New Opportunity for HEDIS, Health Plan, and Credentialing Professionals

Dear Colleague:

We're pleased to announce that we've merged two regional NCQA Health Plan Accreditation and HEDIS seminars into the Health Care Quality Congress (October 5-7), a new national conference offering exclusive education on Health Plan Accreditation and HEDIS measures.

Join us in Dallas for the first opportunity after the July release of the Health Plan Accreditation standards and HEDIS measures to ask questions, learn about the latest developments in HEDIS and Health Plan Accreditation directly from experts, and develop your organization's ability to offer high-quality care through a new, expanded agenda.

Register online or call us at the number below with any questions about this limited-seating opportunity. Rates will increase on June 8, August 11, and again on September 8.

These are the only live Health Plan Accreditation and HEDIS seminars this year—don't miss them!

Best regards,

Bart Ecker

Director of Education
NCQA
