PROPOSED VIDEO MESSAGE
U. S. OLYMPIC COMMITTEE

President Samaranch (SAAM-a-RONCH), distinguished Members of the International Olympic Committee, it's wonderful to cross the Pacific and join you in Tokyo for this important discussion.

In the United States we know that the Olympic ideal has become the world's dream. The simple fact that so many cities the world over are competing for this great celebration of sport in 1996 is a great tribute to your work. Each of you make the Olympic Movement a brilliant beacon to the future for the youth in every country.

The Olympic Games surely belong to all the people of the world and as the guardian of the Olympic Flame, you are faced with a very difficult and historic decision.

I can only emphasize that the United States wants to be a bright light for the future of the Olympic Movement and we proudly submit Atlanta, Georgia, as our "candidate city" for the 26th Olympiad. Atlanta is a city infused with the love of sport, alive with the fundamental principles of peace and friendship that make up this Olympic ideal. And I'm certain that the entire Olympic Family will be welcomed with open arms and true affection for the 1996 Atlanta Olympic Games.

Best regards to all of you, and thank you for your consideration.
