THE PRESIDENT

September 30, 1992

Dear David,

I just got back from visiting seven cities in two days and found your nice fax waiting for me. It's been a crazy few months -- on the road almost nonstop -- but I'm feeling confident about November.

Thanks for your "off camera greetings." With all the politicking going on right now, I'm grateful to have friends like you and Carina. Hope to see you "on" or "off" camera in October.

Barbara sends her love, too. With warm regards,

Sincerely

DAVID FROST

Dear Mr President —

This is just a note to thank you for your warm words last week via the ever-thoughtful Rose, which I greatly appreciated.

I shall be back in Washington in the second half of October, when I am of course keeping my fingers crossed that we will be able to do that half-hour pre-Election interview, just as we did with such success in 1988.

(I have been involved with

2.

DAVID FROST

Marlin about that as you suggested.)

However the main purpose of this letter was to send off-camera thanks, off-camera greetings, and off-camera love to yourself and Barbara from Lavinia and all the Frosts.

Yours ever

David

TO: THE TV, MEDIA SERVICES AND INTERESTED INDIVIDUALS
SUBJECT: THE DRUG PROBLEM
FROM: AN INTERESTED BUSINESSMAN IN YOUR COMMUNITY
DATE: AUGUST 20, 1990

"TO LEGALIZE OR NOT TO LEGALIZE".... THAT IS NOT THE QUESTION!!!

IT SEEMS THAT EVERYONE IS FOCUSING THEIR ATTENTION ON TREATING THE SYMPTOM...

YOU HEAR COMMENTS REFERRING TO EDUCATION....FAMILY INVOLVEMENT....AND TREATMENT OF ADDICTS....ALL OF WHICH IS GOOD AND NEEDED...

LAW ENFORCEMENT WILL TELL YOU THAT THE VAST MAJORITY OF CRIME IN AMERICA TODAY IS DRUG RELATED. OVER 75%.

PROFESSIONAL TREATMENT CENTERS WILL TELL YOU THAT THE RECOVERY RATE OF THE DRUG ADDICT IS VERY LOW....LONG TERM LESS THAN 10%...MANY WILL SAY IT IS CLOSER TO 3% WHO RECOVER LONG TERM. (BEYOND FIVE YEARS)

LAW ENFORCEMENT....AND THE "WAR" ON DRUGS AND TRYING TO STOP THE SUPPLY SIDE OF DRUGS....IS ALSO GOOD... BUT... IT WILL UNDOUBTEDLY SERVE TO INCREASE THE COSTS OF THE DRUGS.

AS THE COSTS OF DRUGS INCREASES....SO DOES THE AMOUNT OF CRIME..... THEFT...BURGLARY...HOME BREAK-INS...STOLEN CARS TV'S, VIDEO'S, ..AND PROSTITUTION THAT THE POOR ADDICT MUST DO TO SUPPORT HIS OR HER HABIT. NOT TO MENTION VIOLENT CRIME....MURDER, RAPE, AND ASSAULT!

WITH THE INEVITABLE INCREASE IN COST OF THESE DRUGS THE ADDICT WILL BE FORCED TO EITHER STEAL MORE, KILL MORE,..

OR TO SELL DRUGS TO NEW USERS TO SUPPORT THEIR HABIT!

AND IN ORDER TO SELL THEY MUST GIVE FREE SAMPLES TO YOUNG, UNSUSPECTING CHILDREN IN SCHOOL YARDS ACROSS THE LAND...OR GIVE TO THE YOUNG FUTURE HEIRS OF GREAT WEALTH..... OR, GIVE TO THE HIGH PROFILE ATHLETE OR ENTERTAINER..

THESE CHILDREN, ATHLETES, ENTERTAINERS....ETC. WILL THEN BECOME THE FUTURE CUSTOMERS OF THE ADDICT..... AND, SERVE TO SUPPORT THE ADDICT'S INCREASINGLY COSTLY HABIT.

THESE CHILDREN ETC. WILL THEN ADD TO THE AMOUNT OF FUTURE CRIME, THEFT, AND PROSTITUTION AND BECOME THE NEW YOUNG ADDICTS (PUSHERS) OF THE FUTURE.

(CREATED THROUGH THIS NEVER ENDING PROCESS)

"IT IS GOOD TO NOTE HERE THAT THE NEW YOUNG MALE AND FEMALE PROSTITUTES CREATED BY THIS PROCESS.....FREQUENTLY BECOME AIDS VICTIMS AND THESE PROSTITUTES WHO HAVE AIDS ARE COMPELLED TO CONTINUE TO SELL THEIR SERVICES TO SUPPORT THEIR HABIT".

A NEVER ENDING CHAIN OF EVENTS.

THIS CHAIN CAN AND MUST BE BROKEN!!!!

HOME OF RICOS PRODUCTS

FOOTNOTES TO DRUG (ADDICT) SOLUTION

Coupled with the plan there must be....

....DETAILED GUIDELINES GOVERNING:

1. The REGISTRATION of these users.
 - a. Perhaps tying these records to the Social Security Data Base in place at this time.
 - b. The CRITICAL CAREER FIELDS THAT SOME USERS MAY BE ENGAGED IN will require that these USERS voluntarily enter into rehabilitation programs (at the users expense)... or change their career....

This is a very detailed requirement... an essential part of this plans success....

- i. The Public Information Program must make it clear to the user that the alternatives are:
 - a. Register NOW!
 - b. Get Help... SAVE YOUR CAREER!!
 - c. or get caught later
 - d. and serve TIME
 - e. and LOSE your career.
 - f. ETC.....
2. The manner in which these controlled drugs can be used.
3. There must be accurate records maintained for each registrant in a national database so that unrealistic quantities of consumption can be identified and corrective measures can be taken.

PHARMACEUTICAL COMPANIES WITH SOLID REPUTATIONS OF PAST PERFORMANCE FOR BEING ABLE TO PRODUCE HIGH QUALITY DRUGS... AND, A HIGH DEGREE OF ACCURACY IN RECORD KEEPING, AND REPORTING ASSOCIATED WITH THE INVENTORY CONTROL OF MANUFACTURE AND DISTRIBUTION... WILL BE GIVEN THE OPPORTUNITY TO BID FOR THE GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS FOR THE MASS PRODUCTION OF THESE SUBSTANCES.

The ingredients in these drugs are inexpensive, and could be processed for a few dollars a pound.

No one would have a desire to compete with this manufacturing process because they would not have anyone to sell to....

Pharmacies would be similarly screened... and, only minimal costs for dispensing would be allowed and prescribed by the Federal Government.

The MONTHLY TAXPAYER COSTS of military intervention in Panama, and Columbia coupled with the vast sums spent on sophisticated law enforcement technology designed to "CATCH" the smuggler of these drugs from abroad... and, to "CATCH" the illegal manufacturer and distribution domestically MORE THAN PAYS FOR THE COST OF THE GOVERNMENT MANUFACTURED DRUGS FOR ONE YEAR.....

4. There must also be an extensive education campaign explaining that:
 - a. This is NOT LEGALIZATION of drugs but; THIS IS THE MOST EFFICIENT MEANS OF CONTROLLING THE USE OF THESE DRUGS. (Estimated to reduce present taxpayer expenses by as much as 70%).

SO, YOU CAN SEE THAT BY ONLY ADDRESSING THE SUPPLY, LAW ENFORCEMENT, PUNISHMENT, EDUCATION AND CURE ISSUES ...WHILE ALL BEING VERY WORTHY EXERCISES...

THEY FAIL TO ADDRESS THE MOST BASIC NEED...
TO STOP THE "DEMAND SIDE" OF THE EQUATION!!

STOP THE INCENTIVE TO SELL...

"REMOVE PROFIT FROM THE CHAIN"

STOP THE ILLUSION IN THE NON-USERS MIND THAT DRUGS ARE "IN"...

STOP THE NEED TO STEAL TO SUPPORT A HABIT...

STOP THE NEED TO EXPOSE YOUNG CHILDREN TO "DRUGS"...

(so as to have a customer for the addict to sell)

AND, as an added benefit, by stopping the demand you also REDUCE THE UNCONTROLLED SPREAD OF AIDS because there will be less male and female prostitution NECESSARY to support their habits.

THIS CHAIN OF EVENTS THAT PERPETUATES THE PROBLEM.....

CAN BE BROKEN WITH JUST 5 STEPS !!

1. HAVE ALL PEOPLE WHO ARE PRESENTLY USING DRUGS REGISTER AS A USER (ADDICT)..THIS LIST OF REGISTRANTS WILL BE GIVEN THE HIGHEST DEGREE OF CONFIDENTIALITY POSSIBLE.
(allow 6/9 months for this confidential registration to be accomplished)
(also, allow an additional 2/3 months for NON-FORGEABLE IDENTIFICATION CARDS, WITH PICTURES, TO BE CREATED FOR EACH REGISTRANT)
2. HAVE THE GOVERNMENT EXPAND THE CONTROLLED MANUFACTURER AND DISTRIBUTION OF THESE DRUGS. (CLEAN..NON-LETHAL)
3. HAVE THESE DRUGS DISTRIBUTED, *ABSOLUTELY FREE, TO THE REGISTERED USER...THROUGH THE CONTROLLED DISTRIBUTION CENTERS THAT EXIST TODAY...SUCH AS "PHARMACIES AND HOSPITALS" WITH A PROVEN HISTORY OF ACCURACY IN CONTROLLING INVENTORY OF PRESCRIPTION DRUGS. PHARMACIES WOULD CHARGE A MINIMAL PROCESSING FEE ($3.00/$5.00) AND, THE GOVERNMENT WOULD ONLY COVER THE COST OF MANUFACTURING OF THE DRUGS FROM THE PHARMACEUTICAL COMPANIES.
4. HAVE A NATIONWIDE, PUBLIC INFORMATION CAMPAIGN THAT INFORMS THE PUBLIC OF THIS SOLUTION.
5. AFTER THE REGISTRATION, SUPPLY AND DISTRIBUTION PROGRAM IS IN PLACE...ANY NON-REGISTERED PERSON FOUND TO BE IN POSSESSION OF THESE CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES WILL RECEIVE AN AUTOMATIC CONVICTION OF A CRIME...
AND BE PLACED IN PRISON FOR 90 DAYS...
SECOND OFFENSE 365 DAYS...
THIRD OFFENSE VIOLATORS WOULD BE GIVEN AN IDENTIFICATION CARD AS A REGISTERED USER AND BE PROVIDED DRUGS AT NO CHARGE AS OUTLINED ABOVE...

Respectfully submitted for your Consideration,

Frank G. Liberto, President

- b. THIS IS DESIGNED TO:
- i. STOP THE SPREAD OF DRUGS TO THE CURRENT NON-USER.
 - ii. HELP THE PRESENT USER REHABILITATE.
 - iii. STOP THE CRIME WAVE THAT SPREADS ACROSS OUR LAND THAT IS FUELED BY THE NEED FOR MONEY TO SUPPLY THIS UNCONTROLLED ADDICTION.
(THE HOME BURGLARIES, CAR THEFTS, THE MURDER, THE NEW WAVE OF HOSTILE "PAN HANDLING" AS EXPERIENCED IN SAN DIEGO.)
 - iv. STOP THE VIOLENT CRIMES ASSOCIATED WITH THE SALE AND DISTRIBUTION OF THESE DRUGS.
 - iv. STOP THE UNCONTROLLED MANUFACTURING OF THESE DRUGS (IN WASH TUBS, IN VARIOUS COUNTRIES, UNDER UNSANITARY CONDITIONS) THAT IN MANY CASES RESULTS IN OVERDOSE, BRAIN DAMAGE, AND DEATH.
 - v. There cannot be any advertising on the part of any hospital or pharmacy that dispenses these drugs through this program.
The only people who know would be those who are registered and,
 - vi. It's expected that some of these facilities would have maximum fees (perhaps by bid and have a history of accurate record keeping), ID verification, etc.

These and other appropriate measures will be necessary as I'm sure you have recognized. OTHERS MUST be added to this over-simplification.

I am sure you will agree that the results are well worth the effort to work out the details. To list but a few:

1. The children, and non-users listed above, would not be solicited in the glamorous manner that big money can provide the salesman with. Example: Large fancy limousines, fancy jewelry, and attractive girls would be removed from the dispensing environment of these pharmacies. In other words, children won't see the guy with the big car, the pretty girls, the big jewels and the flashy lifestyle telling them this is the route to go because these people will not find any profit motive in doing so. Furthermore, no need to support this extra large profit required.
2. And, last but not least, the greatest part of this entire plan is that all of our human resources in this great land of America can now be focused on the rehabilitation, cure and treatment of these victimized fellow citizens.

I can envision well funded programs sponsored and supported by Church Groups, professional sports, businessmen, cities, states, counties, volunteer groups, etc. that are designed to provide help toward the treatment, cure, rehabilitation and education of these victims.

THIS WOULD IMPROVE THE RECOVERY RATE SUBSTANTIALLY!!!!
You see there would be much less temptation presented to the rehabilitated... since no profit motive exists!

THE REHABILITATED USER WOULD BE ADMIRER FOR HIS RECOVERY AND, BE AN EXAMPLE TO THE REGISTERED USER; NOT A TARGETED NEW CUSTOMER!!!

The tremendous savings realized because of the reduction in crime, law enforcement, jails, theft,... etc... through the reduction in insurance costs, taxes, and personal loss of property will create a huge amount of money that now can be focused directly to the programs listed in the paragraph above.

1. The victimized drug addict will look at this as an answer to their dilemma. Currently their answer is not only one of being addicted; but also having to consume an illegal substance behind secret doors and in secret quarters. This "Closet Addiction" is the basis for the "DENIAL PROCESS" that professionals say must be broken if rehabilitation has any chance to work... this is the cause for the low long-term recovery rate rehab has now.

But, secondarily they are faced with the dilemma of entering a career of crime and illegal activities (including the sale of drugs to new users) to support their habit. So it's compounded.

And, third but not least, in order to pursue the above they must divorce themselves of the existing family units they have since in order to support their habit they must live in another culture that exists sometime after midnight and before sun up.

This is not conducive to rehabilitation and the environment certainly promotes further expansion of the disease..

2. As advocates, we will find a vast cross-section of citizens of our community in every walk of life across our great land.
3. Of course, you will find many interested public officials, clergy of all faiths, hospitals and universities that have devoted much time, effort and expertise toward the cure and rehabilitation of human diseases and devoted to changing of human behavior patterns.

Who should we expect to be the adversaries? Those who will protest this as being foolish.

The list will seem quite shocking, but; if one thinks about it, it will be easy to see why some of these people have a sub-conscious, indirect, vested interest in the profits that are generated from the sale of these illegal substances to our citizens.

1. The banks in America will find the large cash deposits dwindling and they will have to generate their growth patterns out of the profits they've earned through banking practices with their normal business clients.
2. Insurance Companies are not at all disappointed to pay out more than they take in this year so that they can raise their rates and take in double and triple the revenue in the years to come and in the immediate future. You see their profits will be derived as a percentage of their ever increasing gross revenues.
3. Certain segments of our legal community find it very rewarding to defend the ever growing number of clients with drug related problems. They may find a sub-conscious vested interest in the profits generated by this problem.
4. Think for a moment of how disappointed the automobile industry around the country will be when they realize that a certain percentage of their car sales are to replace the thousands that are stolen daily for the sole purpose of supporting the addicts habit.

Or how many sales of luxurious limousines and stretch body automobiles will now be disappearing because the huge profits will no longer be in the hands of these "PUSHERS" who are so impressed with that type of lifestyle and culture.

5. Likewise, those who manufacture, sell and distribute high cost appliances such as home videos, tv's, electronic gadgets, cameras, jewels, etc. will find a certain percentage of their market share dwindling because:
 - a. lack of need to replace thefts, and
 - b. the affluent group of big spenders "PUSHERS" who have tremendous amounts of discretionary income to spend on luxury (Big Ticket) items to make their culture more appealing to the suspecting non-user will now disappear into the atmosphere.
6. It's obvious that the drug lords will fight this very hard... they will fund and promote many reasons why this won't work.. Their job will be to confuse the issue... to support and create the belief that this "JUST WON'T WORK". Regrettably, these "DRUG LORDS" won't IDENTIFY THEMSELVES AS BEING "DRUG LORDS".

REMEMBER....

THEY HAVE OPERATED UNDERGROUND VERY SUCCESSFULLY!

THEIR JOB WILL BE TO CREATE
MASS CONFUSION
THAT RESULTS IN FURTHER POLARIZATION
AND A STATE OF

"PARALYSIS BY ANALYSIS!"

I could go on and on listing the few politicians who will raise their heads and say foul, because they have self-serving interests that help them build vast numbers of supporters and influence through payoffs in exchange for protection, preferred treatment and/or influence in delivering large numbers of votes at the next election.

These politicians must focus on the fact that there will be funds available due to the significant cost reductions outlined above, and they will be able to create and fund more programs that will draw volunteers and strong community support... and, these people can be fanned into a greater degree of service and feeling of self-esteem for serving their fellow man. In this process they become strong advocates and vote getters for the appropriate politicians to use at their next election.

If we think for a moment, a few police chiefs in this land are now concerned with increasing their budget so that they can have more squad cars, more policemen, more jails, more law enforcement tools at their disposal and, through the growth of their organization comes higher salaries for the administration of these new bodies.

This sub-conscious desire to see their career field grow may make them skeptical of thinking that they can get by on last year's budget.

I know they can't at first... but, the future years will allow them to do so with ease.

Not all in these career fields will be so affected. But, those who have a sub-conscious desire for gain and growth will certainly be skeptical of the plan that would eliminate the profit from this formula.

I could go on and on and list many other career fields but;
I'm sure that you have the gist now of how
THIS SOLUTION IS IN THE HANDS OF YOU AND ME, THE CITIZENS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA!!!

SPEAK OUT AND HELP YOUR NEIGHBOR REALIZE THAT THIS IS A COMPLEX PROBLEM AND ALL WORTHY CAUSES NOW BEING SUPPORTED MUST BE COORDINATED IN ORDER TO STOP THE NEVER ENDING GROWTH OF NEW DRUG USERS.

AND, THAT THE PROFITS FROM THE SALE OF DRUGS IS THE SELF PERPETUATING LINK IN THE EQUATION.....

IF WE DON'T STOP THE PROFITS...
WE CAN'T STOP THE YOUTH OF TOMORROW
FROM BECOMING ADDICTS OF THE FUTURE....

"TO LEGALIZE....

OR

NOT TO LEGALIZE."

THAT IS

N O T

T H E Q U E S T I O N . . .

The taxpayer costs associated with the lengthy legal system of trial by jury (Now, frustrated with "NO room in the Jails") only points out the fact that we have entered into a solution process that is destined to LOSE THE WAR ON DRUGS....

Per se, violations of the law that require speedy, efficient, conviction and prescribed punishments that are not subject to appeal, and plea bargaining will greatly reduce the taxpayer expenses..

Those so jailed could be confined in less than a maximum security facility.

The "DRUG LORD" and big time dealers who continue to perpetuate the old system should be tried and convicted under the present laws that have the right to confiscate property, and be prosecuted under the "RICO" statutes and be subjected to maximum penalties prescribed by law. This group will have an ever decreasing opportunity to regain their losses because the profit is removed from their efforts.

I think that it is clear to see that I've put a lot of heart and soul into this thinking. I certainly hope that it meets with the patience and time on your part to read same. I look forward to hearing back from you. I WELCOME any constructive comments you'd wish to share with me.

FGL:pjk

The addicts of today can start to restore their pride because they can join the ranks of gainful employment because it would no longer be necessary to find a way to get an additional $200/$1000 per week -- just to support their habit. Pride and self esteem is such a great combination of ingredients in one's personal well-being and feelings about one's self. A "job" helps create this feeling of self worth.

Programs such as the old WPA may be refined and resurfaced and this would further reduce the tax crunch cities across the land now face. These labor programs could easily speed up the restoration of public housing projects that are turning into jungles because they are now ruled by the drug lords.

The other side of the coin is that once victimized by an addiction, the person suffers a double stigma.

1. The addiction, and
2. then the unlawful life they must lead to support that addiction.

This equation by no means solves all of our problems. It requires a lot more work.... It requires that each group that has focused on one part of the problem broaden their viewpoints of the problem and see how interrelated all of these issues are... We must view the problem in it's entirety, and embrace the causes of one another's pet issues.

We must strive not to become a polarized society... Each group looking at their goal as the sole solution... the solution will only come when we see that each goal must be met... or, we will see our democracy die while its citizens work in an uncoordinated frenzy to solve their part of the problem.... THE PROBLEM MUST BE STOPPED AT ITS SOURCE. KILL THE PROFITS... LEGALIZATION WOULD NOT KILL PROFITS... THIS IS NOT LEGALIZATION.

I think that as we view this, we'll see that next year there won't be as large a "crop" of ten and eleven year olds that have been exposed to drugs. And, the following year there will be even fewer yet.

Within five years, we will have a fresh young group of citizens clean of drugs, fifteen years of age and younger.

And, in the year 2000 we will have a clean society... and, probably be challenged by another equally important problem....

BUT, WE WILL HAVE WON THE WAR ON DRUGS!!!

I am father, a family man, and a caring individual. In spite of all of the effort one's family, church and school exerts towards the proper training of their children; generally speaking all will agree that there is a certain time in adolescence when all youth must go through a stage that they feel that their parents have no idea what's going on.

During these vulnerable adolescent years, the existing solution leaves these people as sitting ducks, easy prey for the self-perpetuating system that exists in America today. It is easy to say that the problem begins at home but; it is harder to deny the natural law that all of us at one time or another felt like we know and knew better than our parents. Thus the old joke, "It's amazing how much my parents learned in the last two years", as stated by the maturing adolescent.

It's interesting to note at this point just who we should expect to be the strong advocate of this system.

Marlin (not on camera) came to the back of the plane to discuss the debates. He said that the Bush campaign is waiting to hear from the Clinton campaign, and that Teeter is willing to fly anywhere to meet with Kantor. "Their initial response is somewhat waffling and baffling" said Fitzwater. "I don't know why they want to hide behind the skirts of the commission.... It's the most straightforward offer you can get." When asked about the scheduling conflict with the World Series, Marlin said,

"So what? I can't help it if the world series is on during the election.

Millions and millions of people will be watching the debate. Mr. Clinton seems to be trying to come up with all of these peripheral arguments to get out of this debate. The most troublesome one is the commission. What kind of a president is it who can't make decisions for himself? How can he negotiate with foreign countries if he wants to refer everything to a commission?...To raise the world series is the phoniest of issues I've ever heard in my life. Another Clinton dodge....We've made a very straightforward offer. We've compromised, we've adopted the format Mr. Clinton wanted, and we've offered the people the most expensive debate opportunity they've ever had. ~~xx~~" Fitzwater said that the six debate package is ~~xx~~ historic in its ^{large} number of debates. "I don't understand why he (Clinton) won't accept. What's he afraid of? He won't even talk to us" said Fitzwater. Marlin said that ^{of} the White House has received offers to sponsor the debates from "plenty" organizations, including several universities, but he wouldn't go into detail. "We want to talk to Mr. Clinton about it. That's what we're saying to Mr. Kantor, sit down, let's talk about it." Marlin said that the president has not done any "actual practice sessions" in preparation for the debate, ^{yet} but that he has read briefing books and issue papers for the debate.

POOL REPORT #2

~~POOL REPORT #1~~
(Fond Du Lac, Wisconsin)

September 30, 1992

Inside Fond Du Lac city/county government center, Fond du Lac Wisconsin.

Inside the council chambers, President Bush met with "Children First Families," men, women and children who are participants in Wisconsin's welfare reform program. Waiting for Bush inside were about 35 people, both blacks and whites, including about 15 children and youths. They rose and applauded when Bush entered with Governor Tommy Thompson. Bush shook a few hands, then a woman named Jean Rogers, spelling unsure, said that all "the folks here" want to tell Bush how the reform program made a difference in their lives in regard the issue of child support. Introducing Bush, Thompson said that Wisconsin has become known nationally for its reforms in child support payments. In regard to reform initiatives, Bush said he believed "a lot must be done at the state level," though the federal government can help by executing a waiver to pave the way for such "experiments" intended to take a "failed program and make it work." "Wisconsin has been at the forefront of change," Bush said.

"I just wanted to pay my respects to that" Bush said, explaining why he came. "People are waiting to see how (Wisconsin's) waiver affects future generations." He said that today he planned to focus on one aspect of welfare reform, dealing with deadbeat dads, who "go off and lead a happy life without fulfilling their obligations." He asked the people in the room to "tell me how this can work better." Then a young man identified only as a member of a young father's club, got up and presented Bush with a t-shirt.

At that point, before any personal or family stories could be told, the pool was escorted out of the chambers.

In the front of the chamber room, hung a large sign saying "President Bush in Wisconsin, helping put children first."

As an addendum to pool report # 1, it should be noted that on Air Force One en route to Oshkosh, Fitzwater said Teeter had sent a letter to Micky Kantor, Clinton Campaign Chairman, laying out Bush's debate proposal formally and saying Teeter stood ready to meet Kantor anywhere, even in Little Rock, to discuss details. "We wait to hear from them today," Fitzwater said.

POOL REPORT -- OSHKOSH TO NEWARK
SEPT 30, 1992

BEFORE THE POOL BOARDED THE MOTORCADE IN FOND DU LAC, MARLIN FITZWATER HAD MORE TO SAY ABOUT THE DEBATE ISSUE, THIS TIME, IN FRONT OF THE CAMERAS. WHEN ASKED BY REPORTERS WHETHER THE BUSH CAMPAIGN WILL AGREE TO MEET WITH CLINTON OFFICIALS TONIGHT AT THE DEBATE COMMISSION HEADQUARTERS, FITZWATER SAID, "WELL, THEY HAVEN'T REPLIED TO US (THE LETTER TEETER SENT KANTOR THIS MORNING) THAT'S THE PROBLEM. FOR SOME REASON, WE CAN'T GET THEM TO GIVE US A STRAIGHT RESPONSE. THEY WANTED TO GET THE COMMISSION INVOLVED AGAIN. OUR POINT IS THERE ARE TWO CANDIDATES INVOLVED IN THIS RACE AND THEY OUGHT TO SIT DOWN AND WORK OUT THE DETAILS AROUND A VERY SIMPLE PROPOSAL THAT HAS FOUR DEBATES, ONE EACH SUNDAY NIGHT FOR FOUR WEEKS, TWO ARE THE WAY THEY WANT TO DO IT AND TWO ARE THE WAY WE WANT TO DO IT. THAT'S NOT TOO TOUGH FOR THE CLINTON CAMPAIGN TO UNDERSTAND AND THEY OUGHT TO BE ABLE TO SIT DOWN WITH US AND WORK OUT THESE ARRANGEMENTS. AND THEY JUST KEEP FLOPPING AROUND AND I DON'T KNOW WHY EXACTLY. BUT IN ANY CASE, WE PROPOSED TO TALK DIRECTLY TO THEIR CAMP ABOUT THESE ARRANGEMENTS AND GET IT ON, AS THE PRESIDENT SAYS, AND THAT'S WHAT WE OUGHT TO DO."

ASKED HOW HE THINKS THE PUBLIC WILL RESPOND TO ALL OF THIS POSTURING, FITZWATER SAID, "I THINK THE GENERAL PUBLIC WILL SAY THAT GEORGE BUSH HAS GONE THE EXTRA MILE FOR DEBATES. HE'S MADE AN HONEST AND FAIR PROPOSAL HERE, AND IT SEEMS CLEAR NOW THAT MR. CLINTON WAS JUST TRYING TO ENACT A LOT OF SUBTREFUGE AND OTHER KINDS OF MANUVERS TO GET OUT OF DEBATING, AND HE'S JUMPING AROUND LIKE A SCALDED DUCK TRYING TO GO IN EVERY DIRECTION, AND GET EVERYBODY HE CAN INVOLVED. WHY HE WANTS TO ^{HIDE} ~~HIDE~~ BEHIND THE SKIRTS OF THE COMMISSION IS BEYOND ME."

ASKED ABOUT THE SCHEDULING CONFLICT WITH THE WORLD SERIES, MARLIN SAID, "SO WHAT? LIFE GOES ON. WE'VE GOT FOUR NETWORKS, AND MILLIONS AND MILLIONS OF PEOPLE CAN SEE THESE DEBATES. THEY'RE VERY IMPORTANT FOR THE COUNTRY. DOES BILL CLINTON WANT TO POSTPONE THE ELECTION FOR THE WORLD SERIES? WHAT IF SADDAM HUSSEIN DECIDES TO INVADE DURING THE SUPERBOWL? WILL MR. CLINTON DECIDE HE DOESN'T WANT TO DEAL WITH IT BECAUSE HE'S GOT A SPORTS GAME GOING ON AT THAT TIME?" YOUR POOL ASKED MARLIN WHY THE PRESIDENT WON'T DEBATE ON SUNDAY. "THE PROBLEM WITH SUNDAY" SAID MARLIN, "IS IT'S JUST LOGISTICALLY IMPOSSIBLE BECAUSE THE COMMISSION ALREADY SAID THEY COULDN'T ARRANGE IT. THE POINT IS, WE NEED A LITTLE TIME TO PUT THESE TOGETHER. THE TIMING IS THAT WE'VE GOT FOUR DATES STARTING THE 11TH. THEY'RE VERY REASONABLE, AND EVERYBODY KNOWS THEM. AND CLINTON'S PROPOSING SUNDAY NIGHT IS SIMPLY ANOTHER WAY TO TRY TO STALL AND TRY TO MAKE ANOTHER DODGE, TRY TO

2-2-2-2 OSHKOSH TO NEWARK

DUCK THIS ISSUE AND GET OUT OF THE WHOLE DEBATE PROCESS." WHEN ASKED IF THE CAMPAIGN HAS DECIDED NOT TO GO TO THE MEETING TONIGHT, MARLIN SAID, "WE'VE SAID WE'LL GO ANYWHERE, ANYTIME TO MEET WITH MICKEY KANTOR AND THE CLINTON CAMPAIGN AND THEY WON'T DO IT.

Barbara Bush shares a laugh with Ruthie Jordan, a student helped by the Literacy Network of Greater Cincinnati. The president's wife was there yesterday to give a speech.

National Center for Family Literacy

UPDATE

September 1992

First Lady Visits NCFL Site in Louisville

First lady Barbara Bush honored the work of the National Center for Family Literacy (NCFL) with a personal visit to Louisville, Kentucky on Friday, September 11. Mrs. Bush visited NCFL's national demonstration site at Wheatley Elementary.

Mrs. Bush, who has been a strong advocate of the family literacy program, met with parents enrolled in the family literacy program and observed a classroom where parents interacted with their preschool aged children. Initially awestruck, the parents quickly became comfortable and trusting, sharing laughter and tears with the First lady during their time with her. Mrs. Bush's gracious sincerity gave the parents confidence in themselves and in the new life choices they had made. According to their teachers, the parents have a new inner spark that continues to drive them harder toward their goals. One of the parents enrolled in the program was quoted as saying, "It was a moment I will not forget for a very long time".

Teachers, funded by the Federal Even Start Program, from across the country who were attending that week's NCFL training program also had the opportunity to receive words of wisdom from the First lady. Mrs. Bush left a smile on hearts that will remember the First lady not only as an advocate, but more importantly as a friend.

Minolta Cold Calls Warm the Heart of NCFL

Minolta has again agreed to donate funds from their National Cold Call Day which took place on September 23. Over 100 Minolta dealers, armed with buttons, t-shirts, and flyers, blitzed the nation calling on businesses to promote Minolta copiers as well as family literacy. Two dollars from every cold call that is completed by Minolta dealers throughout the country will be contributed to NCFL and the contributions are expected to top last year's Cold Call Day's total of $34,015. NCFL assisted in promoting the event by encouraging local family literacy providers to contact the Minolta dealers and subsidiaries and urge them to participate in the event.

NCFL Wins Competition

NCFL has been named the 1992/93 recipient of an annual public service campaign donated by The Advertising Club of Louisville. NCFL was one of over 150 organizations that responded to a call for requests by the Ad Club.

As the recipient of the program, an integrated advertising, marketing, and public relations campaign will be created by the members of the public service team within the advertising organization. The intent of the campaign is to assist NCFL's development efforts. The campaign is expected to break in January 1993.

Positive Results Indicated In Toyota Families for Learning Report

NCFL has recently completed an evaluation of the fifteen original Toyota Families for Learning Program sites and the results are very favorable.

To measure progress, the children in the Toyota program were given the Peabody Picture Vocabulary Test twice: before they started the family literacy program, and at the end of the school year. At the beginning of the program, 93% of the children scored at or below the 25th percentile. That means that compared to children nationwide, 93% of the Toyota program children scored in the bottom quarter. Even more alarmingly, over half scored at the 1st percentile, putting them in the bottom 1% of all American children. And only 1% of Toyota program students scored at or above the 50th percentile.

Once they had completed the program year, the numbers were very different. Twenty-seven percent of those children who had scored in the bottom quarter were now above the 25th percentile, meaning one-quarter of these children were no longer in an at-risk category. Almost 60% of those who'd been at the very bottom, at the 1st percentile, increased their scores. Finally, the percentage of children scoring at or above average increased dramatically.

For the parents, the Comprehensive Adult Student Assessment System (CASAS) was used as a pre/post measure of adult academic gains in the areas of reading and math. The average gain on the reading test was 2.66 scale score points and the average gain on the math test was 3.1 scale score points. Scores from the reading test were compared to a study made in California (1990-91) adult basic education programs. The adults in the Toyota Families for Learning Program tested higher than the California programs which is significant because adult academic achievement is only a part of a more comprehensive set of goals in the Toyota Families for Learning Program.

Kick-off Events Held in New Toyota Sites

• Ft. Lauderdale/Broward County Is Off And Running

On August 19, a well attended press conference was held in Ft. Lauderdale to announce the three sites for the Toyota Families for Learning Program in Broward County. The press conference was a huge success and a real tribute to an extremely effective collaborative effort. It was obvious from the strong participation of key leaders that not only will hundreds of families be helped but that a new benchmark may be set for other family literacy programs. Broward County is definitely the place to watch.

• New Orleans Press Conference Complete With Marching Band

With the help of Mayor Barthelemy, a press conference was held on September 21 to announce the new Toyota Families for Learning Program in New Orleans. The press conference had its own New Orleans style complete with music from the Navy band, remarks from key partners in the program, and a reception honoring the families who have already enrolled. The whole city is behind this program, from the mayor's office to the University of New Orleans. With such an energetic beginning the New Orleans program is sure to be a winner.

Spreading The Word to UNESCO

On August 6, Sharon Darling spoke to attendees of the UNESCO Conference on Adult Literacy: An International Urban Perspective held at the United Nations in New York. Representatives from 200 countries had the opportunity to listen to Ms. Darling's message. International requests for more information on family literacy continue to come in as a result of the conference.

Parade Magazine Features Family Literacy Article

Nearly 1,000 individuals responded to an article about NCFL that appeared in the July 12 issue of Parade Magazine. Those responding were primarily practitioners and interested individuals who requested more information about the organization. Many of the letters were very emotional as parents shared their personal successes and frustrations in family literacy.

Parade Magazine reaches 70 million readers in more than 36 million households weekly. With a total of 336 local markets, it represents the largest audience in the history of magazines. If you are interested in receiving a copy of the article please write to us.

Walter Anderson Scheduled to Present "Talkin' Stuff"

A prestigious group of dignitaries, authors, and entertainers have become literacy supporters as they sponsor the premiere of "Talkin' Stuff" to be performed by Walter Anderson, editor of Parade Magazine and member of NCFL's board of advisors. Tickets at $500 apiece began to sell even before the invitations were printed and a capacity crowd is expected. The performance will take place on October 19 at Ford's Theatre and is a great tribute to the many contributions by Walter Anderson to the literacy field.

Proceeds from the event will be donated equally to NCFL and the Literacy Volunteers of America, which are the sponsors of the event.

Family Literacy Featured on Japanese Television

A camera crew from the Tokyo Broadcast Station (TBS) spent the day videotaping the family literacy program at Hazelwood Elementary School in Louisville, Kentucky on July 30. The crew followed one family through a typical day, starting in the early morning with carpool, which for many families is a major obstacle to overcome in order to attend the family literacy program. Shoichiro Watanabe, the producer and photographer, appeared to be impressed with the program at Hazlewood. The story aired in Japan on TBS' program News Call earlier this month.

National Literacy Board

Sharon Darling, president of NCFL, was one of nine nominees made by President Bush to serve on the National Institute for Literacy Board. The National Institute for Literacy is the centerpiece of the National Literacy Act, signed into law by the President on July 25th of last year. The Institute will catalyze the national effort to "achieve full literacy by the year 2000 by providing a focal-point for research, technical assistance, dissemination, policy analysis, and program evaluation in the field of literacy."

The National Institute Board is being established to provide independent advice and recommendations on the operation of the Institute. The nominees to the board have been forwarded to the Senate and are awaiting confirmation. Board members will be asked to serve a term of three years.

National Conference '93 Update

Plans are well under way for the National Conference on Family Literacy scheduled for April 18 - 20, 1993 in Louisville, Kentucky. NCFL has recently brought on board Ellen Shaikun to coordinate the conference. Ellen has already played a key role as the coordinator of the family literacy programs and demonstration site at the Jefferson County Public Schools in Louisville. Save The Dates reminders were mailed out September 18.

International Literacy Day Celebrated

• Family Literacy Featured at National Press Club

Family literacy was spotlighted at the National Press Club in Washington D.C. on September 8 which was designated as International Literacy Day. NCFL was featured at the program sponsored by the International Reading Association to provide an international panel on programs and issues in family literacy. Joining Sharon Darling on the panel were John Comings, vice president of World Education, and Doris Roettger, president elect of the International Reading Association.

• "To Read": Newspaper Supplement & Documentary

More than 475 newspapers across North America, representing a total circulation of over 25.5 million copies and an estimated readership of 58 million adults, published a special newspaper supplement entitled, "To Read", in celebration of International Literacy Day, September 8. The supplement, which featured a previously written article by the New York Times about NCFL, was prepared by the Newspaper Association of America Foundation.

In addition cable television's The Learning Channel aired a one-hour documentary, also entitled, "To Read". The program reached more than 17 million cable television households and included a segment on one of NCFL's family literacy programs in Louisville.

Education and Labor Committee Hears Testimony on Even Start

From 1985 to 1992 may seem like a brief period in time for accomplishments of the magnitude experienced by the federal Even Start Program. Sharon Darling had an opportunity to look back at those accomplishments recently by reviewing the testimony she provided in November of 1985 on behalf of the Federal Even Start Program. On July 28, 1992 testimony was again provided to the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Education and Labor by Sharon as well as Assistant Secretary Jack MacDonald and Chapter I Director Mary Jean LeTendre to make a case for the need to support and expand the Even Start Program. The growth and accomplishments of this innovative program have been phenomenal and as Secretary Jack McDonald stated in his testimony, "...that the Even Start model of family literacy provides our best hope for meeting the educational needs of disadvantaged Americans."

Several individuals have worked hard for the success of Even Start, but the man who deserves a majority of the credit is Congressman Bill Goodling. Goodling developed the program and worked many years to see the passage of the legislation. He has also kept the vision alive in the nation and the intent of the program alive in the implementation.

Family Literacy Book Update

NCFL has received the final draft of the book "The Future of Family Literacy" and will soon be sent to a national panel for review. A great deal of the information for the book was gathered during the first National Conference on Family Literacy, held in Chapel Hill, North Carolina last April. The recommendation of the interactive sessions at the conference are synthesized in the book.

The book is being prepared by Jack Brizius and Sue Foster and produced by NCFL as a result of a grant from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation and will be available for purchase this fall.

Six Win 'Nobel For Goodness'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former policeman who helped reduce crime in a tough neighborhood, a woman who works to bring hope to inner city children, and a minister who cares for AIDS victims were among those honored at a Kennedy Center awards ceremony.

The third annual America's Awards — described as "the Nobel Prize for Goodness" — went to unsung heroes whose lives exemplify positive values. They were sponsored by the Positive Thinking Foundation, an independent, non-profit group headquartered in Pawling, N.Y.

"The recipients are splendid examples of what is best in our national character — great generosity of spirit and a willingness to help those in need," Barbara Bush said of the six people who received this year's awards. She served as honorary chairman of the awards ceremony Monday night.

The honorees, each of whom received $5,000, were:

— Ron Cowart, 44, a Vietnam veteran and former Dallas policeman "whose work with Southeast Asian refugees has reduced crime in the city's toughest neighborhoods by 20 percent."

— Alice Harris, 58, "a saintly personality with street smarts" who has been a neighborhood activist in the Watts area of Los Angeles for 25 years and is the founder of Parents of Watts, which takes care of homeless children.

— Earl Shelp, 44, a Baptist minister "who has mobilized 1,200 volunteers in 100 Houston churches to care for victims of AIDS and, eventually, other demanding diseases."

— Bertha Holt, 88, a farmer's widow in Eugene, Ore., "whose adoption agency has helped 30,000 unwanted children in 14 countries find homes in the United States."

— John Van Hengel, 69, of Phoenix, "a former beach bum who created a national food-bank network that converts food-industry leftovers into main courses for the poor."

— Henry Viscardi, Jr., 80, of Kings Point, N.Y., "the 3-foot-8-inch founder of a resource center and school for people with severe physical disabilities."

Singers Rita Coolidge, Robert Guillaume and Leslie Uggams performed at the ceremony. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, baseball legend Joe DiMaggio, Gen. William Westmoreland and actresses June Lockhart and Marlee Matlin also were on hand.

Earlier in the day, awards organizers held a public forum on the "responsibilities of media and government in promoting values." The discussion was chaired by Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J. Panelists included Ben Bradlee, former executive editor of The Washington Post; John Silber, president of Boston University, and Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Association of America.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets to the awards ceremony went to six non-profit organizations: Save the Children Foundation, the National Society to Prevent Blindness, People's House, Holt International Children's Services, Second Harvest, and the Peale Center for Christian Living.

California voters like Barbara more than Hillary

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) Barbara Bush provides a stronger boost to her husband's re-election campaign in California than Hillary Clinton adds to her husband's bid for the White House, according to a California Poll released Tuesday.

About half of all voters — 48 percent — say their impression of Barbara Bush will make no difference in whether they vote for her husband. However, the other half says that Barbara Bush's presence makes them more inclined to vote for George Bush by a 34-16 percent margin.

The effect that Hillary Clinton has on California voters is much more evenly split. Again, almost one-half of voters — 44 percent — say that Hillary Clinton will have no effect on whether they will vote for the Democratic challenger. But only 24 percent say that they are more inclined to vote for Bill Clinton because of Hillary's presence, while 27 percent say they are less inclined to vote for her husband.

Pollster Mervin Field said the presence of Hillary Clinton and Barbara Bush provide additional contrast to this year's campaign between their husbands.

"The two wives are dissimilar in many ways. Barbara Bush is a model of the traditional wife and mother. She is of an older generation, has many grandchildren, and came of age before the women's liberation movement," Field said.

"Hillary Clinton is much younger than Barbara Bush. In many ways she typifies the modern woman in that she has been able to blend the responsibilities of being a wife and mother while also achieving a successful career," in the legal profession, Field said.

The statewide telephone survey of 866 registered voters was conducted Sept. 8-15 and has a 3.4 percent margin of error.

Call your tailor!

A Los Angeles psychologist who claims to study these matters says if Bill Clinton wins it will be "trendy" to dress like working men and women and, of course, to adopt new respect for Hollywood.

Robert R. Butterworth says a Clinton presidency would be so revolutionary it would deliver "the final death blow to conspicuous consumption," something that has eluded two centuries of American life.

This student of cultural trends has another dire warning. With Mr. Clinton in the White House, Mr. Butterworth says, there will be a lot more lively cocktail chatter about — heavens forfend, you guessed it — recycling.

Sampling error

In those heady days when the Washington Post-ABC News presidential poll disclosed giant leads for Mr. Clinton that were found in no other polls, the OP felt no obligation to explain the pollster's mechanics. But when the survey showed Mr. Clinton taking a 12-point plunge, hey, stop the presses. The Post was moved to run an explanatory piece on the ever-present margin of error. There it was yesterday morning: "Clinton Slide in Survey Shows Perils of Polling."

No nos, please

Mr. Perot's 800-number hot line has no provision for telling the big-bucks Texan not to horse around in the presidential race.

"I don't think that's playing fair; I think it's misleading," Bonnie Smith of San Diego, a 55-year-old unemployed marketing manager, told the Associated Press after calling the number to tell Mr. Perot not to run.

To her dismay, the automatic answer said her call would be counted as a vote in favor of his joining the race. "That isn't democratic. . . . I got the impression it was to voice your opinion," she said.

Mr. Perot actually said, in announcing the number, that voters could call in to express "support" — not opinions. Within 2½ hours after the number was announced, the hot line got 1.5 million calls.

Veep support

There has been much colorful commentary about the TDK tape-Spy magazine poll that discovered the real mom-and-pop ticket for college students this year would pair Bill Clinton and Barbara Bush.

By a 43-39 percent margin, nearly 1,200 students nationwide said they would prefer Mr. Clinton as their father over President Bush. Asked who they'd like for mom, 56 percent preferred Mrs. Bush to Hillary Clinton.

INSIDE THE BELTWAY

Today's students are fickle, though. They preferred Mrs. Clinton over Mrs. Bush for president. They also thought Mr. Clinton "was most likely to have cheated in college."

The students showed a distinct preference (56-35 percent) for Mr. Clinton as president. The future of the nation also revealed deep in the data some nonstereotypical views:

A 35 percent plurality thought Hollywood is run by a cultural elite out of touch with the views of a majority of Americans, and a 31 percent plurality thought Vice President Dan Quayle would be surprisingly competent if he became president.

An appeal to Hillary Clinton.

'Tree lady' goes to the top for oak in chain store's way

By Maura Webber
INQUIRER CORRESPONDENT

It's a long way from the old white oak in the soybean field off the Black Horse Pike in Washington Township, N.J., to Bill Clinton's headquarters in Little Rock, Ark., and the tree lady knows it.

But Gladys Keller also knows about going straight to the top.

Keller, from Westville and known thereabouts as "the tree lady," is one of 1,000 South Jersey residents who have signed petitions to save the stately 200-year-old white oak from being chopped down to make way for a discount food store.

Keller put two and two together: Wal-Mart Stores Inc., the parent company of the chain store that wants to chain-saw the tree, is based in Arkansas. And so is you-know-who.

Forget the Washington Township Planning Board. Forget the local Environmental Commission. Until May, Hillary Clinton, the wife of Democratic presidential nominee Bill Clinton, was on Wal-Mart's board of directors. Keller, 65, is a substitute elementary-school teacher with salt-and-cinnamon hair and a strategy. She thinks Clinton's the right woman to save a tree that was probably a sapling when the Constitution was ratified.

"Mrs. Clinton, everything has its place. Business for economic growth. The tree for spiritual growth," Keller wrote Sept. 1 on the stationery of the Westville Shade Tree Advisory Committee — of which she's president and founder. (The letterhead has little trees in the corners.) "I know you are busy, your position next to your husband at this time is of a magnitude I cannot imagine.

"Forgive my intrusion, but your support may be our last hope for this ill-fated tree."

Lisa Guide, a spokeswoman for the Clinton-Gore campaign's New Jersey headquarters in New Brunswick, reported the letter's fate yesterday:

"The Clinton campaign is checking into the status of the request."

Keller's letter is only the latest salvo in a jobs-vs.-environment battle over the oak, a big old tree that has a 16-foot waistline and towers over a field of soybeans and underbrush on Black Horse Pike north of New Jersey Route 555.

A public outcry arose in July after the Planning Board gave unanimous preliminary approval to clear the site to make way for a 164,000 square-foot building to house Sam's Wholesale, a one of a chain of discount food stores operated by a division of Wal-Mart.

The white oak — entwined in an inch-thick vine of poison ivy — sits at the edge of a 21-acre parcel owned by Chris Koch, a Washington Township car dealer. Koch wants to sell it to Wal-Mart for a seven-figure amount.

At first, it was a standoff. Robert Mintz, a Haddonfield lawyer who represents Wal-Mart, said the planned L-shaped building couldn't be relocated to make room for the oak, though he had agreed to move the driveway in order to preserve about 18 smaller trees. Mintz said Wal-Mart would donate sections of the chopped-down oak to the Nature Center at Washington Lake in the township.

But there's hope for the old oak yet. Lately the township engineer, Paul Garnier, has met with Wal-

Mart's people to explore ways of preserving it. The township's Environmental Commission has made Wal-Mart's tree-cutting permit contingent on the company's doing its best to find a way to keep the oak alive. Some people have even suggested building the store with an atrium for the tree in the middle.

Koch, who has not yet sold his property to Wal-Mart, said the tree lovers who oppose Sam's don't realize how much the store will benefit the local economy. He estimated the store would bring in 350 temporary construction jobs and 250 full-time positions, along with about about $250,000 in tax revenue each year.

And Koch, who says he has read "Made in America," the bestseller by late Wal-Mart founder Sam Walton, warns that the Walton philosophy favors pulling out of any community where there's too much opposition.

"I'm not a Joe-chopping-down-the-trees kind of guy," Koch said. He added that he has received calls from more than a half dozen people who have threatened to cut down the oak because they need jobs in order to put food on the table.

"It's always regretful to lose a tree," Koch said, "but life is a balance."

But over in Westville, the tree lady had been doing some reading of her own — namely, Clinton running-mate Al Gore's environmental positions in his book "Earth in the Balance." So Keller was quick to act when she heard that his wife, Tipper Gore, would be visiting nearby Deptford two weeks ago.

When Tipper Gore got out of a car, Keller stepped out of the crowd and placed a copy of the letter to Hillary Clinton in her hand.

Now, Keller has only one regret. Before she could intervene, a campaign aide plucked the letter away from Tipper Gore.

"I couldn't stand there and beg for my issue when all those people were there," the tree lady said. "It was in an envelope, and I should have said, 'Keep this.'"

Stay tuned. Hillary Clinton is supposed to visit New Jersey tomorrow.

Wal-Mart hails from Arkansas.
So does Hillary Clinton.
Therefore. . .

Colleges rethink affirmative action

By Dennis Kelly
USA TODAY

U.S. colleges may start reviewing their own affirmative action programs in the wake of a ruling that forces the University of California, Berkeley, to change the way it admits minorities into its law school, experts said Tuesday.

The school agreed to a U.S. Department of Education request that it change the way it ensures minorities make up 23% to 27% of its freshmen.

Instead of minorities competing only among themselves for certain slots, Herma Hill Kay, law school dean, said the school will send more acceptance letters to minorities. It now sends about 800 letters to yield a freshman class of 270.

The finding sends the wrong message about minority recruitment, said Robert Atwell, American Council on Education. "Everybody will be looking at how their efforts fit in."

Kay said Berkeley admitted no wrongdoing and denied there was a quota system. The Office of Civil Rights said the program runs afoul of civil rights law.

rights office chief, said reviews are under way at four University of California campuses.

"I think this is going on at hundreds of schools across the country," said Richard Samp, the Washington Legal Foundation, which opposes programs like Berkeley's.

"I think what we've got here is well-intended liberal racism gone wacko," added Rep. Dana Rohrabacher, R-Calif., who pushed for the review.

Peter McGrath, the National Association of State Land Grant Colleges and Universities, called the Berkeley finding "part of a pattern of disturbingly consistent harassment of colleges that are trying to be as open as possible" to campus diversity.

Businesses That Rallied For a College Now Use It

By SALLY JOHNSON
Special to The New York Times

BURLINGTON,
Vt., Sept. 27 —
When the College of Engineering and Mathematics

at the University of Vermont faced extinction at the hands of budget-cutters last fall, the outpouring of support from the local business community was crucial in saving it.

Now George Pinder, dean of the college, and his colleagues on the engineering faculty have found a way to say thank you: through a program that matches graduate-student research projects with the specific needs of local industry.

"The business community came to our defense in spectacular ways," said Mr. Pinder, referring to the letters that flooded in last October after a plan to eliminate the engineering college was announced. "Local industry constituted a formidable force in favor of the college. I had not done much bridge-building to the community before, but after last October, I felt obliged to walk the extra mile."

The program that grew out of that budget crisis is less than a year old, but so far all constituencies count it a success.

Typically, college and company officials sit down to decide what problems the company needs solved. They then draft an agreement, which can take the form of an outright financial gift to the college, a research grant, or a contract for services to be performed. A group of graduate engineering students, supervised by a faculty adviser, then takes on the research.

"The trick," Mr. Pinder said, "is to find a problem of interest to industry that is perceived to be an appropriate topic of scholarly research."

One such project was to install fiber-optic sensors that can assess the structural safety of a hydroelectric dam. Another was to design an anti-vibration truck seat to reduce lower-back injury among truck drivers.

For the university, the benefits include financial support for graduate students as well as a chance for academicians to put their expertise into practice. For business owners, the program provides access to research that would otherwise be too expensive.

Bernie Tolmie is the chief executive of the Vermont Electromagnetics Corporation nearby in Williston. The company manufactures high-tech cables for ultrasound machines. As ultrasound machines become more sophisticated, they require more and tinier wires within the cables, each needing to be soldered to a terminal point. This can no longer be done well or economically by hand, Mr. Tolmie said, so to stay competitive he must automate the process.

In return for a grant to the engineering college, Mr. Tolmie hired two graduate students, Tim Ambrose and Jim Lehneman, this summer for four months. Their task was to devise an automated or semi-automated machine costing less than $1,500. Called the Vermont Electromagnetics Robot, it is "85 percent there," said Dryver Huston, the faculty adviser.

"A researcher on staff would cost me $50,000 to $100,000 a year," Mr. Tolmie said. "For most Vermont businesses, with 40 to 60 employees, this is a mountain too high to climb. Grad students are the most cost-effective. This project might total $10,000 for two Ph.D's and two grad students, and I know exactly what my cost exposure is going to be."

For the students, the program offers valuable, real-world job experience that they hope will give them an advantage when job-hunting.

"In school, we never get to the point of actually building anything," said Mr. Ambrose, whose first design for the machine did not work, though it looked good on paper. "I've learned a whole lot about motion control through this project."

Mr. Tolmie and Mr. Pinder are putting together a group to help identify more such projects. Already the college has signed an agreement with the Central Vermont Public Service Corporation, an electric utility, to devise a solution to a groundwater contamination problem. And the International Business Machines Corporation, the state's largest employer, is considering the possibility of a joint project with the college.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: SALUTE TO THE PRESIDENT
WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1992
J.W. MARRIOTT HOTEL
9:10 AM

(Acknowledgments)

Thank you, Josh Smith, for that introduction, and thank you all for inviting me here today.

I want to talk a bit about the concerns we all share -- about America's future -- about the choice we face in shaping that future.

The great task before us is clear: with the end of the Cold War, America must win the new global economic competition. We must win the peace -- for only then will we keep the promise of opportunity that is the birthright of every American.

Governor Clinton and I offer very different choices, based on very different philosophies, borne of different experience.

As a man who has spent all his life in government, my opponent believes government -- a Washington elite of policy professors and planners -- should take the lead in shaping the economy, "investing" your money more wisely than you can.

Well, that's not the way I see it. Like so many of you, I've spent much of my life in business -- built one from the ground up // met a payroll // created jobs.

I happen to think that's a pretty good qualification for being President of the United States. //

I learned what makes an economy grow. It's not government planners -- it's not the people who take your taxes and spend them for you.

You make an economy grow -- ordinary men and women with the extraordinary dreams -- who have the grit to make those dreams real.

That understanding is at the heart of my Agenda for American Renewal. I want to unleash the energy and brainpower of our workers and entrepreneurs.

I want to encourage investment so that wages rise and unemployment lines shrink. That's why I'm fighting for a cut in the tax on capital gains.

I want you to make your business decisions without some bureaucrat from Washington second-guessing your every move. That's why I've put an end to the federal regulations that turn red tape into pink slips.

I want to make health care more accessible and affordable for everyone. That's why I'm fighting for health care reform -- without burdening small businesses with expensive new mandates and payroll taxes.

And I want to reward the risk-takers who bring capital and jobs to our inner cities. That's why I'm fighting for enterprise zones.

On issue after issue, you see the same sharp difference between my opponent and me. He wants a government that taxes more, spends more, and regulates more. I want a government that taxes less, spends less, and regulates less -- that frees up the genius of American enterprise and initiative.

Let me be clear. Government must never shirk its very real responsibilities. The fine men and women who you are honoring today -- men and women who I've been proud to have beside me these past three years -- are testament to the good work government can do.

Together we believe that it is government's role to create opportunity -- not stifle it. To clear the path for individual accomplishment -- not to block it. To facilitate, not to dictate.

And together we believe that there is no room in our country for discrimination of any kind. As long as I am President I will do everything in my power to drive bigotry and anti-Semitism and racism from our great land.

I think you know I have strong feelings about this -- I always have. I founded the first UNCF chapter on my college campus. I fought for fair housing. I was proud to sign a historic civil rights bill. And as President I've set out to appoint officials on the content of their character and their competence -- and to those officials who are here today, I salute you. You're doing a terrific job.

With their help -- and with yours -- we will create economic opportunity for every American -- we will compete in the new world that lies before us -- we will win the peace.

RADIO INTERVIEW WITH WOR RADIO

DATE: Wednesday, September 30, 1992
TIME: 8:05 a.m. E.D.T.

FROM: MARLIN FITZWATER Martin

I. PURPOSE/BACKGROUND

This interview was recommended by the Campaign Press Office and the New Jersey Bush-Quayle office.

Your interview with John Gambling, host of the "Rambling with Gambling" show will provide a forum for you to discuss the themes you will address on your visit to New Jersey, specifically, your position on taxes, competitiveness and job creation.

The "Rambling with Gambling" show reaches over 211,000 listeners during the morning drive time. Recent guests on the show have included Secretary Sullivan, Secretary Martin, Charlie Black and Mary Matalin.

The questions for the interview will focus primarily on the economy, specifically, how your "Agenda for American Renewal" will provide jobs to the nation. In addition, you will be asked to explain why you waited so long to debate Mr. Clinton. Time permitting, you will be asked to compare your education and crime proposals to those of Mr. Clinton.

IV. SEQUENCE OF EVENTS

Signal will ring the phone call into the Oval Office at 8:05 am. and you will speak to Host, John Gambling. The interview will last for approximately five minutes.

V. REMARKS:

Attached are questions and answers provided by the Campaign.

POSSIBLE Q&A FOR THE INTERVIEW

DEBATES

Question: Yesterday you challenged Bill Clinton to four Presidential debates. Can you tell us about the announcement and what format will be used?

Answer:

- o All along I have felt it is important that voters have an opportunity to see and hear from the candidates themselves in publicly televised debates.
- o In order to move the process forward, I challenged my opponent to debate on every Sunday evening between October 11 and November 1. This means that there would be four televised presidential debates, more than ever held in any presidential election.
- o To allow these arrangements to move forward quickly, I would be willing to see two of the debates proceed under the format which has been used in all these previous presidential elections and two to proceed under a single moderator format. There should also be at least two vice presidential debates with one based on each format.
- o I feel quite confident that Governor Clinton will accept this proposal since his campaign chairman has indicated in the past that the governor would debate "with moderators, without moderators, in a studio, out of a studio, three questioners, one questioner."

AMERICAN RENEWAL

Question: Recently you outlined your "Agenda for American Renewal". Could you tell us about your proposals and why they are better than Bill Clinton's?

Answer:

- o My approach is to look forward - to open new markets, prepare our people to compete, to strengthen the American family, and to build an America that will be a military superpower, an economic superpower, and an export superpower.
 - I believe that individual men and women make the economy grow. Bill Clinton puts his faith in government planners and relies on the government as the answer to everything.
 - I want to cut taxes. He calls for higher taxes - $150 billion.
 - I want to cut government spending. He wants to raise spending by at least $220 billion.

- I want to open foreign markets and fight protectionism. Bill Clinton has waffled on free trade and pandered to protectionist big labor.
 - I want to reduce and control government regulation, mandates and monopolies. He calls for new mandates, greater regulation and economic policy by government edict.
 - I am calling for legal reforms to bring destructive lawsuits under control and end the unnecessary costs of litigation. He opposes reforms and supports the trial lawyers who profit from these destructive lawsuits and hamper U.S. competition.
- o These are clear choices, clear differences on where we stand and how this nation can best move forward to seize the opportunities of the future.

EDUCATION

Question: Recent polls show strong support for education reform in America. Where do you stand on issues such as school choice and how does your position differ from that of Bill Clinton?

Answer:

- o I believe that if we are to change America, we must change our schools, community by community. We have set a new agenda for education reform, called America 2000, which is based upon three principles: accountability, choice, and results-oriented thinking.
- o Just recently I announced a GI Bill for Children which would provide half a billion dollars to help states and communities give each child from middle- or low-income families a $1000 annual scholarship that families may spend at any lawfully operating school of their choice, whether public, private, or religious.
- o My opponent has mentioned school choice, but this is where there is a clear difference. He only wants to allow some Americans to choose from some schools. I want to give all parents the opportunity to choose the best schools for their children.

TAXES

Question: Bill Clinton says he is going to raise taxes on the wealthiest Americans making over $200,000 a year. On the face of it, this sounds very fair. Why do you object to this?

Answer:

- o There is a big difference between Bill Clinton and me on this issue. When it comes to taxes, I've learned the hard way. Two years ago, I made a bad call on the Democrats' tax increase. It was a mistake to go along with the Democratic tax increase, and I regret it.
- o Governor Clinton says that he will only tax the top two percent. But in order to achieve the revenue that his own plan pledges to raise, he would actually have to tax Americans with a taxable income of $36,600. That doesn't sound like soaking the rich or making the rich pay their fair share. That sounds like more taxes on the backs of middle America and I won't let that happen.
- o Look at Governor Clinton's record. He has more than doubled Arkansas state spending since 1983 and has paid for it by raising the taxes that hurt poor and working families the most.
- o Bill Clinton has raised and extended his sales tax repeatedly, he has opposed removing that tax from groceries, he has raised taxes on beer and started taxing mobile homes. Governor Clinton more than doubled Arkansas' gas tax and he even taxed food stamps until the federal government forced him to stop. And as if working families weren't suffering enough, Governor Clinton also tried to tax child care.

CRIME AND LAW ENFORCEMENT

Question: You are going to be in the area discussing the contrasts between you and Bill Clinton on crime and law enforcement. Can you elaborate on those differences?

Answer:

- o Look at what we've done on the federal level:
 - we've doubled federal prison capacity;
 - we made increasing rights and support for victims of crime a priority;
 - we've proposed a tough Crime bill to expand use of the death penalty, impose mandatory sentences, and end needless court delays in criminal cases; and
 - we've tripled assistance to state and local law enforcement.
- o Just last week the Fraternal Order of Police in Little Rock gave me their endorsement. They agree with me: You do not coddle criminals, you stand up for the law-abiding citizens in this country.

o The other side likes to talk tough on crime, but when you look at his record in Arkansas, it's a horrendous story. Governor Clinton says he wants to do for American what he's done for Arkansas. Let me tell you what he's done:

- During the 1980's, the nation's overall crime rate declined, but not in Arkansas. In fact, Governor Clinton's state had the biggest increase in overall crime rate in the entire nation -- nearly 28 percent.
- Arkansas' violent crime rate went up more than 58 percent: one of the worst records in the entire nation.
- Arkansas ranks near rock-bottom in every important per capita law enforcement expenditure: for prison, 46th; for judicial and legal systems, 50th. When it comes to spending for police officers, Arkansas ranks 49th.
- As incredible as it sounds, most inmates in Arkansas serve less than one-fifth -- one-fifth of their sentence behind bars. That's the worst record in the entire nation.

MEETING WITH FAMILIES OF CHILDREN FIRST

DATE: September 30, 1992
TIME: 12:15 p.m.
LOCATION: Fond du Lac City County
Government Center
Fond du Lac, Wisconsin
THROUGH: David Demarest AD
FROM: Leigh Ann Metzger LAM

I. PURPOSE

To participate in an informal discussion with local families involved in the Children First program and highlight your welfare reform initiatives including the waiver granted to Wisconsin. To emphasize the role of law enforcement in Wisconsin's welfare initiatives.

II. BACKGROUND

Welfare reform has been a key initiative of your Administration and in a broad sense is connected to the crime issue which you have focused on this week. With the breakdown of families, and in many cases the non-formation of families, the incidence of crime and poverty increase. Your proposals have attempted to free states to experiment with initiatives that will address these problems.

Wisconsin has been able to implement a series of welfare reform initiatives through the Administration's granting of waivers. Wisconsin has been the only state in the nation to see its welfare caseload drop recently. In the last four years similar programs have helped 60,000 people leave welfare for work in Wisconsin.

Children First program was created in 1990 originally as a pilot program for two counties, Fond du Lac and Racine. It was part of Governor Thompson's Welfare Reform Act of 1987 and funded 100 percent by the state with counties receiving $200 for each client. The Governor has requested seven additional counties for expansion in 1993.

Children First motivates Non-Custodial Parents (NCP) to pay by providing job training through required community service (unpaid); and case management, to ensure NCPs attend job placement, pay child support, or face jail sentences.

The program allows a judge to require a non-custodial father (dead-beat dad) to join an unpaid workforce program or start to pay child support. When faced with the prospect of working everyday for no pay many of the fathers decide to take paying positions instead and make child support payments.

In the first year of this program, child support collection increased 28 percent in Fond du Lac County and 145 percent in Racine County.

Later in your address to the community you will announce your new initiative called Project KIDS. It is a federal comprehensive child support enforcement strategy to complement state efforts. The plan will include withholding salaries, tracking down absent parents, forcing all States to recognize and enforce other States' child support orders.

You will first meet with families, state and local directors involved in the Children First program. Approximately 28 to 30 participants will be in the room set up similar to a circular congressional chamber. You and Governor Thompson will enter and sit on stools in the center. You will join Jean Rogers, the Director of the Division of Economic Support from Wisconsin's Department of Health and Human Services. After brief comments by yourself and the Governor, you will take questions and interact with the participants.

TALKING POINTS FOR MEETING WITH FAMILIES OF CHILDREN FIRST

September 30, 1992

Fond du Lac City County Government Center

Fond du Lac, Wisconsin

12:15 - 12:35 P.M.

- o Well, I'm glad to be in Wisconsin again with your Governor to hear first hand of another success in the area of welfare reform.
- o Governor Thompson has accomplished here in Wisconsin what we've been talking about at the national level.

- o Let's free up states to be innovative and experiment with programs that best address their problems. State and local solutions, not Washington solutions.
- o As I travel around the country taking our message of American Renewal to the grassroots, one thing is clear -people want to hear about what works and why.
- o That is why I wanted to visit Wisconsin again and learn about your project, Children First.

- o I share your commitment to reforming the welfare system to ensure that both parents fulfill financial responsibilities to their children.
- o You have had tremendous success in such a short period of time with this project

- o I was hoping during my time here today you could share with me some of the successes of your program. And perhaps you could mention some areas where we might need to work harder.
- o And I would be happy to take any questions as well.

II. Discussion

A. Background

The population of Wisconsin is 4,891,769; the population of Fond du Lac is 37,472. Milwaukee is the nearest large city to Fond du Lac (62 miles) and has a population of 628,088. Your last visit to Wisconsin was September 7th -- Waukesha County, Milwaukee.

2. Economic Conditions

William J. Fife, Jr., President and CEO of Giddings & Lewis Corporation of Fond du Lac, announced on September 28th that the company was adding approximately 100 new positions to its Fond du Lac operations. The company, which is the largest machine tool manufacturer in the United States today, employs over 1100 people in the Fond du Lac area.

Your efforts to extend the Voluntary Restraint Agreements on machine tools has been very helpful to Giddings & Lewis and the industry as a whole. On April 14th, you visited a Giddings & Lewis facility in Fraser, Michigan.

C. Planned Parenthood of Wisconsin, Inc.

Planned Parenthood of Wisconsin refuses to comply with Title X abortion regulations. Pursuant to recent court action, HHS is resuming its requirement that recipients of Title X funds not discuss abortion with their clients. Planned Parenthood of Wisconsin receives $2.3 million from HHS and it has indicated that it will refuse to give HHS the required assurances. This is a high profile issue in Wisconsin where pro and con forces have clashed in recent weeks.

Planned Parenthood must inform HHS by October 1, 1992, as to whether or not it intends to comply with the regulations. If it refuses, HHS will begin phaseout of the Planned Parenthood grant and look for a new grantee. It is expected that Planned Parenthood will publicly confront government officials at meetings and appearances.

D. Winnebago Mental Health Institute

On July 9th, HHS threatened to decertify the Winnebago Mental Health Institute on September 28th for non-compliance with certain staffing requirements. This facility is a state owned accredited psychiatric hospital. Decertification would make the Institute ineligible to receive medicaid and medicare funds, which would lead to closure of the facility. The September 28th deadline was delayed because a HHS survey of the institution was not completed until September 17th. HCFA's Regional office is in the process of reviewing the survey's findings and should complete its work within the week.

Winnebago Institute is located 25 miles from Fond du Lac.

E. Education

America 2000

On November 21, 1991, Governor Thompson and Chief State School Officer Herbert Grover joined together to kick-off Wisconsin 2000, the 25th statewide initiative to join the AMERICA 2000 effort. Since that time, over 15 communities across Wisconsin have initiated the AMERICA 2000 effort in their areas.

F. Drugs

Mayor John Norquist (D-Milwaukee) recently initiated a violent crime community forum initiative involving local law enforcement, community organizations and the FBI. The next meeting is scheduled for October 2, 1992.

The Alliance for a Drug-Free Wisconsin is a Statewide program created in 1988 to unify efforts of State and local agencies involved in drug abuse prevention, treatment, and/or law enforcement, specifically through increased involvement of local communities in prevention programs and increased coordination of State agencies.

Federal Drug Grants to the State estimated for FY 1993 are $31.3 million, compared to $14.9 million for FY 1989 -- an increase of 110%.

G. NAFTA/Exports

Manufactured exports accounted for 97 percent of Wisconsin's $2.1 billion in exports to Canada and Mexico in 1991 and supported an estimated 64,500 jobs. In 1991, exports to Mexico totalled $250 million and exports to Canada totalled $1.9 billion -- 35 percent of the state's total exports.

Since 1987, Wisconsin's exports to Mexico have more than tripled, while exports to Canada have grown by a third. Canada and Mexico are now Wisconsin's first- and sixth-largest export markets. An estimated 8,500 new jobs have been created by growth in Wisconsin's manufactured exports to our North American trade partners since 1987.

WASHINGTON

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: RONALD C. KAUFMAN RC
DEPUTY ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT FOR POLITICAL AFFAIRS

SUBJECT: WISCONSIN POLITICAL BRIEFING

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT VISIT

During this trip the President will visit Fond du Lac which is located in the 6th Congressional District. Here, incumbent Republican Thomas Petri will face Democrat Peg Lautenschlager.

POLITICAL HOT POINTS

The latest statewide poll was conducted by the University of Wisconsin among 414 adults on September 14-16. With a margin of error of +/- 6%, it found:

President Bush:	32%
Bill Clinton:	41%

While the poll did not screen for "likely voters," 73 percent said they would "definitely vote" and 18 percent said they would "probably vote".

A previous statewide poll conducted by the Milwaukee Journal on September 9-11 found:

President Bush:	42%
Bill Clinton:	49%

In another poll, not released publicly, President Bush trailed Clinton by a margin of 42 percent to 49 percent.

The #1 political issue in the state is welfare fraud. Wisconsin law states that a person need only intend to reside in the state to receive welfare benefits. ABC's "Prime Time Live" devoted a segment to the situation and depicted Chicago residents taking buses to Milwaukee to collect welfare checks. Governor Tommy Thompson has been successful in his fight to reduce the amount of fraud and recently announced stricter penalties for welfare fraud. The issue, however, remains an important one.

WISCONSIN POLITICAL BRIEFING

Wisconsin has the strongest economy of any major midwestern industrial state and the lowest unemployment rate in the Great Lakes region. Unemployment remains around 5.3 percent and Governor Thompson has attracted a significant amount of economic development to the state over the past six years. Wisconsin businesses enjoy a strong export market and Wisconsin's large agricultural base contributes to a well-balanced economic profile. These factors should bode well for the President's re-election strategy in the Dairy State.

Governor Thompson called a special session of the State Legislature on June 30 to deal with the gambling issue. In this session, both houses passed legislation allowing a public referendum on a Constitutional Amendment on the gambling issue.

Al Gore was scheduled to attend the Farm Progress Days in LaCrosse but the event was canceled due to rain. Hillary Clinton was in Green Bay on September 21 to promote the concept of required public service for high school graduates. Tipper Gore was in Milwaukee on September 25 to visit a child care center and a senior center. On September 24, the Clinton campaign conducted a ~~satellite~~ town meeting linking towns and cities around the state. It is rumored that on October 1, Clinton and Gore will be at the University of Wisconsin-Madison for an MTV/"Rock the Vote" event.

Surrogate activity in the state has been heavy. Agriculture Sec. Edward Madigan was in Green Bay on July 20 for the President's satellite address to Bush-Quayle supporters. The following day, Secretary of Commerce Barbara Franklin was in Wausau to tour Wausau Insurance and attend a Victory '92 luncheon.

On July 24, Marilyn Quayle conducted a three-city tour of the state. Secretary of Education Lamar Alexander was in LaCrosse on August 10 and will be in Milwaukee on September 4. Secretary Martin visited Madison on August 4. Clayton Yeutter was in Green Bay, Sheboygan and Milwaukee on September 3.

The President's last visit to Wisconsin was on September 7, 1992 to participate in a GOP picnic in Waukesha. He visited Appleton on July 27 to attend a Bush-Quayle rally and to announce Executive Approval of Wisconsin's application for federal waiver for its two-tiered welfare pilot program. He also toured Outlook Graphics, a printing company heavily involved in the Youth Apprenticeship Program.

92 PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY

The 1988 BUSH-QUAYLE ticket was defeated in Wisconsin by a 51% to 47% margin.

Wisconsin's Presidential primary was held on April 7, 1992. Because the primary was "late" in the process, it received little attention. The President won the Republican Presidential primary handily, receiving 78 percent of the vote compared to 17 percent for Pat Buchanan and 3 percent for David Duke. Consequently, the President received all thirty-five Wisconsin delegates to the Republican National Convention. Bill Clinton won the state Democratic Presidential caucus, garnering 38 percent of the vote, compared to 35 percent for Jerry Brown, and 22 percent for Paul Tsongas.

Wisconsin has a tradition of supporting Democrats in Presidential elections with its eleven electoral college votes. However, this year could be different. Republican Governor Tommy Thompson is considered one of Wisconsin's most popular incumbents in recent history, and Senator Bob Kasten's re-election campaign will increase voter participation in this year's election.

Ross Perot had qualified for the general election ballot in Wisconsin before withdrawing from the Presidential race. Supporters had filed 4,000 signatures to the Wisconsin State Board of Elections. Supporters claimed to have collected more than 125,000 signatures, but were allowed to submit the maximum of 4,000. Cyndi Schultz, former staffer to Senator Kasten, spearheaded the Perot effort in the state. Following Perot's withdrawal from the Presidential race, Schultz has indicated she would bring Wisconsin Perot supporters together for a discussion with Governor Thompson.

Schultz is said to be in contact with the Governor's office and is working to discourage Perot supporters from supporting Clinton. She is also said to be overseeing several states throughout the Midwest for the Perot campaign.

CONGRESSIONAL OUTLOOK

SENATE OUTLOOK

Wisconsin Republicans expect a tough Senate battle, with incumbent Bob Kasten being challenged by Democrat State Senator Russ Feingold. The Democrats consider Kasten one of the most vulnerable Republican Senators in 1992. Kasten was elected in 1980 with just over 50 percent of the vote and was re-elected in 1986 with 51 percent. The 1986 race, which pitted Kasten against Democrat Ed Garvey, was one of the most negative Senate races in recent history.

1992 finds Kasten in a somewhat stronger political position -- he is gaining seniority and is a member of Senate leadership (Secretary of the Republican Senate Conference). Democrats accuse Kasten of paying too little attention to the state, and charge that his conservative voting record is out of step with progressive Wisconsin.

In the September 8 Republican primary, Kasten easily defeated opponent Peter Stratten. In the Democrat primary State Senator Russ Feingold defeated 5th District Congressman Jim Moody and businessman Joe Checota by a surprisingly large margin taking 70 percent of the vote.

The latest statewide poll was conducted by The Milwaukee Journal between September 9-10 and shows Feingold leading Kasten by a 57 percent to 34 percent margin. Feingold's favorable rating was at ~~58~~ percent compared to 38 percent for Kasten.

HOUSE OUTLOOK

There is one open seat in Wisconsin upon the retirement of incumbent Democrat Jim Moody. Incumbent Democrat David Obey is the only House member to face primary opposition. 2nd District incumbent Republican Scott Klug is said to have the toughest district for Republicans. His new district is Madison-based and largely Democrat.

In the 6th District, incumbent Republican Scott Petri faces a strong challenge from Fond du Lac County State Representative Peg Lautenschlager. Petri bounced 159 checks at the House Bank, and Lautenschlager has proven a formidable campaigner and is popular among both Democrats and Republicans.

PARTY CAMPAIGN ACTIVITY

The President's re-election campaign is under the strong direction of Governor Thompson, who serves as General Chairman. Scott Jensen, Governor Thompson's former chief of staff, is Executive Director of the campaign. John MacIver is the Wisconsin Bush-Quayle campaign Chairman. MacIver was the President's Wisconsin campaign Chairman in 1980 and 1988. U.S. Senator Bob Kasten is the campaign's Honorary Chairman. Lt. Governor Scott McCallum, State Treasurer Cate Zeuske, and Congressmen Tom Petri, Jim Sensenbrenner, Steve Gunderson, and Toby Roth are Honorary Co-Chairmen. Other leading Republicans include State Senate Republican Minority Leader Mike Ellis,

WISCONSIN POLITICAL BRIEFING

Assembly Republican Minority Leader David Prosser, and Secretary of Administration James Klauser. Fred Luber is the President's Wisconsin Finance Chairman.

David Opitz was elected Republican Party Chairman in December, 1990. Opitz hopes to continue to build upon Governor Thompson's successes of 1990 and capture more seats in the State Legislature. Currently the balance is 14R - 19D in the State Senate, 41R - 58D in the State House. The main mission for 1992, however, is the re-election of the President and Senator Kasten. - - -

The Republican National Committeeman for Wisconsin is Mike Grebe. Grebe also serves as Wisconsin's Victory '92 Chairman. Rick Graber serves as Chairman of Senator Kasten's reelection effort. Mary Buestrin has become the new National Committeewoman from Wisconsin, succeeding Helen Bie after 13 years of service to the state GOP. The Wisconsin state GOP convention was held on June 5-7, 1992. The thirty-five Bush delegates were selected to attend the Republican National Convention. Governor Thompson was elected Chairman of the delegation. Mary Kohler and Derick Kenner were elected to the Republican National Platform Committee. State Senator Margaret Farrow and Governor Thompson will serve on the Republican National Rules Committee.
