PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: STATEMENT FOLLOWING DELORS MEETING
BRUSSELS, BELGIUM
MAY 30, 1989

I am pleased to have had this opportunity to meet with President Delors and to discuss the important changes underway in Europe. As one of the chief architects of European integration, President Delors has been a driving force in the European Community's advance towards a single market in 1992.

American support for a free, prosperous integrated Europe is of long standing, dating from the days of World War II and the Marshall Plan. As Alliance partners and as trading partners, we believe that a united Europe -- one that shares a common commitment to democracy and, to human rights and to the power of individual initiative -- is a source of strength. We believe a strong Europe means a strong America and a strong and growing commonwealth of ^{free} nations.

The fundamental fact of 1992 is that Europe understands its future lies with free and open trade. We welcome 1992 and are confident that the creation of a single European market will advance liberal trade and prosperity worldwide. All of us have our own economic interests -- all of us know that the pressures for protectionism can be great. But all of us recognize that the ultimate outcome of protectionist policies is stunted growth and reduced standards of living. A free and flourishing global economy is the key to growth.

Today is a time of significant change in international affairs. The ideas of freedom, democracy and free enterprise are on the march -- in the nations of Eastern Europe, in the Soviet Union, and elsewhere around the globe. As both an example and as an increasingly active player on issues of global importance, the EC can exert enormous influence to advance these positive trends.

We will continue to consult closely with the European Community. And I look forward to renewing the discussions we've begun here today, with Commission President Delors and with the leaders of European Community member governments in the months ahead.

Thank you.

I am pleased to have had this opportunity to meet with President Delors and discuss the important changes underway in Europe. As one of the chief architects of European integration, President Delors has been a driving force in the European Community's advance towards a single market in 1992.

American support for an integrated Europe is long-standing, dating from the days of the Marshall Plan. As Alliance partners and trading partners, we believe that a united Europe -- one that shares a common commitment to democracy and the rights of the individual -- is a source of strength.

The fundamental fact of 1992 is that Europe understands its future lies with free and open trade. We are confident that the creation of a single European market will advance free trade worldwide. All of us have our own commercial interests -- all of us know that the pressures for protectionism can be great. But all of us must recognize that the ultimate outcome of protectionist policies is stunted growth and sluggish development. A free and flourishing global economy is the key to growth.

Today is a time of significant change in international affairs. The ideas of freedom, democracy and free enterprise are on the march -- in the nations of Eastern Europe, in the Soviet Union, and elsewhere around the globe. As an increasingly active player in issues of global importance, the EC can exert enormous influence to advance these positive trends.

I look forward to continuing close consultations with the European Community, and to renewing the discussions we've begun here today, when President Delors visits Washington just a few weeks from now.

Thank you.

Suggested Presidential Remarks

Following Meeting With EC Commission President Delors

I am pleased to have had this opportunity to meet with President Delors and discuss the important changes underway in Europe. President Delors himself has been in the forefront of the dramatic process of quickening the pace of European integration and ^{seeking towards a truly common market} to complete the European Community's single market by January 1993.

^{American support for European integration has} is long-standing; The United States has consistently supported the process of European integration ever ^{dating from the days of} since the Marshall Plan. We continue to believe that a united Europe which shares our values, our commitment to democracy and human rights makes for a stronger Atlantic Alliance as well as a more prosperous and vibrant market and trading partner.

We are confident that the end result, as ^{European} your own leaders ^{has} told us, will be an open, non-protectionist Europe. The ^{pressure} pressure for protectionism can be great, but we must all resist the temptation. We will watch the details of how you implement your single market program, of course, to insure that our own commercial interests are protected.

Handwritten mark resembling a stylized 'A' or 'H' with a question mark.

These are exciting times with changes underway in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union, and indeed around the globe. Democracy and free enterprise are on the march. The Community is an increasingly active player in many of the most important issues of common interest to us such as debt, development and the environment. Together, we and the EC can exert ^{an} enormous ~~and positive~~ ^{for good} influence on these trends. I look forward to continuing close consultations with the European Community on these [events], starting with President Delors' visit to Washington, June 14.

and an opportunity to renew the discussions we've begun today, when Pres. Delors ^{comes to} visits Washington in ~~mid-June~~ next month.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: STATEMENT FOLLOWING DELORS MEETING
BRUSSELS, BELGIUM
MAY 30, 1989

I am pleased to have had this opportunity to meet with President Delors and to discuss the important changes underway in Europe. As one of the chief architects of European integration, President Delors has been a driving force in the European Community's advance towards a single market in 1992.

American support for a free, prosperous integrated Europe is of long standing, dating from the days of World War II and the Marshall Plan. As Alliance partners and as trading partners, we believe that a united Europe -- one that shares a common commitment to democracy and, to human rights and to the power of individual initiative -- is a source of strength. We believe a strong Europe means a strong America and a strong and growing commonwealth of free nations.

The fundamental fact of 1992 is that Europe understands its future lies with free and open trade. We welcome 1992 and are confident that the creation of a single European market will advance liberal trade and prosperity worldwide. All of us have our own economic interests -- all of us know that the pressures for protectionism can be great. But all of us recognize that the ultimate outcome of protectionist policies is stunted growth and reduced standards of living. A free and flourishing global economy is the key to growth.

Today is a time of significant change in international affairs. The ideas of freedom, democracy and free enterprise are on the march -- in the nations of Eastern Europe, in the Soviet Union, and elsewhere around the globe. As both an example and as an increasingly active player on issues of global importance, the EC can exert enormous influence to advance these positive trends.

We will continue to consult closely with the European Community. And I look forward to renewing the discussions we've begun here today, with Commission President Delors and with the leaders of European Community member governments in the months ahead.

Thank you.

REMARKS: STATEMENT FOLLOWING DELORS MEETING
BRUSSELS, BELGIUM
MAY 30, 1989

I AM PLEASED TO HAVE HAD THIS OPPORTUNITY TO MEET WITH PRESIDENT DELORS AND TO DISCUSS THE IMPORTANT CHANGES UNDERWAY IN EUROPE. AS ONE OF THE CHIEF ARCHITECTS OF EUROPEAN INTEGRATION, PRESIDENT DELORS HAS BEEN A DRIVING FORCE IN THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY'S ADVANCE TOWARDS A SINGLE MARKET IN 1992.

AMERICAN SUPPORT FOR A FREE, PROSPEROUS INTEGRATED EUROPE IS OF LONG STANDING, DATING FROM THE DAYS OF WORLD WAR II AND THE MARSHALL PLAN. AS ALLIANCE PARTNERS AND AS TRADING PARTNERS, WE BELIEVE THAT A UNITED EUROPE -- ONE THAT SHARES A COMMON COMMITMENT TO DEMOCRACY AND, TO HUMAN RIGHTS AND TO THE POWER OF INDIVIDUAL INITIATIVE -- IS A SOURCE OF STRENGTH. WE BELIEVE A STRONG EUROPE MEANS A STRONG AMERICA AND A STRONG AND GROWING COMMONWEALTH OF FREE NATIONS.

THE FUNDAMENTAL FACT OF 1992 IS THAT EUROPE UNDERSTANDS ITS FUTURE LIES WITH FREE AND OPEN TRADE. WE WELCOME 1992 AND ARE CONFIDENT THAT THE CREATION OF A SINGLE EUROPEAN MARKET WILL ADVANCE LIBERAL TRADE AND PROSPERITY WORLDWIDE. ALL OF US HAVE OUR OWN ECONOMIC INTERESTS -- ALL OF US KNOW THAT THE PRESSURES FOR PROTECTIONISM CAN BE GREAT.

BUT ALL OF US RECOGNIZE THAT THE ULTIMATE OUTCOME OF PROTECTIONIST POLICIES IS STUNTED GROWTH AND REDUCED STANDARDS OF LIVING. A FREE AND FLOURISHING GLOBAL ECONOMY IS THE KEY TO GROWTH.

TODAY IS A TIME OF SIGNIFICANT CHANGE IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS. THE IDEAS OF FREEDOM, DEMOCRACY AND FREE ENTERPRISE ARE ON THE MARCH -- IN THE NATIONS OF EASTERN EUROPE, IN THE SOVIET UNION, AND ELSEWHERE AROUND THE GLOBE.

AS BOTH AN EXAMPLE AND AS AN INCREASINGLY ACTIVE PLAYER ON ISSUES OF GLOBAL IMPORTANCE, THE EC CAN EXERT ENORMOUS INFLUENCE TO ADVANCE THESE POSITIVE TRENDS. WE WILL CONTINUE TO CONSULT CLOSELY WITH THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY. AND I LOOK FORWARD TO RENEWING THE DISCUSSIONS WE'VE BEGUN HERE TODAY, WITH COMMISSION PRESIDENT DELORS AND WITH THE LEADERS OF EUROPEAN COMMUNITY MEMBER GOVERNMENTS IN THE MONTHS AHEAD.

THANK YOU.
