Edmunds.com: An additional 2 inches of track width gained in the second generation, give the sedan a more powerful stance. On the road, the benefit of the additional track width is readily apparent as the CTS is more stable and copes better with quick directional changes.

newCarTestDrive.com: Comes with a basic package of 32 luxury, comfort, convenience and safety items including all the normal power assists, XM satellite radio, OnStar with turn-by-turn navigation, and a Bose eight-speaker sound system with CD, MP3 and auxiliary capability.

KBB.com: The CTS has not only proven itself a worthy competitor, but its quality and performance statistics place it in the same league with competitors from Mercedes-Benz, BMW and Audi.

TheCarConnection.com: The instrument panel, steering wheel, portions of the console and door surfaces are covered with leather and vinyl materials that have been sewn by hand.

MotorTrend.com: The second-generation CTS represents a natural progression in design evolution, balancing edgy qualities with elegant accents.

Automedica.com: Cadillac's new luxury sport sedan can confidently take on its rivals.

medley: Not only does the CTS boast sporty handling, responsive braking, and a tradition of technology innovation, its performance statistics allow it to compete with BMW, Mercedes, and Audi.

Power and Associates research studies that survey a representative sample of owners, they are indicative of what typical buyers may experience.

High ratings for a particular product/service/company do not necessarily mean that every customer will have a positive experience. It simply indicates that, on average, consumer perceptions of the product/service/company indicate that it stands out when compared with competitive products/services/companies.
