REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT
DURING NATIONAL DRUG
CONTROL POLICY LUNCHEON

The Indian Treaty Room

1:39 P.M. EST

THE PRESIDENT: Bill, thank you. Thank you all. Well, I heard about this luncheon, and I have talked to Bill about your really heroic work. And I'd like to just say a word about his heroic work to start with, because I've never seen a fellow come in and take a tremendously difficult assignment like this, hit the ground running and accomplish a great deal. And I think we all owe Bill Bennett a vote of thanks. He's out there in the trenches. He's in the boardrooms. He's everywhere. He's like Batman. (Laughter.) So thank you for all you're doing. (Applause.)

No -- and I'm very sorry about the delays getting everybody in here. The good news, however: you don't have to show an ID to get out of this place. (Laughter.) And I apologize for being a couple of minutes later than I had intended in coming over here.

But I'm glad to see that so many of you could come to Washington. I see Al Brooks and, of course, Erma, having been and seen their projects. I feel a kinship with them and, really indeed with all the rest of you, from what Bill has told me.

In the past year, I have spent a lot of time praising those involved in service to others. And I'm grateful for this opportunity to salute you not only as what we call "Points of Light," but as also "points of courage."

When I was in Kansas City, in the Baptist church basement where Al has his headquarters, there was a banner on the wall that asked a four-word question. It went like this: "Is This Dream Possible?" And when I look around this room and when I talk to the director, I know the answer to that one.

In this room are 28 folks who refused to surrender, 28 reasons why I really now believe, as Bill does, that we are going to win.

A few months ago, Bill Bennett wrote a booklet called "Fighting Back." And many of you here were profiled in that piece.

Almost every story was different. But almost every story began the same way. It began when one man or woman threw down the hat, took off the gloves, stepped forward, armed with the most powerful force known to man -- the force of an idea.

You fought back. You got involved. You made a difference, and you proved to America that this war can be won.

So I think you are America's hometown heroes -- unconventional warriors -- but this is an unconventional war. You've shown how the communities under siege can be united in a battle for life, and how they can be restored to health and safety. Doing it your way, on your turf.

It's sometimes hard to see with all these lights, but the ceiling here is decorated, and you can see it, with a field of golden stars. Just like real stars, we often forget to notice them.

MORE

You are the stars in America's war on drugs. You shine through the dark, you give hope in the night. And we're here today really to say that someone noticed. Bill Bennett noticed. And I noticed. And I hope all of America will notice.

This used to be the Navy's library right here, and of course, stars have a special significance to those who navigate on the seas. And in this sense, stars like you do far more than fuel hopes and prayers. You are also beacons to thousands of other people, immovable lights by which they can chart their course to victory.

So I just wanted to stop by here to say thanks, to assure you that we're going to keep on fighting against drugs and fighting for you, for your neighborhoods, and most of all for the kids, the children out there. And we're going to remember the rallying cry of Chicago's Father George Clements: "There are more of us than there are of them." (Applause.)

Congratulations and thank you all for what you're doing. Thank you very much. (Applause.)

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

THROUGH: CHRISS WINSTON W
FROM: EDWARD McNALLY EM
SUBJECT: DROP-BY: LUNCH HONORING DRUG WAR HEROES

I. SUMMARY

Attached are draft remarks for Wednesday afternoon's remarks, an O.E.O.B. "drop-by" honoring 28 citizen-heroes in America's war on drugs.

II. DISCUSSION

At 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 7, 1990, you are scheduled to arrive in the Indian Treaty Room of the Old Executive Office Building, where Bill Bennett is hosting a lunch to honor citizen-heroes of the war on drugs -- 28 Americans he has met during his fact-finding trips around the country.

The honorees include Erma Scales (who you met at the Acres Homes rally in Houston last December) and Al Brooks (who was your host during January's tour of Kansas City neighborhoods hard hit by drugs).

The brief remarks (4 minutes, on cards) are scheduled to be delivered after the luncheon itself has already concluded.

LUNCH HONORING DRUG WAR "HEROES"/INDIAN TREATY ROOM
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1990, 1:30 P.M.

THANK YOU, BILL [[BENNETT]], FOR THOSE KIND WORDS,
AND FOR THE OUTSTANDING JOB YOU'RE DOING AS OUR DRUG POLICY DIRECTOR.

SORRY ABOUT THE DELAYS GETTING EVERYONE IN HERE.
BUT I HAVE GOOD NEWS. YOU DON'T HAVE TO SHOW A PICTURE
I.D. TO GET OUT. \\\

I'M GLAD TO SEE SO MANY OF YOU COULD COME TO
WASHINGTON. AND IT'S GOOD TO SEE AL BROOKS AND ERMA SCALES AGAIN.

IN THE PAST YEAR, I'VE SPENT A LOT OF TIME PRAISING
THOSE INVOLVED IN SERVICE TO OTHERS. AND I'M GRATEFUL
FOR THIS OPPORTUNITY TO SALUTE YOU NOT ONLY AS "POINTS OF LIGHT" -- BUT ALSO AS "POINTS OF COURAGE."

WHEN I WAS IN KANSAS CITY, IN THE BAPTIST CHURCH BASEMENT WHERE AL BROOKS HAS HIS HEADQUARTERS, THERE WAS A BANNER ON THE WALL THAT ASKED A FOUR-WORD QUESTION. IT SAID: "IS THIS DREAM POSSIBLE?" AND WHEN I LOOK AROUND THIS ROOM, I KNOW THE ANSWER. IN THIS ROOM ARE 28 PEOPLE WHO REFUSED TO SURRENDER. AND IN THIS ROOM ARE 28 REASONS WHY WE'RE GOING TO WIN.

A FEW MONTHS AGO, BILL BENNETT WROTE A BOOKLET CALLED "FIGHTING BACK." AND MANY OF YOU HERE WERE PROFILED IN IT.

ALMOST EVERY STORY IS DIFFERENT. BUT ALMOST EVERY STORY BEGAN THE SAME WAY. IT BEGAN WHEN ONE OR ONE MAN WOMAN THREW DOWN HIS HAT, TOOK OFF THE GLOVES, AND STEPPED FORWARD ARMED WITH THE MOST POWERFUL FORCE KNOWN TO MAN: THE FORCE OF AN IDEA.

YOU FOUGHT BACK. YOU GOT INVOLVED. YOU MADE A DIFFERENCE. AND YOU PROVED TO AMERICA THAT THIS WAR CAN BE WON!

YOU ARE AMERICA'S HOMETOWN HEROES -- UNCONVENTIONAL WARRIORS FOR AN UNCONVENTIONAL WAR. YOU'VE SHOWN HOW COMMUNITIES UNDER SIEGE CAN BE UNITED IN A BATTLE FOR LIFE -- AND HOW THEY CAN BE RESTORED TO HEALTH AND SAFETY. DOING IT YOUR WAY, ON YOUR TURF.

IT'S SOMETIMES HARD TO SEE WITH ALL THESE LIGHTS, BUT THE CEILING HERE IS DECORATED WITH A FIELD OF GOLDEN STARS. JUST LIKE REAL STARS, WE OFTEN FORGET TO NOTICE THEM.

YOU ARE THE STARS IN AMERICA'S WAR ON DRUGS. YOU SHINE THROUGH THE DARK AND GIVE HOPE IN THE NIGHT. AND WE'RE HERE TODAY TO SAY THAT SOMEONE NOTICED. BILL BENNETT NOTICED. AND I NOTICED.

THIS USED TO BE THE NAVY'S LIBRARY, AND OF COURSE, STARS HAVE A SPECIAL SIGNIFICANCE TO THOSE WHO NAVIGATE ON THE SEAS. AND IN THIS SENSE, STARS LIKE YOU DO FAR MORE THAN FUEL HOPES AND DREAMS. YOU ARE ALSO BEACONS TO THOUSANDS OF OTHERS, IMMOVABLE LIGHTS BY WHICH THEY CAN CHART THEIR COURSE TO VICTORY.

SO WE'RE GOING TO KEEP ON FIGHTING -- AGAINST DRUGS -- AND FOR YOU. AND WE'RE GOING TO REMEMBER THE RALLYING CRY OF CHICAGO'S FATHER GEORGE CLEMENTS: "THERE ARE MORE OF US THAN THERE ARE OF THEM."

CONGRATULATIONS AND THANKS TO YOU ALL. SAFE TRAVELS ON YOUR WAY HOME. GOD BLESS YOU AND THOSE YOU LOVE. AND GOD BLESS THE UNITED STATES.

Almost every story is different. But almost every story began the same way. It began when one man or one woman threw down their hat, took off the gloves, and stepped forward armed with the most powerful force known to man: The force of an idea.

You fought back. You got involved. You made a difference. And you proved to America that this war can be won!

You are America's hometown heroes -- unconventional warriors for an unconventional war. You've shown how communities under siege can be united in a battle for life -- and how they can be restored to health and safety.

Doing it your way, on your turf. School by school. Block by block. Kid by kid. Marching in front of crack houses. Patrolling the streets around our schools. Working with clergy and police, doctors and teachers. Serving as role models for all our children -- and all America.

It's sometimes hard to see with all these lights, but the ceiling here is decorated with a field of golden stars. Just like real stars, we often forget to notice them.

You are the stars in America's war on drugs. You shine through the dark and give hope in the night. And we're here today to say that someone noticed. Bill Bennett noticed. And I noticed.

This used to be the Navy's library, and of course, stars have a special significance to those who navigate on the seas.

And in this sense, stars like you do far more than fuel hopes and dreams. You are also beacons to thousands of others, immovable lights by which they can chart their course to victory.

So we're going to keep on fighting -- against drugs -- and for you. And we're going to remember the rallying cry of Chicago's Reverend George Clements: "There are more of us than there are of them."

Congratulations and thanks to you all. Safe travels on your way home. God bless you and those you love. And God bless the United States.

MEMORANDUM FOR CHRISS WINSTON

FROM: JIM PINKERTON
SUBJECT: Draft Remarks: Drug War Heroes

A draft that achieves its message of uplift within the very brief length of time permitted. One minor comment:

pg. 3, para. 2, line 3 "...Chicago's Reverend George Clements..."

We wonder whether the appellation isn't usually "Father George Clements."

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: LUNCH HONORING DRUG WAR "HEROES"
INDIAN TREATY ROOM, O.E.O.B.
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1990, 1:30 P.M.

Thank you, Bill [[BENNETT]], for those kind words, and for the outstanding job you're doing as our Drug Policy Director.

Sorry about the delays getting everyone in here. But I have good news. You don't have to show a picture I.D. to get out. \\\

I'm glad to see so many of you could come to Washington. And it's good to see Al Brooks and Erma Scales again -- I was bragging about your work just last Friday, at an anti-drug rally for 15,000 people out in California.

I'm sorry that Barbara wasn't able to join us this afternoon -- she had a previous commitment up on Capitol Hill. But she wanted me to give you her regards and thanks, too.

In the past year, I've spent a lot of time praising those involved in service to others. And as the commander in chief in the war on drugs, I'm grateful for this opportunity to salute you not only as "points of light" -- but also as "points of courage."

When I was in Kansas City, in the Baptist church basement where Al Brooks has his headquarters, there was a banner on the wall that asked a four-word question. It said: "Is This Dream Possible?" And when I look around this room, I know the answer.

In this room are 100 people who refused to surrender. And in this room are 100 reasons why we're going to win.

A few months ago, Bill Bennett wrote a booklet called "Fighting Back." And many of you here were profiled in it.

Almost every story is different. But almost every story began the same way. It began when one man or one woman threw down their hat, took off the gloves, and stepped forward armed with the most powerful force known to man: The force of an idea.

You fought back. You got involved. You made a difference. And you proved to America that this war can be won!
