DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Number of stories: Two and one-half stories.

Number of bays: On central unit: east facade (front) is three bays wide; south side is three bays wide. On wings: south and north wings are each two bays wide.

Layout and/or shape of plan: Irregular-shaped plan.

Wall construction: Brick covered with stucco.

Structural system: Load-bearing masonry walls.

Roof, cornice: Central unit has gabled roof; rear section has flat roof, wings have roofs slightly sloped toward center. cornice consists of full Doric entablature with metopes and triglyphs.

Porches, dormers, chimneys: Two dormers, one on the north side, one on the south. Front portico has free standing Doric columns; small stoop on north side; small porch on south side of ell. Chimneys: Two on south side; two on north side; two on rear ell.

Important interior features: Most of the original interiors are still intact. The doors and windows are flanked with pilasters. One authority, Carl Schmidt, describes the interior details as follows:

In the parlors, the paneled pilasters have carved capitals and molded bases. The interior cornices of the various rooms do not follow classic precedent, but consist of two members, a plain frieze about seven inches high and a moulded member about seven inches high; all formed in plaster. The ceilings are deeply recessed with moulded panels.¹

Other notable features: Mr. Schmidt described the details of the north and south wings of the house. The design of the wings consists of a pair of windows deeply recessed and separated by a wide pier in the form of a paneled anta with similarly designed antae framing the windows. These antae support a narrow frieze and modified cornice or belt course...A beautiful low balcony of ornamental cast iron is located in front of this motif.²

Mr. Schmidt also considers the front entrance important in its design. He explains it as follows:

The front entrance has two vertical panels and is flanked by mullions faced with fluted pilasters and carved caps. They support a wide transom bar which is divided into a frieze and cornice. Above the door is a narrow transom sash the full width of the opening. Between the pilaster mullions and the large plain pilasters which frame the opening there are narrow solid wood panels in place of side lights.

There is a simple three-member entablature above the large pilasters,

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE (Include Personages, Dates, Events, Etc.)

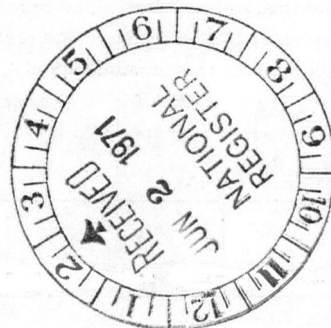

The Hervey Ely House sits like a Greek temple on the top of a hill in Rochester's wealthy "Ruffled Shirt" Third Ward. It is considered to be one of the finest examples of Greek Revival Architecture in western New York State. The house incorporates free standing Greek Doric columns, entablature, pilasters and antae, derived from classical Greek architecture. The interior has elaborate plaster decorations and marble fireplaces.

Hervey Ely, the wealthy owner of the Red Mill grist mill, commissioned Hugh Hastings to build him a house in the exclusive residential section of the day. The house was built in 1837, but had to be sold because Ely had lost his wealth. The subsequent owners of the house were Bishop Whitehouse, William Kidd, Aristachus Champion, Jonathan Watson, Azariah Boody, Dr. Howard Osgood, and Harry Riener, all prominent citizens of Rochester.

The house has been owned since 1920 by the Irondequoit Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The carriage house (annex) was connected to the main house by a covered 'walk-thru' after 1920. The Hervey Ely House is now used as a meeting house for the Daughters of the American Revolution and it may be rented by other groups.

The house was built on a hill near the site of the Seneca Indians' Last Sacrifice of the White Dog.

Dear Dr. Murtagh:

In August 1971 the Hervey-Ely House on the corner of Troup Street and Livingston Park in Rochester, Monroe County was listed on the National Register. The official street address was 11 Livingston Park at that time, but it is now 138 Troup Street as indicated in the recently submitted Third Ward Historic District which includes the Hervey-Ely House.

8-12-71

In order to make the records consistent, the street address on the prior individual nomination should be amended to read 138 Troup Street.

Dear Mr. Fresbee:

NOV 1 RECD

The Barney Ely House is listed in the National Register of Historic Places also state, county and city ^{Landmarks} I would like to request a review to ascertain whether the site qualifies for a National Historic Landmarks site status.

Enclosed are letters and facts I have gathered for that purpose. I have also sent letters requesting more information from the Indian Chiefs Council, talked to the Native American Center here in Rochester asking about the site "Corn Hill" and will soon have more information from them.

Have been sending proposals to foundations to raise the extra $20,000 to match the grant.

Would you suggest any other avenues I could pursue to gather more information?

Sincerely,

I am worried I won't have

If I had the site a money from the proposals came in I would ^{not} have to use the

Dear Mr Frisbee:

11 Livingston Park
Rochester, New York 14608
October 16, 1979

Our DAR Irondequoit Chapter has owned the Harvey Ely House since 1920, and has kept the 1837 Greek temple style two wing mansion, built by an early flour miller, in good condition by ourselves during that time until we received a matching grant of $12,000 in 1978 for repairing and painting the trim. The stone retaining wall was in poor repair after the city lowered the street three feet in 1971. Two years ago we asked for and received a $10,000 matching grant for repairs. However, when the bids came in it was about $50,000 to re-build the wall, for it had started to fall down. Now, we must put a three foot 6" footing, under soil level, replace the stones in cement, and cap. The State Parks and Recreation has offered $20,000 more that we must match.

The DAR-Harvey Ely House is in The National Register of Historic Places. It is also a state, county and city landmark. The DAR-Harvey Ely House is built on top of Cornhill in a historic preservation district. This site goes back with 2,000 years of small villages. The Seneca Indians held their

Fact Sheet

The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution was founded October 11, 1890 and incorporated by an Act of the United States Congress in 1896. The National Headquarters Buildings in Washington cover an entire city block on beautiful 17th Street near the White House. The NSDAR buildings, three adjoining structures - Memorial Continental Hall (1905), DAR Constitution Hall (1929) and the Administration Building (1950) - are the largest group of buildings in the world owned and maintained exclusively by women.

The President General and 11 Executive Officers, elected for three-year terms, direct the business affairs of the Society. These officers, together with 21 Vice Presidents General (7 elected at large annually for a three-year term), and the State Regents, comprise the National Board of Management. The regular meetings of the Board are held four times a year - February, twice in April and October - and special meetings are held in June and December. The annual meeting of the National Society is the Continental Congress, which convenes in Washington during the week of April 19th (anniversary of the Battle of Lexington) and is attended by approximately 4,000 members.

The membership as of April 15, 1978 is 207,202 in 3,093 Chapters in the 50 States, the District of Columbia, England, France and Mexico. Chapters are in process of being organized in Iran and Venezuela.

The Society functions through 25 National and a number of Special and Standing Committees, under the direction of the Executive Committee, to carry on the work, in accordance with the objectives set forth by the Founders, in the fields of history, education and patriotism.

Re: Harvey Ely House

Rochester, New York

The retaining wall along Troup Street has been deteriorating progressively and has already caved-in at one section. Frost and water will accelerate the deterioration and can eventually cause damage to this historic house.

It is imperative that steps be taken to secure the retaining wall. The only action available is to rebuild the wall with new footings that extend below the frost line.

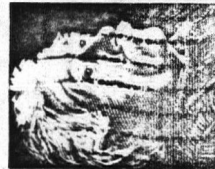

Yours very truly,

Karl A. Fascher

Dear Ms. Molyneux:

The tireless efforts of the Irondequoit Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution to preserve the Hervey Ely Home and the Seneca Indian site is to be commended. All patriotic and historical organizations should lend their support to save both sites.

The last Sacrifice of the White Dog was in 1813, only two years after Colonel Rochester had laid out his village at the Falls of the Genesee and when there were several Seneca Indians living about the settlement. The scene of the ceremonial is placed in the Troup Street-Livingston Park area of the Third Ward.

Your efforts to preserve the Hervey Ely Home and to mark the area as a National ~~and~~ New York State Seneca Indian Landmark has my support.

Dear Mrs. Molyneux:

This letter is to answer your questions about the old Osgood Mansion.

The Daughters of the American Revolution Chapter Mansion is located on a rise of ground west of the Genesee River well above the old flood level. Around this mansion grew the elite residential section of the old Third Ward.

When the little village of Rochester began its rapid growth during the five years following the War of 1812 and the building of the Erie Canal, two streets were built parallel west from the river. On the north ran Spring Street and on the south is Troup Street with the Chapter house close to the side walk. A stone retaining wall holds the soil from undermining the house.

The undisturbed soil of the front lawn is expected to contain the burials of the aboriginal inhabitants of this hill top village. Early house construction excavations in the adjacent properties exposed a sequence of Indian cultures down to and including the Senecas of the great Iroquois Confederacy.

The site was strategic as being just upstream from the Falls of the Genesee at the shallow rapids accessible for crossing. It also was a favorite place to fish. Fresh drinking water was obtained at the foot of the hill on Spring Street.

The Chapter House is the last of the important historic houses on the hill and should by all means be saved.

Sincerely,

J. Sheldon Fisher

Dear Mrs. Molyneux,

After assessing your Bid Form and examining the work described, I submitted the specifications to Mr. J.L. Baglin. He examined the work and consulted with Mr. Fascher, your consulting engineer, and they apparently concurred in the opinion that the only proper way this job could be done would be to do the entire wall and all steps at the same time.

Mr. Baglin, who is a masonry contractor, advised me not to proceed with an attempt to partially restore the wall, because of the questionable results likely; non-uniformity of old and new walls (even though duplicated); the imminent structural failure likely to occur in the immediate vicinity of reconstruction; the probability of accelerated deterioration to other sections of the wall not under consideration at this time; the questions of contractor liability which might arise; the fact that it would be much more expensive to do it in bits and pieces.

There is some question about the partial liability of the City of Rochester for repairs as a result of their street rebuilding program, in which they lowered Troup St., exposing the walls foundation and consequently were required to install paving stones at an angle, in order to stabilize the base of the wall.

I am also in disagreement with the assumption that no mortar was used in the original construction of the wall. Both the mason and I have found what we feel is positive proof of the use of mortar, in remnants of old-fashioned lime based mortar. The deteriorated remnants appear to the un-trained eye to be various kinds of soil, which indeed they are, and are mixed with. As the mortar deteriorates, it reverts into its original components, most of which is sand. As ground water mixed with dirt forces its way through the crevices, it deposits its soil content and mixes with the sand, thus the appearance of common soil between the stones.

Were this wall to be re-built without the use of a modernly formulated mortar, it would undoubtedly deteriorate pre-maturely. The proximity of the wall to the strong vibrations emanating from I-490 Expressway should be given consideration in your analysis.

The restoration of this wall, using the original stones, is a desirable and legitimate project, however, the intelligent use of modern technology and materials must be accepted in order to avert the waste of time and money.

Mr. Baglin's letter proposed three alternatives to your bid request:

- 1. Rebuild total wall from existing stone, with new re-enforced footings. Estimated cost $40,000.00
- 2. Same as above with additional retaining wall behind stone wall and abutment counterbalance into earth. Estimated cost $47,000.00
- 3. Concrete footings and walls faced with common red brick, capped with concrete or stone. Estimated cost $40,000.00

These are his prices, and do not include costs incurred or fees of the General Contractor, which I have not computed.

Sincerely,

John N. Abbott

Mr Abbott also suggested a chain link fence be put around the project while in progress.

I understand the letter from Mrs. Charles Molyneux, 200 Pinewood Trail, Rochester, New York 14617, addressed to Mr. Frisbee of the National Trust has been forwarded to you for reply.

I would appreciate your giving Mrs. Molyneux every cooperation in her effort to have Hervey Ely House in Rochester designated as a National Historic Landmark, so that it may be eligible for assistance by the National Trust to preserve it. If you have already written her, I would be interested in seeing a copy of your reply.

Dear Mr. Conable:

Thank you for your recent inquiry in behalf of Mrs. Charles Molyneux requesting that we cooperate with her in the effort that she is making to seek national historic landmark designation for the Hervey Ely House in Rochester, New York.

Mrs. Molyneux contacted the staff of the historic landmarks program directly by telephone to discuss the Ely house. The review of the property that resulted revealed that the Hervey Ely House was entered in the National Register of Historic Places on August 12, 1971, by a nomination from New York State that judged it to be of State significance rather than national. In 1977 and 1979 matching grants were made through the State Historic Preservation Office to assist in the preservation of the house. This assistance was provided from the Historic Preservation Fund administered by the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service.

New archeological information now known about Seneca Indian villages that had been located in the area of the Ely house might make it possible for the State to upgrade its evaluation of the house and recommend that it be considered for historic landmark recognition. Designation as a landmark would not assure additional funding from either the Historic Preservation Fund or from the Endangered Properties Fund that the National Trust administers. We encourage Mrs. Molyneux to seek other sources of assistance. Enclosed is a summary of information on sources of preservation funding that may be helpful.

We hope the information we have given will be of assistance in the effort to preserve the Hervey Ely House.

Sincerely,

CHRIS T. DELAPORTE
