U.S. WAS CAUGHT OFF GUARD BY COUP ATTEMPT

Although ousting Panamanian Gen. Noriega has been a goal of two administrations, when rebel Panamanian officers attempted a coup against Noriega this week, President Bush and his top advisers were caught off guard, lacking intelligence and flexible plans to respond to the sudden development, according to high-ranking Administration sources.

From the early tip-off through the collapse of the coup, the sources said, Bush and his advisers were hampered not only by a lack of solid information but also by gaps in the system of managing a crisis and by conflicting reports from the Pentagon, State Department and National Security Council.

"All through the day the President was getting all these difference sets of facts from different sources, and none of the sources were that good anyway," a top adviser to Bush said. "Unless it's your coup, it's hard to know really what is going on."

According to another source, the cloud of uncertainty was so think that Bush was never presented with a clear-cut option to order U.S. forces to aid the rebels. On Tuesday morning, Bush was given a list of the possible U.S. military moves, but he was also given many reasons why American forces should remain on the sidelines because of the uncertainty and risk, and he accepted this conclusion, sources said.

White House Chaos Kept Noriega Free

President Bush did not order U.S. forces to seize Gen. Noriega when the opportunity was at hand because of confusion at the top levels of the Administration, White House officials said Thursday night.

There were public denials that the White House blew a chance to seize the Panamanian dictator,...but the President's top aides argued Thursday night over what happened, and why.

Senior Administration officials said Bush was never presented with the option to seize Noriega, despite strong indications within top Administration circles that forces of the U.S. Southern Command, in place only several hundred yards away, could have captured him with or without the consent of the leaders of the attempted coup.

"A lot of people are wondering how we messed this up," said one government official. "We've got to do better next time."

(Paul Bedard & Bill Gertz, Washington Times, A1)

U.S. Is Largely To Blame For Failure, Sources Say

PANAMA CITY -- A warning that the U.S. would not support any move leading to the death of Panamanian strongman Noriega and botched communications between anti-Noriega rebels and U.S. forces caused the failure of Tuesday's coup attempt, according to U.S. and Western officials here.

In addition, the officials said, the failure of the U.S. to develop contingency plans for a possible coup and the absence of Panama experts in the top echelon of the U.S. Southern Command contributed to the failure of the coup. (James Dorsey, Washington Times, A1)

NORIEGA WARNS PANAMANIANS HE MAY IMPOSE EMERGENCY
General's Supporters Raid Opposition Office

PANAMA CITY -- Gen. Noriega Thursday warned opponents that he might impose "emergency laws" in a new political crackdown, and armed supporters surrounded the headquarters of an opposition leader, as the Panamanian strongman sought to keep a lid on dissent in the aftermath of a failed coup attempt.

In a harsh speech during a provincial tour aimed at rallying supporters, Noriega declared that now was "no time to talk democracy," citing "an emergency situation of so much economic and political pressure." He said he would respond with "clubs for the indecisive, bullets for enemies and money for friends" in the current turmoil and encouraged supporters to inform on "functionaries who cannot be trusted."

As Noriega was visiting the province of Veraguas, supporters wearing civilian clothes and armed with automatic weapons surrounded a political party headquarters where opposition leader Guillermo Endara had given a press conference, drove away opposition supporters and fired some shots in the air in an apparent effort to intimidate Noriega's opponents.

(William Branigin, Washington Post A33)

NORIEGA FORCES STEP UP PRESSURE AGAINST OPPOSITION

PANAMA CITY -- Soldiers and plainclothes agents broke into the opposition political headquarters late Thursday and evicted opposition leader Guillermo Endara, culminating a day of harassment apparently aimed at intimidating opponents of military leader Gen. Noriega.

It was unclear whether Endara had been arrested at his downtown headquarters. After being forced from the building with his hands over his head, Endara was seen walking away from the scene with two other people in plain clothes. (Don Finefrock, UPI)

SOLDIERS STORM OPPOSITION LEADER'S OFFICE, HE ESCAPES

PANAMA CITY -- Soldiers stormed the building where opposition leader Endara was holding a hunger strike, but a colleague said he was safely spirited away before the raid.

A nearby resident said the troopers fired tear gas in the raid late Thursday. It came hours after Gen. Noriega...told the nation that the government would get tough with its opponents.

Endara..."is now in a safe place," a colleague, Willie Cochez, said later Thursday. He would not elaborate. (Eloy Aguilar, AP)

COLOMBIA/BOMBS

BOGOTA -- Two bombs exploded late Thursday in Bogota, injuring two people and damaging a supermarket and a bank, police said. The attacks were believed to be the latest in a series by drug traffickers.

Also Thursday, President Barco named new ministers of justice, interior and communications. His government also announced plans for referendum to let voters decide whether suspected drug traffickers wanted in the U.S. should be extradited.

A U.S. official in Bogota said that despite the government's unprecedented crackdown on drugs, hundreds of tons of cocaine continue to be smuggled into the U.S. (AP)

NORIEGA CALLS COUP BID 'NEW BAY OF PIGS'

PANAMA CITY -- Gen. Noriega said Thursday that the aborted coup this week was "a new Bay of Pigs" engineered by Washington, which hoped to install opposition leader Guillermo Endara as the president of Panama.

Speaking to an audience at a school gymnasium in Santiago, 156 miles southeast of the capital, Noriega also accused the opposition political parties of taking a hand in Tuesday's coup attempt, which left at least 10 people dead.

"They took Endara early to have him ready...for the presidency, but they f_-ed (sic) themselves," Noriega told the gathering, which was organized by a group of pro-government women. (UPI)

CHENEY: U.S. WAS WILLING TO TAKE CUSTODY OF NORIEGA

Defense Secretary Cheney said Thursday that U.S. military forces in Panama "would have been happy" to take custody of Gen. Noriega during Tuesday's coup attempt, but rebellious Panamanian troops were unwilling to have the U.S. "take him off their hands."

Chief Pentagon spokesman Pete Williams said that in a face-to-face meeting the two rebel representatives while the coup was underway, a top U.S. military commander in Panama told them "we would take General Noriega off their hands and they repeated twice, no, they did not want us to take General Noriega."

An internal Pentagon chronology of the coup says: "U.S. notified coup liason that we are prepared to take Noriega under custody if brought to Ft. Clayton (a U.S. military base). Answer -- No intent to turn anyone over to U.S."

Responding to criticism of Capitol Hill that U.S. forces should have taken action during the coup, Cheney and other Bush Administration officials strongly defended the Administration's response to what officials described as an event riddled with confusion and contradictory information.

"The President made a very sound decision," said Cheney, who officials said was designated that Administration's chief spokesman and who made the rounds Thursday on Capitol Hill and on television interview shows. (Molly Moore & Joe Pichirallo, Washington Post, A36)

CHENEY TELLS MORE ON U.S. ROLE IN PANAMA, DISPUTES SENATOR

Defense Secretary Cheney said Thursday rebel officers in Panama asked the U.S. military as early as Sunday night to help them in a coup by blocking two roads -- roads that U.S. forces indeed later controlled.

But Cheney insisted the U.S. "never gave them an answer," and Pentagon officials suggested it was only coincidence that U.S. military exercises and movements to protect U.S. bases effectively placed the roads under American control during Tuesday's attempt to overthrow Gen. Noriega, whose ouster President Bush repeatedly has urged.

(Robert MacKay, UPI)

CASTRO SEES U.S. INVOLVEMENT IN COUP ATTEMPT IN PANAMA

HAVANA -- Cuban President Castro said Thursday that the U.S. had apparently been involved in Tuesday's attempted military coup in Panama and that Gen. Noriega had acted courageously.

"From all available evidence it was organized by the United States," he told reporters in an interview on the tarmac at Havana's airport while seeing off Soviet Foreign Minister Shevardnadze.

"According to my information, the U.S. Southern Command was in close contact with the dissident officers," he said, adding, "It seems Gen. Manuel Noriega conducted himself courageously and that his attitude and the loyalty of the majority of officers of the Panamanian Defense Forces frustrated the military coup." (Reuter)

SAVIMBI AGREES TO MEET 'VERY SOON' WITH MOBUTU
Rebel Leader Accedes to Bush Request

Angolan leader Savimbi said Thursday that he will meet "very soon" with Zaire's President Mobutu, who is mediating peace talks in Savimbi's guerrilla war against the Angolan government.

Savimbi said he has acceded to a request from President Bush to "work with" Mobutu.

Savimbi, who earlier had rejected Mobutu's mediation, said after a half-hour meeting with Bush at the White House that he was "happy to say that this is solved because we are going to meet very soon and all the problems will be ironed out." ..

Bush was...supportive of Savimbi Thursday, assuring him that the U.S. still supports him and his demands for "face-to-face negotiations" and "ultimately free and fair elections."

Savimbi said Bush was "satisfied" with his plan for a new agreement with the Angolan government on a cease-fire which broke down shortly after the first was proclaimed June 24.

Rebel Hands Bush New Peace Plan For Angolan War

President Bush reassured Angolan rebel leader Savimbi of "strong" U.S. support Thursday, and Savimbi presented him with a new cease-fire proposal aimed at reopening the peace process with the Soviet-backed government of Angola.

Savimbi, speaking to reporters after the 30-minute meeting, said Bush endorsed the cease-fire plan, which the rebel leader said he will disclose Thursday in a speech at the National Press Club....

Later, in an address to the Heritage Foundation, Savimbi criticized the Bush Administration for refusing to believe the Angolan army has used Soviet-supplied chemical weapons against his rebels.

Savimbi Meets With Bush, Accepts Mobutu Role

Angolan leader Savimbi met President Bush Thursday and said he is willing to revive talks with his country's communist government under the mediation of President Mobutu of Zaire.

Savimbi would not tell reporters after his 30-minute White House meeting how earlier friction about Mobutu's role had been resolved. Mobutu spoke to Bush at the White House Wednesday and was encouraged in his mediation efforts.

A senior U.S. official involved in both days of presidential meetings was reluctant to discuss details but said the Administration was able to impress both Savimbi and Mobutu with the need "of getting the process back on track." (UPI)

AMERICAN 'THREATS' IRK SOUTH AFRICA

JOHANNESBERG -- The government issued a brusque rebuttal Thursday to U.S. demands for apartheid to be reformed within a year, saying it was aware of the need for urgent action without threats from abroad.

"South Africa should retain the right not only to create our own constitutional future, but also to do so without threats and time limits imposed from outside," Foreign Minister Botha said in a statement.

BUSH SEEKS CONTROL ON PRODUCTS USABLE TO MAKE WEAPONS

The Bush Administration said it is tightening controls on the export of U.S. products that could be used to manufacture missiles and chemical weapons. The move is designed at least in part to deter Congress from enacting even tougher measures.

Commerce Secretary Mosbacher, testifying before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said the department is "carefully reviewing" various types of export-applications in order to weed out ones that could made a "significant contribution to a missile development program." The effort is aimed at preventing proliferation of missiles capable of carrying nuclear or chemical warheads.

Mosbacher also told the committee that the U.S. plans to tighten controls or impose new ones on 13 chemicals that could be used to make chemical weapons. He didn't identify these chemicals, but he said some of them are widely available and commonly used for making commercial products such as paint thinners, emulsifiers and fertilizers.

B-2 'STEALTH' BOMBER HAS SHORTER CRUISING RANGE THAN OLDER, CHEAPER B-1

The Air Force's B-2 "stealth" bomber has less cruising range than the older and cheaper B-1B now in operation, according to a secret part of the Defense Department budget sure to stir up new troubles for the $530 million flying-wing aircraft.

"Not good news for the plane," said House Armed Services Committee Chairman Aspin of the comparative unrefueled ranges of the two bombers disclosed to the Washington Post by authoritative sources. The Pentagon "black" budget gives the "current" estimates of comparative ranges without refueling as 6,400 miles for the B-1 and 6,000 for the B-2.

"I'm surprised at that," Aspin said. "They've been advertising the B-2 as having better range." (George Wilson, Washington Post, A14)

STATE DEPT. WARNS PLO DELEGATION
Plan For News Conference Is 'Political Activity' That Imperils Visas

The State Department Thursday warned members of a PLO delegation visiting the U.N. that their reported plan to take part in a New York news conference is improper "political activity" that could lead to revocation of their U.S. visas.

State Department spokesman Boucher said U.S. officials had received a news release stating that delegation members would take part in a "speaking event" sponsored by the Palestine Solidarity Committee and scheduled for last night at the United National Church Center, across from the U.N.

If delegation members participated, Boucher said, it would violate terms of their visas restricting them to attending the U.N. General Assembly session and other U.N. business and prohibiting any additional political activity. Accordingly, Boucher added, the U.S. has asked the U.N. Secretariat to advise the PLO's permanent observer mission at the United Nations of the potential violation.

SENATE VOTES TO OUTLAW FLAG DESECRATION
Legislative Response To Court Ruling Is Similar To House Version

The Senate voted 91 to 9 Thursday to outlaw desecration of the American flag after sending mixed signals about whether it will vote later this month to support a constitutional amendment that would do the same thing.

The legislation, similar to a measure approved last month by the House, would make it a crime subject to a penalty of one-year in prison and a $1,000 fine to mutilate, deface, burn, display on the ground or floor, trample or "physically defile" any flag of the U.S.

The words "physically defile" were added by a vote of 76 to 24 over misgivings of some Democrats who feared it might strengthen arguments that the bill is an unconstitutional violation of free-speech rights and that only a constitutional amendment can adequately protect the flag from desecration.

But the Senate rejected, 53 to 47, another GOP proposal to ban only public acts against the flag. Democrats regarded this as a more serious threat to the constitutionality of the statute because a reference to public acts implied an expression of opinion protected by the First Amendment.

BUSH URGES AMENDMENT TO BAN FLAG BURNING, REJECTS SENATE VERSION

President Bush, saying a Senate-approved statutory ban on defacing the American flag is inadequate, is renewing his support for a constitutional amendment to outlaw flag burning.

"I believe that a constitutional amendment, properly drawn, is necessary in order to provide the proper protection," Bush said Thursday after 91 to 9 approval by the Senate of the statutory ban.

DEMOCRATS OFFER IRA IN TRADE FOR AN END TO TAX CUT BID

Senate Democratic leaders offered Thursday to strip the $5.4 billion revenue bill for 1990 of a popular IRA provision if Republicans would drop efforts to cut capital gains.

In an effort to break an impasse over the revenue bill, Sen. Mitchell of Maine said Democrats were prepared to eliminate some 300 special tax provisions favoring narrow interests if Republicans agreed to back off from the tax cut.

However, Sen. Dole hesitated to agree to the offer, citing in particular President Bush's interest in the capital gains issue.

"There's somebody else in this town who has an interest in this, and that's the President," Dole said. "I have not discussed this with him."

HOUSE VOTES TO EXPAND SUPPORT FOR CHILD CARE
Low-Income Parents Tax Break Would Grow

The House voted Thursday to expand federal support for child-care services and to increase tax credits for the working poor who have children, turning back a less expensive plan supported by the White House and a scaled-down version proposed by a conservative Democrat.

The plan was added to the House's huge budget-reconciliation bill and sent to the Senate, which is expected to work on the legislation into the weekend. A final child-care plan is expected to be worked our in a House-Senate conference committee, possibly as early as next week.

Debate was intense and sometimes emotional as the House first discussed a GOP plan by Rep. Mickey Edwards to expand tax credits alone and a proposal by Rep. Stenholm that would have increased child-care funding much less than the plan supported by the Democratic leadership. The Edwards amendment, supported by President Bush, was rejected 285 to 140. The Stenholm amendment failed 230 to 195.

House Leadership Wins Massive Expansion Of Childcare program

Reversing a series of damaging defeats, the House Democratic leadership won approval Thursday of a massive expansion of the federal childcare program despite the opposition of the Bush Administration.

Estimated to cost $22.6 billion over the next five years, the plan envisions a $13.5 billion tax break for low-income families through enlargement of the earned income tax credit, expansion of the Head Start schools, provision of direct grants to the states, and establishment of minimum health, training and safety standards for providers.

TRICK-LADEN DEFICIT-CUT BILL PASSED

The House passed a three-inch thick deficit-reduction bill Thursday that contains dozens of examples of Congress's virtuosity in the art of budgetary gimmickry.

The 1,935-page bill approved by 333 to 91 relies heavily on accounting devices to create the appearance of meeting the deficit reduction targets of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings law. The bill also contains numerous extraneous and sweeping changes in law that have nothing to do with cutting the deficit.

One provision requires the nation's telephone companies to transfer taxes to the Treasury one week earlier than they do now, a maneuver that would reduce the deficit for fiscal 1990, which began Sunday, by $102 million. But the change would add $102 million to the 1991 deficit.

(Tom Kenworthy, Washington Post, A1)

SENATE APPROVES SWEEPING ANTI-DRUG BILL

The Senate approved major anti-drug legislation packed with help for law enforcement agents to crack down on dealers and users and filled with programs to provide treatment, education and rehabilitation for addicts.

The Senate passed over 50 separate provisions, which swept through by voice vote on overwhelming margins, in a dramatic expansion of President Bush's war on drugs. The bill was approved late Thursday 100 to 0 and sent to the House.

Among the major provisions, adopted earlier in the week, was authorization of 1,350 new FBI and drug agents as well as additional judges, prosecutors and others in the judicial system.

The Senate also passed earlier in the week a provision that would provide free treatment for penniless addicts under the Medicaid for the poor program. (Steve Gerstel, UPI)

SENATE REJECTS AUTHORITY TO SHOOT DOWN DRUG PLANES

The Senate narrowly voted down a proposal Thursday night that would have allowed U.S. authorities to shoot down drug smuggling airplanes under strict conditions.

It voted 52 to 48 against allowing such a shootdown if authorities had confirmed the plane was smuggling drugs, had warned the plane to land, received ground permission to fire into the plane.

Sen. Glenn called the proposal ludicrous because he said a family flying home from a Caribbean vacation, through confusion or misunderstanding, could ignore the warnings and be shot down. (Reuter)

HHS CHIEF CONDEMNS REPEAL ATTEMPT

Secretary of HHS Sullivan condemned moves Thursday to repeal the 1988 law that protects the elderly from catastrophic health costs and endorsed a bipartisan Senate plan to salvage it.

Sullivan said repeal would be "unwise health policy" and "an unfortunate act of political expedience."

The White House has said it opposes repeal, and a presidential aide said Thursday night that the White House was not endorsing any of several proposals pending in the Senate....

Sullivan endorsed a proposal by Sen. Durenberger to save most of the major benefits in the 1988 law while cutting back the surtax sharply -- from the maximum $800 per person this year to $200.

(Spencer Rich, Washington Post, A4)

FLORIDA HIGH COURT OVERTURNS PARENT-CONSENT ABORTION LAW
Constitutional Right To Privacy Cited

The Florida Supreme Court, overturning the state's parental-consent law for minors seeking abortions, Thursday found that the right to privacy outlined in the state constitution protects a woman's decision to have an abortion.

The ruling -- the first significant decision by a state court in the wake of the Supreme Court's ruling last July cutting back abortion rights under the U.S. Constitution -- represented an important victory for abortion-rights activists. It offers the prospect that state courts could frustrate efforts by state legislatures to adopt restrictive abortion laws.

REHNQUIST/DEATH PENALTY

Chief Justice Rehnquist, bypassing for now the federal courts' policy-making body, has sent to Congress a plan that could lead to swifter executions for death row inmates.

Rehnquist's move has angered civil liberties lawyers who had criticized the proposal when it was unveiled last month.

It also appears to have dismayed many of his colleagues on the Judicial Conference.... Fourteen of the judges wrote Congress to request hearings on whatever recommendations the conference makes, according to Friday editions the New York Times.

The Chief Justice's move "would essentially render the (U.S.) Judicial Conference impotent," Leslie Harris of the ACLU told Legal Times. (AP)

DARMAN DECRIES GOVERNMENT MANAGERS' NEGLECT OF DUTY

White House Budget Director Darman Thursday criticized the "Hollywood East syndrome" that caused Washington officials to neglect their management responsibilities and allowed scandals like the one at the Department of HUD.

Testifying before the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, Darman said the HUD affair was not only major governmental scandal and blamed a collective failure of oversight by federal managers.

"There is in Washington culture a Hollywood East syndrome. Too many are infatuated with the glare of the lights and too few are interested in the pedestrial work of management," he told the committee.

FEMA OFFICIALS ADMIT RESPONSE TO HUGO WAS SLOW

Fourteen days after Hurricane Hugo hit the South Carolina coast, officials of the federal agency coordinating disaster relief Thursday defended themselves from charges of bureaucratic bungling, but conceded that the agency's response was slower than it should have been.

Officials of FEMA said their small, 10-year-old agency had never encountered a disaster of Hugo's magnitude and pleaded for an end to the criticism. "I would say, enough is enough," said Grant Peterson, the FEMA associate director who has headed the relief effort.

Peterson, a former Spokane, Washington, county commissioner, said his agency had mounted a Herculean effort after the storm struck the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and then the U.S. mainland. "Even with every effort being applied, we must ask ourselves if the effort is going as rapidly as everyone, including ourselves if the effort is going as rapidly as everyone, including ourselves would like?" he told a news conference. "In all candor, the answer is no."

TRUMP MAKES $7 BILLION BID FOR AMERICAN AIRLINES
If Deal Succeeds, DOT May Look At Impact

Billionaire developer Donald Trump launched the largest airline takeover bid ever Thursday by offering $7 billion for American Airlines.

In doing so, Trump is challenging one of the toughest, most aggressive managements in the aviation industry, that of the American Airlines's top executive, Robert Crandall. AMR Corp., which owns American, said it will consider Trump's proposal but remains committed to operating an independent airline....

Thursday, just as the Trump bid was being announced, the Senate Commerce Committee approved a bill, sponsored by Wendell Ford, that would require the Transportation Secretary to determine the impact of airline buyouts on safety, the ability of an airline to grow, competition with foreign carries and other factors.

BUSH UNDERGOES FINGER SURGERY

President Bush promised not to be off the job long following his surgery Friday to remove a cyst from the middle finger of his right hand.

White House Press Secretary Fitzwater told reporters Thursday that the "mucoid cyst" appears to be non-malignant and the surgical procedure is considered routine.

The presidential spokesman said the cyst, which Bush has had for three years, is "not really painful, but it's a nuisance in the sense that it is large enough to cause him some anxiety." ...

During an Oval Office photo session Thursday with Angolan rebel leader Savimbi, Bush joked that he was facing "a serious operation" and told reporters, "I'll show you my scar afterwards."

Bush To Undergo Surgery On Finger

President Bush, making light of minor surgery to remove a cyst from his right middle finger, says it's no "federal case" and promises to show off his scar afterward.

The President was to be operated on early Friday afternoon as an outpatient at Walter Reed Army Medical Center for removal of the cyst, which has troubled him for several years. (Tom Raum, AP)

PANAMA COUP ATTEMPT

ABC's Ted Koppel reports that Panama continues to dominate activity in Washington today and new details are emerging about the United States' role in the attempt to overthrow Panama's military dictator, Gen. Manuel Noriega.

ABC's Brit Hume: Senior officials say the critical White House meeting on Panama occurred at 1:45 Tuesday in the Oval Office, where Defense Secretary Cheney briefed Mr. Bush, Chief of Staff Sununu, National Security Advisor Scowcroft, his deputy Robert Gates, and Press Secretary Fitzwater. Cheney reported what he said was the only U.S. contact of the day with rebels. Two hours earlier, when two rebel officers appeared at the gate of Fort Clayton in Panama, asked for and got a meeting with U.S. General Mark Cisneros. Cheney said the rebels claimed they had control of Noriega, and Cisneros asked if the U.S. could take him, but the rebels would not release him. The President said he needed more information before he could do anything. Soon after the meeting broke up, Assistant Secretary of State Aronson arrived to say the coup was over and Noriega had prevailed. The news surprised the President. On Capitol Hill today, Sen. Jesse Helms, among others, sharply disputed the White House version of events, in particular that the rebels would not release Noriega.
(Sen. Helms: "Not so. They were eager to turn over Noriega. But the fact is that the United States refused to leave the U.S. base in Panama to go get him.")
(Cheney: "Any claim, any charge, that somehow we were offered Noriega and didn't take him is a bunch of hogwash. Just not true.")
The White House, however, apparently took Helms' information seriously enough for Chief of Staff Sununu to summon two of his aides to the White House this afternoon to try to find out where it came from. The White House may also be trying to find out why it took more than an hour for word of that meeting in Panama with the rebel leaders on Tuesday to reach the President.

Koppel: And another charge from Senator Helms: He says that Gen. Noriega personally shot and killed the Panamanian officer who led the coup against him. In Panama, Gen. Noriega again blasted the United States today and continued to rally his supporters.

ABC's Peter Collins reports from Panama City that Gen. Noriega called his domestic opposition traitors and called for new laws to strip Panama's business class of its wealth. He made clear there would be swift reprisals against his enemies in the military. To underscore his contempt for the opposition, Noriega sent his secret police to harass the apparent winner of last May's cancelled election, Guillermo Endara.
(Endara: Noriega is doing whatever he wants. There is no law here.")

Collins continues: At opposition headquarters late today, anti-Noriega demonstrators were chased away by men firing into the air. Noriega is making it clear he could care less about the debate in Washington over how the coup was handled. He rules Panama. (ABC-4)

NBC's Fred Francis reports U.S. forces in Panama may not have been co-conspirators in the coup to overthrow Noriega, but American commanders, on orders from the Administration, blocked some roads for the rebels, were prepared to block more, and say Pentagon sources, would have intervened if the rebels could have delivered Noriega to U.S. forces. Sunday night rebel leader Maj. Moises Giraldi called U.S. officers at the American military base in Panama and said the coup was planned for Monday morning. The rebels asked the U.S. to block highways to prevent Noriega's rescue and to give refuge to their families. Today, Pentagon spokesman Pete Williams said the U.S. put troops on the roads, but only as part of a pre-planned exercise.

(Williams: "They asked us if we would be prepared to block access by road. So, we knew which roads they were talking about.")

Noriega was free to celebrate today because the Administration did not want to risk involving U.S. troops when rebel intentions and support for the rebels seemed so murky. (NBC-6)

CBS's Dan Rather: Two days after a military coup against him, Panama's Gen. Noriega was cracking down today against his civilian political opponents as well as his enemies within the Panamanian Defense Forces. Sporadic shooting was still going on this evening in the capital city, Panama City -- apparently an effort by Noriega's men to intimidate people and keep any crowds from gathering.

CBS's Doug Tunnell reports that plain-clothed policemen surrounded opposition offices in Panama City. They blocked the entrances to the building, arrested at least one person, and refused to let former presidential candidate Guillermo Endara leave.

(Endara: "This is to intimidate not only me, but the whole population.")

Sources reported raids on the homes and offices of other opposition figures around the country this afternoon. While the raids were underway, Noriega was in the town of Santiago for yet another public appearance that seemed designed to repair any damage to his image of invincibility. Noriega told his supporters that, in the wake of the coup attempt, his regime will not tolerate dissent. There are many here who believe he is now weaker than ever.

(Carlos Lopez Guevara, former foreign minister: "There is no stability in this country because, first of all, there is no stability within the armed forces of Panama.")

Amid the uncertainty, the Bush Administration has been criticized by Panama's opposition for choosing to wait on the sidelines, and the U.S. military is beginning to draw fire from people here who are normally friendly.

(Ricardo Arias Calderon, opposition leader: "They won't come. It's like a dog that barks very loudly and bites none at all.")

A growing investigation by Noriega loyalists has revealed far greater support for the coup than initially suspected. The greatest fear is that the legacy of this week's failed coup will be more violence as Noriega moves to silence those who dare to oppose him.

-more-

Rather: In Washington, Secretary of Defense Cheney was playing defense for a second day against charges that President Bush and his Administration baffled, flubbed, and missed an opportunity to help topple, and perhaps capture, Noriega.

CBS's Bob Schieffer reports that criticism from the Republican right, which began to simmer yesterday, boiled over on the Senate floor today. At one point, conservative Republican Jesse Helms said that the Administration's explanation of what happened in Panama was simply untrue. As Helms told it, rebel officers took Noriega captive and tried to turn him over to U.S. military officers, only to be told the officers had no clearance to accept him.
(Sen. Helms: "The U.S. officers informed the opposition troops that the South Com did not have the authority to apprehend Noriega and that the opposition troops would have to bring Noriega to the U.S. base.")
Defense Secretary Cheney called the charge hogwash. He contends the rebels never offered to surrender Noriega.
(Cheney: "They made it clear to us at that time that they would not turn Noriega over to us; that they did not want him extradited or expelled from the country, that they planned to have him retire quietly in Panama.")
While Democrats were not as critical as Helms and others on the right, there was skepticism and, from the chairman of the Intelligence Committee, the promise of an investigation.
(Sen Boren: "The full facts have not yet been laid out to us or to the American people and we intend to get to the bottom of it.")
(Sen. Kerry: "The intelligence has not been adequate, the strategy has not been adequate, the contingency plans have not been in place.")
While there's disagreement over just what transpired between the U.S. officers on the scene and the rebel officers, both Republican Helms and Democrat Kerry said on the Senate floor their sources report that the coup leader has been shot to death by Noriega himself.

Rather asks Schieffer: Can President Bush and his men stop all this question asking, or is there likely to be an investigation of the charges made by Sen. Helms and others?

Schieffer: I think there's going to be more than one investigation. Sen. Boren is planning to have the Intelligence Committee look into this. Sen. Nunn...says there are a lot of questions still to be answered, so I think this is going to be around for a while. (CBS-2)

EAST GERMAN EXODUS

ABC's Peter Jennings, from West Berlin: From a divided city, half of which is in turmoil. Over there, behind me on the East German side of the Berlin Wall, the 40th anniversary of the German Democratic Republic is being marked by the worst crisis since that wall was built. Mikhail Gorbachev is going to arrive there tomorrow, and today the East German government told dissidents over there that if they interfered with the Gorbachev visit, they would be crushed ruthlessly. This was also the day on which thousands more East Germans, having rejected their homeland, finally arrived in the West.

ABC's Jim Hickey reports from Hof, West Germany, on the arriving freedom trains. While passing through East German towns on the trip to the West, police fought with thousands of others to prevent them from jumping on board. The worst violence occurred as they neared Dresden.

ABC's John Donovan reports from the West German Embassy in Prague, Czechoslovakia, that skeptics of the government say the Czech leaders are interested in giving the appearance of change simply to persuade the West that they deserve its economic support.

Jennings reports on the East German anniversary celebrations. Honecker is reported to be so ill that East Germany has not only a refugee crisis, but a leadership crisis.

ABC's Barrie Dunsmore reports from Dresden, East Germany, on a typical East German family.

Jennings reports that President Bush said today he was moved by the thousands of East Germans making their way West, but the U.S. government also put out the word that American embassies in the Soviet bloc would not welcome people wishing to emigrate; they were not equipped, the State Department said, as places of refuge. (ABC-Lead)

Jennings reports that the level of frustration in East Germany has led people to stand up and say, in public, we want change. Because the Communist Party here shows no inclination for political reform, thousands of young people have turned their backs on their homeland, and more than a million people have applied to leave legally. (ABC-10)

NBC's Tom Pettit reports from Frankfurt, West Germany, that in Dresden last night, security forces fought with several thousand people who came to try to get on the freedom trains. Demonstrators burned a police car last night and an eyewitness said the police used sticks and water cannons to beat people near the train station. Later, anti-government protesters marched in Dresden shouting, we want freedom.

Brokaw reports that 600 other East German refugees boarded their train to freedom today in Warsaw. They started their ride with shouts of thanksgiving to the Polish government. All of this is a rejection of the rule and the ideology of East German leader Honecker, who today hinted that he is now prepared to use force against West Germany if he believes that East Germany's sovereignty is being threatened by a continuing exodus.

NBC's Jim Bitterman reports on East Germany's anniversary celebrations and the rule of Honecker. Dissidents were being warned that -- quote -- those who wish to tamper with East Germany's socialism should remember what happened in China. But it's a threat that's being openly defied. Reform groups have been attracting growing numbers to their demonstrations. Even young party members are unafraid to openly challenge the hardliners at the top. (NBC-2)

Rather reports on the nightmarish scene in Dresden where thousands of people desperate to get out of East Germany converged on the railroad station, which was blocked off by a huge force of police. Still, the crowd surged at the train screaming, we want out. At midnight, the police finally drove them back with water cannon and clubs. Only then could the trains creep through the city, their doors and windows locked from the outside.

CBS's Bert Quint reports that those on the freedom trains say the door out of East Germany is now closed. (CBS-3)

ANTI-DRUG WAR

ABC's Ted Koppel reports there have been two more huge cocaine busts. A Panamanian ship with 6 tons of cocaine on board was seized in the Gulf of Mexico and 9 tons of cocaine was taken when narcotics agents raided a house in Harlingen, Texas, last night. American officials say one of the reasons for the big busts here is that the drug cartels no longer feel safe storing cocaine in Colombia. (ABC-3)

AIDS

Rather reports 18 AIDS research programs in 14 American cities were awarded federal funds today. The $9 million they will share is aimed at making AIDS drug testing more available for women, minorities, and intravenous drug users. (CBS-8)

CATASTROPHIC HEALTH

Brokaw reports senate leaders are trying to work out a plan to save parts of the coverage. The plan would sharply cut the surtax that many of the elderly oppose but it would retain the main hospital benefits. (CBS-5, NBC-4)

CHILD CARE

Brokaw reports the House today voted a huge increase in federal subsidies for child care. The cost is expected to exceed $22 billion over five years. (CBS-5, NBC-5)

FLAG DESECRATION

Rather reports the Senate approved its own version of legislation making desecration of the U.S. flag a crime, punishable by up to a year in jail and a one thousand dollar fine. (CBS-5)

PRESIDENT'S HEALTH

CBS's Lesley Stahl: President Bush will have an operation tomorrow to remove a cyst from the middle finger of his right hand. His doctors say it appears to be non-malignant, though a biopsy will be performed. The President himself, laughed it off.
(President, sitting in Oval Office: "I'd like you to -- [inaudible due to laughter] I know, life goes on, I'll continue through this awful, awesome burden that -- continue what I'm doing.")

Stahl continues: The small lump, called a mucoid cyst, is at the end of the President's finger between the last knuckle and the nail. He's had it for three years, and it's grown to the point that it's become a nuisance.

(Dr. Harold Dick, Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center: "This is a small, pea-sized swelling that occurs on the back of the fingers, just behind the fingernail, and becomes troublesome if it is not treated in its early stages.")

The President is left handed so this is not expected to impede his activities. In a photo-op, Mr. Bush tried to resist the urgings of reporters to -- quote -- show us where it hurts.

(President, in Oval Office sitting next to Angola's Jonas Savimbi: "Don't tempt me [laughter]. It is this finger [laughter]. This middle one."

TV coverage: President, with fingers together and facing down, pointing to his middle finger.

President, to Savimbi: "This finger is sometimes identified as a bad gesture [laughter]. I don't know if the same is true all through Africa.")

There was a lot of joking here today, but the President is going to have surgery tomorrow that'll take about an hour. He will get a local anesthetic, so he will not asleep at all -- and that means that the baton will not be passed temporarily to Vice President Quayle.

(ABC-6, NBC-9, CBS-4)

ENVIRONMENT/PAPER RECYCLING

NBC's Don Oliver reports that paper recycling efforts are so successful that there is now a glut of used newspapers. The market is saturated and prices are half what they were a year ago. The problem is that there just aren't enough plants to turn the recycled newspapers into something useful. (NBC-8)

NOBEL PRIZE

ABC's Morton Dean reports the 1989 Nobel Peace Prize has gone to the Dalai Lama. The Nobel Committee's chairman suggested it was a double-edged award: prestige for the Dalai Lama and a message to China about Tibet and Tiananmen and the pro-democracy movement there. (NBC-7, CBS-6, ABC-7)

AMERICAN ROCKET COMPANY

Koppel reports the first privately-developed commercial rocket was engulfed in flames as it failed to lift off. (CBS-8, ABC-5)

BAKKER VERDICT

Rather: After a trial that lasted five weeks...the verdict finally was in today on television-preacher Jim Bakker. The verdict was guilty 24 times, all counts.... (NBC-Lead, ABC-2, CBS-Lead)

PANAMA COUP ATTEMPT

Gen. Noriega Will Fall -- "The best way to rid Panama of its dictator is through the Panamanian people themselves.... It should be a coup by Panamanians, not by U.S. soldiers on behalf of Panamanians. It will happen, if U.S. policy-makers maintain patience, pressure through sanctions and close contacts with democratic elements in Panama.... Contrary to some congressional sentiments, the Bush administration did not underreact. Cautiousness does not mean lack of resolve. Toughness is not proven only by sending the Marines." (Hartford Courant, 10/5)

Muffed Chance In Panama -- "The Bush Administration was telling the world it had nothing to do with the attempted coup. That's clearly true. But it's nothing to celebrate, despite the fact that the President -- for failing to help the coup attempt -- has been roundly praised by committed Democratic non-interventionists.... Wednesday's coup attempt represented an ideal opportunity to resolve the Noriega matter once and for all.... While the Bush administration basks in praise from politicians who supported Michael Dukakis in the last election, we wonder what lies ahead." (New York Post, 10/5)

Bush Was Right On Panama -- "Gen. Noriega's predictable overthrow will bring stability and democracy to Panama only if it is clearly the handiwork of the Panamanian people, not American forces. For that reason, President Bush was wise in refusing to order U.S. troops into a chaotic coup attempt by junior officers whose political aims were as obscure as their military tactics were faulty.... We believe Secretary Baker was correct in reminding the Noriega clique that the United States reserves the option to use American force on its own timetable, under its own plans, 'at a time of maximum opportunity and advantage.' Long-range U.S. interests dictate that the [Panama Canal] will be safest if the Panamanian people regard it as an asset to be preserved, not a target to be sabotaged. That is the underlying philosophy of the Panama Canal Treaty, and it should remain uppermost in U.S. priorities." (Baltimore Sun, 10/5)

Uncrushed 'Pineapple' -- "President Bush probably acted wisely this time around by daring, as was said about Walter F. Mondale, to be cautious. Those who take a longer view, such as Sen. Richard G. Lugar point out that actively backing a coup is hardly a way to convince governments elsewhere that U.S. bases won't mean U.S. meddling in the host country's internal affairs.... Without a mass uprising, without a heroic figure-in-waiting on the order of the Philippines' Corazon Aquino, and absent of Soviet or Cuban or other external threat, the 'victory' of an overtly American-engineered coup might well have been both empty -- and short-lived." (Philadelphia Inquirer, 10/5)

Noriega Survives, For Now? -- "Whatever comes from this test of Noriega's power, it is essential that the United States continue its support for civilians who oppose the drug thug/dictator. U.S. military restraint is also vital. The last thing either country needs is troop confrontation. For now, though, there is less and less assurance that the Noriega cancer can be removed." (Cleveland Plain Dealer, 10/4)

Failure In Panama -- "The United States missed a historic opportunity on Tuesday. In a display of irresolution that was disgracefully at odds with the Administration's belligerent rhetoric on the perfidy of Panamanian dictator Noriega, Washington froze in its posturing.... President Bush submissively denied U.S. involvement in the foiled coup attempt. U.S. forces in Panama should have been ordered to assist the rebels with all the resources needed to oust General Noriega.... Washington is rightfully reluctant to resurrect gunboat diplomacy. A violation of a neighbor's sovereignty can be justified only in exceptional circumstances -- which applied here. Panama is lost in the grip of a brutal political mutation: the combination of narcotics kingpin and astute Caribbean dictator who brazenly violates his own people's sovereignty. Thus U.S. intervention on the side of dissident Panamanian officers would have been fully justified." (Miami Herald, 10/5)

Bush's Bay Of Pigs? -- "When the [Bay of Pigs] operation ran into trouble...President Kennedy shrank from providing direct American military support.... A similar climb-down appears to have taken place this week when President Bush refused to use U.S. troops to help topple Panamanian dictator Gen. Noriega.... This week's coup leaders may not have been the insurgents of choice, but in foreign affairs you have to take your opportunities where you find them. It is also laughable that the administration is running around claiming that it didn't 'instigate' the insurrection. After the fiasco of Panama's elections last May,...the president openly called for an uprising by dissident officers. The idea of U.S troops less than two miles from the action standing by and watching does nothing for America's tattered leadership image in the world at large. If anyone wonders why America's allies sometime seem uncertain of coming to our aid when we request it, it may be because the United States itself is such an uncertain ally.... Mr. Bush's refusal to act is made all the more inexcuseable because the administration admits to having had advance warning that something was afoot in Panama. It is possible the president had information that would have rendered intervention undesireable, but the administration has not even hinted that that was the case. Instead, it appears to have crossed its fingers and hoped things would work out.... Noriega is roundly detested by almost everyone except the Medellin cartel. This is one instance where American national interests and world and congressional opinion are all rolled into one. Secretary of State Baker is fond of quoting the president's poll ratings on the handling of foreign policy. He should worry less about polls and more about looking after America's interests. It looks like George Bush wimped out on this one." (Detroit News, 10/5)

Coup Attempt -- "The U.S. government should avoid any appearance of having been the prime mover in this affair. And it should resist any pressure to intervene militarily. President Bush knew exactly what he was doing when he went out of his way to point out that the United States has no quarrel with the Panamanian military. He knows that it is the key to Noriega's departure, if that is indeed in the cards.... Whatever is happening in Panama, the United States must not let itself be drawn into an invasion. Let the word continue to go out, however, that should the Panamanian people decide to topple Mr. Noriega, the normalization of diplomatic and trade relations will benefit both countries. An occupying force or U.S. military personnel will not." (Dallas Morning News, 10/4)

In Panama, As Elsewhere, A Policy Of Timidity -- "Given Bush's explicit calls for the Panamanian military to overthrow Noriega -- why didn't the 12,000 U.S. troops stationed in Panama block Battalion 2000's return? We don't know the answer to that one, any more than we know why Bush abandoned Nicaragua's Contras, why he so strenuously resisted condemning the Beijing slaughter in June, or why he pursues a policy in Cambodia certain to bring the Khmer Rouge back to power. We do know that for a president whose strong suit is supposed to be foreign policy, Bush's timid performance to date has been woeful." (Boston Herald, 10/5)

The Noriega Paradox -- "It's a curious paradox: Clearly the people of Panama want to be rid of this vile man.... Equally clearly, the United States wants to be rid of him.... And yet the two parties cannot seem to act in concert to achieve the result each desires. The paradox is rooted, of course, in real and fancied perceptions of Latin Americans that somehow the colossus to the north wants to colonize or exploit their lands. Noriega, needless to say, lost no time in exploiting this fear. Until we can overcome this legacy of distrust, the Noriegas will flourish and work their mischief in Latin America." (Baltimore Evening Sun, 10/4)

Getting General Noriega -- "Elliot Abrams...said, 'We should have pushed and tipped the balance' in the Panama coup attempt. Sen. Jesse Helms...introduced a congressional resolution that reads: 'Notwithstanding any other provisions of law, the president of the United States is authorized to use the armed forces of the United States to secure the removal of Gen. Manuel Noriega from his illegal control of the republic of Panama.' In all these statements, there is an assumption that getting General Noriega is the paramount concern of the United States. This personalizing -- indeed, diabolizing -- of policy is most apparent in the lawlessness of Sen. Helms' amendment. All laws are to be suspended -- treaties with the Organization of American States, other international laws and U.S. laws itself. We are willing to do damage to our own values to express our repugnance at the values of one man. This is no way for a great power to do business." (Garry Wills, Baltimore Sun, 10/5)

FOREIGN MEDIA REACTION

EAST GERMAN EXODUS

"Gorbachev's Vital Stake In Two Germanies"

"If Mr. Bush and Mr. Gorbachev were meeting this autumn, as they should, they would have had a chance to set a context for developing relations between the two Germanies. Now, Mr. Gorbachev, who is due to visit East Germany next weekend, is probably the only context setter. The Hungarians consulted him before they allowed the first exodus.... He has a vital stake in good relations between the two Germanies and thus in a reform program for East Berlin which buys time for Mr. Honecker's heirs to create a country where enough of its citizens want to live.... The point for everyone, including West Germans, to remember is not the destruction of East Germany, but the creation of a national identity that its citizens do not despise." (Guardian, Britain)

"Refugee Pact Stems From Baker-Shevardnadze Wyoming Talks"

"According to diplomatic sources, the new exodus of East German refugees was secretly organized by East Germany, West Germany, the United States and Czechoslovakia last week at the U.N., with the endorsement of the U.S.S.R.... The pact stems from the silent agreement reached by Baker and Shevardnadze during their talks in Wyoming to allow for greater liberalization in Eastern European countries without destabilizing the Warsaw Pact.... The White House reacted with quiet satisfaction to the events in Prague. In line with the agreement reached in Wyoming, the United States is not supposed to do anything which could add to tension in Eastern Europe or in the Soviet Republics."
(Stampa Sera, Italy)

"Honecker Holds Key, Should Turn It"

"The solution of the refugee problem does not lie in increasing the number of emigration permits, but rather only in the removal of the causes responsible for the desire to emigrate. Erich Honecker holds the key to the solution in his hands. He should turn it at long last."
(Berliner Morgenpost, West Berlin)

"Berlin Wall Is Crumbling"

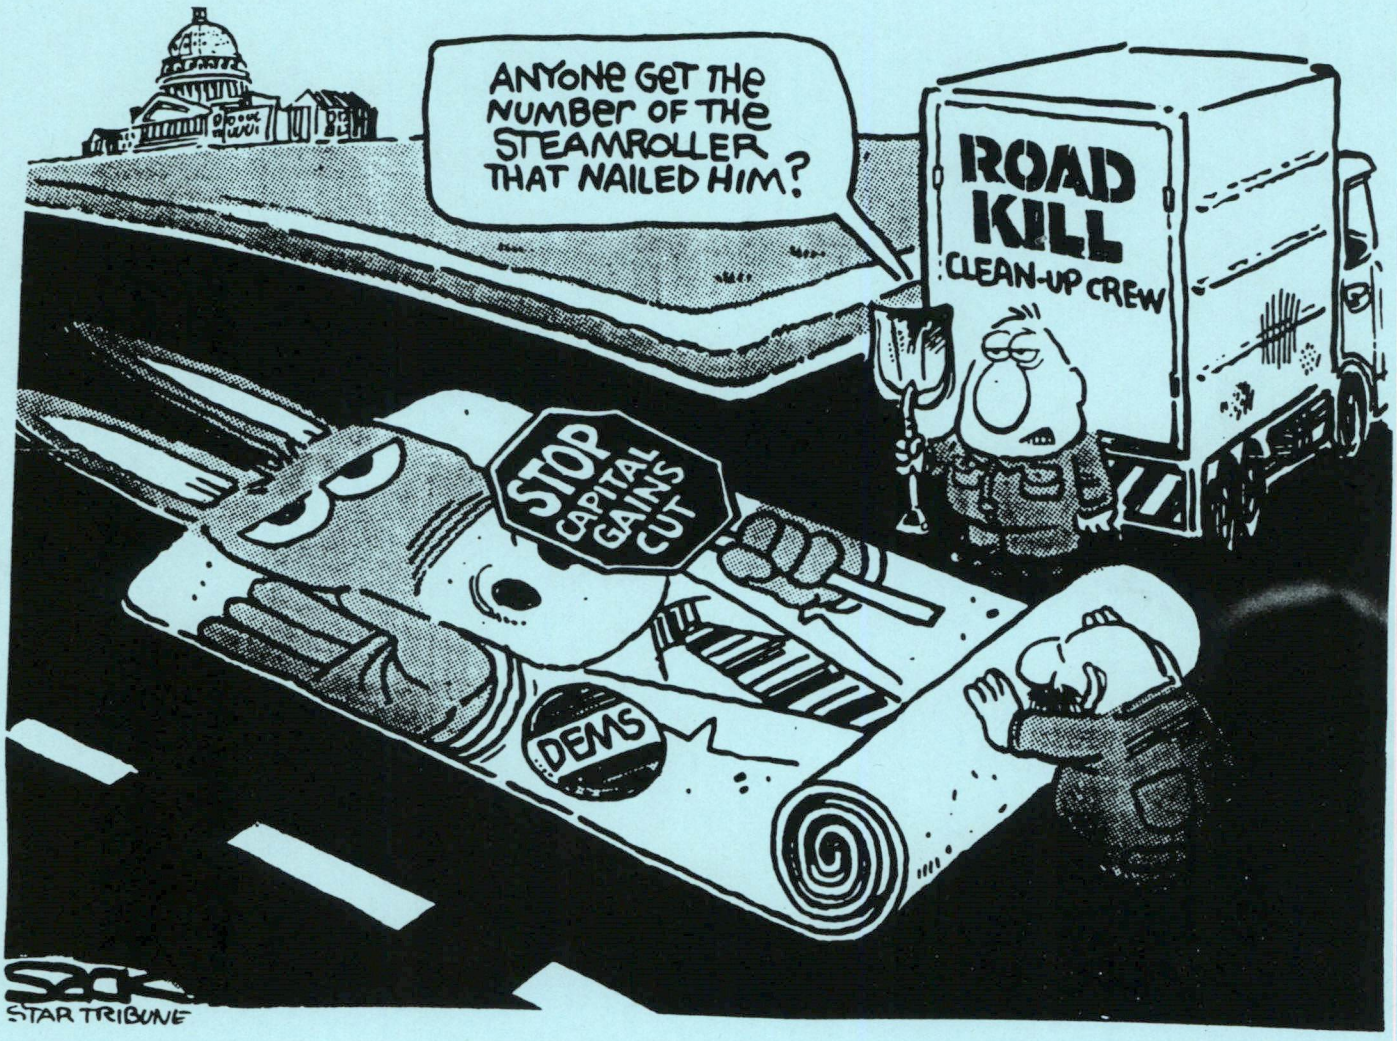

"Suddenly the iron triangle Prague-Warsaw-DGR has broken. As far as practice is concerned, this means that the Berlin Wall is crumbling because the East Germans were able to gain their freedom via Budapest, Warsaw and Prague. Now the GDR is isolated in every direction."
(Die Welt, West Germany)

"Gorbachev Would Not Come To GDR Unless Crisis Was Solved"

"Honecker has not only given in to pressure from the world public, but he was also left by Moscow. One thing became clear during Genscher's and Shevardnadze's talks in New York: Gorbachev would not come to the GDR if he ran the risk of being made responsible for the refugee drama at the Bonn missions."
(Sueddeutsche Zeitung, West Germany)

PROCESSIONAL HYMN

"Sine Nomine"

For all the saints, who from their labors rest,
Who thee by faith before the world confessed,
Thy Name, O Jesus, be for ever blessed
Alleluia, alleluia!

Thou wast their rock, their fortress, and their might:
Thou, Lord, their Captain in the well-fought fight;
Thou, in the darkness drear, the one true Light.
Alleluia, alleluia!

O may thy soldiers, faithful, true, and bold,
Fight as the saints who nobly fought of old,
And win, with them, the victor's crown of gold.
Alleluia, alleluia!

O blest communion, fellowship divine!
We feebly struggle, they in glory shine;
Yet all are one in thee, for all are thine.
Alleluia, alleluia!

And when the strife is fierce, the warfare long,
Steals on the ear the distant triumph song,
And hearts are brave again, and arms are strong.
Alleluia, alleluia!

The golden evening brightens in the west;
Soon, soon to faithful warriors cometh rest;
Sweet is the calm of paradise the blest.
Alleluia, alleluia!

But lo! there breaks a yet more glorious day;
The saints triumphant rise in bright array;
The King of glory passes on his way.
Alleluia, alleluia!

From earth's wide bounds, from ocean's farthest coast,
Through gates of pearl streams in the countless host,
Singing to Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
Alleluia, alleluia!

Psalm 23

read in unison

THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD; I SHALL NOT WANT. HE MAKETH ME TO LIE DOWN IN GREEN PASTURES; HE LEADETH ME BESIDE THE STILL WATERS. HE RESTORETH MY SOUL; HE LEADETH ME IN THE PATHS OF RIGHTEOUSNESS FOR HIS NAME'S SAKE. YEA, THOUGH I WALK THROUGH THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW OF DEATH, I WILL FEAR NO EVIL; FOR THOU ART WITH ME; THY ROD AND THY STAFF, THEY COMFORT ME. THOU PREPAREST A TABLE BEFORE ME IN THE PRESENCE OF MINE ENEMIES; THOU ANOINTEST MY HEAD WITH OIL; MY CUP RUNNETH OVER. SURELY GOODNESS AND MERCY SHALL FOLLOW ME ALL THE DAYS OF MY LIFE, AND I WILL DWELL IN THE HOUSE OF THE LORD FOR EVER.

Psalm 46 sung by the choir Chant: Dirksen

God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will we not fear, though the earth be moved, and though the mountains be toppled into the depths of the sea; though its waters rage and foam, and though the mountains tremble at its tumult. The Lord of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our stronghold. There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God, the holy habitation of the the Most High. God is in the midst of her, she shall not be overthrown; God shall help her at the break of day. The nations make much ado, and the kingdoms are shaken; God has spoken, and the earth shall melt away. The Lord of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our stronghold. Come now and look upon the works of the Lord, what awesome things he has done on earth. It is he who makes war to cease in all the world; he breaks the bow, and shatters the spear, and burns the shields with fire. "Be still, then, and know that I am God; I will be exalted among the nations; I will be exalted in the earth." The Lord of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our stronghold.
Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit: as it was in the beginning, is now, and will be for ever. Amen.

THE EPISTLE 1 Timothy 6: 11-16

HYMN all stand and sing "King's Lynn"

O God of earth and altar, bow down and hear our cry,
Our earthly rulers falter, our people drift and die;
The walls of gold entomb us, the swords of scorn divide,
Take not thy thunder from us, but take away our pride.

From all that terror teaches, from lies of tongue and pen,
From all the easy speeches that comfort cruel men,
From sale and profanation of honor, and the sword,
From sleep and from damnation, deliver us, good Lord!

Tie in a living tether the prince and priest and thrall,
Bind all our lives together, smite us and save us all;
In ire and exultation aflame with faith, and free,
Lift up a living nation, a single sword to thee.

HYMN "Mit Freuden zart"

Lord Christ, when first thou cam'st to earth, upon a cross they bound thee,
And mocked thy saving kingship then by thorns with which they crowned thee:
And still our wrongs may weave they now new thorns to pierce that steady brow, and robe of sorrow round thee.

O aweful Love, which found no room in life where sin denied thee,
And, doomed to death, must bring to doom the powers which crucified thee,
Till not a stone was left on stone, and all those nations' pride, o'er-thrown, went down to dust beside thee.

New advent of the Love of Christ, shall we again refuse thee,
Till in the night of hate and war we perish as we lose thee?
From old unfaith our souls release to seek the kingdom of thy peace, by which alone we choose thee.

O wounded hands of Jesus, build in us thy new creation;
Our pride is dust, our vaunt is stilled, we wait thy revelation:
O love that triumphs over loss, we bring our hearts before thy cross, to finish thy salvation.

Then all kneel for the consecration of the bread and wine, page 341, praying that God's Holy Spirit will bless and strengthen us for his service.

Following the Lord's Prayer, page 336, the bread is broken, and all join in the response to that symbolic action.

*At the invitation, all chalice and paten bearers come forward from their places in the congregation to receive first. They are then formed into teams and sent out to stations throughout the cathedral. When the teams are ready, the administration of the communion begins for the people. Anthem — sung by the Howard University Choir
Valerie Johnson, Leslie Thompson, sopranos — Felix Mendelssohn

I waited for the Lord. He inclined unto me; he heard my complaint. O blest are they that hope and trust in the Lord.

Anthem — Randall Thompson

sung by the Saint Albans and National Cathedral School Chorale

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood and I -
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all difference.

Robert Frost (1874-1963)

Anthem sung by the Cathedral Choir Godfrey Sampson

The God of love my Shepherd is,
And he that doth me feed,
While he is mine, and I am his,
What can I want or need?
He leads me to the tender grass,
Where I both feed and rest;
Then to the streams that gently pass:
In both I have the best.
Or if I stray, he doth convert,
And bring my mind in frame:
And all this not for my desert,
But for his holy Name.
Yea, in death's shady black abode,
Well may I walk, not fear;
For thou art with me, and thy rod
To guide, thy staff to bear.
Surely thy sweet and wondrous love,
Shall measure all my days;
And as it never shall remove,
So neither shall my praise.
George Herbert

Motet sung by the Cathedral Choir Maurice Duruflé

Ubi caritas et amor, Deus ibi est. Congregavit nos in unum Christi amor. Exsultemus et in ipso jucundemur. Timeamus et amemus Deum vivum. Et ex corde diligamus nos sincero. Amen.

Where charity and love are, there is God. The love of Christ has brought us together into one flock. Let us rejoice and let us be glad in that love itself. Let us fear and love the living God. And let us love from a pure heart. Amen.

Anthem sung by the Cathedral Choir Thomas Tallis

If ye love me, keep my commandments, and I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another comforter, that he may abide with you forever, even the Spirit of Truth.
John 14: 15-16.

When all have received and returned to their places, the Cross and Torches will lead the chaplains and concelebrants to the High Altar for the commendation of our good shepherd, + John. During this procession the choir sings these verses from "A Child, My Choice" by Richard Dirksen.

ANTHEM Richard Dirksen

Let folly praise that fancy loves,
I praise and love that Child
Whose heart no thought,
Whose tongue no word,
Whose hand no deed defiled.
I praise him most, I love him best,
All praise and love is his;
While him I love, in him I live,
And cannot live amiss.

Alas! he weeps, he sighs, he pants,
Yet do his angels sing;
Out of his tears, his sighs and throbs,
Doth bud a joyful spring.
Almighty Babe, whose tender arms
Can force all foes to fly,
Correct my faults, protect my life,
Direct me when I die!

Robert Southwell

POSTCOMMUNION PRAYER kneel, said by all Archbishop Tutu

ALMIGHTY GOD, WE THANK THEE THAT IN THY GREAT LOVE THOU HAST FED US WITH THE SPIRITUAL FOOD AND DRINK OF THE BODY AND BLOOD OF THY SON JESUS CHRIST, AND HAST GIVEN UNTO US A FORETASTE OF THY HEAVENLY BANQUET. GRANT THAT THIS SACRAMENT MAY BE UNTO US A COMFORT IN AFFLICATION, AND A PLEDGE OF OUR INHERITANCE IN THAT KINGDOM WHERE THERE IS NO DEATH, NEITHER SORROW NOR CRYING, BUT THE FULLNESS OF JOY WITH ALL THY SAINTS; THROUGH JESUS CHRIST OUR SAVIOR. AMEN.

THE COMMENDATION

Give rest, O Christ, to thy servant with thy saints,
WHERE SORROW AND PAIN ARE NO MORE, NEITHER SIGHING, BUT LIFE EVERLASTING.

Thou only art immortal, the creator and maker of mankind; and we are mortal, formed of the earth, and unto earth shall we return. For so thou didst ordain when thou createdst me, saying, "Dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return." All we go down to the dust; yet even at the grave we make our song: Alleluia, alleluia, alleluia.

GIVE REST, O CHRIST, TO THY SERVANT WITH THY SAINTS, WHERE SORROW AND PAIN ARE NO MORE, BUT LIFE EVERLASTING.

Into thy hands, O merciful Savior, we commend thy servant John. Acknowledge, we humbly beseech thee, a sheep of thine own fold, a lamb of thine own flock, a sinner of thine own redeeming. Receive him into the arms of mercy, into the blessed rest of everlasting peace, and into the glorious company of the saints in light. AMEN.

THE BLESSING Bishop Browning

THE DISMISSAL — Ms. Hensley

Let us go forth in the name of Christ.
THANKS BE TO GOD.

Please, all remain standing in place, first quietly listening to the organ, and then singing the hymn, until all of the processions have cleared the aisles. Depart, then, in peace, but also in quiet as a final full measure of our greatest respect for and devotion to our friend who taught and served us so well.

THE RECESSIONAL

Fanfare for the Common Man — Aaron Copland

Hymn — "Lift every voice"

Lift every voice and sing till earth and heaven ring,
Ring with the harmonies of liberty.
Let our rejoicing rise high as the listening skies;
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us;
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us;
Facing the rising sun of our new day begun,
Let us march on, till victory is won.

Stony the road we trod, bitter the chastening rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet, with a steady beat, have not our weary feet
Come to the place for which our parents sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears has been watered;
We have come, treading our path through the blood of the slaughtered,
Out from the gloomy past, till now we stand at last
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

God of our weary years, God of our silent tears,
Thou who has brought us thus far on the way;
Thou who hast by thy might led us into the light;
Keep us for ever in the path, we pray.
Lest our feet stray from the places, our God, where we meet thee;
Les, our hearts drunk with the wine of the world, we forget thee;
Shadowed beneath thy hand may we for ever stand,
True to our God, true to our native land.

James Weldon Johnson (1871-1954)

ORGAN POSTLUDE — Toccata: Fifth Symphony — Charles Marie Widor

The Washington Ringing Society will ring a half-muffled full peal in memory of John Thomas Walker following the service.

The hymns in this service were specified by Bishop Walker in his will. Other choices were among his favorite pieces, often heard in the cathedral worship which he loved so much.

Brilliant Idea (if it works)

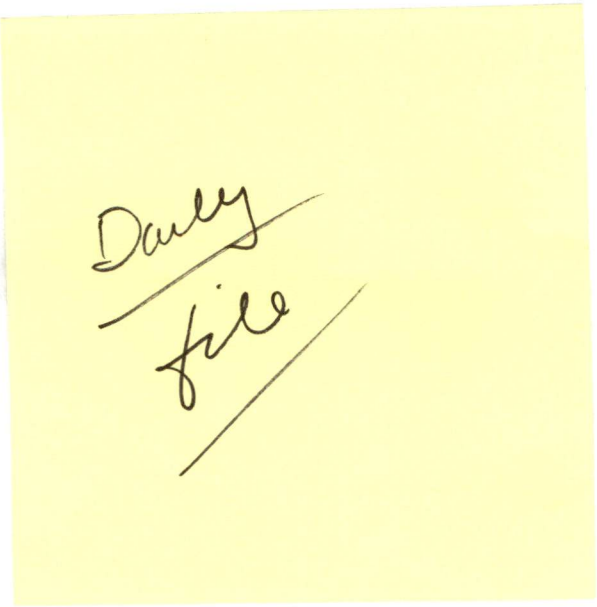

How about bringing the wife, the kids and meybe have each kid bring a friend to Camp David on Columbus Day.

Come on up before lunch so the kids could explore. Then have a bite of lunch with me (Bar having headed off to Chicago where whe gets to march in the Parade with Frank Annunzio).....

Then, after exhausting your gang with any activities...e.g. new automated bowling lanes....you can retreat.

If it doesn't click for you, a rain check awaits.....

5:00 P.M. NEWS UPDATE

CATASTROPHIC HEALTH/SULLIVAN (AP) -- The Bush administration and Senate leaders from both parties Thursday endorsed a plan to salvage parts of catastrophic health coverage for retirees while slashing the surtax and monthly premium that pay for it. HHS Secretary Sullivan said the proposal by Sen. Durenburger "incorporates our mutual priorities." "Our nation's health policy cannot afford the setback repeal would cause," Sullivan wrote Sen. Bentsen.... Repeal, he said, would be unwise policy and "an unforgivable act of political expedience."

PERMANENT CAPITAL GAINS CUT/DARMAN (AP) -- The Bush administration on Thursday signaled its intention to push for a permanent capital-gains tax cut in the Senate as early as this weekend. OMB Director Darman said the administration-supported capital-gains cut approved by the House last week is flawed because its full impact would be in effect for only 27 months. Nevertheless, Darman said under questioning by the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, the House plan is "better than none at all because we could extend it." That is what the administration hopes to do in the Senate, he added.

HUD SCANDAL/DARMAN (AP) -- Scandals at the HUD "are not unique" and reflect a wide failure of government agencies to fix management problems, Budget Director Darman told Congress Thursday. "There are analagous problems in other agencies," said Darman.... He declined to name departments or agencies with unreported management problems on the scale of the scandals at HUD.... "I don't think we should be advertising the high-risk areas," he told reporters after making his comments to the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee. To do so, he said, would amount to "an open invitation" to abuse.

DEFICIT REDUCTION BILL/CHILD CARE AMENDMENT/HOUSE (UPI) -- The House passed and sent to the Senate Thursday an almost $11 billion deficit reduction package that cuts capital gains taxes, expands child care programs and repeals the catastrophic health insurance law. The 333-91 vote for the overall budget bill came after House Democrats rejected two attempts to trim a Democratic-sponsored $22.7 billion expansion of child care programs and tax credits in the next five years.... A Republican bid to slash the $22.7 Democratic [child care] plan was defeated on a 285-140 mostly party-line vote. A compromise second attempt to cut it by a lesser amount failed on a 230-195 vote.

COUP LEADER KILLED/HELMS (Reuter) -- Panamanian leader Gen. Noriega personally shot dead the officer who sought to topple him in Tuesday's unsuccessful coup, Sen. Helms charged Thursday. Helms...made the charge in a Senate speech in which he disputed the administration's account of the coup attempt and blasted its "tragic inaction." "The leader of the opposition is now dead," he said. "We know that. I've had reports from Panama that Noriega personally shot the major [Maj. Moises Giroldi]." ...Helms said the rebels sought U.S. help while they were holding Noriega captive.... "But this cry for help went unheard -- obscured by a cacaphony of official international visits (to Washington) and a total lack of advance planning," he said.

NORIEGA LEGISLATION/HELMS (UPI) -- Sen. Helms, disgusted that U.S. troops failed to seize Gen. Noriega in this week's Panama coup attempt, urged the Senate Thursday to give President Bush authority to order the abduction of the accused drug trafficker. Helms said such general authority already exists in the law but too-cautious military commanders and a bumbling bureaucracy failed to respond.... Senate leaders objected strongly, saying Helms would give the chief executive authority not provided under the Constitution.... Sen. Byrd called it "officially sanctioned snatching" and asked, "Who is to decide on who gets snatched...?" Helms...told his colleagues, "Next time, if there is a next time, I want some action! I don't want to have any excuse."

PANAMA/CHENEY/GOP SENATORS (AP) -- Defense Secretary Cheney sought Thursday to calm congressional outrage over President Bush's response in a failed Panama coup, but some Republicans kept up their fire and directly disputed the administration's version of events. Sen. D'Amato callled the admininstration's story a "weak-kneed explanation for failure" and said the U.S. had "botched" the handling of the coup. "It's an incredible stain on us," he said.... In closed-door sessions with lawmakers, Cheney acknowledged that the coup leaders had made a general request to the U.S. on Sunday for support, through logisitical moves like blocking roads and some show of force, according to a source who attended. But in a speech on the Senate floor, Sen. Helms contended the requests for help had been more extensive and more specific. Basing his assertions on information gathered by his staff from unspecified sources, Helms said opposition troops went at 10 a.m. Tuesday -- just over an hour after the coup had begun -- to speak to officers of the U.S. Southern Command. "They told the U.S. officers that they were holding Noriega captive, and requested U.S. assistance to take custody of Noriega and remove him to the United States," Helms alleged, adding that the rebels were told the Southern Command did not have the authority to take Noriega unless he were brought to the U.S. base. The rebels said they were incapable of doing so safely, he said. Cheney, asked about Helms' claim, responded: "Any charge that we were somehow offered Noriega and didn't take him is hogwash."

PANAMA/ENDARA HELD (Panama City/Reuter) -- Several armed men entered the offices of Panama's opposition coalition Thursday and apparently held opposition leader Guillermo Endara after shots were heard in the building. Witnesses said Endara's bodyguard was among three people taken from the building at gunpoint by the armed group.... The witnesses said Endara could be seen at a grilled ground floor window of the offices, holding a piece of paper on which was written: "I consider myself under arrest."

COSTA RICAN EMBASSY SEIZED/EL SALVADOR (San Salvador/AP) -- About 30 human rights activists seized the Costa Rican Embassy in the capital today to protest policies of President Cristiani's rightist government they regard as repressive. It was not immediately known if they were armed.... Sevreal embassy workers remained inside the building, but it was not immediately clear if they were being held hostage. No violence was immediately reported.

WAR ON DRUGS/COLOMBIA, VENEZUELA (Caracas/Reuter) -- The presidents of Venezuela and Colombia agreed Thursday to step up joint efforts to wipe out drug trafficking. Venezuelan President Perez and Colombian President Barco said in a statement carried by the state news agency Venpres that they would reactivate a joint commission designed to combat the illegal drugs trade. "(Both countries agree) to take concrete political action that will include...the exchange of information and processing of data in the preventive area, and combined operations in the operational area," it said.

E. GERMAN REFUGEES/STATE DEPARTMENT (AP) -- Even while registering concern for their plight, the Bush administration Thursday cautioned East Germans hoping to flee to the West that the U.S. Embassy in East Berlin cannot grant waves of them extended sanctuary. "Our embassy is not in a position to accommodate large numbers of people who want to sit there until other governments do something," said State Department spokesman Richard Boucher.

KOOP/TV SHOW (New York/UPI) -- Dr. C. Everett Koop, the outspoken former surgeon general, will act as host for a series of one-hour NBC health specials, the network announced Thursday.

Dear Dear Mr. President and Mrs. Bush:

I was very pleased to see you at the opening of The Threepenny Opera showing your support for the theatre in Washington. I am here working for The Shakespeare Theatre at the Folger for the 1989-90 season and would like to extend a personal invitation to you to come and see Twelfth Night which opens September 25 and runs through November 19. I know that the Theatre has already sent you an invitation as it is their 20th Anniversary season, and we would be greatly honored if you could attend. Though it may not be possible for you to come to the opening, all effort would be put forth for you to come on a night of your choosing. Please take some time to consider this request. I know your time is in great demand, but truly I would feel deeply honored by your presence.

Sincerely and respectfully yours,

Dear Pat:

Many thanks for the background on the painting. I think we'll enjoy it even more knowing that Booth built the lobster boat.

Hearing about all the blues makes me wish I were there. Best wishes to all, and thanks for writing.

Sincerely,

Just a note to give you some information on the lobster boat painting you have in your bedroom here.

I Bath and I walked up the avenue to town last week and as we walked by the W. Robert Paine Gallery he said "I have a painting of the Path Lee" in the window. I asked to see it went in and talked to Mrs. Paine and she said the

Dear Mr. McNeill:

Thank you for this opportunity to participate in your "Moments in History" program.

The dictionary defines history as, "acts, ideas, or events that will or can shape the course of the future." That is a sobering fact, for our actions today help determine the tomorrow that we and our descendants will experience.

That fact implies a sense of power, as well as one of responsibility. For we are given power, not to advance our own purposes or to make a great show in the world or to make a name for ourselves, but to serve people.

In this regard the old ideas are new again because they are not old, they are timeless: duty, sacrifice, commitment, and a patriotism that finds its expression in taking part and pitching in. We must bring the generations together, harnessing the unused talent of the elderly and the unfocused energy of the young. Not only leadership is passed from generation to generation, but also stewardship.

No President nor any government can teach us to remember what is best in each of us. But by fostering these ideas, we can hope to gain a sense of what it means to be a loyal friend; a loving parent; and a citizen who leaves his home, neighborhood, and town better than he found them.

I see history as a book with many pages, and each day we fill a page with acts of hopefulness and meaning. A breeze blows, a page turns, the story unfolds. And we dedicate ourselves to a better tomorrow.

Mrs. Bush joins me in sending our best wishes as America journeys into the future.

Sincerely,

Dear Mrs. DiVito:

Imagine my delight, while reading your nice letter, to have a letter of my father's, dated thirty years ago, drop out on the desk. It was good of you to share it with me.

Reading Dad's letter brought back a raft of good memories from his Senate days. I remember when he first ran in 1950; Barbara and I cheered him on from Texas. He lost by only a thousand votes, so we weren't surprised when he won in a special election two years later. He was the kind of "gentleman politician" who put people first.

I believe you sent me the original letter, rather than the copy, so I'm returning it to you. I know your grandson will treasure it, as your parents did.

Thank you for your kind words. Best wishes to your grandson and to your entire family.

Dear Tom, Anna, Carley:

Your Dad was a very special guy. I loved his quiet gentle manner. I loved the fact that he coupled this manner with a deep comitment that his friends found contagious.

Besides he was just plain nice and kind.

I looked across at you all today and I remembered what someone told me when my Dad died. He said "When your Dad dies you lose your best friend". That's true - that's very true; I can tell you feel it. But faith and time help a lot; and maybe it will help a little to know that this friend cares. You see I loved the man

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan:

Barbara and I were pleased to receive your thoughtful letter. It sounds as if your lives are about as busy as ours -- with not enough time to sit in that easy chair to catch a good program. When we do have the time, however, we love to do just that. We enjoy inviting friends over to join us, and a good supply of popcorn is always on hand for the occasion.

We were glad to learn about your family. Barbara and I know how proud you must be of your daughter, and we can certainly understand your pride in your parents' outstanding service as law enforcement officers. The hard work and patriotism of Americans like you and your family are among the greatest strengths of our Nation.

Vice President Quayle and I are deeply grateful for your strong support, and it will continue to mean a great deal to us as we face the challenges and opportunities before our country. Thank you, as well, for inviting Barbara and me to visit. Your kindness brightened our day.

With warmest wishes to you and yours,

Dear Mrs. Thomas:

Thank you for your heartfelt letter. I appreciate your kind words about my recent remarks to our Nation's schoolchildren.

Those words came straight from my heart. We must stop the destruction caused by substance abuse in this country, and I'm counting on young Americans to help. Our kids are filled with so much hope and promise. I want to help make sure they are not destroyed by experimentation with drugs and alcohol.

I am pleased to know that I can count on your support in this all-important fight. The men and women who educate our Nation's children help shape our Nation's future -- that is why the importance of your work cannot be overestimated. Fostering the joy of learning, as well as a sense of self-esteem and self-discipline, in each student is a challenging task for educators, but it is one that holds infinite rewards for both our children and the Nation. By helping your students to grow in knowledge, faith, and personal character, you and all the teachers at Epiphany School can make a lasting difference in their lives. I commend you for your enthusiasm and hard work.

Barbara joins me in sending warm best wishes to you and your students for a rewarding school year.

Thank you for your heartfelt letter. The bravery you and your family displayed in fleeing Hungary to live in freedom is truly an inspiration. You and other American immigrants, who through heroism and sacrifice were able to come to our great Nation, are living reminders that man's longing for liberty and representative government cannot be repressed.

I share your excitement about the advance of freedom in Eastern Europe. We are, indeed, on the threshold of a new era. It is my fervent hope that ours will be the generation to see Europe whole and free. By the time this letter arrives, you will have returned from your first visit back to your native land. I know this must have been quite an experience for you.
