How to do online learning

Online learning is rapidly increasing, and if done well can enhance teaching and learning for our students. Online learning also forms the basis of blended learning and the flipped classroom approach.

The aim of this course is to show academics how online learning is delivered, so that they can understand the processes involved, the pedagogy, the business case and how to produce, publish and support an online course.

This course is designed for academics wanting to create an online learning course.

Learning outcomes

- Understand the history of online learning development
- Differentiate between "high touch" versus "light touch" online learning
- Determine the difference between quality versus scale
- Understand the process of eLearning development – including content production, delivery and support
- Demonstrate an understanding of the business of online learning
- Discover future directions

Convenience

Fully online. Study on iOS, Android and Windows devices or on the web

Reinforcement

9 interactive tutorials, assessments and 10 case studies to reinforce learning

Recognition

Certificate of Completion issued upon course completion

For more information, visit go.unimelb.edu.au/532r

Course Outline

This course is comprised of 9 tutorials and 10 case studies.

Course units

1. Introduction to construct and delivery of online and mobile learning
2. Learning design principles
3. Low touch online learning pedagogy
4. High touch online learning pedagogy
5. Course evaluation in online learning
6. Understanding the business of online learning
7. Working with a course development and delivery service (MLU)
8. Working with a course development and delivery service (MSPACE)
9. Creating a course - trouble shooting

Delivery mode

Fully Online

Course fees

MDHS Employees or honorary staff:
Free
University of Melbourne Staff (Non MDHS):
$275 (incl. GST)
Non-University of Melbourne Staff:
$550 (incl. GST)

Course duration

10 hours of eLearning

How to apply

▶ Go to go.unimelb.edu.au/532r

Get in touch

▶ medicine.unimelb.edu.au/mlu

✉ mobile-learning@unimelb.edu.au

▯ +61 3 8344 5673

THE UNIVERSITY OF
MELBOURNE