Dear Professor Bromley,

As you well know, the U.S. and Israel has scientific and technological cooperation rooted in three binational funds. I enclose a recently published booklet that describes BARD, the agricultural one. BARD has earned a solid reputation in the scientific and the farming communities both in the U.S. and in Israel. It has done so because of careful scientific evaluation of its projects by an elaborate evaluation panel system conducted in both countries.

About half of the income of BARD is budgeted to U.S. laboratories cooperating with Israeli scientists. Ninety-two American institutions have been recipients of BARD grants. The booklet enclosed, 'Partnership for Tomorrow' details these facts and several others that you may find of interest. Also, you will find selected examples of scientific and technological successes drawn from various projects.

I hope you find the booklet of interest and I will be glad to provide you with answers to questions that you may have.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Allan:

I am happy to accept membership on the Joint High Level Advisory Panel for the U.S.-Japan Science and Technology Agreement. Our foundation supports the projet of creation a Center Research of Sciences and Technogoly in Viet Nam in the image of the Sillicon Valley in California.

On the surface of 100 ha and under the appellation of " THE SCIENTIFIC VILLAGE OF SOPHIA SAINT JACQUES ", this center had obtained an agreement from the Vietnamese Government.

We may take the permission to contact with you to know if the Office of Science and Technology Policy could be susceptible to help us because this High Level Research Center will apply a great part of the american modern technologies; This preoccupation had already received the encouragement of the White House (copy of the letter enclosed).

Dear Dr. Kieu My Thi Ho,

You were so good to write to Mrs. Bush and tell her of your efforts with the American Foundation of Education in Vietnam. Its goal to establish specialized professional schools in which Americans teach Vietnamese youth practical modern technology is most worthy.

Although Mrs. Bush is not able to become personally involved in your efforts, I know she would want me to convey her gratitude to you for thinking of her and her encouragement for your continued involvement in projects and issues that will benefit young people.

Thank you so much for sharing.

Dear Dr. Bromley,

I am quite remembering your kind conversation for me at your room on 9th June, 1992. Now I have enclosed here some photocopies, although it was delayed so much due to my unusual situation.

I am quite successfully distributing our idea of Th-MSR in Japan in recent two months, including my visit to Professor Wataru Mori.

Several Anti-nuclear peoples are also accepting to know it.

I believe that Th-MSR would be one of the best approaches for the world energy/environmental problem. I am strongly hoping its rational development by USA-Japan cooperation in near future.

Thanking you again for your kind helps indeed,
Sincerely yours,

Dear Phil:

I wish to convey to you my appreciation for completing on schedule the report on U.S. Government Science and Technology Relations with Russia. The high quality of the report, produced under extremely tight deadlines, is proper testimony to the skills of you and your staff, and is indicative of your excellent work as Vice Chairman of the Committee on International Science, Engineering and Technology.

The report provides information critical to our preparations for the Fall meeting with our Russian counterparts. Thanks for a job well done.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HONORABLE D. ALLAN BROMLEY
ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT FOR SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

SUBJECT: Submission of Draft Report on U.S. Government S&T
Relations with Russia

As requested in your letter to me of August 13, 1992 (attached), enclosed is a draft Report on U.S. Government Science and Technology Relations with Russia.

This draft of the report was prepared by my staff based upon contributions and assistance of the participating agencies listed on the last page of this report, which represent the Ciset Subcommittee on S&T Cooperation with Industrialized Countries. However, I would like to stress that, given time constraints, the report has not been reviewed and cleared by the full Ciset. I believe, however, that it is responsive to your request to have preliminary results from our effort available to you by September 4.

The draft report will be circulated to members of Ciset for their review. And in compliance with your directive to coordinate our efforts with the Policy Coordinating Committee on Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs, a copy of this draft report is being sent to Curtis (Buff) Bohlen, Chairman of the PCC/OES, with a request that it be distributed to the members of that Committee for their review.

In addition to expressing my deep gratitude for the very helpful and responsive contributions by the agencies and individuals contributing to this report, I would like to acknowledge the role of Robert Eiss, Alexandra Stepanian, and Allen Holt of my staff in preparing this draft report in the short time available.

Your comments, and those of your staff, at this stage of the report would be most helpful as we coordinate efforts with the PCC/OES to prepare you for your meeting with your Russian counterparts this Fall.

Dear Ambassador Nathan:

Thank you for your letter of September 1, 1992, following up on our meeting of August 15, 1992.

The information you provided was most helpful. I look forward to working with the National Science and Technology Board (NSTB), and hope to meet with Mr. Lam Chuan Leong, the estimable Chairman, at some future date. Your NSTB consists of an interesting mix of governmental and nongovernmental sources. I note with pleasure that a number of Americans serving on the panel of international advisors for the NSTB will be attending the ASEAN Science and Technology Week.

As I mentioned previously, I will be otherwise engaged during the third ASEAN Science and Technology Week, being held in conjunction with Singapore's coming ASEAN Science and Technology Month. It is an extremely busy period for our Administration, and unfortunately we will be unable to send a representative this year.

I wish you a successful week of productive dialogue during ASEAN's Science and Technology meeting.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Colleague,

It gives me great pleasure to send you the 1992 edition of Scientific Research in Israel that contains the most recent update on the research and development establishment in Israel, its major institutions and vital statistics.

In the short time since I have assumed the position of Minister of Science and Technology in Israel, I have become convinced that the promotion and expansion of Israel's international scientific relations is of considerable potential mutual benefit for Israel as well as Israel's partners in such cooperation.

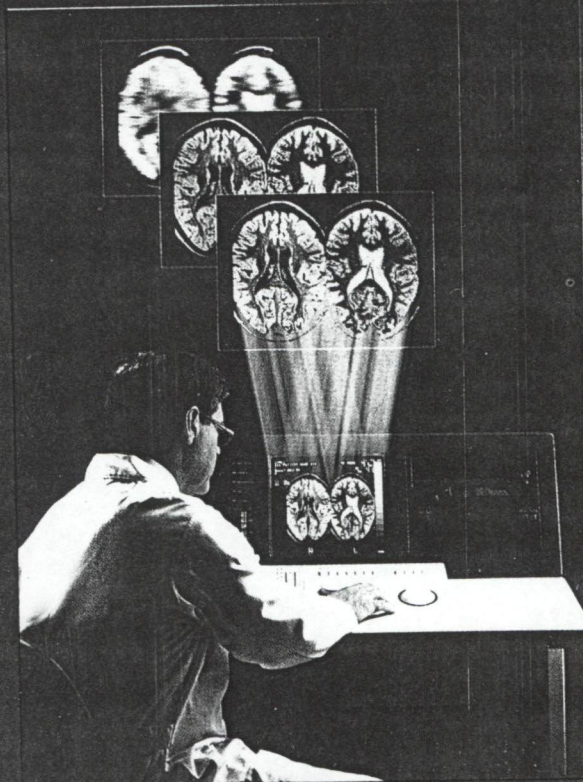

I would like to think that the enclosed volume would provide you with some new ideas on potentially interesting areas for scientific cooperation between our two countries.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Professor Rubinstein:

Many thanks for sending me a copy of the 1992 edition of the booklet entitled Scientific Research in Israel.

This is an excellent summary of the research activities in your country and it will be extremely useful to us. I am assuming that you already have a copy of the budget document that President Bush forwarded to our Congress in January of this year spelling out somewhat similar information. I am sending you, under separate cover, a series of documents that were produced by the Federal Coordinating Council for Science, Engineering and Technology that represent national program assembled from the detailed agency programs in a variety of areas of particular importance to us.

I had the pleasure of visiting Israel briefly a few months ago and look forward to the pleasure of working with you on matters of joint interest to our two countries.

Dear Professor Rubinstein:

Many thanks for sending me a copy of the 1992 edition of the booklet entitled Scientific Research in Israel.

This is an excellent summary of the research activities in your country and it will be extremely useful to us. I am assuming that you already have a copy of the budget document that President Bush forwarded to our Congress in January of this year spelling out somewhat similar information. I am sending you, under separate cover, a series of documents that were produced by the Federal Coordinating Council for Science, Engineering and Technology that represent national program assembled from the detailed agency programs in a variety of areas of particular importance to us.

I had the pleasure of visiting Israel briefly a few months ago and look forward to the pleasure of working with you on matters of joint interest to our two countries.

With all best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

D. Allan Bromley
