CONTROL OF CIVIL AIRFIELDS

ISSUE: (U) Control of Civil Airfields.

DISCUSSION: (~~S~~) Control of civil airfields is critical to the success of the strategy. This is an action that the GOP can, and must, accomplish. This requirement is in concert with legislative requirements, the Andean Strategy, the 1992 International Narcotics Control and Strategy Report (INCSR), and Embassy objectives. Control of civil airfields not only demonstrates political will, but is also operationally essential. Elements of control are: administrative, air traffic control, enforcement, and security.

RECOMMENDATION:

- (~~S~~) Authorize 506(a)(2) drawdown, currently planned, to upgrade communications, airfield security, human rights training, and air interdiction support elements.

ENHANCE LAW ENFORCEMENT OPERATIONAL CAPABILITY

ISSUE: (U) Enhance operational capability of the Peruvian National Police/DEA.

DISCUSSION: (S) The most effective method of combatting the drug traffickers is to identify organizations, or individuals, with the organizational, physical and financial capabilities to procure cocaine base exportable by air, and disrupt their activities through selective enforcement actions to immobilize key individuals and seize or destroy assets (drugs, cash or other contraband, processing or transportation assets). These operations will be proactive (deliberate or planned operations based on previously generated intelligence) and reactive (immediate response to specific intelligence and endgame of selected targets). As civil airfields are controlled, law enforcement elements will be able to extend their operational strike range from the Santa Lucia Base. For these operations to be effective, it is necessary to bring up to the authorized level current INM rotary wing capabilities, and to aggressively engage Peruvian military helicopters.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

- (S) Provide up to five UH-1H helicopters, in FY92, to the INM airwing in Peru.
- (S) Continue U.S. detection and monitoring deployments (both DoD and Customs) to Peru until a host nation capability is established. These USG deployments will be on an intermittent basis consistent with theater requirements.

ENHANCE CIVIC ACTION/SECURITY CAPABILITY OF PERUVIAN MILITARY

ISSUE: (U) Enhance civic action, engineering, and physical security capabilities of the Peruvian military.

DISCUSSION: (S) The civic action and engineering capabilities of the Peruvian military are an important element of the overall strategy. Furthermore, Peruvian military security elements are essential to the GOP's ability to secure civil airfields, alternative development projects in the Upper Huallaga Valley, and to provide tactical security for law enforcement operations. Civic action, engineer, and security elements will assist in denying the uncontested, illicit uses of overland access in the UHV, reestablish order in specific areas, and improve the health and quality of life for the peasants. Additionally, these elements will be a valuable source of intelligence.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

- (S) Provide engineer equipment (bulldozers, road graders), under EDA in FY 92, FY 93.
- (S) Provide support (equipment and training) for Peruvian Armed Forces engaged in civic action, engineer, and tactical security missions (FMFP).

MARITIME, COMMERCE CONTROL, RIVERINE ACTIVITIES

ISSUE: (U) Conduct Interagency Maritime Commerce Control Survey

DISCUSSION: (S) An overarching commerce control mechanism must be established before a riverine force structure is developed. Iquitos, the largest river port in Peru, is the hub of all Amazon-basin river traffic entering and exiting Peru. Traffic through this vast area is currently under very limited administrative control, thus facilitating the flow of chemicals, drugs, and other contraband. A commerce control survey will provide the management guidelines for a comprehensive program. In the meantime, a riverine capability in 4 critical nodes (Yurimaguas, Pucallpa, Nauta, and Iquitos) will be progressively developed. These capabilities will disrupt illicit river traffic and access to coca producing areas. Commerce control and riverine activities will be linked to enforcement operations.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

- (S) Authorize the conduct of an interagency maritime commerce control survey.
- (S) Continue to support the development of a riverine capability (FMFP).
