Dear Mr. President,

I am extremely unhappy, as I know many millions of others are, with the results of Tuesdays election.

I even feel much embarrassment by the direction my own native state of California chose to take.

However, I am not discouraged because I am confident that history will reverse all of the many great things you have accomplished for our country and the world.

With my love to you and Barbara,

Dear Charles,

Thanks for your good note of November 10.

The White House

Dear Mr. President:

Thanks for an intriguing four years in which, as you've reminded us, the world has changed immeasurably and, one trusts, irreversibly.

I, too, will be leaving the White House shortly to step back and try to take a deeper look at how Washington works.

When you reach the point where you'd like to reflect on world events, your administration or the new role you are assuming, I'd be pleased to have the opportunity to discuss those with you. I will continue to host "Newsmaker Saturday" and want to extend an open invitation to you to join me on that show or in some other appropriate venue.

Enjoy the well-earned respite for golf, fishing and, especially, the grandkids.

Best regards,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read 'Charles', is written over the typed name.

I wanted you to know that Larry Gatlin has accepted your invitation to dinner and to perform afterwards next Tuesday evening. (Unfortunately, Wynonna Judd had a previous commitment in Los Angeles and was very disappointed she will not be able to be with you.)

Larry's wife, Janice, will accompany him and they accepted your invitation to spend the night as well. I will inform Patty and the Ushers Office and arrange for their pick-up at the airport.

Thank you.

The Honorable George Bush
Office of the President
The White House

Dear Mr. President:

When my father passed away, our mutual friend, Billy Conn, came to my home, looked me in the eye and said, "My dear friend, this is the day to rejoice!" At first I did not understand what Billy meant -- but, my father had come from bad health to very poor health. It was a blessing that everything ended.

You did an outstanding job. There was only one problem. There were too many factions in America to please. No one, and I repeat, no one can solve each and every factional problem. I feel sorry for the new President because I am sure he will suffer the same consequence. I think that a President should have a six-year term because it is just too hectic a pace.

I have a great idea, Mr. President. When things settle down, I think it would be just great if you, "Uncle" Fred (Zeder), "Uncle" Lud (Ashley) and I would get together and just visit without any problems on our minds.

Many times I have said that I did not like you because of the position that you held in this country -- I have always liked you for the man that you are! You are trustworthy, affectionate, and a man's man. Hold your head high because I certainly hold my head high knowing that you and I are dear friends. That, of course, will never end. /// ???

Convey my love and best wishes to your great family.

Your friend,

Knox

The Honorable George Bush
President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear President Bush:

Along with many others, I am very sorry about the election results. You certainly have many very strong supporters throughout the country, and I had the opportunity to see this support first hand.

I took approximately a month of vacation time from my current job to do some advance work for your campaign. I helped coordinate the whistle stop train tours, along with several others I had worked with from 1984-1986 in the Presidential Advance Office. The amount of enthusiasm and excitement I witnessed from Michigan, to Georgia, to the Carolinas, to Wisconsin was amazing. Mayor Ardath Reagan in Holly, Michigan was a dedicated Democrat. After your event and lunch in Holly, Mayor Reagan confessed to me that she should now call herself a "Republocrat" since she would be voting for a Republican for President! Even in the Democratic stronghold of Stevens Point, Wisconsin, our crowd and the local response were fantastic. I was finalizing some of the payments to vendors, and a representative from the balloon company told me he had never seen such an exciting event. He had been working with the Clinton campaign on several rallies for their candidate, and he said the events were totally different. As he put it, the Clinton events were more like a speech to a group, and the Bush events were a big pep rally. Everywhere I went, it was evident that your supporters were not simply "Republicans" but were loyal and dedicated "Bush fans". You and Mrs. Bush certainly are loved by many! Our nation is blessed to have had you as our leader, and you have made tremendous contributions to our country and the world.

While I am sorry you will not be staying in the White House, I am glad you will be returning to Texas. I served as the Director of Scheduling and Advance for Governor Clements and am now working for Texas State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison. I am currently looking into other job opportunities and would love to help you and Mrs. Bush if you set up an office in Texas or ever need help on events or travel.

I want to thank you and Mrs. Bush for all you have done. Those of us who have been fortunate to know you and your family realize what a loss the election was for our country, but Texans are glad you will be coming home!

Sincerely,

Stephanie Ebert Nooner

Dear Mr. President and Mrs. Bush,

Just a short note to let you know I think you and your family have done an awesome job. Certainly the last four years have been a crowning achievement to an entire life dedicated to America and the American people. Having had the privilege of witnessing first hand how hard both of you worked, I know you will enjoy private life to the fullest!

I am sorry you won't be living in Washington, but I hope to see you no matter where you live. In the meantime, I will make sure Marvin, Margaret, Marshall & Walker behave!!

Dear Mr. President,

The public is famously fickle and, like a mindless heart, can be cruel. You might, in a weary moment, find some quiet pleasure in this part of an old Scottish ballad.

Says Johnnie, "Fight on, my merry men all,
I'm a little wounded, but I am not slain;
I will lay me down for to bleed a while,
Then I'll rise and fight with you again."

VIETNAM VETERANS MEMORIAL 10TH ANNIVERSARY DAY, 1992

- - - - -

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

The more than 3,000,000 Americans who served our country during the war in Southeast Asia between 1960 and 1975 deserve, like all of our veterans, the lasting respect and gratitude of the Nation. From hundreds of nameless rice paddies and jungles to places such as Dak To, A Shau Valley, and Khe Sanh, these individuals and their fallen comrades endured extraordinary hardships and sacrifices in the effort to thwart communist expansionism in Laos, Cambodia, and Vietnam. Theirs was a long, grueling struggle for freedom and international security, and however history may judge its execution and outcome, these individuals deserve a hero's recognition and thanks. Hence, we pause on this 10th anniversary of the Nation's Vietnam Veterans Memorial to offer a heartfelt salute to each of them.

While we usually think of walls as forms of division -- "something there is that doesn't love a wall," wrote Robert Frost -- the Vietnam Veterans Memorial is one such structure that has fostered unity and healing among millions of Americans. In the decade since its construction and dedication, which were made possible entirely by private contributions, our Nation has come to peace with itself; and today we join together in honoring the more than 58,000 Americans whose names are inscribed on "the Wall." We remember their names because we cherished them as individuals -- as sons and daughters, brothers and sisters, spouses, neighbors, and friends. We remember their names because each of them taught us important lessons about duty, courage, and love of country.

The lessons of the Vietnam War have, I believe, made the United States a better Nation, a stronger Nation. Just 2 years ago, when United States forces were called on to help liberate a small, defenseless country from the occupation of a ruthless dictator, the American people rallied behind our troops in a display of unity and resolve not seen since the days of World War II. The triumphant homecoming of our Persian Gulf veterans was, in many ways, a second homecoming for our Vietnam veterans, as hundreds of communities also offered a special salute to those who were all too often denied a hero's welcome some 25 years ago.

Today, as they commemorate the 10th anniversary of our Nation's memorial to their fallen comrades, Vietnam veterans stand proud -- and rightfully so. Let all of us join them in remembering those of their comrades who never made it home -- those who fell in the line of duty and those who are still missing. The United States has never forgotten our POWs/MIAs, and we remain fully committed to obtaining the fullest possible accounting for each of them. On this occasion we offer a special salute to their brave families, who have kept faith with America's missing service members and civilians and, in so doing, reminded us of the tremendous debt that we owe to our Vietnam veterans.

In honor of the Americans who served in Indochina and in grateful tribute to those who made the ultimate sacrifice in the defense of liberty, the Congress, by Senate Joint Resolution 318, has designated November 13, 1992, as "Vietnam Veterans Memorial 10th Anniversary Day" and has requested the President to issue a proclamation in observance of this day.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GEORGE BUSH, President of the United States of America, do hereby urge all Americans to join in observing November 13, 1992, as a special day in honor of our Nation's Vietnam veterans and their fallen comrades.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this tenth day of November, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and ninety-two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and seventeenth.

Nov. 5, 1992

Dear Mr. President

None of us out here can fully appreciate your deep commitment and higher ambitions over this election. I suspect we will never know, given your code of behavior. But I understand the struggle which you are made and I know you will lead and probably be stronger than ever.

Probably that I have known in public life also given more - and more honorably - than you. Stealing from State House - no great life goes unmentioned. I remember the grandeur of your last in the Senate. And I remember when you arrived and your life in Congress and your turn for the Senate. I still recall the lunch of Sam Jones, as GOP Chairman you were struggling to bring fairness and dignity in the Watergate proceedings. Then, as I learned later, you gave Nixon in the Cabinet Room and advised him to resign, on act of great courage.

Along it may you took time to talk to me and others - ON CIA, China, VP. you were always quiet, caring - things worked well and without any resistance or complaint. It was always a joy and deeply gratifying to find reasons of your status and experience still holding; still up to date, but then with a smile (and a shaking, & also from Arthur Miller)

I marvel at the company's dismissal of your record in the White House, politics, industrialism down. A safe word moving through transition. A war state, fought and ended brilliantly. Energy and resources.
Then there are the things you didn't allow to happen - protectionism, a silly middle class tax cut, abandoning a billion people in China, further blockade in the Middle East. These things, took the most courage and are as important as the previous moves - clean air, food, agreements etc.
You know them better than I.

I wonder in these hours if any President could have survived in the Big City near here in the world. And I wonder if the media will allow any President who does not have other claims to fame (Also, Reagan) I have more than one term. So many questions well up.
When all is settled and the sun is in the air and you have your

William Goring, our ought to take a hard look at the media's role in this election.
 I saw it - indeed, I am a victim - within time. But there also were days when I spread the front pages of the NYT and it was not on the frontpage with and counted the stories and headlines.
 Virtually every item on Bush - Quayle was critical, questioning, condemning, suspicious, skeptical. Every item on Clinton was praising, justifying, explaining.
 How does anyone in the White House withstand that? On any given day there are enough trouble in a functioning administration to fill a truck if editors so chose.
 I am quite confident history will sort it out. But it may take a little help from those of us with a little longer view.

Blessing to you and Barbara and the whole family. Just know you have paid the bill; we will always cherish.

You probably will miss the airplanes and the 99 servants that you are going to regain something beyond power and wealth - quiet moments beyond power and beyond cameras and crowds.

Thank you for being President,
 Hugs,

Dear Friends,

I am delighted to invite you & your friends to the 2nd annual Global Carving Challenge - Aquatic Life®. This years event will be held in beautiful Sarasota Florida at the Holiday Inn Airport - Marina (less then 5 minutes from the Airport & on deep water with access to the Gulf of Mexico) during March 26th through 28th, 1993.

Last year's contest drew interest from around the world. The event owes much thanks for it's grand success to carvers like you who entered over 100 beautiful, breathtaking, carvings. Winning carvings came from less than 30 miles to over 3000 miles away! The 1992 Global Champion carving was sent in from Montana (see pages 5 & 6 for photos of last year's first place winners). Letters from enthusiastic 1992 contestants praised our contest for: courage to create a bold new contest based entirely on aquatics, fairness & availability of judges, the opportunity to enter & win even if not present, professional seminars included in the low entry fee, carving supplies available, great prize money & wonderful exposure to winners through magazine articles & features in Wood Carvers Supply, Inc's catalog.

This year's G.C.C. contest will be even better with: Prize money increased to $15,000! New novice class, more learning opportunities through many seminars & a fishing excursion. Deluxe motel facilities (see page 8) include: a four star restaurant, comedy club with nationally renowned acts plus the marina & yacht basin for boaters. The motel & event site are conveniently located just minutes away from museums, theme parks, shopping, great golfing & tennis, world class beaches plus Florida's famous weather.

If you participated last year I look forward to seeing you again & especially encourage & welcome all newcomers to get involved in the growing, fascinating theme of aquatic life carving! This booklet contains information on entering & one entry form. If you need more booklets, forms or have any questions please call 1 (813) 698 - 0123. Please tell your friends & carving clubs about this year's event.

Sincerely,

Deborah Effrem

BY CLARK SCHREIBEIS.

"I tried to portray the fish in a shallow weed bed immediately after he had lunch... The wood I used to carve the fish is tupelo gum. This fish in his mouth is a common shiner carved from tupelo. All the habitat is carved from wood. The reeds or bulrushes are carved from basswood and the leaves on base of reeds are paper. The other small wavy plants are carved from tupelo... I feel that winning your show is artistically my greatest accomplishment. I hope my carving will be an asset to your show and/or business. Thanks again for the prize money and carving supplies. I have been drooling on your catalog worse than a kid at Christmas time!" CLARK
