THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary

For Immediate Release

October 3, 1989

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT
DURING SIGNING CEREMONY
FOR PROCLAMATIONS ON THE ENVIRONMENT AND TRADE BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND MEXICO

The Roosevelt Room

10:52 A.M. EDT

THE PRESIDENT: Let me just say that these agreements we're about to sign are symbolic of the breadth and ever-growing closeness of the United States-Mexican ties. They do prove the special relationship between our countries -- it's never been stronger. And I welcome them as a commitment of our two governments and of the President and myself to make progress over a wide variety of issues.

The understanding regarding trade and investment facilitation talks, for example, moves beyond the consultation encouraged by our framework understanding on trade to create a mandate for negotiation. And by taking the initiative, we will promote the increased trade and investment that can benefit both sides of our border.

The agreement on the protection and improvement of the environment of Mexico City is also significant, particularly in these times. For it commits our governments to jointly find ways to resolve air and other pollution problems in one of the largest cities in the world. Improving the quality of life for our people is a priority for both of our governments, and we welcome the personal commitment to this matter by President Salinas and his leadership.

So is finding a balanced response important -- a balanced response to our environmental needs. And this agreement confronts those needs.

So these two agreements, and others that will be signed this afternoon, as well as our joint efforts to fashion a plan for addressing Mexico's external debt, are concrete examples of how our administrations have worked closely together during the last 10 months. These agreements come from teamwork. They show what can and must be done to make relations between our two great nations even closer than they are today.

So Mr. President, I am delighted to be with you as we witness the signing of these two historic agreements, and I would welcome your comments, sir.

PRESIDENT SALINAS: The signing of these agreements simply comes to show the atmosphere of friendship that leads to concrete results which will undoubtedly benefit our two nations.

The first one -- the one on trade and investments for the facilitation of trade and investment simply opens up additional sources of employment in Mexico for Mexicans. It is also encouraging the export of products to generate well-being amongst all our citizens. It will further the investment processes so that Mexicans can find a job in Mexico. That is the central purpose of my visit to this country. This is a good and very positive atmosphere of dialogue which shows respect in our relations. There are differences, there are points of coincidence. But what it simply comes to show is that although we have differences, we have respect for them. In trade, we have more points of convergence that could even be furthered. Mexico has a political will in order to translate these specific agreements into benefits that will become a reality.

The second one, which is the agreement on the protection and the improvement of the environment, is, as you might well realize, of great relevance. Mexico City, the metropolitan area of Mexico, is the most populated and most polluted city in the world. Its population -- the number of inhabitants that this city has is more than the total population of Central America. We want better air for the Mexicans, for their children and for the children of their children in Mexico.

These two agreements -- the signing of these agreements is proof of the goodwill that exists between the two countries in relation to the benefits that this will derive for Mexico and for those who will visit Mexico -- to not only receive its very cordial and brotherly hospitality, but to enjoy its beauty and its culture.

May my recognition and my acknowledgement go together with my gratitude for the very positive attitude that the U.S. government has shown in this open dialogue which is proved today when we subscribe and sign these agreements for the benefit of the two countries.

(The agreement is signed.)

REMARKS: SALINAS TOAST
STATE DINING ROOM
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1989

PRESIDENT AND MRS. SALINAS, HONORED GUESTS, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.

IT IS INDEED A PRIVILEGE FOR BARBARA AND ME TO WELCOME YOU TO THE WHITE HOUSE. YOUR COUNTRY HAS OFTEN EXTENDED TO US THAT KINDNESS FOR WHICH MEXICO IS FAMOUS. TONIGHT, WE ARE HONORED TO HAVE YOU HERE.

MR. PRESIDENT, WE FIRST MET LAST NOVEMBER IN HOUSTON, TEXAS. WE MET, IF I MIGHT ADD THIS PERSONAL
NOTE, THE DAY AFTER YOUR HARVARD FOOTBALL CRIMSON FELL TO THE MIGHTY MEN OF YALE -- SORRY ABOUT THAT.

WE HAVE LEARNED ANEW HOW SPECIAL THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN MEXICO AND THE UNITED STATES CAN BE. THIS RELATIONSHIP WHICH HAS BEEN, AND CONTINUES TO BE, BOUND BY SO MANY TIES. WE HAVE BECOME GOOD FRIENDS.

THOSE TIES INCLUDE OUR 2,000-MILE BORDER, AND BILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN TRADE. THEY ARE EDUCATIONAL, POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC. OUR TIES REST ON RESPECT AND MATURITY, COMMUNICATION AND CONSULTATION. AND THE VALUES THAT WE CHERISH AND WHICH LINK OUR CULTURES -- VALUES OF FAITH, FAMILY, AND RESPECT FOR TRADITION.

AS A YOUNG MAN, MR. PRESIDENT, YOU STUDIED IN THE UNITED STATES. YOU KNOW US WELL, AND CAME TO UNDERSTAND OUR TIES.

I, TOO, REVERE THEM. FOR AS A TEXAN, I'VE LIVED MANY YEARS SIDE-BY-SIDE WITH MEXICO AND KNOW AND APPRECIATE YOUR BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY AND ITS WONDERFUL PEOPLE.

SUCH UNDERSTANDING LEADS TO TRUST. AND SUCH TRUST CAN LEAD TO PROGRESS. "SPEAKING OF TRUST" -- I TRUST YOU HAVE DRIED OUT FROM THAT GOLF CART TOUR OF CAMP DAVID. THERE WAS A TRUE DOWNPOUR UP THERE, BUT I WAS ANXIOUS FOR PRESIDENT SALINAS TO LOOK AROUND; SO HE AND I SET OUT IN A GOLF CART IN THIS DRIVING RAIN.

BARBARA WAS CONVINCED THAT I HAD JUST DEALT A SEVERE BLOW TO MEXICAN-U.S. RELATIONS. IT IS THIS "TRUST" I'M SPEAKING OF."

FOR FROM ITS EARLIEST DAYS, YOUR ADMINISTRATION HAS ACTED AS OUR NEIGHBOR, AND EQUAL PARTNER. AND KNOWN THAT BY APPLYING OUR RESOURCES TO COMMON PROBLEMS, WE CAN ENSURE A RICHER LIFE FOR ALL. NOW, LET US DO MORE.

LET US INCREASE BILATERAL TRADE AND ACHIEVE ECONOMIC GROWTH.

LET US EXPAND COOPERATION AND ENHANCE INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY. AND LET US SUPPORT DEMOCRACY IN OUR HEMISPHERE -- AND, THUS, REGIONAL SECURITY AND STABILITY. WE MUST ALSO REAFFIRM OUR COMMITMENT TO COMBATING NARCOTICS THAT IS BOTH A NATIONAL PRIORITY AND A HEMISPHERIC CRUSADE. FOR UNLESS WE DEFEAT DRUG USE AND TRAFFICKING, WE WILL HELP ROB OUR CHILDREN OF THEIR DREAMS.

THERE IS AN ANCIENT PROVERB WHICH GOES, "[God] GUIDES WHOM HE WILLS TO A STRAIGHT PATH." MR. PRESIDENT, LET OUR PATH BE STRAIGHT AND TRUE. AFFIRMING ALL THAT WHICH UNITES US. AND SO ENRICH THIS GENERATION -- AND ALL THE GENERATIONS TO COME.

IN THAT SPIRIT, I ASK ALL OF OUR GUESTS TONIGHT TO RISE AND RAISE THEIR GLASSES:

- TO MEXICAN-AMERICAN FRIENDSHIP;
- TO A BETTER WORLD FOR OUR CHILDREN, AND ALL CHILDREN;
- AND TO THE HEALTH AND HAPPINESS OF MY FRIEND AND COLLEAGUE, THE PRESIDENT OF MEXICO.

The two agreements ~~[that Secretary of State James Baker and Mexican Foreign Relations Secretary Fernando Solana]~~ ^{That} have just signed are symbolic of the breadth and ever-growing closeness of United States-Mexican ties. They prove that the special relationship between our countries has never been stronger.

I welcome these agreements as a signal of the commitment of our two governments -- and of President Salinas and myself -- to make progress over a wide variety of issues. Progress which befits old friends. For that is what our Nations have been, and are. And which befits neighbors and equal partners. For that is what we are, and shall remain.

The Understanding Regarding Trade and Investment Facilitation Talks, for instance, moves beyond the consultation encouraged by our Framework Understanding on Trade to create a mandate for negotiation. By taking the initiative, we will promote the increased trade and investment that can benefit both sides of the border.

The cooperation agreement on Mexico City pollution is also significant. For it commits our governments to jointly find ways to resolve air and other pollution problems in one of the largest cities in the world.

Improving the quality of life for our people is a priority of both our governments. So is finding balanced responses to our serious environmental needs. This agreement confronts those needs. Moreover, I believe, it paves the way to resolve pollution problems in other large cities in the United States and Mexico.

These two agreements, and others that will be signed this afternoon, are concrete examples of how our Administrations have worked closely together during the last ten months. They spring from teamwork. And show what can, and must, be done to make relations between our two great Nations even closer than they are today.

This, Mr. President, is our challenge. I have no doubt we will meet it. Meet it through common efforts. And common bonds -- commercial, financial, family, historical, and cultural. Meet it through perhaps your visit's greatest gift -- the free, open, and ongoing dialogue you offer us with the Mexican government and the Mexican people.

Let us pledge to make ours the relationship of the offered hand and open heart. And that these agreements will be the forerunner of many more understandings between our countries. And let me close with these words of the great Mexican philosopher, Alfonso Reyes [RAY-es], born 100 years ago. "Let us go forward together," he said. "Together in our efforts; together in friendship and affection. Ever together."

~~My friend, let us go forward. And in that spirit, I now bid you an affectionate farewell. Of this I am sure: We will see much of each other in the months and years to come.~~

~~Let us pledge that these agreements will be the rare product of many more circumstances between our two countries.~~

DIPLOMATIC ENTRANCE
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1989

The two agreements that Secretary of State James Baker and Mexican Foreign Relations Secretary Fernando Solana have just signed are symbolic of the breadth and ever-growing closeness of United States-Mexican ties. They prove that the special relationship between our countries has never been stronger.

I welcome these agreements as a signal of the commitment of our two governments -- and of President Salinas and myself -- to make progress over a wide variety of issues. Progress which befits old friends. For that is what our Nations have been, and are. And which befits neighbors and equal partners. For that is what we are, and shall remain.

The Understanding Regarding Trade and Investment Facilitation Talks, for instance, moves beyond the consultation encouraged by our Framework Understanding on Trade to create a mandate for negotiation. By taking the initiative, we will promote the increased trade and investment that can benefit both sides of the border.

The cooperation agreement on Mexico City pollution is also significant. For it commits our governments to jointly find ways to resolve air and other pollution problems in one of the largest cities in the world.

Improving the quality of life for our people is a priority of both our governments. So is finding balanced responses to our serious environmental needs. This agreement confronts those needs. Moreover, I believe, it paves the way to resolve pollution problems in other large cities in the United States and Mexico.

These two agreements, and others that will be signed this afternoon, are concrete examples of how our Administrations have worked closely together during the last ten months. They spring from teamwork. And show what can, and must, be done to make relations between our two great Nations even closer than they are today.

This, Mr. President, is our challenge. I have no doubt we will meet it. Meet it through common efforts. And common bonds -- commercial, financial, family, historical, and cultural. Meet it through perhaps your visit's greatest gift -- the free, open, and ongoing dialogue you offer us with the Mexican government and the Mexican people.

Let us pledge to make ours the relationship of the offered hand and open heart. And that these agreements will be the foregonner of many more understandings between our countries. And let me close with these words of the great Mexican philosopher, Alfonso Reyes [RAY-es], born 100 years ago. "Let us go forward together," he said. "Together in our efforts; together in friendship and affection. Ever together."

My friend, let us go forward. And in that spirit, I now bid you an ^a affectionate farewell. Of this I am sure: We will see much of each other in the months and years to come.
