Life in the pampered lane. Washington's perks are under new attack.

Shattered lives. Communism has left the former U.S.S.R. a toxic wasteland.

Tournament of champions. The NCAA is charged with policing college sports, but just how well does it do its job?

Stroke sign? A bulging artery (red) endangers the brain.

CONGRESS: HOGS ON THE HILL

BY BRIAN KELLY

Newsweek

SEX & PSYCHOTHERAPY

Doctors Sleeping
With Patients—
A Growing Crisis
of Ethical Abuse

Coco.

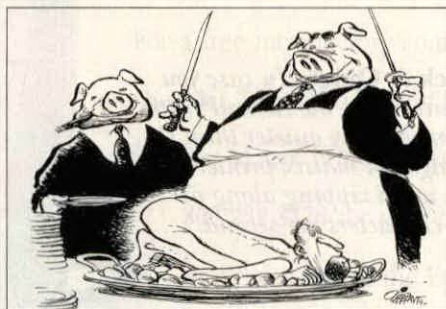

Psychologist Gary Schoener has studied 2,000 cases of patient-therapist sex

■ Sex and Psychotherapy: A Current Affair

The Hippocratic oath forbids it, yet sex between therapists and their patients is all too common, both on the couch and in popular films. Last week a shocking case in Boston involving a Harvard medical student and his psychiatrist focused new attention on the issue, and placed increasing pressure on the profession to police itself more vigilantly. Society: Page 52

■ The Politics of Pork

Washington is awash with the rhetoric of reform as politicians try to distance themselves from the crisis on the Hill. But in excerpts from his new book, Brian Kelly describes a scandal worse than perks: pork. The fatty projects, he says, cost the taxpayer $97 billion in the 1992 budget alone. National Affairs: Page 22

Arata Isozaki's Team Disneycenter in Florida

■ Disney With a French Twist

On April 12, the $4.4 billion theme park Euro Disney opens 20 miles from Paris, combining the greatest hits of Disney's American parks with six hotels designed by top international architects. All this Americana upsets some natives, but 11 million people are expected to visit in the first year alone. The Arts: Page 64
