Listen Edition Launches New Platform Listen Current

Free Lesson Plans for Teachers Plus a New PREMIUM Solution for Schools

Boston, MA: Today, Listen Edition, an education technology company bringing the power of public radio to the classroom, announced that it is launching an exciting new platform. Listen Edition is now Listen Current. www.listencurrent.com

Listen Current is a free service for individual teachers to find high quality audio stories and lesson plans. Listen Current PREMIUM is a school solution that enables student assignments and differentiated instruction. “So many teachers told us they wanted students to access our great audio stories themselves as homework or as part of blended learning,” said Monica Brady-Myerov, Listen Current Founder and award-winning journalist. “Now we’ve greatly expanded our free resources for teachers and created a solution for schools as they go digital.”

Listen Current takes the same great content from Listen Edition to the next level with our PREMIUM version. It provides teachers with additional capabilities including interactive transcripts, digital organizers, and custom assignments. Listen Current PREMIUM is perfect for the blended, BYOD, flipped or 1:1 classroom. It’s also great for assigning students listening homework for their devices at home. Listen Current offers more than 100 free audio stories with lesson plans for any teacher to use. It also provides daily current events that middle or high school teachers can use in many different subjects. We make it easy for teachers to bring authentic voices and engaging non-fiction to ELA, Social Studies, and STEM classrooms.

About Listen Current: Listen Current brings the power of public radio to the classroom. Our Common Core lessons and daily current events are based on a curated collection of real world audio stories. We make it easy for teachers to bring authentic voices and engaging content to ELA, Social Studies, and STEM classrooms. Listen, Engage, Educate. www.listencurrent.com
