THE BUSH CAMPAIGN

Running Out of Time

Who won—and why: Perot, Clinton and Bush lined up on Sunday

■ Face to Face on the Debates: Round One

The political-debate marathon began Sunday night with a confrontation among George Bush, Bill Clinton and Ross Perot. NEWSWEEK'S post-debate coverage assesses the candidates' performances and strategies, and a special poll gauges viewers' reactions to the first face-to-face session. And for the debates ahead, NEWSWEEK offers a guide to the issues voters say matter most to them. (Some subscribers will receive their copies of the magazine slightly later than usual because NEWSWEEK held the issue open for Sunday's debate.) National Affairs: Page 20

Charting the effects of immunotherapy

■ Seeking a Vaccine for Cancer

Disheartened by the toxic effects of radiation and chemotherapy, some researchers are turning to the immune system as the best weapon against cancer—and, in many cases, getting positive results. Though a vaccine may still be years off, says one researcher, "This is a time of enormous promise." Lifestyle: Page 74

■ The Russians Are Coming

It's the richest art season in years, and the most rewarding show on display is "The Great Utopia: The Russian and Soviet Avant-Garde, 1915-1932," at the Guggenheim in New York. Ignited by the revolution and finally squelched by Stalin, the Soviets fused ideology and esthetics into an art that is still, yes, revolutionary. The Arts: Page 62
