Dear Mary,

Please find enclosed my proposed final copy of my dissertation. Please note that this does not include the appendices or illustrations. These have not been modified since the June version which I sent to you (with the exception of a few additions to the bibliography).

I was very pleased that Dr. Kaufman had such a favorable response to it. This final copy incorporates his comments.

I was also pleased that you are scheduling a defense in November for completion of all requirements by December 1st. Besides the desire to complete this degree, that schedule will permit early publication.

I believe that I will have a publisher for this manuscript in the not too distant future.

Finally, I was pleased that you wanted to review this dissertation one last time before its sent out to the committee and that you were willing to do this while I was in Europe. I think you'll find the enclosed version to have addressed your problems of editing, logic and so forth.

Thank you for your kind attention. I'll be back in the office on October 4, 1993.

Sincerely,

Robert J. Kapsch
