THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary

For Immediate Release

July 11, 1990

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT
AT THE THANK YOU HOUSTON CELEBRATION

The University of Houston

7:13 P.M. CDT

THE PRESIDENT: Listen, Barbara and I really wanted to come over and say thank you to all of you. To Judge Lindsey and to Mayor Whitmire, to Ken Lay and George Strake, Fred Malek and so many others, I am very, very grateful and, so is Bar, and to our entertainers for tonight, Randy Travis and Jaclyn Smith, Marilyn McCoo. You know when Marilyn was last here with the Fifth Dimension, she sang a hit called "Last Night I Didn't Get to Sleep at All." Well, we understand that, and I expect that Secretary Baker and Secretary Brady from the hard work they've put in in the summit understand it. But let me tell you that in the views of the United States' delegation to this important summit, it has been a howling success. And much of the credit goes to Houston, Texas, and the thousands of volunteers that made all of us feel so at home. (Applause.)

And so it's this celebration that tops off three days -- I would say three historic days -- for the people of Houston and indeed for the people of the world. For decades, we've kept the face of freedom burning. We've borne the banner of liberty. And now the people of Berlin and Budapest and so many other parts of the world have lifted that liberty banner for themselves.

And in Houston, the presidents and the prime ministers, who lead the largest industrialized democracies, met to build a world beyond the Cold War, to uphold the revolution of 1989, to help liberated nations enter the 21st Century as enduring democracies, and to support a free world, free wills and free markets for all mankind.

So you see this hasn't just been a successful summit; in a broad foreign policy sense it's been a celebration -- a celebration on behalf of all nations and of all peoples, a celebration of their victory over barbed wire and concrete walls and discredit despotism.

The tone of this summit was set by the people of Berlin last fall. And the success of this summit is a tribute to my six colleagues from abroad. But it is also a tribute to you, those who made this summit work, the people of the city of Houston, Texas.

I know that you've put up with a lot having us here -- closed streets, tail-bumper driving, nerve-racking regularity of helicopters and constant security. And I know how tough this can be on a town. But even more to the point, I want to thank you, thank you all for all you have done to make this summit such a success.

You know Houston, in my view, has always been a clean city. But thanks to the people who have cleaned Houston, this volunteer effort, this city sparkled. And I wish I could go out there and just shake hands and thank each and every one -- (applause) -- every one of you. Thousands, literally thousands of volunteers who pitched in during their spare time to make Houston a showcase for the world. And just look at what you've done. Thousands of volunteers -- we call them points of light, Texas points of light -- who scoured the streets and the alleys for litter, planting flowers in the parks, painting over graffiti. And by June 23rd, Ken Lay and

MORE

George Strake told me, 5,261 Houstonians put in 26,200 hours to remove 2.7 million pounds of trash and debris. (Applause.) And what a record. What an example for the rest of our country. (Applause.)

Bill, I really do believe that you've shown the world what Houston pride is all about. So, in closing, let me say that I know that Houston, our great city, had a rough go in the last few years, but as I travel around town, I see more and more signs of a city, not just on the mend, which we all know is true, but a city totally rebounding, a city on the go. And not just a city with a future, but a city of the future. (Applause.)

One other comment on today. I know that Barbara and I will never forget when the seven leaders and I moved through that downtown area how the whole city turned out. The newscast this evening said more than 100,000 people along the streets with the balloons and the bands and the welcoming signs and the friendly smiles. And you've turned this ordinary procession of motorcades into a parade -- a moment of unforgettable international hospitality that the visiting presidents, prime ministers, and chancellor will take home with them. Every single one of them commented to me on that warm outpouring of hospitality and friendship.

So, in short, you've shown the world what Houston hospitality is all about. You made -- you set it -- you set the background for a highly successful and very important meeting between these countries. And you made this Houstonian very, very proud of his hometown tonight. (Applause.)

Thank you all very, very much.

((THANK YOU AMBASSADOR MALEK, AND THANKS SO MUCH TO YOUR SUMMIT STAFF. JUDGE LINDSEY, MAYOR WHITMIRE, GEORGE STRAKE, KEN LAY AND ALL OF YOU -- THANK YOU SO VERY MUCH FOR THIS ROUSING RECEPTION.))

((RANDY TRAVIS AND JACKLYN SMITH -- THANK YOU FOR A WONDERFUL EVENING. MARILYN MCCOO, WHEN YOU WERE WITH THE "FIFTH DIMENSION," YOU SANG A HIT CALLED "LAST NIGHT I DIDN'T GET TO SLEEP AT ALL."

WITH THE KIND OF HOURS JIM BAKER HAS BEEN PUTTING INTO THESE SUMMITS, YOU'D THINK THAT WOULD BE HIS THEME SONG, TOO.))

((AND LET ME SAY SOMETHING ABOUT WHAT WE HOUSTONIANS CALL THE EIGHTH WONDER OF THE WORLD -- THE ASTRODOME. I HOPE YOU'LL FORGIVE ME FOR THINKING OF IT TONIGHT AS NUMBER NINE -- THE NINTH WONDER AS LONG AS THE SILVER FOX IS IN TOWN.))

TONIGHT'S CELEBRATION TOPS OFF THREE DAYS -- THREE HISTORIC DAYS -- FOR THE PEOPLE OF HOUSTON, AND FOR THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD. FOR DECADES, WE'VE KEPT THE FAITH OF FREEDOM BURNING, WE'VE BORNE THE BANNER OF LIBERTY. NOW THE PEOPLE OF BERLIN, BUDAPEST AND OF SO MANY OTHER PARTS OF THE WORLD HAVE LIFTED THAT LIBERTY BANNER FOR THEMSELVES.

IN HOUSTON, THE PRESIDENTS AND PRIME MINISTERS WHO LEAD THE LARGEST INDUSTRIALIZED DEMOCRACIES MET TO BUILD A WORLD BEYOND THE COLD WAR.\\ TO UPHOLD THE REVOLUTION OF '89 -- TO HELP LIBERATED NATIONS ENTER THE 21ST CENTURY AS ENDURING DEMOCRACIES. TO SUPPORT FREE WILLS AND FREE MARKETS FOR ALL MANKIND.

SO THIS HASN'T JUST BEEN A SUCCESSFUL SUMMIT -- IT HAS BEEN A CELEBRATION.

A CELEBRATION ON BEHALF OF ALL NATIONS AND, OF ALL PEOPLES, A CELEBRATION OF THEIR VICTORY OVER BARBED WIRE, CONCRETE WALLS AND THE DISCREDITED DESPOTISM.

THE TONE OF THIS SUMMIT WAS SET BY THE PEOPLE OF BERLIN LAST FALL. THE SUCCESS OF THIS SUMMIT IS A TRIBUTE TO MY SIX COLLEAGUES FROM ABROAD. BUT, IT IS, ALSO, A TRIBUTE TO YOU -- THOSE WHO MADE THIS SUMMIT WORK -- THE PEOPLE OF HOUSTON.

((LET ME SAY THAT HOUSTON MIGHT HAVE HAD A LITTLE MORE EXCITEMENT THAN IT CAN STAND THIS SUMMER. FIRST, THE MADONNA TOUR, AND NOW THE SUMMIT.\\ BUT AT LEAST DURING THIS SUMMIT, THE IDEAS AND OPINIONS HAVE BEEN MORE FREE-FLOWING THAN THE TRAFFIC.))

I KNOW YOU'VE ENDURED CLOSED STREETS AND BUMPER TO BUMPER TRAFFIC, THE NERVE-WRACKING REGULARITY OF HELICOPTERS AND CONSTANT SECURITY. I KNOW HOW TOUGH SUCH A MEETING CAN BE ON A TOWN.

BUT EVEN MORE TO THE POINT, I WANT TO THANK YOU --
THANK YOU ALL -- FOR ALL YOU HAVE DONE TO MAKE THIS SUMMIT A SUCCESS.\\

HOUSTON HAS ALWAYS BEEN A CLEAN CITY, BUT THANKS TO THE PEOPLE OF CLEAN HOUSTON, IT SPARKLES. I WISH I COULD THANK EACH AND EVERY ONE OF THE MORE THAN 5,000
VOLUNTEERS WHO PITCHED IN DURING THEIR SPARE TIME TO MAKE HOUSTON A SHOWCASE FOR THE WORLD.

JUST LOOK AT WHAT YOU HAVE DONE. THOUSANDS OF VOLUNTEERS -- TEXAS POINTS OF LIGHT -- WHO SCoured THE STREETS AND BACK ALLEYS FOR LITTER, PLANTING FLOWERS IN THE PARKS AND PAINTING OVER GRAFFITI. BY JUNE 23RD,
5,261 HOUSTONIANS PUT IN 26,200 HOURS TO REMOVE
2,761,600 POUNDS OF TRASH AND DEBRIS.\\ THESE VOLUNTEERS ARE SHOWING THE WORLD WHAT HOUSTON PRIDE IS ALL ABOUT.

IN CLOSING, LET ME SAY THAT I KNOW THAT HOUSTON HAS HAD A ROUGH RIDE IN RECENT YEARS. BUT AS I TRAVEL AROUND TOWN, I SEE MORE AND MORE SIGNS OF A CITY -- NOT JUST ON THE MEND -- BUT A CITY ON THE REBOUND, A CITY ON THE GO. NOT JUST A CITY WITH A FUTURE, BUT A CITY OF THE FUTURE.

[[I'LL NEVER FORGET, WHEN THE SEVEN LEADERS AND I MOVED THROUGH DOWNTOWN, HOW THE WHOLE CITY TURNED OUT ALONG THE STREETS WITH BALLOONS, WELCOMING SIGNS AND FRIENDLY SMILES. ((I can only hope Congress pitches in with me in the same spirit to clean up the federal budget deficit.))\\\

In closing, let me say that I know that Houston has had a rough ride in recent years. But as I travel around town, I see more and more signs of a city -- not just on the mend -- but a city on the rebound, a city on the go. Not just a city with a future, but a city of the future.

I just wanted to let you know how very proud this Houstonian is of his home town tonight.

Thank you all so very much. May God bless you, and may God bless America.

Title: Houston
June 26, 1990
Draft: Two

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS: "THANK YOU" GALA, M.D. ANDERSON LIBRARY
7:50 p.m., Wednesday, July 11, 1990

((Thank you Ambassador Malek. Judge Lindsey, Mayor Whitmire, George Strake, Ken Lay and all of you -- thank you so very much for this rousing reception.))

((Randy Travis and Jacklyn Smith -- thank you for a wonderful evening. Marilyn McCoo, when you were with the "Fifth Dimension," you sang a hit called "Last Night I Didn't Get to Sleep at All." With the kind of hours Jim Baker has putting into these summits, you'd think that would be his theme song, too.))\ \

((And let me say something about what we Houstonians call the Eighth Wonder of the World -- the Astrodome. I hope you'll forgive me for thinking of it tonight as number nine -- the ninth wonder as long as the Silver Fox is in town.))\ \ \

Tonight's celebration tops off three days -- three historic days -- for the people of Houston, and for the people of the world. For decades, we've kept the faith of freedom burning, we've borne the banner of liberty. Now the people of Berlin, Budapest and of so many other parts of the world have lifted that liberty banner for themselves.

In the past, the presidents and prime ministers who led the free economic powers met to discuss the level of the dollar or to resolve trade issues. In Houston, we met, for the first time, to build a world beyond the Cold War.\\ To uphold the Revolution of '89 -- to help liberated nations enter the 21st century as enduring democracies. To support free wills and free markets for all mankind.

So this hasn't just been a successful summit -- it has been a victory party. But it is a victory without a loser -- a victory of all nations, of all peoples, over barbed wire, concrete walls and the dead hand of ideology.

The tone of this summit was set by the people of Berlin last fall. The success of this summit is a tribute to my six colleagues from abroad. But more than anything, it is a tribute to you -- those who made this summit work -- the people of Houston.

((Let me say that Houston might have had a little more excitement than it can stand this summer. First, the Madonna tour, and now the summit.\\ But at least during this summit, the ideas and opinions have been more free-flowing than the traffic.))

I know you've endured closed streets and tailbumper driving, the nerve-wracking regularity of helicopters and constant security. I know how tough such a meeting can be on a town. But even more to the point, I want to thank you -- thank you all -- for all you have done to make this summit a success.\\

Houston has always been a clean city, but thanks to the people of Clean Houston, it sparkles. I wish I could thank each and every one of the more than 5,000 volunteers who pitched in during their spare time to make Houston a showcase for the world.

Just look at what you have done. Thousands of volunteers - - Texas points of light -- who scoured the streets and back alleys for litter, planting flowers in the parks and painting over graffiti. By June 23rd, 5,261 Houstonians put in 26,200 hours to remove 2,761,600 pounds of trash and debris.\\ What a demonstration of Houston pride. ((I can only hope Congress pitches in with me in the same spirit to clean up the federal budget deficit.))\\

In closing, let me say that I know that Houston has had a rough ride in recent years. But as I travel around town, I see more and more signs of a city -- not just on the mend -- but a city on the rebound, a city on the go. Not just a city with a future, but a city of the future.

MEMORANDUM FOR CHRISS WINSTON

FROM:

JIM PINKERTON

SUBJECT:

"Thank You, Houston" Gala Draft Remarks

pg.2, para.2, line 2 "...a victory without a loser -- a victory of all nations, of all peoples, over barbed wire, concrete walls and the dead hand of ideology."

We suggest the following change: "...concrete walls, [note the comma] and totalitarian ideology." This gets across the idea that a particular ideology has been overcome, as opposed to all ideologies. There is, after all, an American ideology; it is summed up in the Declaration of Independence.
