

Originally Processed With FOIA(s):

S

FOIA Number:

S

FOIA MARKER

This is not a textual record. This is used as an administrative marker by the George Bush Presidential Library Staff.

Record Group/Collection: George H.W. Bush Presidential Records Collection/Office of Origin: Speechwriting, White House Office of Series: Speech File Backup Files
Subseries: Chron File, 1989-1993

OA/ID Number: 13804
Folder ID Number: 13804-013

Folder Title:
Staff Videos 3/23/92 [OA 7570] [4]

Stack:	Row:	Section:	Shelf:	Position:
G	26	22	4	1

Baltimore Orioles

(301) 243-9800
Keith

Public Affairs

Oriole Park

at Camden Yards

show fans taxpayers 20 of lottery
tickets

6779

Nix
March 19, 1992
Draft One 1:30 p.m.
BRADY

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: SALUTE TO ORIOLES AND STADIUM
AUTHORITY
MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

My sincere congratulations to the Maryland Stadium Authority, the Baltimore Orioles and all their fans on the opening of Oriole Park at Camden Yards -- our nation's newest major league ballpark.

Congratulations also to all those who worked so long and hard over the last several years to assure that the new ballpark would be fully accessible for the disabled so they could share in our nation's pastime.

I join Jim Brady and the National Organization on Disability in urging communities all across America to do whatever they can to assure the disabled access to all of their sports facilities.

The Americans with Disabilities Act, which I signed in 1990, ensures equal opportunities for all disabled Americans. The Orioles and the Stadium Authority have gone beyond the letter of the law to demonstrate the spirit behind its enactment -- the goal that all our citizens participate fully in every aspect of life in America.

Again, congratulations. Maybe I'll see you in October to throw out the first ball of the World Series at Camden Yards.

Nix
March 19, 1992
Draft Two 8:00 a.m.
HEALTH

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: NATIONAL MANAGED HEALTH CARE CONGRESS
MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

Ladies and gentleman, I have a special reason for welcoming the National Managed Health Care Congress to Washington.

We face the challenge of providing all Americans access to quality, affordable health care. The national debate rages around the question of whether to reform the system we have now -- which is the finest in the world -- or to replace it with a government-controlled, bureaucratized system.

Make no mistake: Socialized medicine would mean sapping the vitality and initiative out of our system -- vitality and initiative that have made American health care second to none in the world.

The accomplishments of the American health care system are enormous. We lead the world in pharmaceutical and technological discoveries. Nevertheless, there are some challenges that we must address. We know them well: making available adequate access to health care coverage for the under-insured -- and maintaining quality health care at a cost that is affordable and competitive with the rest of the world.

All of us need to understand what's at stake. Economically, the rising costs of health care sap America's competitiveness, and put American jobs in jeopardy. And all of us know that worries about adequate health care are the kind of thing that keep people up late at night. Every family shares a concern -- especially for our children -- to see that everyone gets the health care they need.

My health care policy enables America to meet these objectives, while preserving free market choice. This is why your input is vital. Your experience with coordinated care, which is a fundamental part of our plan, can help meet the challenges we face.

So I welcome you to Washington for your annual meeting; and I hope that, as you meet, you remember the larger mission that we need to accomplish together.

God bless you and the United States of America.

Nix
March 19, 1992
Draft One 1:30 p.m.
QUALITY

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: ACCEPTANCE OF PERSON OF THE YEAR AWARD
FROM THE ASSOCIATION OF QUALITY CLUBS
MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

Members of IRSA, and invited guests from around the world. Thank you very much for this award. I share your personal commitment to the value of regular exercise and applaud your dedication to expanding the awareness of the benefits of fitness. For people of every age, regular exercise improves the quality of life. And, for businesses of every size, regular exercise programs help improve productivity, boost morale, and help reduce the costs of health care.

Back home in Houston, I'm a member of one of your IRSA clubs, The Houstonian, where Joe Russo and Neil Sol, who run that great center, make sure I do all my exercises.

Not only in Houston, but in all your clubs around the country, you do so much to better the health of so many people. Your "Adopt-A-School" Program, by which you teach our children that it's fun to be fit, is exactly on target with the goals set forth by my President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. I am proud that my friends, Arnold Schwarzenegger and John Butterfield, who head up this Council, have joined you in your efforts to stress the importance of regular exercise to all Americans through your annual Commit to Get Fit program.

Finally, I want to commend you for your commitment to make every IRSA club a "Special Olympics Training Center" by 1995.

Your goal is in keeping with a tradition of voluntary service to others -- Points of Light -- which is as old as our nation itself.

All Americans deserve quality health care and a sense of well-being. Members of IRSA clubs ^{if}exemplify the role that community groups can play in helping everyone lead a fuller, healthier life.

Thank you so very much for this honor. Keep up the good work and the good works. Now, if you'll excuse me I'm going to go live up to this tribute and take a few laps around the South Lawn. God bless you and the United States of America.

Nix
March 19, 1992
Draft Two 8:00 a.m.
HEALTH

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: NATIONAL MANAGED HEALTH CARE CONGRESS
MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

Ladies and gentleman, I have a special reason for welcoming the National Managed Health Care Congress to Washington.

We face the challenge of providing all Americans access to quality, affordable health care. The national debate rages around the question of whether to reform the system we have now - - which is the finest in the world -- or to replace it with a government-controlled, bureaucratized system.

Make no mistake: Socialized medicine would mean sapping the vitality and initiative out of our system -- vitality and initiative that have made American health care second to none in the world.

The accomplishments of the American health care system are enormous. We lead the world in pharmaceutical and technological discoveries. Nevertheless, there are some challenges that we must address. We know them well: making available adequate access to health care coverage for the underinsured -- and maintaining quality health care at a cost that is affordable and competitive with the rest of the world.

All of us need to understand what's at stake. Economically, the rising costs of health care sap America's competitiveness, and put American jobs in jeopardy. And all of us know that worries about adequate health care are the kind of thing that keep people up late at night. Every family shares a concern -- especially for our children -- to see that everyone gets the health care they need.

underline

My health care policy enables America to meet these objectives, while preserving free market choice. This is why your input is vital. Your experience with coordinated care, which is a fundamental part of our plan, can help meet the challenges we face. ~~We need to communicate the benefits of a free market system in health care to the American people. We need to do it quickly.~~

So I welcome you to Washington for your annual meeting; and I hope that, as you meet, you remember the larger mission that we need to accomplish together.

God bless you and the United States of America.

Nix
March 19, 1992
Draft One 1:30 p.m.
BRADY

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: SALUTE TO ORIOLES AND STADIUM
AUTHORITY
MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

Clinton D
My sincere congratulations to the Baltimore Orioles and the Maryland Stadium Authority on the opening of Oriole Park at Camden Yards -- our nation's newest major league ballpark.

Congratulations also to all those who worked so long and hard over the last several years to assure that the new ballpark would be fully accessible for the disabled so they could share in our nation's pastime.

I join Jim Brady and the National Organization on Disability in urging communities all across America to do whatever they can to assure the disabled access to all of their sports facilities.

The Americans with Disabilities Act, which I signed in 1990, ensures equal opportunities for all disabled Americans. The Orioles and the Stadium Authority have gone beyond the letter of the law to demonstrate the spirit behind its enactment -- the goal that all our citizens participate fully in every aspect of life in America.

Again, congratulations. I look forward to throwing out the first ball ^{of the} ~~in a~~ World Series game ~~maybe~~ at Camden Yards, ^{October} ~~this~~ coming ~~October.~~

Nix
March 19, 1992
Draft One 1:30 p.m.
QUALITY

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: ACCEPTANCE OF PERSON OF THE YEAR AWARD
FROM THE ASSOCIATION OF QUALITY CLUBS
MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

Members of IRSA, and invited guests from around the world.
Thank you very much for this award. I share your personal commitment to the value of regular exercise and applaud your dedication to expanding the awareness of the benefits of fitness.
For people of every age, regular exercise improves the quality of life. And, for businesses of every size, regular exercise programs help improve productivity, boost morale, and help reduce the costs of health care.

Back home in Houston, I'm a member of one of your IRSA clubs, The Houstonian, where Joe Russo and Neil Sol, who run that great center, make sure I do all my exercises.

Not only in Houston, but in all your clubs around the country, you do so much to better the health of so many people.
Your "Adopt-A-School" Program, by which you teach our children that it's fun to be fit, is exactly on target with the goals set forth by my President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.
I am proud that my friends, Arnold Schwarzenegger and John Butterfield, who head up this Council, have joined you in your efforts to stress the importance of regular exercise to all Americans through your annual Commit to Get Fit program.

Finally, I want to commend you for your commitment to make every IRSA club a "Special Olympics Training Center" by 1995.

Your goal is in keeping with a tradition of voluntary service to others -- Points of Light -- which is as old as our nation itself.

All Americans deserve quality health care and a sense of well-being. Members of IRSA clubs ~~have~~ exemplified the role that community groups can play in helping everyone lead a fuller, healthier life.

Thank you so very much for this honor. Keep up the good work and the good works. Now, if you'll excuse me I'm going to go live up to this tribute and take a few laps around the South Lawn. God bless you and the United States of America.

Nix
March 19, 1992
Draft One 1:30 p.m.
BRADY

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: SALUTE TO ORIOLES AND STADIUM
AUTHORITY
MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

My sincere congratulations to the Maryland Stadium Authority, the Baltimore Orioles and all their fans on the opening of Oriole Park at Camden Yards -- our nation's newest major league ballpark.

Congratulations also to all those who worked so long and hard over the last several years to assure that the new ballpark would be fully accessible for the disabled so they could share in our nation's pastime.

I join Jim Brady and the National Organization on Disability in urging communities all across America to do whatever they can to assure the disabled access to all of their sports facilities.

The Americans with Disabilities Act, which I signed in 1990, ensures equal opportunities for all disabled Americans. The Orioles and the Stadium Authority have gone beyond the letter of the law to demonstrate the spirit behind its enactment -- the goal that all our citizens participate fully in every aspect of life in America.

Again, congratulations. Maybe I'll see you in October to throw out the first ball of the World Series at Camden Yards.

Nix
March 19, 1992
Draft One 1:30 p.m.
BRADY

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: SALUTE TO ORIOLES AND STADIUM
AUTHORITY
MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

My sincere congratulations to the Baltimore Orioles and the Maryland Stadium Authority on the opening of Oriole Park at Camden Yards -- our nation's newest major league ballpark.

Congratulations also to all those who worked so long and hard over the last several years to assure that the new ballpark would be fully accessible for the disabled so they could share in our nation's pastime.

I join Jim Brady and the National Organization on Disability in urging communities all across America to do whatever they can to assure the disabled access to all of their sports facilities.

The Americans with Disabilities Act, which I signed in 1990, ensures equal opportunities for all disabled Americans. The Orioles and the Stadium Authority have gone beyond the letter of the law to demonstrate the spirit behind its enactment -- the goal that all our citizens participate fully in every aspect of life in America.

Again, congratulations. I look forward to throwing out the first ball in a World Series game maybe at Camden Yards this coming October.

Nix
March 19, 1992
Draft One 1:30 p.m.
QUALITY

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: ACCEPTANCE OF PERSON OF THE YEAR AWARD
FROM THE ASSOCIATION OF QUALITY CLUBS
MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

Members of IRSA, and invited guests from around the world. Thank you very much for this award. I share your personal commitment to the value of regular exercise and applaud your dedication to expanding the awareness of the benefits of fitness. For people of every age, regular exercise improves the quality of life. And, for businesses of every size, regular exercise programs help improve productivity, boost morale, and help reduce the costs of health care.

Back home in Houston, I'm a member of one of your IRSA clubs, The Houstonian, where Joe Russo and Neil Sol, who run that great center, make sure I do all my exercises.

Not only in Houston, but in all your clubs around the country, you do so much to better the health of so many people. Your "Adopt-A-School" Program, by which you teach our children that it's fun to be fit, is exactly on target with the goals set forth by my President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. I am proud that my friends, Arnold Schwarzenegger and John Butterfield, who head up this Council, have joined you in your efforts to stress the importance of regular exercise to all Americans through your annual Commit to Get Fit program.

Finally, I want to commend you for your commitment to make every IRSA club a "Special Olympics Training Center" by 1995.

Your goal is in keeping with a tradition of voluntary service to others -- Points of Light -- which is as old as our nation itself.

All Americans deserve quality health care and a sense of well-being. Members of IRSA clubs have exemplified the role that community groups can play in helping everyone lead a fuller, healthier life.

Thank you so very much for this honor. Keep up the good work and the good works. Now, if you'll excuse me I'm going to go live up to this tribute and take a few laps around the South Lawn. God bless you and the United States of America.

the world.

Nix
March 19, 1992
Draft Two 8:00 a.m.
HEALTH

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: NATIONAL MANAGED HEALTH CARE CONGRESS
MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

Ladies and gentleman, I have a special reason for welcoming the National Managed Health Care Congress to Washington.

We face the challenge of providing all Americans access to quality, affordable health care. The national debate rages around the question of whether to reform the system we have now - which is the finest in the world -- or to replace it with a government-controlled, bureaucratized system.

Make no mistake: Socialized medicine would mean sapping the vitality and initiative out of our system -- vitality and initiative that have made American health care second to none in the world.

The accomplishments of the American health care system are enormous. We lead the world in pharmaceutical and technological discoveries. Nevertheless, there are some challenges that we must address. We know them well: making available adequate access to health care coverage for the underinsured -- and maintaining quality health care at a cost that is affordable and competitive with the rest of the world.

All of us need to understand what's at stake. Economically, the rising costs of health care sap America's competitiveness, and put American jobs in jeopardy. And all of us know that worries about adequate health care are the kind of thing that keep people up late at night. Every family shares a concern -- especially for our children -- to see that everyone gets the health care they need.

My health care policy enables America to meet these objectives, while preserving free market choice. This is why your input is vital. Your experience with coordinated care, which is a fundamental part of our plan, can help meet the challenges we face. We need to communicate the benefits of a free market system in health care to the American people. We need to do it quickly.

So I welcome you to Washington for your annual meeting; and I hope that, as you meet, you remember the larger mission that we need to accomplish together.

God bless you and the United States of America.