MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM:

D. ALLAN BROMLEY

SUBJECT:

The Presidential Awards for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching

I wanted you to know that the 112 science and mathematics teachers were extraordinarily pleased with their week in Washington as your guests. Obviously, the high point of the week for them was their meeting with you and Mrs. Bush and the Vice President in the Rose Garden last Tuesday morning.

This group of teachers will spread the word about your very concrete interest in education and in their work effectively and enthusiastically.

We arranged to give each teacher, on his or her departure from Washington, a copy of your remarks from Tuesday, listings of the other awardees so that they can develop networks among themselves as have awardees from the past, and other related material.

I believe that we can consider that both the National Medals of Science and of Technology and the Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching award activities to have been highly successful.

Your generous participation was critical to that success, and on behalf of all the awardees, I want to thank you and Mrs. Bush for it.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: D. ALLAN BROMLEY DAB

SUBJECT: THE SECONDARY SCHOOL TEACHER'S AWARDS

I wanted you to know that the 112 mathematics and science teachers have been ~~ecstatic about their meeting~~ with you and Mrs. Bush and the Vice President in the Rose Garden Tuesday morning. It was particularly gracious of Mrs. Bush to remain and shake the hand of each and every one present -- and very much appreciated.

The contrast with prior years has been noted repeatedly. Last year, for example, President Reagan chose to meet with the members of the Los Angeles Dodgers instead of the teachers. This group of teachers will spread the word about your very concrete interest in education and their work effectively and enthusiastically.

Many of them have asked if they might have copies of your remarks at the Rose Garden ceremony. They would, of course, appreciate receiving them from your office but if it would be more convenient, I shall be contacting each awardee soon in a follow-up letter and would be more than happy to forward a copy of your remarks, if you approve, with that letter.

I believe that we can consider that both the Medals of Science and Technology and the Excellence in Teaching Award activities to have been highly successful. Your generous participation was critical to that success and on behalf of all the awardees I want to thank you and Mrs. Bush for it.

The enclosed memo to the President is not all that important but I thought he might like to know just how warmly his participation in these two recent affairs had been received.

I would ask you to transmit it as you think best.

Many thanks.
