You fulfilled that dream for your mother - and it may well have been the proudest moment

You brought honor

Dear President and Mrs. Bush:

I want to take this time to express my most heartfelt sympathy to you on the recent loss of your beloved mother, Dorothy Walker Bush. Please know that others share in your loss.

In times of difficulty I have found that the following poem has provided me solace and comfort.

THE DIVINE WEAVER

My Life is but a weaving
Between my Lord and me;
I cannot choose the colours
He worketh steadily.

Ofttimes He weaveth sorrow
and I in foolish pride, Forget that He seeth the upper,
And I the under side.

Not till the loom is silent
And the shuttles cease to fly, Shall God unroll the canvas and explain the reason why.

In the pattern He has planned.

Dear Mr. President:

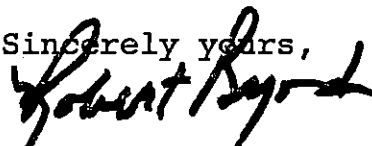

With sincere regret and deep sympathy I learned of the passing of your mother yesterday evening. Please know that in your hour of loss my thoughts are with you, Barbara, and your family.

One solace in this time of loss is that your mother enjoyed such a long life, and that that life was so well spent. Indeed, you were blessed to have had your mother so long, both as a parent and as a dear friend. Through her love and her dutifulness to you, she imparted to you a finely grained sense of character, a precious quality of honor, and an enviable strength that has carried you through innumerable crises and challenges in your own life. She lived to see you attain the highest office in our land, and your exceptional and devoted service to our nation must have been a source of great pride and deep satisfaction for her.

Again, Erma and I send our condolences, and our hope that you may find comfort in your fond memories of your mother.

With warmest regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

Dear Jack,

Thank you for that wonderful letter you sent me. I appreciate your assessment and very kind words of this Presidency that you've helped in so many ways. It has not been an easy time, but that is not important. There's a sunrise out there and Barbara and I are looking forward to going back to Texas to see that sun come up.

We will depart Washington with many mixed emotions and one of the positive ones will be about the work you did in helping people in our cities -- helping with a heart full of concern and love for them. My warm best wishes to Joanne. Thanks, again, not only for the letter but also for your service to your Country.

(Personal & confidential)

Dear Mr President & the whole Bush family, —

Now that the campaign "dust" has settled & the "battle" seemingly is over, I wanted to join your many friends, supporters & cabinet members in letting you know how much we love & admire you.

As my mom used to say when I was cut in Pro football, or hurt, traded or disappointed in my career, "no door closes that another door doesn't open." Well, Mr President, you opened a door for me to public service for which I'll always be grateful & loyal to you. And, I'm sure, many doors will open to you, & your family, for continued service to America & "the cause" you've so faithfully served for so long.

But, I can't stop there. I must let you know, the chance you gave to me to be involved in inner city, anti-poverty & empowerment work has been the greatest & most challenging endeavor of my life.

It wouldn't have happened, were it not for your willingness to take the risk (& criticism) associated with appointing an iconoclastic, radical, "supply-side", bleeding heart, Abraham Lincoln, Ronald Reagan, "George Bush-Republican", (& proud of it!).

Please know I will continue to work hard & make sure you never regret your choice.

As elected Mr President, despite the outcome of the election, your willingness to accept & indeed sponsor the new direction for housing & urban poverty policies is profoundly popular among low income people. It will never go unrecorded that Bill Clinton talked more like a Republican on these issues than a typical liberal-Democrat. You won the debate over ideas & policy direction, not - withstanding the "reactionary" liberal-left Congress & the Press failure to give you, (us) the credit.

(3/

During my travels & speeches on your behalf, I became convinced of the profundity of your message of a kinder & gentler America. People all over America believe overwhelmingly in helping low income people get a stake in the system & American Dream.

From So Bronx to So Central S.A., people responded positively to your efforts to empower the poor & provide school choice.

While we lost the election, in my opinion it was the clever exploitation of "change," used by Clinton (& Perot), backed up by a "the Press."

Nevertheless, a loss in wrenching & tough to take whether it's electoral politics or Super Bowl football. But, as you said at the White House ceremony on the Sr. Lawn, history will judge you & your administration in a much kinder & more positive light, given the "sea-changing" events in the world you helped facilitate & encourage.

Joanne & I were watching Mervin & Margot hold hands, with tears in the eyes & stand tall & proud. It reminded all of us in your Cabinet, fortunate enough to be standing close by, what a wonderful & close knit family you & Barbara have raised. You all represent, all that is best about family, faith & our free society.

One thing I must get off my chest is that feeling of "strain" that some people & some press types use to characterize our relationship & friendship.

Mr Lincoln said it best, "though passion may have strained, it must not break the bonds of affection."

I feel that way about you Mr President. I'm sure "my passion" strained our bonds of affection, but I pray that those bonds are strong enough to withstand it.

Great days are ahead for you, although you must feel as Churchill did after losing the P.M. post in 1945. He said, "people tell me losing is a blessing in disguise, but I must say the blessing is very well disguised."

I said to you during the early hours of Desert Storm, you were born to fulfill the role of leadership that destiny had prepared for you, as it had for Sir Winston in May 1940 right before the "battle of Britain".

As your friend & as a former competitor of yours (of sorts) I just want you to know, in my "heart of hearts", I believe you were the right man, for the right job of leading the world, at the right time in history. I do believe history will record that not only America, but the whole free world owes you an enormous debt of gratitude for steering the "ship of state" through the stormy waters of these last four years.

In closing Mr President, Sir Robert Menzies said of Churchill, "that Some day all men & women will look back in time & say - how proud they were to have lived in Winston's time."

I want you, Barbara & all the Bush family to know, that as I grow older, I will be saying with equal pride, "I served our nation in George Bush's time."

Joanne & I (& all) send our love, affection, admiration & loyalty to you & Barbara. We wish you Goldspend & many new "open doors" to serve the World & humankind. Jack Kemp 11-16-1992

I am seizing the opportunity of this credentials ceremony to ask Bill to see that you receive this word of deepest thanks and appreciation for the last twelve (!) years of joyful and (I hope) meaningful service to you and to our country. My memory bank is overflowing with the many events I was privileged to share with you - I can't help but mention that incredible day we spent in San Salvador en route back from Alfonsín's inauguration (a woman can talk tough to a roomful of armed comandantes!), and then that wonderful shared October 27 birthday with CAP at the "Arias" summit in San José - looking

My Dear President:

Never has a candidate worked harder in a Presidential campaign. You acquitted yourself as a very determined, never-give-up individual, which probably stems from your naval aviator experience.

Historians will determine your accomplishments as President in a different light than the voters. Rarely has a President accomplished more in four years--the fall of Communism, the Desert Campaign, the American leadership in the U. N.--are only a few very notable highlights of your administration.

Audrey joins me in sending you and Barbara our best wishes for your continued good health and a wonderful future.

Dear President and Mrs. Bush,

It is an honor for me to write and thank you for the privilege our country had through your service. Goodbyes are never easy; I have never really acquired a taste for them.

Our nation was fortunate to have had the benefit of your leadership. We can go to sleep without fear of nuclear war; we saw you sow the seeds of friendship with the Russian leaders; we felt pride in the firm command displayed as you honored your commitment to help the weaker nations being harmed by Saddam, never flinching from the awesome decisions that had to be made. I have seen a president who unabashedly showed love and respect for his wife and family, saw Mrs. Bush stand in strong support of her husband. No wonder family values are being revived!

My pride in you was intensified when I watched your gracious and dignified concession speech ever encouraging unity among your countrymen. I know that the future is now open for you to explore many other opportunities which will draw from and enhance your many abilities.

You and your family will continue to be in my prayers. I pray for a happy, healthy new and fulfilling life for you both. I also thank you for restoring pride in America. God bless you.

Dear Mr. President,

In time it will be said that you were one of our truly great Presidents. Even now, if it was known all that you did, it would be said that you were our greatest vice-president.

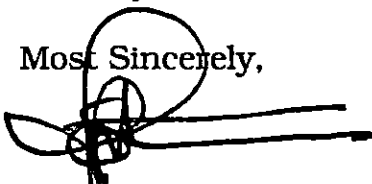

It is not at all difficult for me to understand why your enthusiasm waned early in the campaign. For all you have done for the people and the country, at great cost to your family and health, to have this fickle public so easily swayed away from your achievements by the press, must have been crushing. Just how many times are you supposed to be able to come back?

It was an honor to have worked for you. The most memorable service I performed would probably be the successful search for Pablo Escobar and preparatory work for your gutsy trip to Colombia.

I shall wear your cuff links proudly for all the days of my life. Rose was the best appointment of all time. In a few months I can actually send her the gift promised years back. Little do people know of the integrity of your administration and personnel.

Thank you Mr. President. You are a wonderful man.

Dear Mr. President:

It has taken a few days to get over the shock of the election results two weeks ago.

I believe the American voters made a very poor decision on Nov. 3. And although others determined that I was not to be involved in your campaign this year, I was certainly there in spirit and with hopes for a great victory.

I will always have a special appreciation for the graciousness and generosity which you and Mrs. Bush have always shown to me, and that likewise has come from Pres and John and your sons and daughter. Thank you for that.

I wish all the best for you and all the Bushes.

Dear Pat,

Just back from Kennebunkport and I saw your thoughtful letter of November 20. Thanks for the kind words. That Tuesday evening will stand out among the many wonderful memories I will cherish of my time at the White House.

Winning was just not meant to be, but Barbara and I will leave the White House knowing that we gave it our best. Now we're setting our sights on the future, and life looks bright. We'll always be grateful for your support. With warmest best wishes,

Sincerely,

The Honorable George Bush
The White House

Dear Mr. President:

Thank you for including me in the wonderful evening at the White House on Tuesday. I know I will remember forever that group of Republicans and Democrats standing together and singing "Amazing Grace" with the President of the United States. It was a bittersweet evening for most of us and really underscored what we as a country have lost in this election.

I suppose Meg Greenfield would not have approved of Tom Foley's salute or probably even approved of your friends and opponents attending the same party. What she fails to comprehend is the critical difference between our form of government and the rest of the world. That despite profound disappointment regarding the recent election, the role of the President is to ensure a smooth transition, an orderly and generous transition. To ensure the country that our form of democracy does prevail, is strong and centered, and is greater than any individual or campaign.

Having said all that, I know the wrong man won. This is because I had an opportunity to work for the right man. I want to thank you for the opportunity to get involved in the political process. I have met wonderful people in my role as Regional Finance Chairman and have learned so much regarding the issues that shape our lives.

History will prove you right but right now I don't feel much like waiting for history. As part of the loyal opposition, I will be watching and writing and referencing the wonderful things you have accomplished as President. And until I hear differently, you are my candidate for 1996.

Best regards,

Daily

Dear Fred,

Just back from Kennebunkport and I saw that wonderful note of November 26. Yes, we both have so much to be thankful for. You and Martha are such special friends, and we love you both dearly. It's been a tough November in many ways, but now we're setting our sights on the future.

Thanks for checking in. I hope that in our private life that's about to ensue that we will get to see you more. With warmest best wishes to all Zeders,

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. President & Bar - Nov 26-92.

Thanksgiving day. Martha is in the kitchen cooking up a feast. Delectious aromas are wafting this way.

Mindy, Jim & their two kids are coming for dinner. Most of the rest of our gang of 21 have checked in on the phone.

So once again, on this day to remember our minds are full of those we love - as we count our blessings.

In the last few weeks I have written to you a number of times. I never mailed the letters.

It was trying to tell you what was in my heart. What you have meant in our lives - how much we love you both.

There is just no way to say it.

Any-way, I guess you know.

Always Fred

And Me Too - Martha
Yea, & Walker too!

Dear Dick,

Mother was a very special person and I can tell from your letter that you understand that well. Our daughter, Doro, and I went up to see her the very day she died. We held her hand and literally prayed to God that she would go to Heaven. A few hours after we got back to Washington, we got the word that she had looked up and then closed her eyes. I am absolutely confident that she is in God's loving arms.

Thank you, again, for you very kind note.

Most sincerely,

Dear George,

As you know Pat + I treasured the friendships of your mother + father going back 40 years.

I recently described your father as one who was ramrod straight physically + politically.
Pat often spoke of your mother as a truly great lady.

I know her passing was expected. You can be comforted by the fact that you always made her proud of her son - not just as a great President but more important as a good man in every sense of the word.

Pat joins me in

Just a note to say how sad I was to hear of your mother's death. She was a sensational lady who was fortunate to live a long and full life -- and who could take tremendous pride in what you have done for our country.

I had not seen her since our last trip to Hobe Sound a couple of years ago. At that time she was her usual gracious and hospitable self to Caroline and to me. There was never any shortage of laughter and friendship on those occasions, always mixed with a reasonable degree of seriousness!

Please don't bother to acknowledge this note. I just want you to know that Caroline's and my thoughts are with you, Nancy and your brothers.

Dear Mr. President,

Please know that my prayers join those being uttered on countless lips and in uncounted hearts for the soul of your mother and for you and the Bush family. My prayer is that your faith in the living Christ who "prepared a place for (us) and will return to receive (us) unto himself," will bring you and your family hope, comfort, healing and peace.

A few days ago, I buried a woman at Arlington National Cemetery who was slightly older than your mother. She also had spent many years as a widow. Surrounded by her children and a few aged friends, we prayed, read the Scriptures and reflected on how long she had anticipated the moment when she would be reunited with her husband for all eternity. Your mother, like that woman, waits no longer. In addition to long awaited reunions, she has traded the adversity of age for the promises Christ bought for her on the cross at Calvary. Promises to be claimed in that place where there is "no more death, grief, crying or pain...for the old things are passed away and behold all things are new."

My prayer is that the great God who overcame Good Friday with Easter Sunday and death with eternal life will keep you in His love and care now and forever.

Very respectfully,

I doubt that this letter will ever make it to your desk, but if so, I want to take this brief opportunity to tell you how much I admire you and how deeply I feel for you and your family just now.

You are a man of high integrity and honor, and it makes me ill -- and has made me ill -- to listen to what I believe has been a barrage of the most slanted, negative press in modern American history. You were not rejected, Mr. President; the American people were not allowed to see the real you.

I want to say one other thing: thank you. You have done a wonderful job, Mr. President, and your humaneness, your kindness, your obvious love for your family and friends have instilled a real sense of loyalty in me and my wife, Jenny.

Be well; enjoy your grandkids; hope you have time to perfect your backhand.

Dear Mr. President,

I wanted you to know how saddened I was to learn of your mother's passing. During our time together in 1979 and 1980 -- it seems like a century ago -- I recall how fondly you spoke of her; how much she meant to you, how much she gave of herself to you and her other children, how much strength you drew from her, how she supported you when you struck off for Texas, how she was "always there."

And then I met her. I will always remember her as a lively, vivacious woman with a sharp eye, especially when she raised an eyebrow when she noticed me slouching -- much as my own mother still does, although my mom, being my mom, fairly screams at me to "stand up straight."

I know you will miss her greatly and I wanted you to know that in this small corner of the world she will be missed as well.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Eileen,

Thanks for that wonderful note about my mother and the election. It's been a tough November in a lot of ways, but now we're setting our sights on the future. Mother lead a full life. She was my leader and mentor in every possible way, and I loved her very, very much.

Thanks for checking in and caring. Back to Houston on January 20th, and life looks bright. Barbara and I will always be grateful to you and Jim for all you have done over the years. With warmest best wishes,

Sincerely, Love

Dear Florence,

Thanks so much for that thoughtful letter of November 20 about my mother and the election. My mother was the guiding light in our family and the inspiration for every single member of the Bush-Walker clan. I am glad I was able to see her on the day she went to Heaven.

As for the election, my winning was just not meant to be, but Barbara and I gave it our best. We love your Gordy and are so proud of him. We'll always be grateful for his leadership and guidance throughout the years. Our warmest best wishes to you and your wonderful family.

Dear Mr. President:

I have just learned that you have lost your mother, and I hasten to send you my sympathy. I am reminded of your kindness during my Barry's illness and will forever remember this very special caring with much gratitude. (I am Gordon Zachr' Mom)

Now I must tell you that, in my view, the American electorate revealed a total lack of sophisticated intelligence in not voting for your continued leadership. It should be obvious that our long range goals for growth lay in the growth of our export capability. There is no quick fix for the economy in the short term. It will become clear in short order that rhetoric doesn't change reality. Anyway as I think I heard from the echoes of History, "This

Christmas is right here and we

Dear Bill,

Thanks so much for that wonderful letter of November 17. It means a lot to me. Although my winning was not in the cards, Barbara and I gave it our best shot.

Now we're preparing for the transition and looking forward to private life, grandkids, and friends -- friends, that's where you and Margie come in. Barbara's arranged for a small house to be built on our lot in Houston, and we head down there on January 20th. We'll always be grateful for your support over the years. With warmest best wishes,

Love to all.

Dear President Bush:

While most Houstonians were unhappy with the results of the election, the only bright spot we can find is that you and Mrs. Bush have decided to return to Houston. You have done so much for our city and we look forward to welcoming you back.

The officers and staff of Cullen Bank would be honored to assist you and your family with any of your banking needs upon your return. Cullen Bank offers the full range of personal and corporate banking services and can provide special attention to your individual needs. As you may recall, we are part of Cullen/Frost Bankers, the last major Texas bank holding company that has not been acquired by an out-of-state entity nor required outside assistance.

Please call on us if we can assist you and I look forward to seeing you back on the Houston Country Club golf course.

Dear George:

Kathleen and I often speak of our wonderful visit with you in the Oval Office last October. Every time I wear your handsome cuff links, it comes back to me. We felt we were seeing our Government in action.

As if it were yesterday, I remember the first time we met. Jim Hewgley was running for Congress in 1972, and brought me to your office at the United Nations. You were most gracious then, and every time we have met since.

You have done so much for us, your country, and the world during your many years of outstanding public service. And yet, as busy as you were, you always found time to call Buddy Hopkins in the hospital in Florida, or your old Greenwich Country Day school-teacher, Arthur Grant, in Maine. Both of them became instant celebrities when the word got out that the President was calling. We have all been very proud to have wonderful people like you and your lovely Barbara representing our country. I hope we shall meet again in the future, so we can tell you so in person.

Kathleen and I were sad to learn of the recent death of your wonderful mother. Please accept our deepest sympathy.

With best wishes.

Dear Mr President,

You and I have played on teams that lost

a - when we felt we should have won

b - when we felt we could have won.

Those were the worst "game days".
It's OK to rehash the game a "little" but it's more important to forget the game and go forward.

You should have won.
Could you have won? From an outsider's point of view -- NO, because of the view most Americans have of the economy. You and I know that it is not as bad as presented (was as bad as in other lands) - The U.S. stock market is near an all time high. But the voters' views were negative on the economy and therefore on you -

But I am not wanting to remark all of that. Please stick to your future. I feel historians will report that

George Bush:

1 - Come to the job of President with the best credentials of any candidate in US History a - Business entrepreneur

Congressman

But enough said. You have mentioned to me, in the past, your interest in being a Director. You could well have no such future interest.

You obviously do not need my help if you are interested.
But I am writing you to suggest you consider this.

I am a Director of six
