DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Plaza de San Luis de la Culebra is both a monument to the past and to a unique and viable culture of today. With few exceptions, noted below, the great majority of structures in the town are small scale one and two story brown cream or white buildings, the oldest of which have been in continuous use since they were built in the early 1860s. The result is a harmonious whole, for, with only one major exception, the overall integrity of the town is intact.

Since the buildings in San Luis are primarily of adobe construction, although some have been modernized with store fronts, it is interesting to examine the physical description from the standpoint of the use and development of what might be termed adobe architecture. The oldest style produced simple plain square structures e.g. the Jacques Chapel Grocery (Photo #4), the Gallegos-Easterday House (Photo #10) and La Morada (Photo #36). These plain functional buildings retain a rather sturdy integrity and all are still in use. (The windows of La Morada are boarded up due to the religious sect which used the building). Equally old is the Smith Gallegos House (Photo #1) with its U shaped floor plan, and the Choury-Easterday House (photo #2) with its wings which were added to the basic structures as the family grew and needed more space.

During the 1880's the simple adobe structures were giving way to the more complex shape and forms found frequently in association with wooden superstructures. Examples include the Church of the Most Precious Blood (Photo #3), the Convent (Photo #5) and its elaborate wooden porch, and the County Courthouse (Photo #8). The overall effect is one of elaboration yet possessing clearly distinguishable ties with the simple structures of the past.

By approximately the turn of the century, the emphasis was shifting away from buildings with adobe facades to those with wooden facades or additions. An example would be the Emma Hacienda and Patio (Photo #13) with its wooden facade added in 1902, the building built by Plar Mondragon at about the same period (photo #8) of the Zegob Geberal Store (Photo #11). In the latter example, the basic adobe structure was standing in 1865, with the wooden facade added ca. 1910. Apparently this shift in emphasis was an attempt to conform to what was believed to be American Victorian or what might more aptly be termed as American western architectural style.

Yet it is interesting to note that the use of adobe still survives. This may be due to the availability of the material, or to a reflection of the survival of the Spanish heritage, or perhaps simply to a recognition that adobe buildings are cooler and more suitable to the climate. Two examples of this modern construction can be found; the first, the old high school building (Photos # 17A & 17B) constructed in 1934 intrudes because of its very size and scale overpowering everything else in the area while the new Costilla County Community Center (Photo #2), even though it was constructed in 1974, continues the tradition of the use of adobe to erect low seemingly small scale buildings.

Boundaries San Luis Historic District

The original settlement of San Luis took place along the river and then spread eastward towards the Vega along what is now Fourth Street. It was bounded on the north and south by what is now First Street and Sixth Street. Prior to 1900, the Salazar family platted the Salazar addition located between Sixth and Eighth Streets and east of what is now Highway 159. This area, known locally as "Little Cuba" had been built prior to 1920.

The boundaries of the historic district take into consideration this historic growth pattern. Beginning at the junction of Eighth and Main Streets (Highway 159) the boundary goes south along Main Street to where the river crosses the road and then curves southwest along the river to its intersection with First Street. To the west of this line is all modern construction (Photo #22). At the intersection, the boundary proceeds east down First Street to the highway, jogs south to the San Luis People's Ditch and then follows it down to the boundary of the Vega (shown in red on the map), where it follows its boundary around to its intersection with Sixth Street. According to local sources knowledgeable in the history of San Luis, the irregular shaped boundaries of the Vega are due to the concern of Don Beaubien to select the best grass for the Vega. At its intersection with Sixth Street, the boundary turns right, and then left on Eighth Street back to the starting point. The structures outside the boundary on both the north and the east are of modern vintage. In fact, what appear to be small manufacturing plants obviously built within the last few years are found on the north side of Eighth Street.

Within this area, as is true for the entire residential section of town all of the structures tend to be of small scale and usually built of adobe which may or may not have been stuccoed over (Photos #19 or #24). There are a few modern structures noticeable primarily because of their bright colors as opposed to the soft beige and browns of the rest of the buildings, but they do not shatter the overall integrity of the area.

Most of the buildings have been added to and altered over the years, a tribute to the viability of the Spanish tradition, but the overall rhythm and harmony remain consistent throughout the area. The only major intrusion, the old high school (Photos #17a and 17b) intrudes because of its sheer scale and not its modern construction date.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

In 1848, Don Carlos Beaubien purchased Stephen Lee's share of the Sangre de Cristo land grant and gained full ownership of the million acre grant which took in much of what is now the Southern Luis Valley. One of the requirements under which the grant had been made was that settlement be made in the area. As early as 1846, settlers, many of them from the ranches of Don Carlos, had begun moving into the area. They were not successful in establishing permanent settlements due primarily to the resistance from the Ute Indians. Nevertheless, year after year, the settlers kept returning.

On April 15, 1851, the Plaza de San Luis de la Culebra was established. Not only is this town Colorado's earliest permanent settlement, it represents a culture important to Colorado's history; the Spanish. The significance is more than just historical, for while the basic way of life is and remains Spanish, over the years numerous immigrants have been assimilated, a process which, it should be noted, is still going on. The result is an intermingling of various cultures into what at first may seem a closed society, but whose members simply chose to perpetuate Spanish tradition, as a result of the way of life, the language and simple geographical placement.

An integral part of the Spanish tradition of San Luis, and something that the local residents are intensely proud of still today, is the Vega. Located east and south of town, this irregular shaped grassland was given to the town by Don Carlos Beaubien in 1863 for the pasturing of the town's livestock. It is still owned by the town today.

Some of the buildings of historical significance in San Luis are the Smith Gallegos House (listed in the National Register, April 14, 1975), Choury House, Convent, and the Church of the Most Precious Blood, the Jacques Chapel Grocery, La Morada or Penitentes' meeting house, Salazar's Store, the County Courthouse, the Gallegos-Easterday House and Post Office, and the Valencia Hotel. These structures, the construction dates of which span the period from the 1860's to the first decade of the twentieth century, are monuments to and illustrative of this valuable culture unique to Colorado's history.

The Smith Gallegos House (Photo #1) dates from ca. 1863 and is the only U shaped adobe house with the traditional plaza remaining on the main street of San Luis. Built by Nasario Gallegos, a member of one of the first twelve pioneering families, the house was purchased by Louis Cohn, a Jewish merchant who, besides being one of the original settlers, was related to two of the more prominent Arabic families. The house today is owned by a distant cousin of the Gallegos family. Joseph Vigil

VERBAL BOUNDARY DESCRIPTION

Beginning at the northwest corner, the junction of Eighth Street and Main Street, the boundary runs south down the middle of Main Street until it meets the Rio Seco, and then swing southwest following the course of the river. Upon reaching the location where First Street would intersect, it turns east to Main Street and then jogs south until reaching the point where the People's Ditch crosses Main Street. The Choury House (Photo #2) is known to have been standing in 1865. It was built by A. Choury, a graduate of the University of Paris and an active civic leader who married into the Loboto family, another of the original settlers in the town. It is believed that the house may have served as a fort before the construction of Fort Massachusetts (1853) and Fort Garland (1858).

The Church of the Most Precious Blood (Photo #3) was built in 1886 (the original church was where the old high school now stands). Constructed by Father Francisco Garcia, a visita (circuit rider) priest of the Franciscan order, the religious center grew to include a chapel, a school and a convent. It was considered to be a mission church because it provided not only learning and religious training for the early settlers but a place of refuge for travelers as well. The Chapel (Photo #4) is now Jacques Chapel Grocery. The convent (Photo #5) not only housed the nuns, who came to San Luis to tend the school, but at one time also served as the first high school in San Luis.

La Morada (Photo #6) (Penitentes' Meeting House) was originally constructed in the 1860's, but until recently it was the meeting place of the Penitentes', an obscure and secret Spanish Catholic sect originating in the Middle Ages. This group, one of the very few still known to exist in Colorado, carried on the old practice of chanting in dramatic fashion a special rosary in Spanish and Latin on public occasions. Each Easter they choose a man to portray Christ to carry a cross to the top of a nearby hill and be flogged each step of the way.

The business now known as Romero's Store (Photo #7) was founded by Dario Gallegos in 1857. Arcadio Salazar, who had previously worked as a clerk, married Gallegos' daughter in 1874 and soon after was made a full partner. In 1894, he assumed full ownership of the business, and his decendents have continued to operate the store until the present day. In 1952, the store was recognized as being the oldest in the state still operated by the same family. The business is currently operated by George Romero, a cousin to the Salazar family.

The Costilla County Court House (Photo #8) was built in 1883 and is an adobe structure with a stone foundation. It is still the center of County government.

The Gallegos-Easterday House (Photo #10) is known to have been standing in 1863 when it was used as part of a combination farm and grain mill. The owners of the mill, in addition to Nasario Gallegos were Ceran St. Vrain and H. Easterday. The house is still in use. It is currently owned by descendants of the Nasario Gallegos family.

The Zegob General Store (Photo #11) incorporated a plain adobe structure which dates from 1865 with a wooden addition dating from ca. 1900. Zazralia Zegob Sr. immigrated to San Luis shortly after the turn of the century and founded the general store which is still owned and operated by his descendants. (The store is first listed in the Colorado Business Directory in 1911.) The Zegob family is one of the three prominent Arabic families in town.

The San Luis Valley State Bank (Photo #12) now the Malouf Department Store was established in 1892 to handle the business generated by the grain mill belonging to St. Vrain, and Easterday. (see Photo #10). The original directors of the bank included E. Loboto, Arcadio Salazar, and A. Choury. The bank failed during the 1930s due to the depression and the building was taken over by the Malouf family, an Arabic immigrant family which now operates a department store in the structure.

The Valencia Hotel (Photo #15) was the original residence of Darios Gallegos. The building dates from the early 1860s. It later became the first hotel in San Luis and was the scene of many meetings between Carlos Beaubien and John Fremont.

In recent years there has been a tremendous revival of interest in the Spanish heritage with the rise of Chicano consciousness among many of the younger generation. Under the direction of the staff of the Centennial High School, publication has begun of a quarterly magazine entitled Adobe. Written and edited by the students themselves, it focuses on the history and culture of the town.

The appearance of this journal is only the latest manifestation of the strong viable Spanish-American culture in San Luis. Now well into its second century of existence, the town of San Luis, and more important the people and the culture of the town has not lost sight of its origins. Yet at the same time, the culture is growing and developing in the modern world of the twentieth century.

ON TECHNICALITIES - the maps accompanying this nomination are useless since the lines drawn on them do not coincide with the info under #10, structures numbered on the map are not inclusive of all structures listed as significant, and buildings are listed twice in the sig. list (Choury-Hours) under two names; if the plat map reflects the boundaries of the vega how does it relate to the H.D. proposal when 5th st. is left out & plots do not follow plat map. Since this nomination has been kicking around for awhile we need to get it out soon - I would send it back asking for more precise information -

Dear Sally Vigil:

I've just spoken to Russell W. Fridley, our director, who is probably one of the most knowledgeable people in the country about this whole historic sites business. He read your letter and suggests that your application is hung up somewhere. He further suggests that you write directly to the top:

A. Russell Mortenson
Assistant Director
National Park Service
Washington, D.C. 20240

and use Russell Fridley's name,
he says.

Enclosed is some other dope that may help you. We are told that the article in Minnesota History News is definitive. Hope this helps you. Do give my love to Elizabeth C.

Cordially yours,

Dear Ms. Vigil:

Thank you for your recent letter to Dr. Mortensen concerning the nomination of San Luis, Colorado, to the National Register of Historic Places.

The nomination has not yet been submitted by the Colorado State Historic Preservation Officer, Mr. Stephen H. Hart, for inclusion in the National Register, although, we have been advised that a nomination is currently being prepared for this property. We suggest you write Mr. Stephen H. Hart, Chairman, State Historical Society, Colorado State Museum, 200 14th Avenue, Denver, Colorado 80203, for the current status of this property.

We appreciate your interest in historic preservation.

Sincerely yours,

William J. Murtagh

TRA info

BT.

Do you remember this correspondence? Since then I wrote (and had edited)
the nomination, La Plaza de San Luis de la Culebra. That is now, simply, San Luis, Colorado, oldest pioneer settlement.

The nomination was accepted,
and, I presume, sent to you.

Please see dates of former correspondence with you in order to comprehend my confusion.

I need to know when San Luis becomes officially registered because that is what my contacts in private funding require as a primary interest for investment.

Believe it or not, a friend sent me a notice from the Denver Post announcing the nomination! I never knew.

This is why I'm writing
again to you to find out where the whole thing is.

Thanks again for your courtesy.

Dear Sirs:

Please find enclosed the names + addresses of San Luis District as requested by your offices several months ago. Evidently,
they were never received although I called San Luis immediately after hearing from you. The papers had been sent to the State Historical Society first and
somehow got lost.
That is why I am sending them again to you directly. This nomination has been awaiting completion and your decision since 1975.

Please notify Mayor
Joseph Espinoza Sr.
San Luis, Colorado 81152

when the town is registered. Some think it already has been officially declared
"oldest permanent settlement" and thus have begun restoration.

P.S. You already sent letters to about 14
property owners.
The list was incomplete.

Sincerely,
Sally Vigil

Dear Sir,

We received your letter concerning our property. You say that our property is included in the district Nominated by the state for listing in the National Register.

We do not understand this very well but we hope it could be placed on The National Register.

The property we own has our residence (home) and a garage which we built ourselves. We bought the property in 1946 and at that time it had two rooms on the back and a three room house that been started in the front.
Only the Wills built 2 rooms
12' x 12' and one 18' x 12'.

We lived in the back rooms
until we finished the front rooms.

We moved to the front and we threw the back one down. We built a garage which we haven't finished yet.

We have added two small rooms
and one big one to the front house, but we would appreciate if any help we could get.

Please let us know if you have any questions & what we should do.

Hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely

Mr. & Mrs. Wayne
and Delores Wayne

K.T.P. has raised new questions about sketch maps (or lack of an adequate one) & ^{apparent} lack of coordination with U.S.G.S. -

- Given the nature of the resource, and the info. supplied, I think we have enough ~~us~~ to accept this nomination.

- The maps are poor but there do not seem to be any major intrusions. - Perhaps a few service stations.

I called back and said it was a district & explained that the whole area within the boundaries is listed.

I asked if the SCS was planning a project - he said no, he just knew that the local people were trying to reconstruct town's history - wondered if this form of now. was what the locals really wanted. After our discussion of what district meant, he thought it was probably OK.
