ANTI-SADDAM UPRISING SPREADS IN SOUTH IRAQ Refugees Say Opposition Has Seized Some Towns

SAFWAN, Iraq -- A fundamentalist Islamic uprising against Saddam Hussein is rapidly gaining momentum in the southern part of the country, with some towns already effectively controlled by Iranian-backed opposition groups, refugees streaming through this village near Iraq's border with Kuwait said Monday.

Refugees described scenes of chaos and near-anarchy in several towns, and said that resistance to Iraqi authorities is being led by several fundamentalist opposition groups, primarily the Islamic Revolutionary Party of Iraq, headed by Iranian-educated Mohammed Bakr Hakim.

The refugees told of retaliatory attacks by Saddam's Republican Guard, and just a few miles north of this war-damaged border outpost, Republican Guard troops appeared to be in control. They threatened Western journalists with rifles when they approached by automobile in an attempt to reach Basra and apparently detained two of them....

The refugees said they did not know about the situation in the rest of the country, but that rumors of Saddam's imminent overthrow were widespread. (William Claiborne, Washington Post, A1)

Guard Crushes Iraqi Protests

SAFWAN -- Iraq's Republican Guard launched a fierce crackdown on protesters demanding the overthrow of Saddam Hussein and the establishment of an Islamic republic in Iraq, witnesses said Monday.

The Guard...was reported to be turning some of its remaining tanks and guns on the demonstrators, who are apparently disgusted with Saddam's handling of the Gulf war and sense that he may be vulnerable.

There were reports of protesters killing government officials, including the mayor of Basra, a governor and Saddam's eldest son.

Witnesses said demonstrations had erupted in at least eight Iraqi cities, stretching from Basra to the Shiite Muslim holy city of Karbala in central Iraq.

DOCTORS SAY FREED AMERICAN POWs ARE HEALTHY

MANAMA, Bahrain -- The first six American prisoners of war freed by Iraq were pronounced chipper and healthy Monday, and the U.S. military said more allied POWs would go free in exchange for 194 Iraqi prisoners.

The exchange was to begin this afternoon....

The first six freed Americans arrived at the U.S. Navy hospital ship Mercy in Bahrain early Tuesday after a 17-hour journey....

The head physician aboard the medical plane...said doctors found no solid evidence that the six had been tortured or seriously mistreated....

Iraq's ambassador to the U.N., Abdul Amir Al-Anbari, said in New York on Monday that all allied POWs could be released today and Wednesday...to the Red Cross in Baghdad. (David Crary, AP)

BUSH IS PLEASED BY FREEING OF 10

President Bush welcomed the release of 10 allied prisoners by Iraq Monday, but vowed to win the freedom of "every single" captured soldier and Kuwaiti citizen. The nation's senior military officer said the war would not be formally over ended until Iraq accounted for all its prisoners....

The Bush administration said that in addition to releasing the 10 prisoners, who included 6 Americans, Baghdad had also supplied the location of land and sea mines in Kuwait and the Gulf to coalition forces....

"We're making progress in our journey from peace to war," Bush told a veterans' group in the White House in a speech that mingled a sense of triumph with quotations from Abraham Lincoln and assurances from the President that he was "not gloating."

Bush's comments were part of a concerted effort by the administration Monday to convey the impression that the U.S. was not seeking to punish Iraq after the coalition's military victory, but to play what Bush has called the "role of the healer."

IRAQ TO RETURN PROPERTY SEIZED AFTER KUWAIT INVASION -- RADIO

BAGHDAD -- Iraq has decided to return all property it seized after its Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait, Baghdad Radio said Tuesday.

Baghdad Radio quoted the official Iraqi news agency INA as saying it had learned that the Revolution Command Council "decided to return all properties that Iraqi authorities took possession of after Aug. 2."

INA said the decision Monday by the RCC was an implementation of U.N. Security Council resolutions since the Kuwait invasion....

Secretary General Perez de Cuellar said Monday he had the impression that Iraq was trying to make every effort to implement all the requirements of various U.N. resolutions. (Reuter)

U.S., ITALY AGREE TO MAINTAIN GULF COALITION FOR PEACE

Secretary Baker and Italian Foreign Minister de Michelis agreed to try to maintain the anti-Iraq coalition to press for peace in the Middle East.

"We face some very, very difficult and intractable problems in the aftermath of the crisis and for that very reason it is important that we maintain as much unity as we can," Baker said after an hour-long meeting with his Italian counterpart.

"The coalition lives and the coalition is in good shape as we begin our trip to the region in the aftermath of the war," Baker said. (Reuter)

IRAQI DISSIDENTS URGE U.S. TO ACTIVELY BACK SADDAM OUSTER

Cheered by the "uprising" in southern Iraq, exiled Iraqi opposition representatives want the U.S. to drop its neutrality and support and democratic system to replace Saddam Hussein.

"We want U.S. recognition of support for democratic government in Iraq," Ahmed Chalabi, a longtime London-based opposition leader, said.

"We don't want your intervention," he said. American diplomatic and political weight would be "sufficient assistance," he said.

Muhammad Barh al-Ulum, a London Shiite cleric long active in the opposition, said the "spontaneous uprising" already has spread to six southern cities, and needs international support.

Al-Ulum said, "the great powers have sustained Saddam Hussein" for years by doing business with him and accepting him as leader.

Now, he said, the U.S. and other democratic countries should support the Iraqi peoples' "main demand" which is "to eliminate Saddam Hussein's regime." (Walter Friedenberg, Scripps Howard)

SADDAM TRIES TO RALLY FORCES IN SOUTH

NICOSIA -- Saddam Hussein, battling fundamentalist rebels in half a dozen cities, sent his top aide to rally loyal commanders in the southeast.

Izzat Ibrahim, vice-chairman of the Revolution Command Council, urged them to remain faithful to Saddam and to be prepared for martyrdom in the face of "major challenges."

His trip, half-way to the key southern port of Basra, center of the uprising, was reported on Baghdad Radio.

It was the closest the official media has come to telling the Iraqi people of the three-day-old revolt in the Shiite Moslem heartland of the southeast following Iraq's Gulf War defeat.

GENERAL SAYS IRAQI UNREST COULD SLOW RELEASE OF U.S. POWS

Violent civil unrest in Iraq could slow the release of American servicemen held as prisoners of war, a senior U.S. military officer said.

Gen. Kelly also said the fighting reported in Iraqi cities could slow the withdrawal of U.S. and allied forces from Iraqi-held territory.

Kelly, JCS director of operations, said he did not believe the U.S. military would intervene to stop the violence "unless it became very serious."

"We never have had any desire to take over Iraq," he said.

Kelly added that the unrest could create problems for establishing a permanent ceasefire to end the war.

"One of the dangers is it could slow down the implementation of the U.N. and coalition demands," Kelly said. "This could conceivably slow us down being able to get our prisoners of war back, our own prisoners of war, and could slow down getting our forces out of Iraq." (AP)

IRAQ PROTESTS CEASEFIRE 'VIOLATIONS'

BAGHDAD -- Iraq sent an official protest to the U.N. accusing the U.S. of deliberately violating the ceasefire agreement.

Baghdad Radio broadcast a letter from Foreign Minister Aziz to the Security Council and Secretary-General Perez de Cuellar accusing U.S. warplanes of flying over Baghdad in violation of the agreement.

The letter said the warplanes had deliberately broken the sound barrier over Baghdad, frightening Iraqis still recovering from six weeks of intense allied bombardment.

Aziz also said U.S. forces on Sunday had landed a helicopter between Baghdad and Amman. The radio did not elaborate.

"These two actions contradict the basis and principles agreed upon in the military meeting which took place in Safwan yesterday," the letter said.

"These actions constitute flagrant and unjustified provocations. While denouncing these actions, the Iraqi government registers its strong protest against them and calls on you, at the same time, to put an end to them." (Salah Nasrawi, AP)

KUWAIT'S CROWN PRINCE ENDS EXILE

KUWAIT CITY -- Kuwait's Crown Prince Saad Abdullah Sabah, returned here Monday after seven months in exile to preside as military governor over his newly liberated country....

Most other members of Saad's 22-member cabinet have also returned from the exile government's base of operations in Saudi Arabia, but it is not known when Kuwait's emir, Jamir Ahmed Sabah, will come back, officials said.

PROMINENT KUWAITI BANKER ACCUSES RULING FAMILY OF HIRING HIT SQUADS

NEW YORK -- A prominent Kuwaiti banker on Monday accused the ruling al-Sabah family of hiring hit squads to kill leaders of Kuwait's pro-democracy movement. Kuwait's ambassador, a family member, denied the allegations.

Abdul Aziz Sultan, chairman of the Gulf Bank of Kuwait, said in an interview on ABC-TV's "Nightline" that he has "strong reason to believe that some members of the al-Sabah family are setting up some assassination task here in Kuwait."

Sultan said the squads consist of ex-members of the Kuwaiti secret police. He said the goal is to enforce the rule of the al-Sabah family in the newly liberated emirate....

Ambassador al-Sabah, also appearing on "Nightline," said he was "extremely disappointed" with Sultan's allegations, referring to the banker as a good friend and "a very responsible person."...

"Nightline" also reported that London's Scotland Yard has passed on word to a pro-democracy leader in Britain that there was a plot against him by an IRA hit man linked to the al-Sabah family.

WHITE HOUSE REVERSES STAND,
SUPPORTS ADDITIONAL AID TO ISRAEL

The Bush administration, bowing to intense congressional pressure, has reversed its position against any additional aid to Israel and now favors as much as $800 million in new military assistance as part of a supplemental budget request for the costs of Operation Desert Storm.

It was not certain last night, however, whether the Israeli government would accept the proposal or wait for a likely more favorable congressional figure....

The turnabout came Thursday night when President Bush and senior aides met at the White House to review the request, sources said. A senior administration official said the administration faced the difficult choice of either making its own proposal or having Democrats do it.

Two senior officials called Israel's Feb. 22 request for nearly $1 billion "grossly exaggerated" in terms of the country's additional military expenses as a result of the war. One official said the White House "will probably settle for about $800 million," a knowledgeable Senate source said.

JORDANIAN KING IS SAID TO EXPRESS INTEREST IN TALKS WITH ISRAEL

King Hussein of Jordan has recently expressed interest in reviving efforts to negotiate peace with Israel and a solution to the Palestinian problem, possibly along the lines of a 1987 agreement secretly worked out in London with a former Israeli foreign minister, a senior Israeli official says.

The official, who spoke on the condition that he not be identified, said that the Jordanian king wished to revive the so-called London agreement, which he signed with Shimon Peres, then the Israeli foreign minister, now head of the opposition Labor Party, in April 1987....

Arab and American officials said they viewed this and other signals from King Hussein as consistent with his effort to repair the diplomatic and economic damage resulting from the coalition view that he sided with Iraq.... The king, they said, was apparently trying to shore up his own position by stressing that he is still committed to and capable of helping the Palestinians achieve what he called in a speech on Friday "their national rights on their national soil." (Judith Miller, New York Times, A12)

ISRAEL LOOKS TO BAKER FOR PLAN

Israel expects to learn from Secretary Baker next week whether he will be carrying any Arab overtures for future peace negotiations, Israeli sources said Monday.

"If Saudi Arabia says it would be interested in coming to the negotiating table, that would be ideal," said an Israeli source, speaking on condition of anonymity.

"The Israeli government has no [new] initiative or blueprint of its own" to present to Baker, the Israeli source added....

"No lasting solution to the security problems of the region is possible in the absence of a settlement of the Arab-Israeli problem," U.S. Ambassador Thomas Pickering told a Veterans of Foreign Wars luncheon.

MIDEAST PEACE BID BY BAKER FACES TOUGH OBSTACLES

JERUSALEM -- As Secretary Baker prepares to launch a new effort to build a peaceful order in the Middle East, the bitter conflict between Israelis and Palestinians that lies at the heart of the region's troubles appears less open to diplomatic resolution than ever before....

In the aftermath of the stunning allied victory in the war, some Israeli political analysts say the U.S. has unprecedented prestige and leverage with which to prod the peace process forward. Still, Israeli and Palestinian politicians and analysts caution that conditions here for an Israeli-Palestinian settlement have in many ways never been worse.

"The direct, precision attacks that won the war will be ineffective on this political battleground," said Hebrew University political scientist Yaron Ezrahi.

TAXPAYERS MAY BE SPARED MOST OF THE TAB FOR PERSIAN GULF WAR

U.S. taxpayers could end up paying only a small part of the financial costs of the Gulf war.

Although a supplemental spending measure that the House Appropriations Committee is to take up today would provide $15 billion in U.S. funds to pay for the war, that sum is only a down payment until more of the $53.5 billion in foreign pledges of cash, equipment and services are paid.

If the eventual cost of the war, which will probably take months to determine, is less than $68.5 billion -- which appears likely -- and if all the foreign pledges are paid in full, the cost to the U.S. taxpayer will be less than $15 billion. And if congressional estimates of the war's price tag hold up, the operation could be financed with foreign funds....

OMB Director Darman described the $15 billion appropriation as "a bridge loan...while awaiting foreign contributions."

(John Yang, Washington Post, A19)

OPEC SEEN MOVING TO CUT OUTPUT Saudi Cites Effort To Stabilize Prices

RIYADH -- The government's top oil official indicated that OPEC might ask its members to cut production this summer to stabilize prices if economies in the West continue to decline, pulling oil prices further down.

"We don't want a collapse of the market," Petroleum Minister Hisham Nazer said in an interview here. "But oil has seasonal demand. The war is ending just as demand slackens in the second quarter of the year."

"We are already well below the $21 price" set by OPEC last July, he said....

But Secretary Watkins said Monday he expects OPEC will set a target price of $18 to $21 a barrel at the meeting. Testifying before the House appropriations Committee, Watkins said he sees oil producers "backing off of oil production" following the end of the war with Iraq to halt the price slide.

(Jim Hoagland, Washington Post, D1)

U.S. ENERGY OFFICIAL SAYS GULF WAR HAS NOT AFFECTED OIL SUPPLY

NEW YORK -- The Bush administration's number two man on energy policy Monday said the Gulf war and Iraq's destruction of Kuwaiti oil fields would have no effect on U.S. supplies.

"There's not much to worry about," Deputy Energy Secretary Henson Moore told CNN.

"We've gotten along now since August without any oil from Kuwait or Iraq. The world right now has an oversupply of oil, that's why the prices are where they are."

"We think it'll be that way for at least two years while it takes the Kuwaitis [time] to repair their fields." (Reuter)

ON CAPITOL HILL, A SCRAMBLE TO SALUTE U.S. LEADERS OF WAR

The end of the Gulf war has triggered a new competition on Capitol Hill: the race to honor the war's leaders.

Wednesday night, President Bush can expect a rousing reception when he addresses a joint session of Congress....

The Democratic leadership does not plan to exercise its right to reply to Bush's speech on national TV.

Meanwhile, lawmakers are falling over themselves trying to outdo one another in praising the military commanders.

Sen. Lieberman wants Gen. Schwarzkopf to get to speak to a joint session too....

Sen. D'Amato wrote to Bush urging him to give Schwarzkopf and Powell a fifth star....

And Sen. Lott has introduced legislation to award Schwarzkopf the Congressional Gold Medal. (John Yang, Washington Post, A19)

JAPAN'S ECONOMIC POWER CALLED MORE THREATENING THAN SOVIET MILITARY

CHICAGO -- A majority of Americans now consider the economic power of Japan far more threatening to the U.S. than Soviet military power, according to a public opinion survey by the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations that is updated every four years.

An overwhelming majority of Americans support a U.S.-Mexico free-trade agreement, under consideration by the two countries on an accelerated schedule. And the economic integration of the EC scheduled for 1992 will be "mostly a good thing."

"Despite the virtual disappearance of concern over a worldwide 'communist threat,' Americans remain committed to the active role in world affairs they supported in the 1980s," the council concluded in its analysis of the survey's findings. Fighting ideological battles no longer rates a high priority. But protecting American economic interests does.

"Both the public and leaders now believe that because of its inability to solve economic problems, the United States has declined as a world power," the council said.

DRUG PROBLEM UP WORLDWIDE DESPITE CRACKDOWN

Drug abuse is on the increase worldwide -- despite some success in fighting traffickers -- thanks to "rich, powerful, ruthless" kingpins who corrupt officials, a top government narcotics expert said.

Mel Levitsky, assistant secretary of state for international narcotics matters, said the U.S. government is concentrating its efforts to disrupt operations of foreign drug producers. He said some progress was made last year in fighting illegal drugs.

Yet, Levitsky said at a news conference, major problems remain -- chief among them corruption of foreign politicians and law enforcement officials bought by the drug runners.

HEAD OF BOLIVIAN ANTI-DRUG FORCE RESIGNS AFTER PROTESTS

LA PAZ -- The chief of Bolivia's anti-drug squad announced his resignation after being criticized for his involvement in the country's last military government which has been linked to drug trafficking, human rights abuses and had ties to a former Nazi official.

The decision opens the way for payment of U.S. military and economic aid frozen after the decision to appoint Faustino Rico Toro head of the anti-drugs force, U.S. embassy sources said.

SATELLITES SPOT POISON-BOMB PLANT IN LIBYA

A large new complex of buildings at Rabta, Libya, is being used to assemble poison gas artillery shells and bombs, according to U.S. intelligence officials.

The building, discovered last month by a U.S. reconnaissance satellite, represent a new stage in Tripoli's drive to establish a chemical weapons capability....

The officials said the U.S. intelligence community now thinks Rabta began mass-producing chemical agents in August.

SOVIET UNION RAMIFIES GERMAN UNITYMoscow Balks At Timetable, Cost Of Troop Withdrawal

BONN -- The parliament Monday ratified the treaty approving German unification, closing the chapter of history that began 16 months ago with the opening of the Berlin Wall.

Although East German ceased to exist last October, Moscow's step was more than a formality because of the problematic presence of 370,000 Soviet troops in eastern Germany.

SOVIETS' LATIN POLICY KEEPS U.S. GUESSING

The U.S. has accused the Soviet Union of a "Jekyll-and-Hyde" policy in Central America, where Moscow's moves are being watched for evidence of the direction for Kremlin foreign policy.

Several analysts assert the Soviet military is pushing its own hard-line policies in the region, independent of the Foreign Ministry.

But other experts argue that these competing forces within the Soviet Union have been at odds for some time. Soviet efforts in Central America reflect nothing more than the desire to take advantage of diplomatic and military opportunities, these experts say....

Helmut Sonnefeldt, a Brookings Institution analyst, said the Soviets have clearly been scaling back their military role in Central America....

But, he said, the Soviet policy appears to be one of "having their cookie and eating it too."...

"Soviet military assistance is still flowing to Cuba," said Roger Fontaine, a former NSC analyst. "That has not changed. There have been no cutbacks."

At the same time, Moscow is moving quietly to upgrade its diplomatic power in the region, said Michael Waller of the Council for Inter-American Studies.

MOSCOW SAID READY TO OFFER JAPAN TWO OF FOUR DISPUTED ISLANDS

TOKYO -- President Gorbachev will offer to return to Japan two of four disputed islands the Red Army seized at the end of World War II, when he visits Tokyo next month, Japan's top-selling newspaper said Tuesday.

The Yomiuri Shimbun said Gorbachev would offer the two, Habomai and Shikotan, on the basis of a bilateral agreement along those lines drawn up in 1956 but never signed....

Foreign Ministry spokesman Watanabe called the Yomiuri report pure speculation, adding: "We hope Gorbachev's visit will open a new leaf in our relations and that they will become broader."

BENEFITS TO EXTEND TO ALL GULF VETS

Gleefully declaring "Isn't it great to be an American?" President Bush pledged Monday to extend GI Bill of Rights benefits to all Americans who served in Operation Desert Storm.

"What we stood for [in the Middle East] was a principle. And now we've got to stand for doing what's right by our veterans," Bush told officials of 50 veteran-aid groups.

Without spelling out specifics or estimating costs, Bush promised to live up to the injunction in Lincoln's second inaugural address: "To care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and his orphan...."

Secretary Derwinski said in an interview that the administration wants to modify the rules to:

- Extend benefits to about 150,000 Reservists and National Guard members who will not have served the 181 days required to qualify for the benefits, even if they never got to the Gulf.

- Guarantee special health benefits to POWs held less than the statutory 30 days.

- Classify the campaign as "wartime" for allotting benefits, including pensions and educational assistance to the wounded and the families of the dead. (Frank Murray, Washington Times, A9)

FIREARMS VIOLATORS TARGET OF ANTI-CRIME PROPOSAL

Attorney General Thornburgh, reviving the Bush administration's campaign for tough anti-crime laws, Monday proposed stiffer prison terms for criminals who use semi-automatic weapons and for other violators of federal firearms laws.

Kicking off a "summit" organized by the Justice Department on violent crime, the attorney general also said he was forming new "violent crime task forces" of federal agents to attack the "ruthless enemy" of urban street criminals with the same "ingenuity and certainty" displayed by U.S. troops in the Gulf.

"We are not here to search for the roots of crime, or to discuss sociological theory," Thornburgh said. "The American people demand action to stop criminal violence, whatever its causes. The debate over the root causes of crime will go on for decades, but the carnage in our own mean streets must be halted now."

BUSH TO CALL FOR STIFFER PENALTIES FOR VIOLENT CRIMES

President Bush will call Tuesday for stronger penalties against violent crime, which will accelerate the need to build more jails and prisons.

According to administration officials, Bush will tell a special law enforcement conference on violent crime that the majority of Americans support a get-tough, law-and-order policy.

The speech is expected to underscore Attorney General Thornburgh's views that America, ending the war in Iraq, should aggressively launch one against violent crime.

CONGRESS NOW AWAITING BUSH POWER PLAY AT HOME

Members of Congress are waiting to see if President Bush will use his political popularity to push the ambitious domestic agenda he unveiled last week.

"I really anticipate that as the air clears around the Capitol, the administration will be coming on in spades with regard to their priorities in domestic policy," said Rep. Jerry Lewis. "Those in the opposition are going to be hesitant of taking the President lightly."...

Republicans in Congress praised Bush's efforts to define domestic priorities, but said he must push them.

"If he wants to go down in history as a great president, he'll exercise every bit of clout he has," said Sen. Helms.....

"If he pushed it strongly -- period -- he'd definitely be advantaged but I think a lot of these issues have already been well debated," said Rep. Fazio.

The White House view is that no matter how loud the administration yells, Democrats still have the advantage because they hold a majority in Congress.

JUSTICE DEPT. OFFERS DIFFERENT INTERPRETATIONS OF JOB-BIAS RULING

The Justice Department is giving Congress and federal judges different interpretations of a 1989 Supreme Court decision that made it more difficult for workers to prove employment discrimination.

John Dunne, the assistant secretary general for civil rights, told Congress that the decision won't impede lawsuits over allegedly discriminatory employment practices.

Justice Department lawyers, however, have cited the case of Wards Cove Packaging Co. vs. Antonio three times to defend government agencies against job-bias lawsuits, according to court records and lawyers.

Told about the department's use of the case to defend government agencies, Rep. Edwards said, "This is not what the assistant secretary general for civil rights told us at the hearing."

MILITARY DISPROPORTIONATELY BLACK, BUT TYPICAL IN OTHER WAYS

America's all-volunteer military is disproportionately black but largely mirrors the nation's youth in social and economic terms, the CBO told Congress.

"The American military today is not a perfect cross-section of society, particularly in racial terms, but neither is it an 'army of the poor,'" said Robert Hale, assistant director of the CBO's National Security Division....

Economically, the CBO found that about 45% of enlisted personnel came from areas with above-average family incomes and 55% from below-average areas.

CONGRESSIONAL AGENCY TAKES ISSUE WITH REFORM PROPOSAL

A congressional watchdog agency took issue with key recommendations in the Bush administration's sweeping banking reform proposal.

The GAO, in a 196-page report to the House and Senate banking committees, advocated a slower approach in cutting back federal deposit insurance.

It took no position on the administration's proposal to lift the 58-year-old barriers between banking and the securities industry. However, it recommended a laundry list of steps should Congress grant banks permission to enter new areas.

The GAO report...flatly rejected one administration proposal: allowing commercial and industrial firms to own banks.

ENERGY DEPT. SAYS BUDGET CUTS MAY MEAN NO MORE NUCLEAR WEAPONS

Secretary Watkins said Monday that the U.S. may soon be unable to produce nuclear weapons because of budget cuts ordered by a powerful House Appropriations Subcommittee.

The panel voted against the Bush administration's request for $283 million to fix up a nuclear weapons facility at Rocky Flats near Denver, deciding to approve only $142.5 million.

"This reduction in requested funding will require the Department of Energy to severely curtail operations later this year and result in substantial layoffs of personnel at the Rocky Flats plant, inability to produce plutonium components for nuclear weapons in fiscal 1992 and failure to meet the president's requirements for delivery of nuclear weapons to the Department of Defense," Watkins said in a letter to the subcommittee's chairman, Tom Bevill.

DEMOCRATS TOLD TO FOCUS ON ECONOMY, NOT SOCIAL PROGRAMS

BOSTON -- If Democrats hope to win the presidency again, they must convince voters that the party's principal concern is a healthy economy, and not social engineering, leaders of the moderate Democratic Leadership Council said Monday at a Boston conference on economic issues.

"A very large majority of rank-and-file, grass-roots Democrats have seen what I call the presidential Democratic Party as a party which had a social policy but not an economic policy," said Sen. Lieberman.

Saying that the party was perceived as having forgotten that "economic opportunity is as basic to the American Dream as political freedom," Lieberman asked: "Is it any wonder that such a party has only elected one president in the last two decades?"

Sen. Nunn, a possible presidential contender in 1992 although he denied Monday that he planned to run, said Democrats "have a special responsibility to develop a strategy for what I would call progressive fiscal discipline, because we have questionable credibility with a large section of the voting public unless we do so."

NASA REDUCES COST AND ROLE OF ITS ORBITING SPACE STATION

A simpler, more modest plan for NASA's space station is taking shape after budget cuts and the discovery of design flaws that sent architects back to the drawing board.

The orbiting outpost...is still largely a castle in the clouds, even though $3.9 billion has been spent on studies and prototype parts....

The principal question is whether the slimmed-down station, which has lost constituents but not critics, will survive congressional review in a time of budget austerity.

POW RELEASE

ABC's Peter Jennings: The Iraqis called it a symbolic release and a goodwill gesture, but Gen. Schwarzkopf hadn't left them much choice. And so the war finally ended today for 10 allied prisoners of war -- six Americans, three British pilots and one Italian. They are the first POWs to be released by Iraq. In return, the allies will released 300 Iraqi POWs tomorrow: the beginning of a lopsided process to disengage the allied forces from the Iraqi army they crushed so decisively on the battlefield.

ABC's John Donvan reports from Baghdad on the releases. The group included the only woman soldier captured in the war, Melissa Rathbun-Nealy. They were all put on display for TV cameras in a Baghdad hotel.

(TV Coverage: Former POWs sitting at table.)

Red Cross officials say that until today, all requests for information on POWs had been met with Iraqi silence, and they have yet to be told how many are still held there. Meanwhile, on Iraqi television, Saddam was seen for the second time in two days, meeting with ministers and officials of his party. The television also announced a pardon for all soldiers who failed to report for duty in the Gulf war, provided they return to base within seven days. And there has been a shifting emphasis in the government-controlled press over the past few days. Whereas before the newspapers concentrated on how great a victory Iraq had won in the war, today they focused on the damage done by allied bombing, and urged all Iraqis from top to bottom to work together to rebuild.

Jennings: When he arrived at Amman this afternoon, Lt. Jeffrey Zaun said he didn't know the war was over until today, and said he and the other prisoners were treated "pretty well."

NBC's Tom Brokaw: The first of the American prisoners and it won't be a complete victory until they're all out.

(JCS Chairman Gen. Powell: "In this war it won't be over until we get a full and immediate accounting for all of our POWs and MIAs.") Allied prisoners, including Americans, were released by Iraq today and tomorrow the allies will free 300 captured Iraqis. Among those released: the only U.S. woman prisoner. A full-blown rebellion against Saddam has turned Basra into another kind of battlefield.

NBC's Tom Aspell reports on the release of the prisoners and provides details on the treatment of the Bob Simon crew.

(Bob Simon: "The Iraqis, I think it's fair to say, treated us badly. And threatened to kill us. There was never a moment where they almost killed us. We were almost killed by American bombs.")

NBC's Stephen Frazier reports on home-front reaction to the POW's release. Navy Lt. Jeffrey Zaun's father said Iraqi manipulation of Jeffrey, showing him reciting Iraqi propaganda, helped unite the country in support of the troops. (ABC-Lead, NBC-Lead, CBS-5)

CBS's Wyatt Andrews: President Bush welcomed the prisoner release as a positive first step, but in a speech to a veterans group cautioned the nation not to relax.

(President Bush: "Until every single one of those prisoners is home, and every single missing is accounted for to the best of the ability of the Iraqi forces, and also that the Kuwaiti detainees are returned -- every single one of them. And that's our goal." [applause])

The U.S., so far, gives Iraq credit for this quick partial release, but also remains suspicious. The Red Cross, for example, has not been given access to the six Americans still believed held prisoner or any information on more than 30 listed as missing. That official mix of relief and skepticism was mirrored today by the POWs' families. The parents of Navy pilot Jeffrey Zaun who saw their son so mistreated at the outset of the war today saw him start his journey home.

(Marjorie Zaun, to reporters: "There's still a lot of POWs and MIAs that we're really concerned about and praying for. But it is certainly a great relief, and I thank God that our prayers were answered.")

For most families of the missing, though, there was no relief today; and worse, no information at all. Sherrie Turner's husband Charlie was shot down six weeks ago.

(Sherrie Turner: "I'm a little nervous right now, because we're gonna know something soon, and I just, I hope for the best and try to prepare for the worst.")

Some families today urged the Administration to threaten the Iraqis. Liz Griffith, whose husband Tom was released today, demanded that the allies keep their guns loaded.

(Liz Griffith, to reporters: "If they show any hint of using the remaining prisoners as bargaining chips or negotiating tools, I hope that President Bush and the American people will have the courage to resume hostilities.")

The President is threatening exactly that. Until the prisoner issue is settled there will be no formal ceasefire, and therefore no withdrawal of U.S. forces from Iraq.

CBS's Dan Rather reports that Iraq's ambassador to the U.N. says tonight that the remaining allied prisoners will be released at 2:00 a.m. Eastern Time Tuesday morning. No confirmation from Baghdad; no comment from Washington. (CBS-6)

IRAQI GOVERNMENT

Rather: U.S. military officials today confirmed signs of a growing revolt against Saddam Hussein in southern Iraq. A Shiite Moslem leader based in Iran says his rebel forces have taken over Basra and five other Iraqi cities.

CBS's David Martin reports on the violence. What appears to be anti-Saddam rioting is happening in at least six cities, all in southern Iraq, home to many Shiite fundamentalists more loyal to Iran than to Iraq.

(Lt. Gen. Thomas Kelly: "We know there's unrest and we know there's fires and we know there's probably some shooting in these six or so cities. It appears that the Iraqi regime right now is trying to put this down.")

Martin continues: The unrest, which has reportedly claimed the life of Saddam's eldest son, clearly is a product of Iraq's disastrous defeat. The allies could fan the flames by sending tens of thousands of Iraqi POWs home.

(Lt. Gen. Kelly: "If we release the 60,000-plus soldiers back in there, it seems to me it would exacerbate that situation a great deal, because I don't think there would be very many happy soldiers going back.")

Some of the unrest apparently is being instigated by Iran, trying to settle scores from its own war against Saddam. The Administration wants Saddam overthrown, but no one wants to see him replaced by a regime at all sympathetic to Iran. (CBS-Lead)

NBC's John Cochran: A senior Administration official tells NBC News that Saddam's political future is now strictly short-term: days, weeks, maybe months -- but not years. Late today, Secretary Baker said Iraqis should realize that if they want help with reconstruction, then getting rid of Saddam would be a smart move.

(Secretary Baker: "In terms of cooperation, from and with the rest of the world, it would be a lot easier and certainly be more forthcoming if the regime that invaded Kuwait and brutalized Kuwait did not remain the regime that governed Iraq.")

When President Bush spoke to a group of veterans, he made no predictions about Saddam's fate. Instead, he tried to reassure the Iraqi people by quoting Abraham Lincoln's words of reconciliation for defeated Confederates.

(President Bush: "With malice toward none, with charity for all.") Actually, the President has no charitable thoughts about Saddam.

(President Bush: "Our argument has been with Saddam Hussein. Our argument has been with a dictator who created aggression against a neighbor.")

Although the President continues to garner applause and accolades for the war, he got a dose of political reality today from Sen. Mitchell, who accused him of failing on the domestic front.

(Sen. Mitchell: "In the wake of the war, the President says he seeks a New World Order. We say, join us in putting our own house in order. If we can use American technology and training to liberate the people of Kuwait, we can use American technology and training to benefit the people of America.")

Mitchell's broadside was a reminder that when Democrats invited the President to address a special session of Congress Wednesday night, they were honoring him for his achievements as military commander-in-chief -- and only for that. (NBC-4)

ABC's John McWethy reports on the turmoil in Iraq. Refugees fleeing Iraq say there is now widespread anti-government violence in at least a half dozen cities in southern Iraq. In Basra, U.S. satellite photographs confirm refugee reports of explosions, fires and a possible tank battle pitting regular Iraqi army units against a Republican Guard still loyal to Saddam.

(Lt. Gen. Thomas Kelly: "There is some conflict going on there. We see, for example, T-55 tanks, and that means Iraqi armor. We see T-72 tanks, and that means Republican Guards. And we're not sure they're both on the same side right now.")

American officials claimed the latest videotape shows Saddam Hussein is showing the strain.

(TV Coverage: Videotape of Saddam.)

McWethy's report continues:

(Lt. Gen. Kelly: "I don't know how much authority he's exercising, although I did note on the video that he didn't look in the pink. He looked tired, he looked haggard, he had bags under his eyes.") But in private, U.S. intelligence officials cautioned that Saddam is far from finished. Evidence indicates he still has control of his secret police, and has moved 10-15,000 troops from the border with Turkey south to Baghdad, just to make sure there are no large protests there. (ABC-2)

NBC's Dennis Murphy reports Shiite Moslems, long under Saddam's thumb, are revolting against Saddam's rule. In Basra, pro-Iranian Shiites are killing police and shooting members of the Baath Party. Witnesses say the governor of Nasariya was killed along with five leaders of the Baath Party. The rebellion has reportedly moved north from Basra to the Shiite heartland of southern Iraq. Leading the fight from exile in Iran is Iraqi Shiite Mohammed Bageer al-Hakim. Al-Hakim called on the Kurds of northern Iraq to open a second front. Tonight they are reported to be striking Baathist interest. Kurdish guerrillas claim they've seized the city of Suleimania, 160 miles northeast of Baghdad. In Syria, a Shiite leader of the revolt that began in Basra, Beyan Jabr, called it a second intifada. If the Shiite rebellion in the south succeeds, Iraq will be divided in two.

(George Joffe, Mideast expert: "In effect, Iraq would then become a much greater Lebanon because effectively it would decline into civil war on the shores of the Gulf very close to oil supplies.") There are stories trickling out tonight of anti-government demonstrations in Baghdad itself. The army announced it would chop off the hands of any traitors. (NBC-3)

CBS's Eric Engberg reports on the road from Basra on refugees' accounts of the turmoil. One Egyptian who had been imprisoned in the town of Nasariya said there were demonstrations against Saddam there, adding that the local leader of Saddam's Baath Party was dragged into the street and killed. The army, he says, is finished. (CBS-2)

KUWAIT

Jennings: In Washington today, Secretary Mosbacher said that now that the war is over, the Persian Gulf is open for business. The Kuwaiti ambassador to the U.S. said today that American firms will get preferential treatment when it comes to contracts.

ABC's Jim Wooten reports on the post-war political prospects for the Kuwaiti government. Kuwait's Crown Prince came home today.

(TV Coverage: Crown prince arriving.)

Reconstruction may be the least of the government's problems now. Thousands of Kuwaitis who fiercely resisted the occupation remember the royal family's promises for a more democratic post-war Kuwait. When the oil wells are extinguished and grocery stores and electricity restored, then many Kuwaitis believe that the royal family will understand that to keep its power it must keep its promises. (ABC-5, CBS-3)

CBS's Bob McKeown reports on stories of Kuwaitis abducted by Iraqi troops. (CBS-4)

NBC's George Lewis reports that despite the return of the Kuwaiti crown prince the situation in Kuwait remains in turmoil. Among the promises of the eventual resumption of constitutional rights, Kuwait seems to be having problems in restoring law and order, with one opposition leader the victim of an assassination attempt. Bands of Kuwaiti army men and resistance fighters continue to roam the streets. Palestinians are targets of hatred because of suspicion of collaboration with the Iraqis. The situation prompted the following State Department warning:

(Margaret Tutwiler: "We've made it very clear to the government of Kuwait that all residents in Kuwait should be accorded the fullest protection against individuals taking the law into their own hands.") (NBC-2)

Jennings reports that a Kuwaiti oil official said today that Kuwait may need five years to rebuild its oil industry. (ABC-6)

GULF/MILITARY

NBC's Fred Francis reports on U.S. troop withdrawal plans. They're calling it Operation Homecoming at the Pentagon, and trying to keep it a secret. But we've learned that as early as Wednesday -- probably Thursday, but they're trying for Wednesday -- to get several thousand troops into Washington and some of their bases at Fort Bragg for the 82nd Airborne; Fort Camel, Ky., for the 101st Airborne; some hospital units back in Norfolk, Va., and some fighter squadrons back to Langley Air Force Base, Va. They're talking about an initial package of 15,000, but they want the President there to greet some of them, so we've picked Wednesday, and about 2,000 troops. As for the POWs, there are six that the Pentagon has listed and 35 missing. The Pentagon expects them to be back sometime in the next couple of days. It's very confusing to determine how many Kuwaitis are in Iraqi hands; the Kuwaiti ambassador said more than 6,000, but the Iraqi generals who met with Gen. Schwarzkopf in the desert told him they have 60,000 Kuwaiti and third-country nationals detainees. And the Iraqi generals didn't seem to have a clue as to just how many there were. Meanwhile, the fighting in southern Iraq does not look like serious fighting, according to U.S. intelligence sources. (NBC-5)

Jennings reports two more Americans have died after stepping on land mines. The Iraqis have now provided information about the location of the minefields, but it will take weeks to clear them.

ABC's Bob Zelnick reports on the agreement worked out separating allied and Iraqi forces, which is intended to prevent fighting between units which may be confused over turf. Iraqi aircraft must stay 10 km. north of the line dividing the two sides, but the allies have greater leeway.

(Lt. Gen. Kelly: "We are flying some reconnaissance, and we are flying reconnaissance over Baghdad.")

Once Iraq takes the steps required by the Security Council to indicate acceptance of all resolutions, a ceasefire agreement will be signed, and allied forces will pull back inside Kuwait and Saudi Arabia. Privately, Administration officials say that any Iraqi delay in complying is probably due more to internal chaos than bad intentions. Nonetheless, officials say that until there is full compliance, there will be no formal ceasefire and no withdrawal from Iraqi territory.

GULF/TERRORISM

Jennings reports that the State Department says that even though the war is over, Americans should not let their guard down against terrorism. The Department says that during the six weeks of war, there were about 160 incidents of terrorism around the world, half directed against U.S. targets. (ABC-4)

COMBAT RESERVES

ABC's John Quinones reports on the financial difficulties of the families of reservists in the Gulf. Most families are not adequately protected by the Soldiers and Sailors' Act of 1940, and military officials admit that except for rent and mortgage payments, reservists' families are at the mercy of their creditors. (ABC-11)

HOUSING/ECONOMY

Jennings reports sales of new homes were down in January by more than 12 percent. The one positive sign was a slight upturn in sales at the very end of the month. (ABC-9, CBS-12, NBC-12)

CBS's Ray Brady reports on the state of the economy. The nation could spend its way out of the recession, but that's not likely. Economists say that all the problems the economy and consumers were facing before the war are still here. Many banks are still in financial trouble, and therefore slow to make housing loans to consumers. Consumers do seem to be nibbling at smaller purchases. One dark cloud, a continuing rise in unemployment, could turn off consumer confidence, and many economists fear that is coming. (Brian Fabbri, economist: "I think within three months we'll see some hopeful signs. But it'll take a little bit longer before we can actually conclude we're in the next expansion.") (CBS-13)

SUDAFED RECALL

Jennings reports that a fourth package of Sudafed cold capsules laced with cyanide has been turned over to the FBI. Two people in the Seattle area have died after taking the poisoned capsules.

ABC's Judy Muller reports on the incident.

(Sydney Wolf, Health Research Group: "Given that there's now, as opposed to five years ago, an alternative technology in the form of tablets or caplets that also have long-term effect, the FDA should really ban all over-the-counter capsules.")

(David Kessler, FDA: "We are looking at the issue. Caplets may offer additional protection. In fact, the number of capsules has been declining over the years.")

Health officials concede it's nearly impossible to fully protect capsules against a person intent on doing harm. (ABC-7, CBS-7)

BUSINESS/ETHICS

NBC's Roger O'Neil reports on the changing state of ethics in business, post-1980s. Required courses in ethics and morals are sprouting up in business schools across the country. According to one professor, many graduate students are unsure whether ethics and business can go together. (NBC-13)

EDITORIALS/COLUMNISTS

DESERT STORM VICTORY

The Triumph And The Achievement -- "...The victory of the coalition forces remains remarkable and extraordinary.... All the credit for this must go both to the leadership that laid out a clear plan of victory, and to the troops...who followed that leadership.... And the results will be applauded by freedom-loving people throughout the world. An evil tyrant has gotten a necessary dose of justice.... The great wrong of August has been righted by the men and women of February." (Los Angeles Times, 2/28)

Victory In The Gulf -- "The policies of President Bush that brought victory in the Gulf war were an extraordinary success in their own terms.... The world is a safer place now that Saddam's tinsel star has crumbled. Operation Desert Storm is unlikely to serve as a model for foreign policy in a world where fewer and fewer of the threats and challenges are expected to be military. Yet, at this uncertain moment in history, the competence that emanated from Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf, and from many who served under him, has heartened millions of Americans.... The President launched Operation Desert Storm under the banner of a 'New World Order.' In its aftermath, we hope he defines that order around the principles of consistent attention to human rights, international cooperation and true collective security." (Boston Globe, 3/1)

Demonstrating Value Of Collective Security -- "The defeat of Saddam's army reaffirms, dramatically and resoundingly, the effectiveness of collective security as a doctrine for international peacekeeping.... Nothing about the inadequacies of the enemy...detracts from the magnitude of the allied victory.... Credit accrues also to President Bush. Whatever transpires on the diplomatic front from this point forward, he achieved a personal triumph in speedily putting together the coalition...[and], as many doubted he could, in keeping the coalition together against attempts to fragment it." (Chicago Sun-Times, 3/1)

The War Is Won -- "Now that the war has been won, President Bush and his allies must turn to securing the peace. It is likely to be a more difficult, more complex, more ambiguous task.... Until Saddam is deposed or eliminated, the coalition must keep some of the economic sanctions in place and.... Food and medical supplies should be allowed through.... There will be a need for allied or U.N. military presence in Kuwait.... Bush must now use all the energy, ingenuity and determination he put into beating Saddam to find a way to make the region more stable." (Newsday, 2/28)

Cease-Fire In The Gulf -- "...Though praising the splendid job done by the U.S.-led forces, President Bush was careful to make a distinction between gloating and pride. His words were the words of a man who knows that the end of the war marks the beginning of an equally daunting challenge.... If the Administration can do as fine a job of...starting the peace as it did quarantining Saddam and waging the war against him, it will have earned the world's admiration and gratitude." (St. Louis Post-Dispatch, 2/28)

And Now To Save The Peace -- "...Whatever government is in charge in Baghdad, Iraq must be stripped of its capacity to commit mass destruction and must be held to its U.N. obligations. In particular, it must meet its financial and moral responsibilities toward ravaged Kuwait. Then, the future security of the Gulf states, and with Israel's cooperation a resolution of the Palestinian problem, must be addressed by whatever regional force for peace is established." (Cleveland Plain Dealer, 3/1)

A Nation Once Again -- "...The country Saddam proclaimed as irrevocably constituting the 19th province of Iraq is an independent nation once again. The best American policy toward this newly liberated country is to leave the Kuwaitis alone to sort out their own postwar problems and forms of government.... Congress and the State Department should be modest about their ability to export the American model of government to Kuwait and perhaps Iraq as well.... To expect democratic government to suddenly take root in an area like the Middle East may not be realistic." (Detroit News, 2/28)

Independent Kuwait -- "...Kuwait may again be independent, but will it be free?... The imposition of democracy on Kuwait was not a war goal. The U.S., Britain, France and other coalition partners should use their heightened influence to encourage political reform in Kuwait. But it would be ironic if, in the wake of a war fought in part for national self-determination, the U.S. or other countries started to throw their weight around in the small land they liberated." (Christian Science Monitor, 3/1)

Victory In Kuwait -- "The liberation of Kuwait has been accomplished. And the joy on the faces of the thousands of Kuwaitis who've swarmed into the streets to embrace their liberators is undeniable testimony to the justice of the allied cause.... The American people, to the tune of an extraordinary 88 percent, supported their President in this military enterprise. And George Bush did not betray their trust. The United States fought honorably and well; our troops freed Kuwait and helped this nation transcend the insidious Vietnam Syndrome which had all but paralyzed America for nearly two decades." (New York Post, 2/28)

Goodbye, Vietnam -- "With the stunning success of U.S. and allied forces, our nation has crossed a psychological Rubicon, ending a long and debilitating era of self-doubt and negativism about many things American.... Buried forever, we trust, is the dangerous idea that the U.S. cannot be counted on to stand behind its commitment to its allies when they are threatened. Buried, too, we trust, is the notion that the American people will not support their president and their troops when they are convinced a war is just.... We see it an overdue rebirth of U.S. optimism that will restore Americans' confidence in their nation and in themselves. We can do things right!" (New Orleans Times-Picayune, 3/2)

The Vietnam Model Steps Aside -- "...From now on, those Americans who are selective in supporting the use of armed force will have more than the Vietnam model to help them assess a looming fight. They will have the model of victory in the Gulf along with that of defeat in Southeast Asia. History obliges them to make the distinction." (Chicago Tribune, 3/3)

Bush's Victory -- "The United States of America has more than smart bombs. It has a smart commander-in-chief. With his masterful management of the endgame in the Gulf, President Bush is delivering a victory worthy of the massive effort invested by the allied armies. It is a victory that maximizes American power to deliver an honorable peace.... Bush has finished what Ronald Reagan began. He has laid to rest the ghosts of Vietnam. The America of the Gulf war -- Bush's America -- will be remembered for clear purpose, unwavering resolve, and accurate understanding of the enemy."

(Scripps Howard, 2/27)

Cleansing Winds Of Desert Storm -- "...The twin operations, Desert Shield and Desert Storm, appear at this early reckoning to be masterstrokes of organization, planning and execution, the stuff war colleges study for generations. All credit to President Bush's team in Washington and Riyadh and a special salute to America's fighting men and women, who performed their duties with valor, dedication and high professionalism.... It is gratifying to hear Mr. Bush declare we are expending so much thought and planning on post-war priorities. Peacemaking will require every bit as much courage and skill and brains as we showed in this war."

(Atlanta Constitution, 2/28)

Not With A Bang But A Whimper -- "...No single person can take credit for forcing Iraq to relinquish its conquest, but President Bush comes close. We have disagreed at times with his strategy. But we have highest praise for the skill he has shown in carrying it out.... The heady moment of victory is also a time to be wary. Bush put it well: 'This is not a time of euphoria; certainly not a time to gloat.'"

(Minneapolis Star-Tribune, 2/28)

Hail To The Chief -- "...Lord knows we have had our differences with President Bush -- and, no doubt, will again in the very near future. But we have nothing but respect and admiration for his handling of the seven-month crisis in the Gulf. From the day of the Iraqi invasion on Aug. 2 to the announcement of cease-fire at midnight Wednesday, he has been a skillful, resolute and courageous leader. Once having made the decision there would be no appeasing the aggressor, no deals with the devil, he struck to his principles throughout.... It remains to be seen whether the ruins of this war will lead to greater or lesser stability in a region whose volatility was given new meaning by the scores of oil field fires. But the manner in which Bush and the clear-headed people around him have handled the crisis so far indicates that they can deal with the challenge before them."

(Philadelphia Inquirer, 3/1)

The 100-Hour War: Pray And Hail The Heroes -- "...Heroes abound through Desert Shield, Desert Storm and its final act, the 100-hour-long ground war. There are more than half a million American heroes and heroines in and around the Persian Gulf today. And for every one of them, there are at least half a dozen home front heroes.... Salute one of them today, and then another and some more. If you pray, say a prayer for the immortal souls of those who lost their lives in this lightning conflict.... Offer a prayer, too, for the enemy, for the souls of the Iraqis that Saddam Hussein sent to their needless deaths.... And then, once the prayers are said, let celebration reign. Pop the corks and sing the songs."

News From the Hill

DOE BUDGET defended as essential to national energy policy.

Energy Secretary James D. Watkins urged Congress to boost funding for scientific research yesterday, warning that cutbacks in long-term research programs at the Department of Energy (DOE) will prevent an "effective" national energy policy.

Watkins told members of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development that the $18.6 billion fiscal 1992 budget request for DOE energy programs will fortify the president's national energy plan, which emphasizes more domestic oil production. The administration unveiled its national energy strategy Feb. 20.

"The energy strategy is not just pie in the sky if we had the money," he said.

Watkins outlined funding requests for conservation and renewable energy research and development programs, which total $495 million for fiscal 1992. Watkins said that since assuming office he has more than doubled the budget request for these programs.

But subcommittee Chairman Tom Bevill, D-Ala. said he is "hoping Congress will add more conservation programs" to the DOE funding bill. He specifically cited solar power and an expanded renewable energy program as possibilities for extra funding.

John T. Myers, R-Ind., criticized the administration's energy policy for not emphasizing tougher fuel efficiency, or corporate average fuel efficiency (CAFE) standards, for automobiles.

But Watkins said that energy-efficiency programs were not being disregarded but that "fixed ideas" such as increasing CAFE standards will "not be the answer to all our prayers."

Watkins said the $111 million in the budget request for vehicle research was 33 percent higher than the enacted level the year before.

The administration is also requesting $534 million for the superconducting supercollider (SSC), more than twice the fiscal 1991 level, Watkins said. He told the panel that the budget assumes that the SSC funding will be augmented by $150 million in non-federal contributions.

Rocky Flats. The Energy Department is also requesting $623 million in supplemental appropriations for fiscal 1991 for environmental projects, Watkins told the panel. More than $280 million would be used for "environmental improvements" to the Rocky Flats defense facility in Colorado, part of which has been shut down following an environmental review and cleanup of the plant's plutonium operation.

CRIME PACKAGE to be proposed by Bush administration.

The White House plans to send to Congress a proposal to require a mandatory five-year prison sentence for anyone found in possession of a handgun or semi-automatic weapon who has been convicted of a violent crime or drug offense.

The plan, outlined yesterday by Attorney General Dick Thornburgh, would revise current law, which mandates a 15-year prison term for gun possession for anyone with three prior convictions for violent and drug-related crimes.

The mandatory sentence will be part of an administration crime package that would include tougher penalties for using a gun when committing a crime.

Appeals procedures would also be streamlined to prevent death-row inmates from delaying their executions. Thornburgh said lengthy delays "all but nullified the death penalty in 36 states."

The attorney general said that tougher penalties and additional law enforcement tools were the answer to crime. "The American people demand action to stop criminal violence whatever its causes. The debate over the root causes of crime will go on for decades, but the carnage in our own mean streets must be halted now," he said. ■

Today

Senate Floor: The Senate is expected to return to consideration of a bill (S 419) to authorize emergency funding for the Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC).

The measure calls for $30 billion in additional funding so the government can continue to bail out failing thrifts.

Majority Leader George J. Mitchell, D-Maine, pulled the bill from floor consideration last week after debate over amendments delayed action.

House Floor: A measure (HR 707) to reauthorize and strengthen the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) is among the bills the House will consider under suspension of the rules.

HR 707 would give the CFTC new powers to oversee the futures exchanges and restrict the practice of dual trading — when a broker buys and sells futures contracts for himself at the same time as a client.

House lawmakers will also take up a bill (HR 1176) to authorize supplemental fiscal 1991 spending for the State Department. The bill would authorize $19.3 million to pay for additional costs incurred because of the Persian Gulf War. The costs include the evacuation and reassignment of government workers and overtime pay for department personnel.

Fiscal 1991 Funds: The House Appropriations Committee will mark up two fiscal 1991 supplemental spending bills with the hope that both will be cleared for President Bush by the end of March.

The larger, but less complicated of the two, would appropriate $15 billion from the U.S. Treasury and allow the use of $28 billion in allied contributions to pay for the costs of the Persian Gulf War. Both House and Senate leaders want to keep the bill free of items not related to the conflict to avoid charges of using a must-pass bill to get backdoor funding for other programs.

Speedy approval of the Desert Storm supplemental is expected and the panel is likely to add provisions to ensure that the Pentagon does not use any of the funds for expenses not resulting from the war.

Catch-all Bill. House appropriators will also mark up a second catchall measure providing funds for everything from increased security measures to soil conservation programs.

The measure is based on the more than $2 billion the administration requested in fiscal 1991 spending when it submitted its fiscal 1992 budget in early February. Appropriations subcommittees quickly marked up bills last week, shaving administration requests but adding almost no new spending.

The full committee markup is expected to be relatively straightforward with most controversies already settled in the subcommittee sessions.

One item of possible contention, however, is an expected amendment to provide roughly $1 billion of emergency aid to Israel for costs it incurred during the war.

Authorization. In related action, the Senate Armed Services Committee will mark up draft legislation to authorize supplemental fiscal 1991 funding for gulf war expenditures.

The House Armed Services Subcommittee on Military Personnel will consider the portion of its authorization bill (HR 1175) dealing with military personnel issues.

Armed Services Markup: The Senate Armed Services Committee has a full slate of bills scheduled for action, including legislation (S 270; HR 586) that would require the Bush administration to submit monthly reports to Congress on the costs of the gulf war and the status of allied contributions. The House passed HR 586 on Feb. 25.

Also on the agenda are several measures to address a side issue of the Persian Gulf War: how to avoid war orphans at home as a result of a war abroad.

One measure (S 325) would require the military to take steps to prevent children from losing both parents or their only parent in the Persian Gulf.

The Senate earlier rejected, 38-54, a similar proposal when it was offered as an amendment to an export administration reauthorization bill (S 320), and S 325 is expected to suffer a similar fate in committee.

Another bill (S 283) would restrict the stationing of one parent to a base where child-care facilities are provided. S 283 is not specific to the Persian Gulf conflict.

Madigan Nomination: Members of the Senate Agriculture Committee are expected to question Rep. Edward Madigan, R-Ill., about his plans for implementing the 1990 farm bill, at today's hearing on his nomination to be secretary of Agriculture.

As the ranking member on the Agriculture Committee, Madigan is well versed in farm issues and he played a large role in crafting the 1990 measure. He has a reputation on the Hill as a member willing to compromise and work with Democrats.

Members may also ask that Madigan keep the committee better informed about developments in ongoing trade negotiations that may affect farmers. Some committee members say that Madigan's predecessor, Clayton Yeutter, failed to adequately brief them on the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade talks.

Fiscal 1992 Budget: Several Cabinet-level witnesses are scheduled to discuss the administration's fiscal 1992 budget proposal today.

Secretary of Health and Human Ser-

Early Flap Over DOD Budget

The fiscal 1992 budget for the Department of Defense (DOD) may get caught up in a budget scorekeeping battle between Democrats and Republicans, based on new information released at a Senate Appropriations subcommittee hearing yesterday.

The Congressional Budget Office (CBO) has released figures indicating that the Defense Department's fiscal 1992 budget asks for about $2.8 billion more than the administration says it does.

That's an important discrepancy: Last year's budget agreement places tight reins on most government spending. If the defense budget exceeds spending caps, it would trigger across-the-board cuts on all defense programs.

Most of the difference results from one paragraph in the administration's fiscal 1992 budget request that would change the way certain intelligence spending is scored. Those figures and operations remain largely secret.

The White House Office of Management and Budget (OMB) says that the change will amount to about $2.3 billion in savings, partially offsetting the costs of other programs.

CBO calls the change in scoring a wash and says no savings are involved. Without those savings, the administration's request would exceed spending limits.

A second scorekeeping discrepancy, involving $500 million, involves an operating fund for defense items such as spare parts.

If the CBO numbers stand, lawmakers will have to shave about $2.8 billion from the fiscal 1992 defense budget.

GOP staff on the Appropriations Subcommittee on Defense said the $2.8 billion amounts to a cut in defense programs over and above what was included in the budget agreement. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., said, "We might be reducing defense for no reason."

For many of those in the hearing room, it was the first time they had heard of the problem. Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald J. Atwood looked surprised when told of the different CBO and OMB figures.

Chairman Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, said the data became available last Friday. CBO plans to release the information to the public in about a week, a CBO staff member said.

Discussions have already been initiated with DOD officials to resolve the scorekeeping dilemma, Inouye said. He added that until the issue is settled, it will be difficult to craft a fiscal 1992 defense budget.

Differences over OMB and CBO scoring is not new. Democrats and Republicans have squabbled for years over which agency's figures to use. Democrats often claim that OMB has skewed estimates to serve the interests of the administration. While Republicans counter that CBO, which was created to provide nonpartisan budget advice, often caters to Democratic arguments.

Senate appropriators use CBO, however, as a scorekeeper to determine how much programs in an appropriations bill will cost.

Because there are two separate budget agencies, Inouye was resigned that disputes over scorekeeping were inevitable. "It's like two CPA firms looking at the same account and filing different taxes," he said.

After the arduous work involved in reaching a budget agreement, Inouye said it was frustrating to have new obstacles emerge. "At the end of this exercise we'll think we have it all settled," he said. "But we'll be back with another problem next year."

Committee Meetings Today

vices Louis W. Sullivan will defend proposed cuts in health-care spending before the Senate Budget Committee. Many members of Congress oppose the $2.8 billion in outlay cuts for Medicare detailed in the president's budget. Members are likely to question Sullivan over the administration's efforts to revisit a divisive issue most thought had been settled in the 1990 budget summit.

Office of Management and Budget Director Richard G. Darman will testify before House Ways and Means as the panel kicks off a series of wide-ranging hearings on budget and tax policy.

Treasury Secretary Nicholas F. Brady will be at the House Foreign Operations Appropriations Subcommittee in the morning and the companion Senate subcommittee in the afternoon to discuss aid to international programs and organizations.

Transportation Secretary Samuel K. Skinner will be at the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee to discuss highway programs. A highway plan released by the president Feb. 13 drew mixed reviews, in part because of a proposed reduction in the federal contribution to new highway construction programs.

The Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services will hear from Labor Secretary Lynn Martin in the morning and Sullivan in the afternoon.

And finally, Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan Jr. will testify before the House Appropriations Interior panel.

On March 12, 1991, a new one-day CQ seminar will improve your lobbying techniques for a decade.

Do you want your government relations campaigns in the '90s to be even more successful? Attend Lobbying Techniques for the '90s: Strategies, Coalitions and Grass-Roots Campaigns at the Grand Hyatt Washington on March 12 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and take the first step.

While other lobbying seminars teach legislative procedures, Lobbying Techniques shows you how to pull every element of the legislative campaign together.

You'll learn how top lobbyists turn new techniques into winning strategies and how to frame your lobbying efforts around the new power structure on Capitol Hill. You'll discover proven methods to form effective coalitions, you'll learn how effective team-lobby and grass-root elements are built, and how to mobilize America's heartland to apply pressure on Washington — not only for the next campaign — but for the decade ahead.

Register today!

To reserve your space at this seminar, contact Irene Cuffy, registrar for CQ's Professional Education Service. The registration fee is $345 for the full-day conference and includes lunch. Dear George .. What a marvelous weekend you shared with us at Camp David.
It was very special in every way. Of course I have a black and blue check (from that errant shotgun!) - a sprung back (from that diabolical wally-ball!) - ~~can~~ draggy right arm (from bowling that turkey!) and my upper legs look like Larry Gonka (from riding the bicycle and the stuff in that gym!). But worth it? Oh boy,
I agree! yes.
(over)

I have a lot of nice friends. But very few are Christians. Just you.
 You know what it meant to me and to me after getting my old book some summered on it. Bob Knight.
 But you know that and that is what has changed your will take the whole license -- and encourage your life in one word: loyalty. Loyalty to your friends, loyalty to your family, loyalty to your country, loyalty to the military, to the school, and goals -- of which I can hardly find you. You were now as much great to be one. You were now doing you and Barbara have served our friends and we love you both very much.

Dear George:

Please accept my heartfelt congratulations on a job well done. You were faced with difficult decisions, but calm has again settled in the Middle East.

There are many challenges ahead, but we must remain steadfast in our crusade to defeat aggression. Hopefully it will also deter tyrants from future miscalculations.

I am most grateful to you and your people for the briefings on the Middle East situation, and I want you to know that you are continually in my thoughts and prayers. I look forward to seeing you later this month during our visit to Washington.

Best regards,

Ron

Dear Dad George,
My stiffness in my right arm is a reminder of one of the most delightful weekends we have had in our 12 years in Washington.
As you well know, I came at just the right time after the Post article.
Such total relaxation and involvement in other than politics just plain fun.
You two are so generous with your time and affections. We Let unfolded in loved care. The Tydens & Fitch made it even more special. The weather was an extra blessing.

You are not only the perfect couple to lead our country, you are inspirational as friends and

WHITE HOUSE REVERSES STAND, SUPPORTS ADDITIONAL AID TO ISRAEL

Chen

The Bush administration, bowing to intense congressional pressure, has reversed its position against any additional aid to Israel and now favors as much as $800 million in new military assistance as part of a supplemental budget request for the costs of Operation Desert Storm.

It was not certain last night, however, whether the Israeli government would accept the proposal or wait for a likely more favorable congressional figure....

The turnabout came Thursday night when President Bush and senior aides met at the White House to review the request, sources said. A senior administration official said the administration faced the difficult choice of either making its own proposal or having Democrats do it.

Two senior officials called Israel's Feb. 22 request for nearly $1 billion "grossly exaggerated" in terms of the country's additional military expenses as a result of the war. One official said the White House "will probably settle for about $800 million," a knowledgeable Senate source said.

JORDANIAN KING IS SAID TO EXPRESS INTEREST IN TALKS WITH ISRAEL

King Hussein of Jordan has recently expressed interest in reviving efforts to negotiate peace with Israel and a solution to the Palestinian problem, possibly along the lines of a 1987 agreement secretly worked out in London with a former Israeli foreign minister, a senior Israeli official says.

The official, who spoke on the condition that he not be identified, said that the Jordanian king wished to revive the so-called London agreement, which he signed with Shimon Peres, then the Israeli foreign minister, now head of the opposition Labor Party, in April 1987....

Arab and American officials said they viewed this and other signals from King Hussein as consistent with his effort to repair the diplomatic and economic damage resulting from the coalition view that he sided with Iraq.... The king, they said, was apparently trying to shore up his own position by stressing that he is still committed to and capable of helping the Palestinians achieve what he called in a speech on Friday "their national rights on their national soil." (Judith Miller, New York Times, A12)

ISRAEL LOOKS TO BAKER FOR PLAN

Israel expects to learn from Secretary Baker next week whether he will be carrying any Arab overtures for future peace negotiations, Israeli sources said Monday.

"If Saudi Arabia says it would be interested in coming to the negotiating table, that would be ideal," said an Israeli source, speaking on condition of anonymity.

"The Israeli government has no [new] initiative or blueprint of its own" to present to Baker, the Israeli source added....

"No lasting solution to the security problems of the region is possible in the absence of a settlement of the Arab-Israeli problem," U.S. Ambassador Thomas Pickering told a Veterans of Foreign Wars luncheon. (Richard Gross, Washington Times, A9)

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF SECONDARY SCHOOL PRINCIPALS
MARCH 5, 1991
3:10 P.M.

91 MAR -5 PM 2:33

GOOD EVENING. I'M GLAD TO BE ABLE TO SEND MY WELCOME TO THE 75TH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF SECONDARY SCHOOL PRINCIPALS. YOU -- THE LEADERS OF THIS NATION'S SCHOOLS -- HOLD IN YOUR HANDS
THE KEY TO AMERICA'S FUTURE. FOR WITH THOSE HANDS YOU ARE MOLDING AMERICA'S YOUTH. \\\

WE'RE JOINED IN AN EXCITING ENTERPRISE. FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THIS COUNTRY'S HISTORY WE HAVE NATIONAL GOALS FOR EDUCATION. GOALS THAT CHALLENGE AMERICA'S STUDENTS, TEACHERS, ADMINISTRATORS, PARENTS AND LEADERS. GOALS THAT MAKE US FOCUS ON ACHIEVEMENT.
GOALS THAT MAKE US THINK ABOUT THE FUTURE.

FOR THEY REMIND US WE MUST ENSURE THAT ALL AMERICANS HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY THAT IS OUR BIRTHRIGHT.
AND THAT MEANS EQUIPPING OUR KIDS WITH THE TOOLS TO COMPETE IN THE 21ST CENTURY. THAT WAY, OUR NEW GENERATIONS WILL GROW UP BELIEVING THAT THE ONLY LIMITS ON ANY INDIVIDUAL ARE THE LIMITS OF HIS OWN VISION. \\\

AND YOU ARE THE ONES WHO CAN MAKE THESE GOALS
BECOME REALITY. THAT IS YOUR CHALLENGE. YOUR CHARGE.
AND YOUR GREATEST OPPORTUNITY. I REMEMBER A SCENE IN "A MAN FOR ALL SEASONS" WHEN SIR THOMAS MORE IS ADVISING A YOUNG MAN. HE TELLS HIM TO BECOME AN EDUCATOR, AND SAYS: "[WHO WILL KNOW IF YOU'RE A GREAT
ONE?] \ \ YOU, YOUR PUPILS, YOUR FRIENDS, AND GOD, NOT A BAD PUBLIC, THAT." \ \ \

AND THERE CANNOT BE A GREAT SCHOOL WITHOUT A GREAT LEADER. YET WE KNOW THAT SOMETIMES THE DEMANDS ON YOUR TIME AND ENERGY MAY SEEM MONUMENTAL. SOMETIMES THE REWARDS MAY APPEAR TO BE MINIMAL. BUT REMEMBER THIS:
EACH DAY, YOU HAVE THE CHANCE TO BE THE ONE WHO MAKES A DIFFERENCE IN A YOUNG PERSON'S LIFE. \ \ \

WE ADMIRE YOU FOR ACCEPTING THAT CHALLENGE. FOR RELISHING THAT CHALLENGE. FOR RESPONDING TO THAT CHALLENGE AND MOVING YOUR SCHOOL FORWARD -- SHAPING
AMERICA'S TOMORROWS. \ \ \

DURING THE NEXT FOUR DAYS YOU'LL HAVE THE CHANCE TO LEARN FROM EACH OTHER, AND TO GATHER NEW IDEAS TO BRING HOME -- TO SHARE WITH YOUR TEACHERS, YOUR COMMUNITIES AND, MOST OF ALL, WITH YOUR KIDS.

WE WANT YOU TO KNOW THAT THIS NATION UNDERSTANDS AND APPRECIATES EVERYTHING YOU'RE DOING FOR OUR YOUNG PEOPLE. YOU HAVE OUR RESPECT, OUR ADMIRATION, AND OUR THANKS.

GOD BLESS YOU, AND BEST WISHES FOR AN OUTSTANDING CONVENTION.

UNITED NEGRO COLLEGE FUND
MARCH 5, 1991
3:10 P.M.

GOOD EVENING. I'M DELIGHTED TO SEND THIS GREETING
TO ALL OF YOU AT THE 47TH ANNIVERSARY DINNER OF THE UNITED NEGRO COLLEGE FUND.

AND I'M PARTICULARLY PLEASED TO BE ABLE TO JOIN IN THE SALUTE TO TWO SPECIAL FRIENDS -- AMBASSADOR WALTER ANNENBERG, WHO HAS MADE THE LARGEST SINGLE CONTRIBUTION
IN THE HISTORY OF THE FUND. \\\

AND CHRISTOPHER EDLEY, WHO IS RETIRING AFTER 18 YEARS AS THE FUND'S PRESIDENT AND CEO. \\\

WE OWE THEM A LARGE DEBT OF GRATITUDE FOR THEIR WORK AND THEIR EXAMPLE. FOR ALTHOUGH THE WAYS IN WHICH THEY SERVE THIS FUND ARE DIFFERENT, WHAT'S MOST IMPORTANT IS WHAT THEY SHARE -- A VISION THAT IS THEIR LEGACY TO ALL OF US.

FOR THEY CARE ABOUT MAKING THE DREAM OF
EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY A REALITY FOR ALL OF OUR NATION'S BLACK YOUTH. \\\

THEY PUT THEMSELVES ON THE LINE TO BRING ABOUT POSITIVE, HISTORIC CHANGES IN ASSURING ACCESS TO HIGHER EDUCATION REGARDLESS OF ECONOMIC CIRCUMSTANCES. \\\

THEY ARE COMMITTED TO PROVIDING ALL YOUNG PEOPLE WITH AN OPPORTUNITY TO REALIZE THEIR FULL POTENTIAL. \\\

AND THEY UNDERSTAND THE NEED TO PREPARE BLACK YOUTHS TO BE PRODUCTIVE, ACTIVE PARTICIPANTS IN THE WORKPLACE OF THE FUTURE. \\\

AND THAT'S ALSO THE VISION OF THE UNITED NEGRO COLLEGE FUND. THE VISION THAT MUST INSPIRE EVERY PERSON IN THIS NATION.

FOR, AS LANGSTON HUGHES WROTE: "THERE'S A DREAM IN THIS LAND WITH ITS BACK AGAINST THE WALL; TO SAVE THE DREAM FOR ONE, IT MUST BE SAVED FOR ALL." \\\

TO SAVE THAT DREAM, WE MUST REALIZE THAT THE 21ST CENTURY IS GOING TO POSE CHALLENGES BEYOND OUR IMAGINATION. CHALLENGES OF AN INCREASINGLY COMPETITIVE SOCIETY THAT WILL DEMAND TECHNOLOGICAL KNOWLEDGE. CHALLENGES THAT CAN BECOME OPPORTUNITIES FOR OUR YOUNG PEOPLE -- OPPORTUNITIES TO MAKE THIS A WORLD WHERE THE ONLY LIMITS ON ANY INDIVIDUAL WILL BE THE LIMITS OF HIS OWN VISION. \\\

I'M PROUD TO SERVE AS HONORARY CHAIRMAN OF THE FUND'S $250 MILLION CAPITAL CAMPAIGN.

I'M PROUD TO SALUTE MEN SUCH AS AMBASSADOR ANNENBERG AND CHRISTOPHER EDLEY.

AND, MOST OF ALL, I'M PROUD TO BE PART OF AN ORGANIZATION MADE UP OF PEOPLE LIKE YOU.

GOD BLESS YOU, AND THIS GREAT NATION WE SHARE.

THE ASSOCIATED GENERAL CONTRACTORS OF AMERICA
MARCH 5, 1991
3:10 P.M.

I WELCOME THIS OPPORTUNITY TO EXTEND MY BEST WISHES FOR THE SUCCESS OF THE 72ND ANNUAL CONVENTION OF
THE ASSOCIATED GENERAL CONTRACTORS OF AMERICA.

YOU ARE MEETING TO ADDRESS THE CRITICAL CHALLENGES FACING THE CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY -- AND TO TRANSFORM THOSE CHALLENGES INTO OPPORTUNITIES. IN DOING SO, YOU REFLECT NOT ONLY THE DETERMINATION THAT HAS ALWAYS CHARACTERIZED YOUR INDUSTRY -- YOU EMBODY THE SPIRIT OF THE ENTERPRISING AMERICANS WHO BUILT THIS NATION.

YOU MEET AT A TIME WHEN ALL AMERICANS' THOUGHTS ARE FOCUSED ON EVENTS IN THE PERSIAN GULF. BACK IN DECEMBER, YOUR PRESIDENT, KIRK FORDICE [FOUR-DICE], WROTE TO THE MEMBERS OF THE A-G-C TO URGE THAT YOU
SUPPORT OUR MISSION -- THE MISSION OF THE COALITION
UNITED AGAINST THE CRUEL AGGRESSION OF SADDAM HUSSEIN.

NOT LONG AFTER, I RECEIVED A LETTER FROM ONE OF YOUR FELLOW MEMBERS, VITO GAUTIERI [GAW-TERRY] -- WHO HAD JUST RETURNED HOME AFTER VISITING THE GRAVESITE OF HIS BROTHER, A MEMBER OF THE AMERICAN FORCES WHO GAVE HIS LIFE DURING THE LIBERATION OF FRANCE. WHEN MICHAEL GAUTIERI MADE THE SUPREME SACRIFICE ON JANUARY 25, 1945, VITO WAS ONLY FOURTEEN. EIGHT YEARS LATER, VITO HONORED THE MEMORY OF HIS BROTHER BY SERVING WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN EUROPE: PART OF THE LONG TRADITION OF STANDING FOR WHAT IS RIGHT, JUST AND HONORABLE -- JUST AS SO MANY BRAVE YOUNG AMERICAN MEN AND WOMEN DO NOW, HALF A WORLD AWAY.

VITO'S LETTER TO ME CLOSED WITH THE WORDS: "GOD BLESS YOU, AND OUR PRAYERS ARE WITH YOU -- WHATEVER YOUR FINAL DECISION."

LET ME SAY TO VITO -- AND TO EVERY MEMBER OF THE A-G-C -- THAT YOUR UNQUALIFIED SUPPORT HAS BEEN A TREMENDOUS SOURCE OF STRENGTH AT EVERY STEP IN THIS TIME OF TESTING. TO ALL OF YOU, AND TO YOUR ABLE LEADERSHIP -- MARVIN BLACK, ROBINS JACKSON, CHRIS WOODS, BERT BEATTY [BEE-TEE], AND, OF COURSE, YOUR PRESIDENT KIRK FORDICE -- MY SINCERE THANKS FOR YOUR TRUST, AND MY BEST WISHES FOR A PRODUCTIVE CONVENTION AND A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

#

ARKANSAS MARCH OF DIMES
MARCH 5, 1991
3:10 P.M.

IT'S AN HONOR AND A PLEASURE TO SEND ALONG MY BEST WISHES TO THE ARKANSAS MARCH OF DIMES -- A GREAT AND GIVING ORGANIZATION.

YOUR WORK IS AS CRUCIAL NOW AS IT WAS IN 1938 --
WHEN A RADIO ENTERTAINER URGED PEOPLE TO SEND PRESIDENT
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT BIRTHDAY GREETINGS -- AND ENCLOSE A DIME FOR CHARITY.

THE CARDS POURED IN -- A "MARCH OF DIMES"
CONVERGED ON THE WHITE HOUSE -- PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT DEVOTED THOSE DIMES TO FINDING A CURE FOR POLIO -- AND A GREAT AMERICAN TRADITION WAS BORN.

KIDS IN LITTLE ROCK, AND ALL ACROSS THE STATE OF ARKANSAS, ARE LUCKY TO HAVE PEOPLE LIKE YOU LOOKING AFTER THEM. YOU'RE FIGHTING TO PREVENT ONE OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST INJUSTICES -- THE BIRTH DEFECTS THAT ARE THE MOST SERIOUS THREAT FACING THE CHILDREN OF THIS NATION.

NOW A WORD ABOUT MY CLOSE PERSONAL FRIEND, JOHN PAUL HAMMERSCHMIDT. IN CHOOSING TO HONOR HIM AS 1991 CITIZEN OF THE YEAR, YOU'VE CHOSEN TO HONOR THE BEST IN CONGRESS. JOHN PAUL'S DECENCY, HIS COMMITMENT TO PRINCIPLE, AND HIS SENSE OF HONOR HAVE WON HIM RESPECT THAT TRANSCENDS PARTY.

IN CONCLUSION, BY MAKING SERVICE TO OTHERS AN IMPORTANT PART OF YOUR LIVES, YOU'RE HELPING TO GIVE EVERY CHILD THE PRICELESS GIFT OF A FULL AND HEALTHY LIFE. ON BEHALF OF THEM -- AND ON BEHALF OF A CARING NATION -- THANK YOU VERY MUCH. AND GOD BLESS YOU ALL.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF ELEMENTARY SCHOOL PRINCIPALS
MARCH 5, 1991
3:10 P.M.

IT IS MY PLEASURE TO HAVE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO PASS ALONG MY WISHES FOR A SUCCESSFUL 1991 CONVENTION FOR THE N-A-E-S-P.

THERE HAVE BEEN HUNDREDS OF STUDIES ON WHAT WE MUST DO TO IMPROVE OUR SCHOOLS -- BUT THERE'S NO SECRET TO WHAT MAKES OUR SCHOOLS WORK BEST. THERE IS NO SINGLE GREATER FACTOR IN THE SUCCESS OF ANY SCHOOL THAN A STRONG PRINCIPAL. LET ME SAY -- NOT AS PRESIDENT, BUT SIMPLY AS A PARENT -- THAT YOU ARE AMONG AMERICA'S MOST VALUABLE NATIONAL RESOURCES.

ALL OF US LIKE TO SPECULATE ABOUT WHAT THE FUTURE
HOLDS -- WHAT OUR WORLD WILL BE LIKE A YEAR, A DECADE, A GENERATION FROM NOW. PRINCIPALS HAVE WHAT MAY JUST BE THE WORLD'S MOST UNIQUE WINDOW INTO THE WORLD OF
TOMORROW. IN YOUR PROFESSION, AMERICA'S FUTURE WALKS
THROUGH THE DOORS OF YOUR SCHOOLS EVERY DAY.

FOR THE NEXT FEW DAYS, ALL OF YOU WILL HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO CONFER WITH YOUR PEERS FROM ACROSS THE COUNTRY -- TO VISIT SCHOOLS IN THE ANAHEIM AREA -- TO STUDY THE RESULTS OF RECENT EXPERIMENTS IN EDUCATION -- TO LEARN FROM ONE ANOTHER HOW WE SHOULD GO ABOUT TEACHING OUR CHILDREN. AND THROUGH IT ALL, YOU WILL HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO RENEW YOUR SHARED COMMITMENT TO COMMON CONCERN: THE CHILDREN, WHOSE FUTURE IS OUR OWN.

ONCE AGAIN, MY THANKS TO YOU FOR THE WORK YOU ARE DOING -- AND MY BEST WISHES FOR A PRODUCTIVE 1991 CONVENTION.

THE NATIONAL SOCIETY FOR PERFORMANCE AND INSTRUCTION
MARCH 5, 1991
3:10 P.M.

AS N-S-P-I BEGINS ITS CONFERENCE IN LOS ANGELES TODAY, I CONGRATULATE YOU ON THE START OF YOUR 30TH YEAR OF ACHIEVEMENTS IN THE FIELD OF PERFORMANCE TECHNOLOGY, AND THE CONTRIBUTIONS YOU'VE MADE TO THE STUDENTS AND WORK-FORCE OF OUR NATION. NOW MORE THAN EVER, THIS COUNTRY NEEDS YOUR WORK AND DEDICATION.

IN THIS DECADE, THE UNITED STATES FACES SCORES OF NEW CHALLENGES AND NEW OPPORTUNITIES. IN A RAPIDLY CHANGING WORLD, COMPETITION NOT ONLY EXISTS AT HOME, BUT IN THE GLOBAL MARKETPLACE.

WHERE ONCE AMERICAN ECONOMIC STRENGTH AND PRODUCTIVITY WENT UNCHALLENGED, TODAY, MANY NATIONS HAVE EMERGED AS TECHNOLOGICALLY ADVANCED AND ECONOMICALLY PROGRESSIVE. FROM THE ASSEMBLY LINE TO TOP LEVELS OF MANAGEMENT, WE MUST STRIVE TO HAVE THE MOST SKILLED, MOTIVATED, AND PRODUCTIVE WORK-FORCE IN THE WORLD.

WE MUST ALSO INVEST IN CREATING THE MOST ADVANCED AND HIGHEST QUALITY WORK ENVIRONMENTS AVAILABLE. AND WE MUST IMPROVE THE EDUCATION OF OUR YOUTH AND CORPORATE LEADERSHIP. WE MUST DO ALL OF THIS TO ACHIEVE THE MOST IMPORTANT GOAL OF ALL -- WORLD CLASS QUALITY.

AMERICA IS A NATION WHERE CREATIVE APPROACHES YIELD REAL SOLUTIONS TO OUR PROBLEMS. WHERE INNOVATIVE IDEAS CREATE THE OPPORTUNITY FOR GROWTH -- AND FOR PROSPERITY. IT'S CLEAR TO ME THAT PERFORMANCE TECHNOLOGY IS JUST SUCH AN APPROACH.

THROUGH ADVANCEMENTS IN EDUCATION AND TRAINING, INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY AND PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT, N-S-P-I IS TAKING A LEADERSHIP ROLE IN PREPARING THE AMERICAN WORKER FOR THE CHALLENGES, AND THE SUCCESSES OF TOMORROW.

MY CONGRATULATIONS ON ALL YOU DO TO KEEP AMERICA NUMBER ONE.

Re: Productivity for the Fourth Quarter

Productivity in the nonfarm business sector grew 0.3 percent according to the revised estimate (at an annual rate in the fourth quarter of 1990); the original estimate was 0.1 percent. Productivity in the manufacturing sector declined, as manufacturing has been hit hardest by the recession.

While the economic data coming out for the next couple of months reporting on late 1990 and the first couple of months of 1991 are mostly going to be somewhat negative, soon thereafter we should be seeing a turnaround.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: MICHAEL J. BOSKIN mb

SUBJECT: Revised Productivity and Costs, Fourth Quarter
1990, Labor Department Release, Tomorrow Morning
10:00 a.m.

Productivity in the nonfarm business sector rose a revised 0.3 percent at an annual rate in the fourth quarter of 1990. The previous estimate of fourth quarter productivity growth was 0.1 percent. Manufacturing productivity growth was revised up 0.8 percentage point, due largely to an upward revision in nondurable manufacturing output. Even with the upward revision, manufacturing productivity fell 1.6 percent at an annual rate in the fourth quarter.

Hourly labor compensation in the nonfarm business sector rose 4 percent at an annual rate in the fourth quarter, up slightly from the previous estimate of 3.8 percent. Hourly labor compensation grew 4.7 percent at an annual rate in the third quarter.

Hourly labor compensation in manufacturing was revised up from 3.7 percent at an annual rate to 4.7 percent, due mostly to a revision in compensation in durable goods manufacturing. Unit labor cost -- the labor cost of producing a unit of output -- grew 6.4 percent at an annual rate in the fourth quarter. From the fourth quarter of 1989 to the fourth quarter of 1990, unit labor cost in manufacturing grew only 1 percent.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE

WASHINGTON

March 4, 1991

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

From: James A. Baker, III JAB:III

- ✓ 1. Egypt: Mubarak Speech on Post-War Security. In his first public address since the liberation of Kuwait, Mubarak said yesterday that regional security is the responsibility of Arab states. He called on his fellow Arab leaders to put aside differences and work together to build a new regional order based on mutual security, economic cooperation and democratic reform. Mubarak blamed Saddam for "this bloody tragedy" while offering Egyptian assistance to the Iraqi people, who are the "masters of their own destiny." I will be exploring these themes further when I meet with Mubarak in Cairo. (✓)
- ✓ 2. USSR/Cuba: Meeting with Nikolayenko. Bernie Aronson met with his Soviet counterpart, Valeriy Nikolayenko, in Madrid last week. Nikolayenko said the USSR would be prepared to commit privately to cut its supply of military equipment (but not personnel) to Cuba by two-thirds in exchange for a reduction in US military activities "directed at Cuba," and for pledges that we have no aggressive military intentions toward Cuba. The Soviets agreed to look into the recent capture in Honduras of Soviet and Bulgarian arms that were supplied by the Sandinista army to a Honduran terrorist group. (✓)
- ✓ 3. Thailand: New Constitution and Prime Minister. The King approved on March 1 a provisional constitution submitted by the military coup leadership. The following day former ambassador to the US Anand Panyarachun was appointed Prime Minister of the provisional government that will rule until elections. The constitution maintains the control of the military, sets up a drafting framework for a permanent constitution and provides for an interim legislative assembly. Anand appears to have been selected because of his leadership in the Thai business community, good reputation, and ability to deal with foreign governments. We expect his goals will be improving the economy and returning to democratic rule. (✓)
- ✓ 4. UN: Humanitarian Relief for Iraq. The UN Sanctions Committee yesterday approved shipments of infant formula and high protein biscuits from Belgium and Denmark to Iraq, under ICRC supervision. The Committee also discussed a WHO/UNICEF report recommending the supply of emergency water purification and sanitation equipment. The Committee will make a decision at its next meeting, which will probably take place tomorrow. The Office of Foreign Disaster Relief is considering the possibility of making contributions to the ICRC and UNICEF to support medical, water supply, and sanitation relief efforts. (✓)

SUBJECT:

YOUR ADDRESS AT THE A.G.'s CRIME SUMMIT

I. SUMMARY

On Tuesday, March 5 at 2:15 p.m., you will address the Attorney General's Summit on Violent Crime at the Sheraton Washington Hotel. The audience will consist of 600 leaders from the law enforcement community across America, including federal and state prosecutors, police, judges, elected officials and community leaders.

II. DISCUSSION

The attached remarks (12-13 minutes, on teleprompter) were prepared based on guidance from Roger Porter's office, and, in particular, the Attorney General and his staff. In addition to rallying the law enforcement community, the speech is designed to help launch the new crime bill as one of the cornerstones of the Administration's domestic agenda. The remarks also seek to foster bold new cooperation in fighting crime, and to encourage the states to match your new federal law enforcement resources with new resources of their own.

One particular note: In laying down a marker on the Administration's new crime bill, the draft says (at page 6): "We're not giving up on this crime bill. We're not going to let it get watered down. And we're not going to send you out there with one hand tied behind your back. At home as well as abroad -- no more Vietnams." F.Y.I., the Attorney General has read and approved the draft, and specifically supported the use of the "no more Vietnams" phrase in this context.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S CRIME SUMMIT
WASHINGTON SHERATON HOTEL
TUES., MAR. 5, 1991, 2:15 P.M.

Thank you. Mr. Attorney General, U.S. Attorneys, State
A.G.'s, Judges, local D.A.'s, Sheriffs, Police, state and local officials and, most especially, community leaders from across America. It is an honor to welcome you to Washington. You represent one of the most powerful peacetime forces known to Man.
And that's why you've been invited to this unprecedented council of war -- to share ideas and successes -- and to help frame the battle plan for the fight against violent crime and drugs for the next decade and beyond. \\\ I'm here because I wanted you to know how strongly I feel about reducing violent crime in America
-- and how firmly we support your efforts to fight crime and ^{to give}

I have trouble with this sentence & much - now here
~~"the hard work of freedom."~~ back our streets to America's Fair

And against this backdrop, I know there's something else on everyone's mind. Because soon your hometowns across America will welcome home the finest fighting force ever assembled -- the courageous men and women of the United States military! \\\

For seven long months America watched with a lump in our throat and a prayer on our lips. And now in Kuwait the fires of destruction are beginning to dim -- eclipsed by the brilliant flame of freedom. \\\

The Coalition victory in the Gulf is a testament to American leadership and skill -- and to our Nation's unparalleled ability to respond swiftly and successfully to a clearly stated challenge. We had a challenge. We set a goal. And we achieved it.

These American heroes risked their lives so that America's kids could realize a dream -- a world free from ^{aggression +} fear, a world filled with opportunity, a world whose only limits are in the reaches of the imagination. \\\

And I told our troops the other day that, like the coming promise of spring, their magnificent victory in the Gulf had brought a renewed sense of pride and confidence here at home.

Our confidence in America's future is the foundation for the opportunity package we unveiled last week. It calls for improved opportunity through education, jobs, home ownership, and programs aimed at keeping families healthy and together. And it calls for safe schools, neighborhoods, and homes. Because now that the shooting has stopped overseas, we've got to redouble our efforts to silence the guns here at home. That's why you're here. That is why I singled out this Summit in my State of the Union Address. Because here at home, you are America's front-line troops. And here at home, the triumph of freedom must mean freedom from fear.

Today the fear of crime strikes too many American families. Parents fear for their kids in school -- and on the way home. They fear for their teenagers and the lessons they may learn in the streets. And they fear for their own parents -- for whom a simple trip to the grocery may become an exercise in terror.

Perhaps you saw the report here that, during the first three days of the ground offensive, more Americans were killed here in Washington than at the entire Kuwaiti front. Think of it -- one singling out D.C.

Worry about
of our brave D.C. National Guardsmen may have actually been safer in the midst of the largest armored offensive in history -- than he would have been here at home in the Nation's Capital. It's outrageous. It's wrong. And it's going to change. \\\

The temptation is strong to use the words of a victorious war to send you back to your daily challenge. But wars serve us best when we learn from them, not glorify them. And among the lessons is that -- in furtherance of a widely accepted moral value -- collective action succeeds. This is a simple but powerful message that applies to this Summit today. A second great message is that numbers alone are not determinative. More than simply sheer numbers, our victory was based on creativity, strategic thinking, and the skilled execution of a bold plan.

And you'll forgive an old Navy man if my message to you today is drawn from the lessons of America's great World War II Admiral, William F. "Bull" Halsey. "Carry the battle to the enemy!" he said. "Lay your ship alongside his!" And on the eve of the battle of Santa Cruz, in which his ships were outnumbered more than two to one, Halsey sent his task force commanders a three-word dispatch. He said: "ATTACK -- REPEAT -- ATTACK."

They did attack -- heroically -- and when the battle was done, the enemy had turned away.

Just look at what we've done in the Gulf...our pilots...our missile-men...the impressive logistics and diplomatic operations.
America is a "can-do" Nation. And today at home, we must seize the day. The kind of moral force and national will that freed

Kuwait City from abuse can free America's cities from crime. As in the Gulf, our goal is to strengthen and preserve the Rule of Law. As in the Gulf, we need creative and strategic thinking to free our cities from crime. And as in the Gulf, this means assembling an unprecedented Coalition. We've got to cooperate -- really cooperate -- on a level never before seen. Federal, state, and local prosecutors. Federal, state, and local police. Governors, Mayors, and the new corps of neighborhood peacekeepers -- the community leaders who've stood up to violence and despair.

Our Administration is committed to doing its part. I know Dick Thornburgh, our very able Attorney General, spoke with you about this yesterday. Under his leadership, we've taken the lead in fighting organized crime, drug trafficking, and the deadly tide of violence that follows in their wake. We've made record increases in federal prosecutors and agents. By 1992, we will be well on our way to more than doubling prison space, allowing us to use tough federal laws to put violent offenders behind bars to stay. Asset forfeiture laws allow us to take the ill-gotten gains of drug kingpins and use them to put more cops on the streets and more prosecutors in court. In the last five years alone, the Justice Department shared over half a billion dollars in forfeited assets with state and local law enforcement.

We understand that fighting violent crime is first and foremost a state, local and community responsibility. That is why -- since coming to office -- we have increased the amount of funding for state and local law enforcement by 230 percent. We dedicated lawmen and women like you. But even after a year and a half, and despite the urgency of the problem, Congress never did act on our proposals. And that's why we're here again to work with you -- to develop new proposals, to try to steady the scales of justice, to seek a fair balance between the legitimate rights of suspects, and society's right to protect itself.

We need a crime bill that will stop the endless, frivolous appeals that clog our habeas corpus system; one that guarantees that criminals who use serious weapons face serious time; and one that ensures that evidence gathered by good cops acting in good faith isn't barred by technicalities that let bad people go free. And for the most heinous of crimes, we need a workable death penalty -- which is to say -- a real death penalty. \\\

We need your ideas in putting together our new crime package. And we'll need your help in getting it through Congress. But I promise you this: We're not giving up on this crime bill. We're not going to let it get watered down. And we're not going to ~~send you out there with one hand tied behind your back~~ ^{put our crime fighters in harm's way without backing them to the hilt}. At home as well as abroad -- [no more Vietnams.]

And there's another important message I would ask you to bring home to your cities and states: Your troops in state and local law enforcement need the same tools we've proposed for the feds. Mandatory time for weapons offenders. No plea bargaining on guns. The death penalty for heinous crimes. And the kind of increased resources -- in police, prosecutors, and prisons -- that ensure these vicious thugs will be ~~hunted down and put away~~ ^{caught, prosecuted and swiftly punished.} \\\

Because public safety is not just another line item in a city or state budget -- it is the first duty of any government.

Yes, there remain vital tests ahead, both here and abroad. But nothing the American people can't handle. So we're going to roll up our sleeves, raise up the flag, and stand up for the decent men, women and children of this great country. Block-by-block. Day-by-day. School-by-school. For your kids, for mine, for America's kids: Take back the streets -- and liberate our neighborhoods from the tyranny of fear. \\\

Thank you for coming -- and for all you do to protect the people of this great Nation. And God bless the United States of America.

We are aware of the possibility of an amendment being offered to provide assistance to the State of Israel. We have not seen such an amendment, but understand one may relate to the Israeli request for compensation for the incremental military costs of the Gulf War. Although we are, of course, deeply appreciative of the Israeli role and responsibility in the conduct of the War, such an amendment would present two serious problems:

- o First, we could not justify the expenditure if it were at the level estimated by the Israeli government in its recent presentation to us -- $910 million. Applying the same definition of "incremental costs" as used in the development of the U.S. defense request, we could justify only a substantially smaller amount. Even so, this category of cost would not seem to qualify for the "Desert Shield exemption," which applies only to accounts appropriated for U.S. defense (function 050).
- o Second, for whatever amount might be justified, we would have to fit it appropriately within the framework of the 1990 Budget Enforcement Act. This would mean either fitting it within the existing budgetary caps, or offsetting it, or determining that it were legitimately subject to the "emergency" exemption -- and doing so in a way that neither set an adverse precedent, nor modified the enforcement system of the Budget Enforcement act.

Bush Presidential Library Photocopy

If these tests were not met, the President's senior advisors would have to recommend that he veto the bill. The basis for so doing would not rest solely on the excessive amount of the Israeli request. It would rest, also -- and fundamentally -- on the need to honor the Budget Agreement; keep U.S. spending under control; maintain the confidence of financial markets; and help, thereby, to assure that the U.S. economy returns promptly to job-producing economic growth.

The U.S. has been generous in its support of Israel, and will continue to be so. But at the same time, it must attend to the domestic need for fiscal responsibility by supporting the Budget Enforcement Act.

NEIL BUSH TO VISIT MARCH 19TH

Neil Bush, son of President and Mrs. George Bush, will be the featured guest of the New Hampshire Friends of George Bush at a reception in Manchester on March 19 from 5-7 p.m. at the Courtyard.

The March reception with Neil is the first of five social gatherings planned over the next six months in the Granite State by The New Hampshire Friends of George Bush (FRIENDS). FRIENDS is a social organization formed in January 1991 with the goal of gathering Granite Staters who became acquainted with the President when he campaigned in the 1980, 1984 and 1988 New Hampshire Presidential primaries.

Following the Manchester gathering in March, receptions are planned for Keene in April, Concord in May, Portsmouth in June and Gilford in August. (For more details see Page 3.)

The FRIENDS was formed at an informal meeting of some 30 Bush friends in January. At that meeting, former New Hampshire Governor Hugh Gregg of Nashua agreed to be the Chairman of FRIENDS. The group decided to contact and invite all those Granite Staters who volunteered their time in the 1980, 1984 and 1988 Bush campaigns to join FRIENDS. And, the group decided to host a series of receptions for its members around the State culminating in a large family gathering in August at Gunstock Ski Area in Gilford.

"It is important for all to understand that New Hampshire Friends of George Bush is a social group," said Hugh Gregg. "We are sponsoring a series of social gatherings so that people who met one another during previous Bush campaigns can get re-acquainted," Gregg added.

"There is a great reservoir of respect, personal good feeling, and

1 March 1991

Dear Friends:

On February 16, 1988 New Hampshire's Republican primary voters told the nation that George Bush was their preference for President. Many Granite Staters contributed time, money and effort to then Vice President Bush's campaign. And, for many of us, George Bush was more than the best candidate. Today he is not only the President of the United States. George Bush, Barbara, and their family are friends. The Bushes have an extended family here in New Hampshire that numbers in the thousands.

The NH Friends of George Bush is a social organization. The sole purpose of the organization is to let the President know that his friends in New Hampshire are behind him. The group has no affiliation out of State, political or otherwise, and is totally initiated by New Hampshire friends of the President. The group invites you to join, and tell a friend. Membership is $5.00 per person. Please send by March 10th the enclosed clip'n'mail coupon on Page 3 to sign up.

We look forward to seeing you soon!

friendship for President Bush among many people throughout the State," Gregg said. "We thought it was time to acknowledge that fact, and to create a framework of communication among ourselves, especially at a time of intense personal trial for the President because of America's involvement in the Gulf War," he continued.

Preparation for upcoming events, this newsletter, and related activities of FRIENDS are being guided by a working committee including Gregg. The committee members are: Will Abbott of Henniker, Bill Cahill of North Hampton, Dave Currier of Henniker, Ruth Griffin of Portsmouth, Georgie Hippauf of Nashua, Mark Thurston of Sanbornton, and Vicki Zachos of Concord.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT BUSH'S LETTER TO PRESIDENT HUSSEIN PRIOR TO GULF WAR

Following is a text of President Bush's January 5, 1991 letter to Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, which Secretary of State James Baker attempted to deliver to Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz when the two met in Geneva on January 9. Aziz refused to accept the letter to deliver to Hussein.

THE WHITE HOUSE
Washington
January 5, 1991

His Excellency
Saddam Hussein
President of the Republic of Iraq
Baghdad

Mr. President:

We stand today at the brink of war between Iraq and the world. This is a war that began with your invasion of Kuwait; this is a war that can be ended only by Iraq's full and unconditional compliance with UN Security Council Resolution 678.

I am writing you now, directly, because what is at stake demands that no opportunity be lost to avoid what would be a certain calamity for the people of Iraq. I am writing, as well, because it is said by some that you do not understand just how isolated Iraq is and what Iraq faces as a result. I am not in a position to judge whether this impression is correct; what I can do, though, is try in this letter to reinforce what Secretary of State Baker told your Foreign Minister and eliminate any uncertainty or ambiguity that might exist in your mind about where we stand and what we are prepared to do.

The international community is united in its call to Iraq to leave all of Kuwait without condition and without further delay. This is not simply the policy of the United States; it is the position of the world community as expressed in no less than twelve Security Council resolutions.

We prefer a peaceful outcome. However, anything less than full compliance with UN Security Council Resolution 678 and its predecessors is unacceptable. There can be no reward for aggression. Nor will there be any negotiation. Principle cannot be compromised. However, by its full compliance, Iraq will gain the opportunity to rejoin the international community. More immediately, the Iraqi military establishment will escape destruction. But unless you withdraw from Kuwait completely and without condition, you will lose more than Kuwait. What is at issue here is not the future of Kuwait --- it will be free, its government will be restored --- but rather the future of Iraq. The choice is yours to make.

The United States will not be separated from its coalition partners. Twelve Security Council resolutions, 28 countries providing military units to support them, more than 100 governments complying with sanctions -- all highlight the fact that it is not Iraq against the United States, but Iraq against the world. That most Arab and Muslim countries are arrayed against you as well should reinforce what I am saying. Iraq cannot and will not be able to hold on to Kuwait or exact a price for leaving.

You may be tempted to find solace in the diversity of opinion that is American democracy. You should resist any such temptation. Diversity ought not to be confused with division. Nor should you underestimate, as others have before you, America's will.

Iraq is already feeling the effects of the sanctions mandated by the United Nations. Should war come, it will be a far greater tragedy for you and your country. Let me state, too, that the United States will not tolerate the use of chemical or biological weapons or the destruction of Kuwait's oil fields and installations. Further, you will be held directly responsible for terrorist actions against any member of the coalition. The American people would demand the strongest possible response. You and your country will pay a terrible price if you order unconscionable acts of this sort.

I write this letter not to threaten, but to inform. I do so with no sense of satisfaction, for the people of the United States have no quarrel with the people of Iraq. Mr. President, UN Security Council Resolution 678 establishes that period before January 15 of this year as a "pause of good will" so that this crisis may end without further violence. Whether this pause is used as intended, or merely becomes a prelude to further violence, is in your hands, and yours alone. I hope you weigh your choice carefully and choose wisely, for much will depend on it.

RSVP TODAY TO NH FRIENDS OF GEORGE BUSH INVITE!

You are cordially invited to become a member of The New Hampshire Friends of George Bush and to participate with other Friends in any or all of the following social gatherings. Please use the clip out form below to become a member and to RSVP to individual events.

Because FRIENDS is only a social organization, there is definitely not a need for any volunteer work or action. We hope you will become a member, come together with others, keep in close touch with other members, and share your friendship with the President.

One thing you may wish to do is write a short note to the President to let him know your thoughts and prayers are with him.

You may also want to photocopy the membership form and invite others to mail in their own membership.

1:30 P.M. NEWS UPDATE

ANNULLED ANNEXATION/KUWAIT (Nicosia/AP) -- Iraq's ruling Revolutionary Command Council annulled the annexation of Kuwait, the official Iraqi News Agency said. In a statement, the council said it has nullified all decrees, laws and regulations it passed since Aug. 2 involving Kuwait. The action was taken in accordance with Iraq's agreement to adhere to all the conditions of Security Council Resolution 687, the agency reported the council said.

RETURNING TROOPS (AP) -- The first large contingent of U.S. troops will return from the war on Thursday, according to Pentagon sources, who said that President Bush plans to greet them at a welcoming ceremony at Andrews AFB. The returning soldiers will include members of the Army's 82nd Airborne Division, sources said on condition of anonymity. Within three days of the initial return ceremony, about 15,000 members of all service branches are expected to be back in the U.S. from the gulf area, the sources said.

GOP MEETING (Tom Raum, AP) -- ...President Bush told GOP lawmakers that, with the war over, "the focus should and will and must shift to the domestic agenda. We're in good shape on this. We've got good programs." After the meeting, Rep. Michel told reporters "the President was very upbeat this morning and now wants to move onto the domestic agenda."

IRAQI UNREST (Reuter) -- The State Department said the government of President Saddam was using the Republican Guard and other loyal forces to try to quell unrest that may have spread to as many as nine Iraqi cities. "The Iraqi government has been employing Republican Guard, regular army, people's militia, who are also known as the Popular Army, and police units, in efforts to suppress this activity," spokeswoman Tutwiler said. She said government control may have been restored in "a few" of the areas where unrest had been reported, but gave no details.

GULF PEACEKEEPING FORCE/EGYPT (Damascus/Reuter) -- Egypt called for the formation of an Arab peacekeeping force to fill the gap left by the eventual withdrawal of allied troops from the gulf. "The troops of Egypt and Syria now present in the gulf can be the nucleus for an Arab peacekeeping force after the withdrawal of the foreign forces from the gulf," Egyptian Foreign Minister Abdel-Meguid said.

AID TO SOVIETS/EC (Brussels/Reuter) -- The EC formally approved $1 billion in food grants and credit guarantees for the Soviet Union. The EC foreign ministers welcomed the fact that Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia had been able to vote overwhelmingly in favor of independence without pressure from Moscow.

SOVIET MINERS STRIKE (Moscow/Reuter) -- Soviet coal miners, demanding better pay and conditions and the resignation of President Gorbachev, intensified a strike which threatens to cripple the country's industries. Workers at five mines in the Siberian Kuzbass field, the largest in the Soviet Union, walked out indefinitely following a 24-hour political strike Monday in which 27 pits took part, a union official said.

BEER PROMOTION/NOVELLO (Reuter) -- Surgeon General Novello launched a campaign against beer drinking by college students, asking beer makers to refrain from promoting their products during the coming college spring break season. She said she already had received a favorable response to her campaign from the beer industry. "I implore you, it's time to put on the brakes -- use restraint, use common sense and please find better, more creative ways to have fun," she said at a news conference, asking students to refrain from abusing alcohol.

11:30 A.M. NEWS UPDATE

ALLIED POWs (Manama/AP) -- Iraq turned over to the Red Cross what it called the last allied POWs: 35 prisoners to be exchanged for the first of more than 60,000 captured Iraqis. Freed were 15 Americans, nine Britons, nine Saudis, one Kuwaiti and one Italian, Red Cross spokesman Peter Fluege said in Geneva. However, bad weather and poor visibility delayed what was to have been a mid-afternoon exchange.

IRAQI UNREST (Headline News) -- An Iraqi opposition group says the growing political unrest is moving closer to Baghdad. A Shiite spokesman says anti-government demonstrators stormed a prison near the capital and released a large number of political prisoners. Shiite activists claim they have captured Basra and five other towns; those reports are unconfirmed. To the north, the opposition is led by Kurdish rebels, who claim to have taken over four towns, including the capital of the autonomous region of Kurdistan.

IRAQI OPPOSITION/ELECTIONS (Madrid/Reuter) -- Iraqi opposition leader Mohammed Baker al-Hakim said in an interview that he wanted free elections in Iraq after ousting President Saddam, and believed Iraqis would elect a Moslem government.

MISSING WESTERN JOURNALISTS (Dhahran/AP) -- Twenty-six journalists from American, British, French and Italian news organizations have disappeared while traveling in southern Iraq, authorities said. The U.S. Central Command said without elaborating that 11 American, British and Italian reporters were "believed to be in serious danger." In Paris, the French Foreign Ministry said 15 French journalists have been missing in southern Iraq for three days.

(Reuter) -- Nine journalists are missing in the gulf after striking out on their own to report on hostilities, the Defense Department said. "Nine journalists are unaccounted for," said Navy Lt. Cmdr. Kenneth Satterfield, a Pentagon spokesman. "We received information from news bureaus that they cannot account for their own people and we are looking into it."

MAJOR MEETING (London/UPI) -- President Bush and Prime Minister Major will meet in Bermuda March 16 to discuss post-war scenarios in the gulf, a 10 Downing Street spokesman said. The one-day meeting was scheduled "to bring them up to date on a whole variety of matters," the spokesman said. "Of course, the gulf will loom large."

PALESTINIANS IN KUWAIT/AMNESTY INT. (London/Reuter) -- Amnesty International appealed for protection of Palestinians and others in Kuwait "at risk of reprisal killings." It said it had reports of scores of arrests of Palestinians, Sudanese and Egyptians suspected of having cooperated with Iraqi occupying forces. Some Iraqis were also held, it added.

WAR FUNDS/JAPAN (Tokyo/Reuter) -- Japan's upper house approved a $9 billion contribution to the U.S.-led gulf force. Japan is expected to deliver the funds by late March to the Gulf Cooperation Fund.

THAI JUNTA/U.S. (Bangkok/Reuter) -- Thailand's army junta won a round of applause from its most vocal critic, the U.S., and confirmed it had frozen the assets of ousted premier Chatichai Choonhavan ahead of an investigation into alleged corruption. Interim prime minister Anand Panyarachun, appointed by generals who toppled his predecessor in last month's bloodless coup, promised a new cabinet within days and said Chatichai would be released soon after. U.S. Ambassador Daniel O'Donohue said in a meeting that U.S. aid automatically suspended after the takeover would resume after an elected government was formed. "I called to note that we did see the appointment of the prime minister and the creation of a civilian cabinet as an important first step on the return to an elected civilian government," he told reporters after the meeting.

RESERVISTS' JOBS/MARTIN (UPI) -- Secretary Martin said reservists returning to the U.S. from the gulf war can reapply for the jobs they left behind with the force of the Labor Department behind them. Martin said more than 220,000 reservists will be returning to the U.S. from the gulf war and "when they come home, they will be protected, their jobs will be protected." Martin, appearing on ABC's "Good Morning America" and CBS's "This Morning," said the Veterans Re-employment Rights Act will be enforced to protect returning service personnel.

FACTORY ORDERS (Reuter) -- Orders received by U.S. factories fell 1.7 percent in January, the Commerce Department said, the third straight drop in orders, reflecting weaker demand for a wide variety of goods.

POOL REPORT ON BUSH MEETING WITH SPANISH FOREIGN MINISTER FERNANDEZ-ORDONEZ:

When we walked into Oval Office, Bush was mumbling to his visitor⁹, "... important to us; total cooperation; ^{I'm} very grateful to you and the prime minister and to his majesty ~~the~~ the King."

Bush added: "Spain was solid as a rock. I'm very, very pleased about that."
The foreign minister said the prime minister was making statement in Parliament.
It sounded like the topic was the cohesion of the alliance. ~~But~~ But his remarks weren't clear.

Bush asked whether public opinion was with the government in this.

"The great majority, yes," the foreign minister replied. "We have 90 percent support in Parliament with the government on this. This is very high."

"This is very wonderful," Bush said.

The president, however, told reporters he would not take any questions:

TEXT OF REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT
AT ATTORNEY GENERAL'S SUMMIT ON LAW ENFORCEMENT RESPONSES TO VIOLENT CRIME

Sheraton Ballroom
Sheraton Washington Hotel
Washington, DC

March 5, 1991

You represent one of the most powerful peacetime forces known to Man. And that's why you've been invited to this unprecedented council of war -- to share ideas and successes -- and to help frame the battle plan for the fight against violent crime and drugs for the next decade and beyond. I'm here because I wanted you to know how strongly I feel about reducing violent crime in America, and how firmly we support your efforts to fight crime and to give back our streets to America's families.

And against this backdrop, I know there's something else on everyone's mind. Because soon, your hometowns across America will welcome home the finest fighting force ever assembled -- the courageous men and women of the United States military.

For seven long months America watched with a lump in our throat and a prayer on our lips. And now in Kuwait the fires of destruction are beginning to dim, eclipsed by the brilliant flame of freedom.

The coalition victory in the Gulf is a testament to American leadership and skill, and to our Nation's unparalleled ability to respond swiftly and successfully to a clearly stated challenge. We had a challenge, we set a goal, and we achieved it.

These American heroes risked their lives so that America's kids could realize a dream: A world free from aggression and fear; a world filled with opportunity; a world whose only limits are in the reaches of the imagination.

And I told our troops the other day that, like the coming promise of Spring, their magnificent victory in the Gulf had brought a renewed sense of pride and confidence here at home.

Our confidence in America's future is the foundation for the opportunity package we unveiled last week. It calls for improved opportunity through education, jobs, home ownership, and programs aimed at keeping families healthy and together. And it calls for safe schools, neighborhoods, and homes. Because now that the shooting has stopped overseas, we've got to redouble our efforts to silence the guns here at home. That's why you're here. That is why I singled out this summit in my State of the Union Address. Because here at home, you are America's front-line troops. And here at home, the triumph of freedom must mean freedom from fear.

Today the fear of crime strikes too many American families. Parents fear for their kids in school, and on the way home. They fear for their teenagers and the lessons they may learn in the streets. And they fear for their own parents, for whom a simple trip to the grocery may become an exercise in terror.

Perhaps you saw the report that, during the first three days of the ground offensive, more Americans were killed in some American cities than at the entire Kuwaiti Front. Think of it, one of our brave National Guardsmen may have actually been safer in the midst of the largest armored offensive in history than he would have been on the streets of his own hometown. It's outrageous, it's wrong, and it's going to change.

The temptation is strong to use the words of a victorious war to send you back to your daily challenge. But wars serve us best when we learn from them, not glorify them. And among the lessons is that, in furtherance of a widely accepted moral value, collective action succeeds. This is a simple but powerful message that applies to this summit today. A second great message is that numbers alone are not determinative. More than simply sheer numbers, our victory was based on creativity, strategic thinking, and the skilled execution of a bold plan.

And you'll forgive an old Navy man if my message to you today is drawn from the lessons of America's great World War II Admiral William F. "Bull" Halsey. "Carry the battle to the enemy!" he said. "Lay your ship alongside his!" And on the eve of the battle of Santa Cruz, in which his ships were outnumbered more than two to one, Halsey sent his task force commanders a three-word dispatch. He said: "Attack -- Repeat -- Attack."

They did attack -- heroically -- and when the battle was done, the enemy had turned away.

Just look at what we've done in the Gulf -- our pilots, our missile-men, the impressive logistics and diplomatic operations. America is a "can-do" nation. And today at home, we must seize the day. The kind of moral force and national will that freed Kuwait City from abuse can free America's cities from crime.

As in the Gulf, our goal is to strengthen and preserve the Rule of Law. As in the Gulf, we need creative and strategic thinking to free our cities from crime. And as in the Gulf, this means assembling an unprecedented coalition. We've got to cooperate on a level never before seen. Federal, State, and local prosecutors. Federal, State, and local police. Governors, Mayors, and the new corps of neighborhood peacekeepers -- the community leaders who have stood up to violence and despair.

Our Administration is committed to doing its part. I know Dick Thornburgh spoke with you about this yesterday. Under his leadership, we've taken the lead in fighting organized crime, drug trafficking, and the deadly tide of violence that follows in their wake. We've made record increases in Federal prosecutors and agents. By 1992, we will be well on our way to more than doubling our Federal prison space, allowing us to use tough Federal laws to put violent offenders behind bars to stay. Asset forfeiture laws allow us to take the ill-gotten gains of drug kingpins and use them to put more cops on the streets and more prosecutors in court. In the last five years alone, the Justice Department shared over half a billion dollars in forfeited assets with State and local law enforcement.

We understand that fighting violent crime is first and foremost a State, local and community responsibility. That is why, since coming to office, we have increased the amount of funding through the Edward Byrne Memorial Fund for State and local law enforcement by 220 percent. We are foursquare behind the police and people like those in this room who make sacrifices every day to protect our citizens, and to ensure that those who scorn justice are brought to justice.

Just look at the All-American heroes here today. People like L.A. Police Chief Daryl Gates, who stood with me on Foster Webster's front porch in Oakwood last May, looking out over a neighborhood where they reclaimed their streets, their kids, their future. Or South Carolina's Dean Kilpatrick, who we honored in the Rose Garden in April, and who's here to help build an America where every victim of every crime is treated with the dignity and compassion they deserve. And Al Brooks, who in Kansas City a year ago showed me their four-word warning to the cowards of the night: "This neighborhood fights back."

I mentioned the Byrne Memorial Fund. And, by the way I still keep this policeman's badge in my Oval Office desk. Shield #14072 belonged to Patrolman Eddie Byrne. He died on the frontline, gunned down by cocaine cowards. I'll never forget -- never ever.

Two years ago, on a somber, rainy, springtime afternoon, I stood before the U.S. Capitol to commemorate police officers slain in the line of duty. Many of you were there. And to honor their sacrifice, I called upon Congress to join me in launching a new strategy -- a new partnership with America's cities and States -- to "take back the streets."

Congress deserves our thanks for giving us the new prosecutors and agents we requested. But it's not enough. We also need to back up these new troops with new laws, and give them the tools they need to finish the job and secure the peace. America needs a crime bill that's tough on criminals, not on law enforcement.

Too many times, in too many cases, too many criminals go free because the scales of justice are unfairly loaded against dedicated lawmen and women like you. But even after a year and a half, and despite the urgency of the problem, Congress never did act on our proposals. And that's why we're here again to work with you, to develop new proposals, to try to steady the scales of justice, to seek a fair balance between the legitimate rights of suspects, and society's right to protect itself.

We need a crime bill that will stop the endless, frivolous appeals that clog our habeas corpus system; one that guarantees that criminals who use serious weapons face serious time; and one that ensures that evidence gathered by good cops acting in good faith isn't barred by technicalities that let bad people go free. And for the most heinous of crimes, we need a workable death penalty, which is to say, a real death penalty.

We need your ideas in putting together our new crime package. And we'll need your help in getting it through Congress. But I promise you this: We're not giving up on this crime bill. We're not going to let it get watered down. And we're not going to put our crime fighters in harm's way without backing them to the hilt.

And there's another important message I would ask you to bring home to your cities and States: Your troops in State and local law enforcement need the same tools we've proposed for the Feds -- mandatory time for weapons offenders; no plea bargaining on guns; the death penalty for heinous crimes; and, the kind of increased resources -- in police, prosecutors, and prisons -- that ensure these vicious thugs will be caught, prosecuted and swiftly punished. Because public safety is not just another line item in a city or State budget -- it is the first duty of any government.

Yes, there remain vital tests ahead, both here and abroad. But nothing the American people can't handle. So we're going to roll up our sleeves, raise up the flag, and stand up for the decent men, women and children of this great country -- block-by-block, day-by-day, school-by-school. For your kids, for mine, for America's kids: Take back the streets, and liberate our neighborhoods from the tyranny of fear.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT
DURING PHOTO OPPORTUNITY
WITH SPANISH FOREIGN MINISTER FERNANDEZ-ORDONEZ

The Oval Office

1:20 P.M. EST

THE PRESIDENT: May I just repeat for our friends from Spain what I said earlier to the first wave, and that is that we on the United States' side are very grateful for the cooperation that we've had with Spain regarding the Gulf crisis. And they've been steadfast, solid as a rock, and I am indebted, as I explained to the Foreign Minister, to him and to the Prime Minister and to His Majesty, for understanding and support. And Spain was there and they were very strong, and I am very grateful. And I know the Secretary feels the same way.

So we're glad to have you here. Glad to see you.

FOREIGN MINISTER FERNANDEZ-ORDONEZ: Thank you.

THE PRESIDENT: The statement today -- was this a regular meeting of Parliament at home?

FOREIGN MINISTER FERNANDEZ-ORDONEZ: No, no, this was a special meeting.

THE PRESIDENT: Special meeting.

FOREIGN MINISTER FERNANDEZ-ORDONEZ: For the end of the Gulf war. It was a debate. We have the support of 90 percent of the Parliament. And he made the statement saying that we would continue providing the good support that we have made from there.

THE PRESIDENT: Well, we got it.

FOREIGN MINISTER FERNANDEZ-ORDONEZ: -- is very good.

THE PRESIDENT: That is very important. And I might also add, I think the cooperation we've had in matters regarding this hemisphere -- of course, the respect that Spain has and that your Prime Minister has in Central America and South America is legion. Everybody knows that. But it's -- we've got to continue to work together.

We've been so busy with the Gulf that I just don't -- have told our side that we don't want to neglect our own hemisphere. And Spain can be a tremendous catalyst for peace and democracy there, where you have already started to be. And every time I go down there, people speak so highly of the Prime Minister and your efforts. I wanted to mention that here, that we want to stay together as much as we possibly can on matters related to this hemisphere.

I'm optimistic about it, although there are some tough economic problems in there right now.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT
AT THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S CRIME SUMMIT

Sheraton Washington Hotel
Washington, DC

2:18 P.M. EST

THE PRESIDENT: Thank you. I will say what I said at the State of the Union. I take that warm response as a vote of thanks to our fine young men and women who served this country with such distinction in the Gulf. What a job they did. And I think everybody was saying that. (Applause.)

Let me greet you, Mr. Attorney General, and thank you for the introduction and the invitation to be here. I want to salute the U.S. Attorneys, the State A.G.s, the judges, the local D.A.s, the sheriffs, police, state and local officials and then also, most especially, the community leaders from across America. It is an honor to welcome you to Washington. You represent one of the most powerful peacetime forces known to man. And that's why you've been invited to this unprecedented council of war -- to share ideas and successes -- and to help frame the battle plan for the fight against violent crime and drugs for the next decade and beyond.

Dick was in a minute ago, briefing me on this conference that ends this afternoon, telling me with great pride the accomplishments and the enthusiasm that have been brought together here. More than simply sheer numbers, our victory was based on creativity, strategic thinking, and the skilled execution of a bold plan.

And you'll forgive an old Navy man if my message to you today is drawn from the lessons of America's great World War II Admiral, William F. "Bull" Halsey. "Carry the battle to the enemy," he said. "Lay your ship alongside his." And on the eve of the battle of Santa Cruz, in which his ships were outnumbered more than two to one, Halsey sent his task force commanders a three-word dispatch. "Attack -- repeat -- attack." And they did attack, heroically, and when the battle was done, the enemy had turned away.

Just look at what we've done in the Gulf -- pilots, our missile men, the impressive logistics and diplomatic operations. America is a "can-do" nation. And today at home, we must seize the day. The kind of moral force and national will that freed Kuwait City from abuse can free America's cities from crime. (Applause.) As in the Gulf, our goal is to strengthen and preserve the rule of law. As in the Gulf, we need creative and strategic thinking to free our cities from crime. And as in the Gulf, this means assembling an unprecedented coalition. We've got to cooperate -- really cooperate -- on a level never before seen. Federal, state, and local prosecutors, federal, state, and local police, governors, mayors, and the new corps of neighborhood peacekeepers -- the community leaders who have stood up to violence and despair.

Our administration is committed to doing its part. I know Dick Thornburgh, our very able Attorney General, spoke with you about this yesterday. Under his leadership, we've taken the lead in fighting organized crime, drug trafficking, and the deadly tide of violence that follows in their wake. We've made record increases in federal prosecutors and agents. By 1992, we will be well on our way to more than doubling our federal prison space, allowing us to use tough federal laws to put violent offenders behind bars to stay. Asset forfeiture laws allow us to take the ill-gotten gains of drug kingpins and use them to put more cops on the streets and more prosecutors in court. In the last five years alone, the Justice Department shared over half a billion dollars in forfeited assets with state and local law enforcement.

We understand that fighting violent crime is first and foremost a state, local and community responsibility. And that's why, since coming to this office, we have increased the amount of funding through the Edward Byrne Memorial Fund for state and local law enforcement by 220 percent. We are foursquare behind the police and people like those in this room who make sacrifices every day to protect our citizens, and to assure that those who scorn justice are brought to justice.

Just look at the all-American heroes here today. There's always the risk when you single them out in a room like this, but people like L.A. police chief Daryl Gates, who stood with me on Foster Webster's front porch in Oakwood last May, looking out over a neighborhood where they reclaimed their streets, their kids, their future. Or South Carolina's Dean Kilpatrick, who we honored in the Rose Garden in April, and who's here to help build an America where every victim of every crime is treated with the dignity and the compassion they deserve. (Applause.) And Al Brooks, who in Kansas City a year ago showed me their four-word warning to the cowards of the night: "This neighborhood fights back."

I mentioned the Byrne Memorial Fund. And by the way, I still keep this policeman's badge in my Oval Office desk. It's there night and day. Shield 14072 belonged to patrolman Eddie Byrne. And he died on the front line -- gunned down by cocaine cowards. I'll never forget -- never, ever. And each one of you have an example that means something -- of a friend lost or a comrade who's been killed by these cocaine cowards.

Two years ago, on a somber, rainy, springtime afternoon, I stood before the U.S. Capitol to commemorate police officers slain in the line of duty. Many of you in this audience were there that day. And to honor their sacrifice, I called upon the Congress to join me in launching a new strategy -- a new partnership with America's cities and states to "take back the streets."

Congress deserves our thanks for giving us the new prosecutors and agents we requested. But it's not enough. We also need to back up these new troops with new laws -- and give them the tools they need to finish the job and secure the peace. America needs a crime bill that's tough on criminals -- not on law enforcement. (Applause.)

Too many times, in too many cases, too many criminals go free because the scales of justice are unfairly loaded against dedicated lawmen and women like you. But even after a year and a half, and despite the urgency of the problem, Congress never did act on our proposals. And that's why we're here again to work with you -- to develop new proposals, to try to steady the scales of justice, to seek a fair balance between the legitimate rights of suspects, and society's right to protect itself.

We need a crime bill that will stop the endless, frivolous appeals that clog our habeas corpus system. One that guarantees -- (applause) -- one that guarantees that criminals who use serious weapons face serious time, and one that ensures that evidence gathered by good cops acting in good faith is not barred by technicalities that let bad people go free. (Applause.) And for the most heinous of crimes, we need a workable death penalty -- which is to say -- a real death penalty. (Applause.)

As Dick has told you, we need your ideas in putting together our new crime package. And we'll need your help in getting it through Congress. But I promise you this: We're not giving up on this crime bill. We're not going to let it get watered down. And we're not going to put our crime fighters in harm's way without backing them to the hilt. (Applause.)

And there's another important message I would ask you to bring home to your cities and states: Your troops in state and local law enforcement need the same tools that we've proposed for the feds

-- mandatory time for weapons offenders; no plea bargaining on guns; the death penalty for heinous crimes; and the kind of increased resources -- in police, prosecutors, and prisons -- that ensure these vicious thugs will be caught, prosecuted and swiftly punished. (Applause.) Because public safety is not just another line item in a city or state budget -- it is the first duty of any government.

Yes, there remain vital tests ahead, both here and abroad. But nothing the American people can't handle. So we're going to roll up our sleeves, raise up the flag, and stand up for the decent men, women and children of this great country -- block by block, day by day. school by school -- for your kids, for mine, for America's kids. Take back the streets and liberate our neighborhoods from the tyranny of fear. That is our objective and we will succeed. (Applause.)

Thank you all for coming. I really wanted to thank you all for coming and for all you do to protect the people of this great nation. Thank you all, and may God bless the United States. Thank you very much.

POOL REPORT ON BUSH PEP TALK FOR TRADE LEGISLATION:

This was a pep rally in L50 to drum up support for administration's fast-track approach to ~~legislation~~ continued U.S. participation in Uruguay Round and North American free trade area (with Mexico and Canada) negotiations.

Press office will provide transcript of Bush remarks. (Nothing n self).

Also on hand were U.S Trade Rep Carla Hills, Commerce Sec. Mosbacher and Michael Boskin, chmn of the Council of Econ. Advisers.

The audience included reps of biz and trade groups supporting Bush on this issue.

Before the president arrived, McClure said White House still has "tremendous educating job" to do with Congress to ward off disapproval resolution. He called the legislative outlook "bleak," but added that in the past, administration has managed to "wrest blood from the turnip" and expects to do same in this instance. McClure promised a big lobbying push -- a "full multi-jurisdictional effort" by White House and all affected agencies.

Hills told the group that Rep. Dorgan has begun circulating disapproval resolution on behalf of farm interests. At issue, she said, is administration ability to continue negotiating trade deals and expand trade. In the Uruguay Round, U.S. wants good agreement; so doesn't want to set arbitrary deadline, she said. Hills stressed that 15 main negotiating areas in Uruguay Round are tightly "linked." So there's got to be overall deal, or ~~nothing~~ nothing.

Bush drew lots of applause when he walked in. Flubbed one of his opening lines when he said exports are one of the things that will "lead us out of the recovery."

11:30 A.M. NEWS UPDATE

ALLIED POWs (Manama/AP) -- Iraq turned over to the Red Cross what it called the last allied POWs: 35 prisoners to be exchanged for the first of more than 60,000 captured Iraqis. Freed were 15 Americans, nine Britons, nine Saudis, one Kuwaiti and one Italian, Red Cross spokesman Peter Fluege said in Geneva. However, bad weather and poor visibility delayed what was to have been a mid-afternoon exchange.

IRAQI UNREST (Headline News) -- An Iraqi opposition group says the growing political unrest is moving closer to Baghdad. A Shiite spokesman says anti-government demonstrators stormed a prison near the capital and released a large number of political prisoners. Shiite activists claim they have captured Basra and five other towns; those reports are unconfirmed. To the north, the opposition is led by Kurdish rebels, who claim to have taken over four towns, including the capital of the autonomous region of Kurdistan.

IRAQI OPPOSITION/ELECTIONS (Madrid/Reuter) -- Iraqi opposition leader Mohammed Baker al-Hakim said in an interview that he wanted free elections in Iraq after ousting President Saddam, and believed Iraqis would elect a Moslem government.

MISSING WESTERN JOURNALISTS (Dhahran/AP) -- Twenty-six journalists from American, British, French and Italian news organizations have disappeared while traveling in southern Iraq, authorities said. The U.S. Central Command said without elaborating that 11 American, British and Italian reporters were "believed to be in serious danger." In Paris, the French Foreign Ministry said 15 French journalists have been missing in southern Iraq for three days.

(Reuter) -- Nine journalists are missing in the gulf after striking out on their own to report on hostilities, the Defense Department said. "Nine journalists are unaccounted for," said Navy Lt. Cmdr. Kenneth Satterfield, a Pentagon spokesman. "We received information from news bureaus that they cannot account for their own people and we are looking into it."

MAJOR MEETING (London/UPI) -- President Bush and Prime Minister Major will meet in Bermuda March 16 to discuss post-war scenarios in the gulf, a 10 Downing Street spokesman said. The one-day meeting was scheduled "to bring them up to date on a whole variety of matters," the spokesman said. "Of course, the gulf will loom large."

PALESTINIANS IN KUWAIT/AMNESTY INT. (London/Reuter) -- Amnesty International appealed for protection of Palestinians and others in Kuwait "at risk of reprisal killings." It said it had reports of scores of arrests of Palestinians, Sudanese and Egyptians suspected of having cooperated with Iraqi occupying forces. Some Iraqis were also held, it added.

WAR FUNDS/JAPAN (Tokyo/Reuter) -- Japan's upper house approved a $9 billion contribution to the U.S.-led gulf force. Japan is expected to deliver the funds by late March to the Gulf Cooperation Fund.

THAI JUNTA/U.S. (Bangkok/Reuter) -- Thailand's army junta won a round of applause from its most vocal critic, the U.S., and confirmed it had frozen the assets of ousted premier Chatichai Choonhavan ahead of an investigation into alleged corruption. Interim prime minister Anand Panyarachun, appointed by generals who toppled his predecessor in last month's bloodless coup, promised a new cabinet within days and said Chatichai would be released soon after. U.S. Ambassador Daniel O'Donohue said in a meeting that U.S. aid automatically suspended after the takeover would resume after an elected government was formed. "I called to note that we did see the appointment of the prime minister and the creation of a civilian cabinet as an important first step on the return to an elected civilian government," he told reporters after the meeting.

RESERVISTS' JOBS/MARTIN (UPI) -- Secretary Martin said reservists returning to the U.S. from the gulf war can reapply for the jobs they left behind with the force of the Labor Department behind them. Martin said more than 220,000 reservists will be returning to the U.S. from the gulf war and "when they come home, they will be protected, their jobs will be protected." Martin, appearing on ABC's "Good Morning America" and CBS's "This Morning," said the Veterans Re-employment Rights Act will be enforced to protect returning service personnel.

FACTORY ORDERS (Reuter) -- Orders received by U.S. factories fell 1.7 percent in January, the Commerce Department said, the third straight drop in orders, reflecting weaker demand for a wide variety of goods.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

March 5, 1991

Dear Chris,

Just a quick note of thanks for your thoughtful note. Of course I'm very pleased that the ground war ended in 100 hours, and that there were far fewer casualties than had been widely predicted. I'm also very proud of our troops, our coalition partners and our whole team.

Thanks again for your message of support and friendship. I am very grateful.

Barbara sends warm regards, too.

Sincerely,
