CAMP DAVID DECLARATION

BY

PRESIDENT BUSH AND PRESIDENT YELTSIN

February 1, 1992

At the conclusion of this historic meeting between an American President and the President of a new and democratic Russia, we -- the leaders of two great peoples and nations -- are agreed that a number of principles should guide relations between Russia and America:

First, that the relationship between the United States and the Russian Federation will be characterized by friendship and partnership, founded on mutual trust and respect and a common commitment to democracy and economic freedom.

Second, that we will work to remove any remnants of Cold War hostility, including taking steps to reduce our strategic arsenals.

Third, that we will do all we can to promote the mutual well-being of our peoples and to expand as widely as possible the ties that now bind our peoples. Openness and tolerance should be the hallmark of relations between our peoples and governments.

Fourth, that we will actively promote free trade, investment, and economic cooperation between our two countries.

Fifth, that we will make every effort to support the promotion of our shared values of democracy; the rule of law; respect for human rights, including minority rights; respect for borders; and peaceful change around the globe.

Sixth, that we will work actively together to:

- prevent the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and associated technologies and curb the spread of advanced conventional arms on the basis of principles to be agreed upon.
- settle regional conflicts peacefully; and
- counter terrorism, halt drug trafficking, and forestall environmental degradation.

In adopting these principles, the United States and Russia today launch a new era in our relations. In this new era, we seek a peace, an enduring peace that rests on lasting common values. This can be an era of peace and friendship that offers hope not only to our peoples, but to the peoples of the world. For while our conflict helped divide the world for a generation, now, working with others and with each other, we can help unite the globe through our friendship -- a new alliance of partners working against the common dangers we face.

Re sent Kohl a call

February 1, 1992

Brent:

Kohl wants to come to Camp David at end of month. His proposed dates:

Arrive Friday Night Feb. 28th

Leave Sunday Evening March 1st

He wants to bring Walter (I said O.K.)

I told him we'd get back to him Monday.
Glancing at the block we had planned to be in Texas. He says this is only time he can do it.

Please discuss.

We could plead that had to be in Texas Friday Night- but meet him Saturday at C. David....
I need more scheduling info.

Just checked with Kathy:

Friday Nite- (2-28) was to have been Houston Rodeo dinner, next day was to have been AGC convention. Both good events.)

All weekend in March free except for 7th.

28th is gridiron dinner- I'd love to miss that.

CAMP DAVID

February 1, 1992

Dear Stan,

I saw in today's paper
that you had decided not to run again. Certainly everyone who knows you and respects you understands this call. All I want to say though is its Montana's loss, our Country's, too.

I expect I'll see you at the Governor's meeting, but, in any event, I wanted to pass on my respects and my warmest best wishes. Take care of yourself.

Your Friend,

Bill Clinton
