you received and followed through with?
3. Looking back on your life, what is the best piece of advice that you received that you regret not following?
4. In 2 Chronicles 18, two kings strategize to wage war on a common enemy. But before doing so, they seek divine counsel and inquire of several prophets. In what ways do you normally seek help in making life decisions?
5. Who are you listening to these days? Who do you need to quit listening to?
6. Read 2 Chronicles 18:1-7. What do you not want to hear, but you know you need to? Who should you be listening to?
7. What steps could you take to intentionally surround yourself with people to whom you could listen and learn from?

MOVING FORWARD

This story from 2 Chronicles illustrates the king of Israel's refusal to listen and learn. Because he only listened to voices he agreed with, he ended up suffering unfavorable consequences. He failed to realize that what and who you listen to eventually impacts what you do.

Are you surrounding yourself with positive influences and wise counsel, or are you simply listening to voices that echo your own desires?

CHANGING YOUR MIND

But Jehoshaphat also said to the king of Israel, "First seek the counsel of the LORD."
