THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary
(Rochester, Minnesota)

For Immediate Release

November 2, 1990

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT
AT MINNESOTA GOP TICKET RECEPTION

John Marshall High School
Rochester, Minnesota

12:22 P.M. CST

THE PRESIDENT: Thank you for that welcome to Rochester. Rudy, thank you so very much. However, about the weather -- (laughter) -- 47 years ago, almost to this day, I was sent by the Navy to Minneapolis to learn to fly airplanes, and I never landed a plane on anything other than ice and snow, at least in Minneapolis, for six months. Don't tell me it's typical, but it is awful nice. (Applause.)

What a joy it is to be here. And let me first thank my friend of longstanding, Wayne Newton, who flew all the way from Las Vegas here for this and now back tonight. (Applause.) And one other matter of tremendous importance to this area -- and now I'm caught up in the fray -- is I want congratulate the girls cross country team at John Marshall that's going to the state finals. (Applause.) And wish that -- right over here. (Applause.) Good luck at state.

And now for the business at hand. I am just delighted to show my strong support for a national leader in our party and one of America's greatest United States Senators, Rudy Boschwitz. (Applause.) It is essential he be returned to office. (Applause.) And I might say I'm enthusiastic about Arne Carlson, "the Rocky Balboa of Minnesota" -- a seasoned leader -- (applause.) Three days is all that's left, and he's going to defy the odds and become what you need -- a new governor for the state of Minnesota. (Applause.)

I heard that this guy was in favor of shortened campaign seasons, but this is ridiculous. (Laughter.) And I am excited about the rest of our ticket. Joanelle Dyrstad, and Kevin Johnson for attorney general; and Dave Jennings and Bob Heinrich. John Burger for state treasurer. We've got good people running and they need your support, too.

Let just tell you why I feel it is a pleasure to be -- why it's a pleasure for me to be out here for Rudy. He's a person that Minnesotans trust. I know that. He's one who does embody responsible government. And you know he's a member of the Ag Committee, the Senate Agricultural Committee. That means he's a champion of your dairy farmers, and a real believer in the wonders of milk. And so at Rudy's Super Duper Milk House at the State Fair every year, he serves cherry, banana and root beer-flavored milk. What worries me is, I don't mind cauliflower, but I hope he doesn't throw out that broccoli-flavored milk. That's where we draw the line. (Laughter and applause.)

And Arne, in introducing Rudy Boschwitz, referred to this, but after 10 years on the Budget Committee, he is known in Washington and across this country, Rudy, as a tough fighter for lower taxes. A strong advocate of the spending freeze. And here's a Senator in a tight race who made the tough choice and voted for an essential budget agreement that's going to bring this deficit down $492 billion over the next five years. (Applause.)

And while others were weeping because they didn't get it just the way they want, Rudy put the United States of America's interest, and Minnesota's interest, ahead of his own desire for this change or that. And that takes courage; that takes guts and independence. And we need more like him in the Congress. (Applause.)

You know, there's no higher domestic priority than the economy. The job-creating engine that every family in this country counts on. And in recent months, we've seen some uncertainty and concern. I'm concerned about the slower economic growth. And that's why a budget agreement was crucial and why I was willing to go the extra mile to get it. And despite tough negotiations, we finally got an agreement with the Democrats that control both the House and the Senate. And there were clear differences.

The Democrats wanted to do it all by raising taxes, including income tax rate increases for working Americans with that insidious indexing provision. They called it socking the rich, and it would have raised $40 billion out of the working men and women of this country. And thanks to Rudy and others up there, we beat it. Beat it to its knees. And that isn't going to happen. (Applause.)

Rudy and I, if we'd had our way, wanted to do it more with spending. You see, I don't feel you're taxed too little; I feel because of the liberal Democrats in Washington, we're spending too much. (Applause.) And that's another reason we need him back. (Applause.)

But the best thing about this agreement was we did get strong enforcement provisions in the law. And we held the -- there was another one that's good, too -- we held the line on reckless cuts. Defense spending came down. But we eliminated the reckless cuts that would have cut into the heart of our national security. And that wouldn't have happened if we didn't have farsighted senators like Rudy Boschwitz that know this world is not a tranquil place. We need people that understand the national security interest of the United States of America back there in the United States Senate. (Applause.)

But this is only part of what the battle is about, this fiscal sanity. Let's start with another issue here: the environment. Our sacred trust. Rudy, coming from this land of 10,000 lakes, has been a strong advocate for sound environmental practice. I need his voice for the environment. We've finally gotten a Clean Air bill that I can sign, and that's good for Minnesota, it's good for the nation, it's good for Canada and Mexico. And we are again in the lead for environmental all across this land of ours and across the Earth. But we've got to have more people that understand you can grow and still have good environmental practice. And that's where Rudy is, and I'm grateful to him. (Applause.)

The legislative logjam was broken. I want to give a little credit not only to Rudy, but also to Dave Durenburger because without them, I don't believe I would have had a Clean Air Act that I can confidently and optimistically sign. So I'm grateful to both Rudy and Dave on that one. (Applause.)

There's still a lot of work to be done on the Republican agenda. America, frankly, is fed up with crime. I hope you're doing a little better in Rochester, Minnesota, than we are as a nation as a whole. But nevertheless, Republicans wherever they are know that we need tough legislation. We know that the handcuffs belong not on our able police officers, but on the criminals themselves. And that's the kind of legislation we were fighting for. (Applause.) Ever since I met with a couple of victims of crime -- family groups -- it occurred to me, and I feel strongly about it, that we need a little less sympathy for the criminal and a little more for the victims of these crimes in this country. (Applause.)

And shortly after I took office I stood in front of the U.S. Capitol and called on Congress to pass tough new laws to help

America take back the streets. And instead, in the final hours of this liberal-controlled Congress back there, Democratic liberals choked up and completely gutted our package to fight back against violent crime. Republicans fought for habeas corpus reform and stopping convicted criminals from endlessly abusing the appeals process. We fought for reforms of the exclusionary rule -- a judge-made law that lets the guilty go free. And Republicans fought for a real federal death penalty for drug kingpins and terrorists and those who kill our police officers. And the Democrats blocked it, and we need more senators like Rudy to stand up in the next Congress and fight for that. (Applause.)

So if you get the idea that I'm enthusiastic about Rudy Boschwitz, you're beginning to get the message. He's a class act. He's a class act with a great family. Please send him back to Washington. (Applause.)

And so my main message here today is one of partisan politics because I believe, with Arne as governor and Rudy in the Senate, you're going to be in good hands. Very good hands indeed. But, you know, let me now just ask you to set partisan politics aside for a minute because I want to talk to you about a subject that is in the hearts and on the minds of every single American. And I know that everyone in this country is vitally interested in the Persian Gulf situation.

And, you know, former Senator Vandenberg was absolutely right when he said politics ends at the water's edge. And I'm grateful to the leaders -- Democratic leaders, Republican leaders, Democratic members, Republican members of the House and Senate -- for their strong bipartisan support. But I thought I owe it to the American people to keep affirming and bringing as best I can our message of purpose on the question of why we are there.

Let me first be clear: There will be no compromise on the stated objectives of the United Nations Security Council resolution -- none at all. And the reason is this. We cannot compromise with brutal, naked aggression. We cannot permit one country to bully a neighbor and take it over without making them pay the price. (Applause.)

And let me make another point. Let me make another point. The brutality against innocent civilians will not be tolerated and that will not stand, either. What's happening to those so-called guests -- really hostages -- is uncivilized. And the world should rise up and demand that those people be let go. It is outrageous what Saddam Hussein is doing. (Applause.)

No one -- no one -- wants a peaceful solution more -- to this situation more than I do. Nobody at all. No one, however, is more determined to see this aggression turned back than I am. We forged together the most fantastic international coalition in history. We've resurrected the Security Council of the United Nations with 10 resolutions passed, condemning this brutal aggression and holding of innocent people hostage. And I will do my level best to hold that coalition together to see that these international sanctions work and that Iraq get out of Kuwait and without condition and free the people that they are holding in contravention of international law. (Applause.)

Now we are determined and the world understands it. And thank God the people of the United States understand that it is only the United States that has the strength and, I would say, total commitment to stay the course and see that this aggression is turned back.

These are not easy times. These are not easy times at all. But I have never been more proud of the young men and women -- all volunteers -- highly motivated, beautifully trained, who are serving halfway around the world than I am today. These are the finest young men and women that have ever served in the Armed Forces of the United States. And we will not let them down. (Applause.)

And so let me shift back now 180 degrees. I wanted to get you that message of how strongly I feel -- and end this way. It is right that we participate in partisan politics. It is right that I as the President go around this country talking about the men and women that I want elected to office, as the Democratic leaders are doing for their candidates. And it is right that I came to Rochester, Minnesota, today to tell you from the bottom of my heart -- and I seldom speak for the Silver Fox -- that's Barbara, my wife -- and this one I confidently do. (Applause.) And even our dog, Millie, agrees with this. (Laughter.) That we strongly support Arne Carlson for governor. And we urge you -- we cry out -- send Rudy Boschwitz, our friend, your admired Senator, back to Washington, D.C. for six more years. (Applause.)

Thank you. And God bless all of you. (Applause.)

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RUDY BOSCHWITZ FOR GOVERNOR RALLY
ROCHESTER, MINNESOTA
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1990
TIME?

((Acknowledgements))

Thank you so much, ((name)), for that great introduction. It is wonderful to be out of Washington -- and I am glad to be here to show my strong support for a national leader in our Party and one of America's great Senators, Rudy Boschwitz. //

Only three days until Election Day, and we're pulling out all the stops campaigning across the country -- for top-notch candidates like Arne Carlson, "the Rocky Balboa of Minnesota," a seasoned leader we know and trust -- who in just three days is going to defy the odds and become the next governor of this great state. \\

((You know, I heard Arne was in favor of a shortened campaign season, but this is ridiculous. ///.))

((You know when Rudy called and asked us to come out for this rally, I asked if perhaps we should bring out the Republican secret weapon, and really rev up the crowds.// Rudy said, "Sure, Mr. President // but Barbara told us she couldn't make it."))

It's a pleasure to be here on behalf of Rudy Boschwitz -- a tremendous Senator and a man Minnesotans can count on. You know Rudy's a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee -- a real champion of your dairy farmers -- arguing that milk production isn't the problem, it's the underconsumption of it. So, at

"Rudy's Super Duper Milk House" at the State Fair every year, he serves cherry, banana, and root beer-flavored milk. Rudy, I'm with you all the way on this one. But please, no broccoli-flavored milk. // Well, I think I've milked that for all I can get.))

Today, after ten years on the Budget Committee, Rudy's known as a tough fighter for lower taxes and a strong advocate of the spending freeze. And he can tell you when it comes to raising taxes, the Democrats can't tell the difference between milking a cow and sending it to slaughter. //

Back in Washington, we need more Senators like Rudy -- we need more Republicans in Congress. Now, we've got just three days until Election Day -- I like to call it Opportunity Day -- when voters have the opportunity to vote for change. To vent their frustration and their anger at the unresponsive and irresponsible Democratic Congress. // And nowhere has this Democratic Congress been more irresponsible than the budget process we've just completed.

This country faces an enormous challenge of tremendous consequences. A federal budget deficit spiraling into the hundreds of billions of dollars. I was elected to make some tough decisions, to govern.

At times, every President finds that he must compromise for the good of the country. And I reached out my hand -- to work with the Democrats in Congress -- only to have a parade of liberal Democrats march to the microphone to blame me for their failures. My goodwill has been rewarded with business-as-usual on the budget. Well, enough is enough. // America deserves a Better Deal. Send me more Senators like Rudy Boschwitz. // Send me more Republicans and we'll get the job done. //

We're taking our case to the American people. We can send a message to every Democratic Congressman or Senator who mortgaged the future of our kids. To every Democrat who tried to raise income taxes on every working American -- and believe me, they tried. And to every Democrat who's part of this Democratic spending binge -- Americans say we're not going to take it anymore. //

Because this is our country. It doesn't belong only to the privileged few who roam the congressional corridors of power. Perhaps the Democrats have forgotten that. Perhaps they're too busy taking care of their special interests and their own re-elections.

What a shame that the highest aspirations of the Founding Fathers would come down to this: an imperious majority that uses its power to protect its own prerogatives; its own perks; its own privileges; and its own pet projects. It's time the American people say 'enough is enough.' //

You know, Will Rogers -- whose birthday is this weekend -- once said, "Lord, the money we do spend on Government -- and it's not one bit better than the government we got for one-third the money twenty years ago." He was right -- the American people know that it's Congress that appropriates every dime we spend.

Well, I say it's time we got more for our money. It's time Americans got a Better Deal. //

((You know, they say there are two things you should never watch being made: sausage and laws. // When it comes to the Democrats in Congress, I'd say we've all been taken on a first-class tour of the hot dog factory. //))

And, frankly, I can't say I was surprised to hear a Democrat leader say -- before the ink was dry on the budget agreement -- that the Democrats will fight for higher taxes next year. I was disgusted to hear them call it their bill to 'soak the rich.' What it really did was go after the paycheck of the working men and women in this country with $40 billion in new income taxes. Well, we stopped them cold. // Their rhetoric is wrong and their purpose is wrong. And Republicans aren't going to let them get away with it -- because Republicans are looking out for the working men and women of this country. //

Americans have had to endure six months of endless budget negotiations. Rudy will tell you -- he saw it all as a member of the Budget Committee -- but for six months this Democratic Congress stalled the budget agreement and risked stalling the economy -- all in the name of politics and higher taxes. And the American people are not going to let them get away with that, either.//

All in all, this budget agreement is unprecedented, and long-overdue. We got nearly $350 billion in spending cuts and almost $500 billion in total deficit reduction. And we fought for what was good in the package: spending cuts, entitlement reform, and tough enforcement provisions. It was time to stop mortgaging the future of these kids ((in audience)). This Democratic spending binge had to stop. //

But there was a price for that agreement. Those spending cuts were held hostage by the liberal Democrats, and the ransom we paid was taxes. The Democrats are still pushing that tired line of more taxes, more spending, and more bureaucracy. And at the same time the Administration and Republican members on the Hill wanted to cut spending, Congress voted to spend half a million dollars to create a Lawrence Welk tourist attraction. ((And that is not "wunnerful, wunnerful."))

This liberal Democrat Congress has become America's biggest, most entrenched special interest. /// In 1959, Congress was served by 5800 staff members. Today it is served by almost 20,000 staff members, who control the perks and pass out the pork. It's an endless maze of 300 committees and subcommittees - - all fed by special interests -- while the national interest is lost in the rush to get re-elected. The House intended to be closest to the people has become a House of Lords. Ninety-eight percent who seek re-election, are re-elected. It's time to make a change -- the American people deserve a Better Deal. //

The solution is simple: We need more Republicans in Congress.

You know the difference between Republicans and Democrats. We are the ones fighting for family values in this year's legislation -- in education, in child care, in housing. And we're going to keep right on fighting. And we're the ones determined to bring hope and opportunity to the millions forgotten by the Democrats. And we won't give up on them. We're the ones with more sympathy for the victims of crime than for the criminals. And we're the ones who understand that the world remains a dangerous place and that American leadership can meet the challenges of an uncertain world. And America will continue to lead because Republicans will not undermine America's strength. //

Let me tell you, it's great to be out of Washington. /// And as we travel around the country, I've seen the wisdom of the American people. They've got an answer for entrenched politicians: it's called term limitation. In states like California, Oklahoma, and Colorado frustrated voters have taken matters into their own hands -- with ballot initiatives to limit the terms of state legislators. But when it comes to Congress, Minnesotans don't have to wait for a ballot initiative. They can start limiting a few terms themselves -- this Tuesday. // They can elect citizen-legislators -- men and women who return to live under the laws they made. Term limitation is an idea whose time has come. /// And it's time it came to Capitol Hill. //

When you get out in the country, you also see the ideas that work. See what good Governors -- like Arne Carlson will be -- what they can do when they have the tools they need. And what works is the line item veto that 43 governors already have. If

Congress can't cut spending then I say: give the President a shot. Give me the line item veto and see what we can do. ///

And that's not all. We want a balanced budget amendment like 49 states already have. The Democratic tax-and-spend machine must be stopped -- and we're the ones to do the job. ///

So here is my message to the voters of this state: This year, don't make November 6 a day like any other day. This year, when you go to the polls, vote Republican -- vote for Rudy Boschwitz and Arne Carlson. // Because Minnesota deserves the best -- and you've got it right here. //

Meanwhile, I'm going to crisscross this country from North to South and East to West, and take this message to those Americans who don't have Rudy Boschwitz to represent them in the U.S. Senate: more Republicans in Congress means more men and women fighting against more taxes and more spending. // And more Republicans means a Better Deal for America. //

Thank you. God bless the United States of America.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RUDY BOSCHWITZ FOR SENATE RALLY
ROCHESTER, MINNESOTA
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1990
TIME?

Thank you so much, ((name)), for that great introduction. It is wonderful to be out of Washington -- and I am glad to be here to show my strong support for a national leader in our Party and one of America's great Senators, Rudy Boschwitz. //

Only three days until Election Day, and we're pulling out all the stops campaigning across the country -- for top-notch candidates like Arne Carlson, "the Rocky Balboa of Minnesota," a seasoned leader we know and trust -- who in just 3 days is going to defy the odds and become the next governor of this state. \\

And I'm excited about the rest of our state ticket as well: Kevin Johnson (Attorney General); Dave Jennings (Sec. of State); Bob Heinrich (State Auditor); and John Burger (State Treasurer);.

((You know when Rudy called and asked us to come out for this rally, I asked if perhaps we should bring out the Republican secret weapon, and really rev up the crowds.// Rudy said, "Sure, Mr. President // but Barbara told us she couldn't make it."))

It's a pleasure to be here on behalf of Rudy Boschwitz -- a tremendous Senator and a man Minnesotans can trust. A man who embodies responsible government. You know Rudy's a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee -- a real champion of your dairy farmers -- a real believer in the wonders of milk. So, at "Rudy's Super Duper Milk House" at the State Fair every year, he serves cherry, banana, and root beer-flavored milk. Rudy, I'm behind you all the way. But please, no broccoli-flavored milk.

// Well, I think I've milked that for all I can get.))

Today, after ten years on the Budget Committee, Rudy's known as a tough fighter for lower taxes and a strong advocate of the spending freeze. And he can tell you when it comes to raising taxes, the Democrats can't tell the difference between milking a cow and sending it to slaughter. // We need more Senators like Rudy -- we need more Republicans in Congress. //

I think one of the most important things we can do together is to get more Republicans elected -- in every town, in every state and for every federal seat in this land. Because the Republican party is the party with an agenda -- the party of change, not the status quo -- the party of new ideas.

There is no higher domestic priority on the Republican agenda than the economy -- the job-creating engine that every family in this country counts on. In recent months we've seen some uncertainty and concern about slower economic growth. That's why a budget agreement was crucial -- and why I was willing to go the extra mile to get it.

Despite tough negotiations, we finally reached a budget agreement with the Democrats controlling Congress. There were clear differences between the parties in how to cut the deficit.

The Democrats wanted to raise taxes, including income tax rates for working Americans. I wanted to reduce the deficit with spending cuts. What we got was a compromise: some taxes but almost $500 billion in deficit reduction in five years. $350 billion in spending cuts -- the largest in history. Incentives to make America less dependent on foreign oil.

And we put Congress on the pay-as-you-go plan. The enforcement provisions in this agreement are real -- they are strong. No longer will federal programs be funded with red ink. // Finally, we held the line against reckless cuts of our Armed Forces to ensure that America's defenses remain strong -- second to none. We owe that to our men and women in the Persian Gulf.

But getting our fiscal policy on track is just part of what we have accomplished as the party of change. Let's start with the environment -- our sacred trust. Rudy's been a strong advocate for preserving and protecting the "land of 10,000 lakes." We need to keep Rudy as a strong voice for Minnesota.

I want everyone from the Iron Range to the Twin Cities to here in Rochester to know how hard we're working in Washington to protect our environment. A year ago, I challenged the Congress to break the stalemate that has hindered progress on tougher Clean Air legislation for the past decade -- to turn technology and the power of the marketplace to the advantage of the environment. To create. To innovate. To tip the scales in favor of recovery, restoration, and renewal.

Today, thanks to the innovation and cooperation of those on all sides -- and thanks especially to the hard work of Rudy Boschwitz -- the legislative logjam has been broken, and I finally have a clean air bill I can sign.///

This legislation will remove 10 million tons of the emissions that cause acid rain from the air; it will bring the nation's 100 most smog-laden cities safe, healthy air; and it encourages the use of alternative fuels, that are safer for our environment, and reduce our dependence on foreign energy. Now, America's dirtiest cities will be required to use a fuel derived in part not from the oil fields of the Middle East, but from the cornfields of America. // But most important, it's going to make every man, woman, and child in America breathe a little easier. Because Republicans care about change, we've got a Clean Air Bill. \\ \\ I think that's something to celebrate. \\ \\

But of course there is still work to be done on the Republican agenda. America is fed up with crime. And Republicans know handcuffs belong not on the cops and the courts -- handcuffs belong on the criminals. \\ \\

Shortly after taking office, I stood before the U.S. Capitol and called on Congress to pass tough new laws to help America "Take Back the Streets." Instead, in the final hours of the Congress, Democratic liberals choked -- and completely gutted our package to fight back against violent crime.

Republicans fought for habeas corpus reforms -- aimed at stopping convicted criminals from endlessly abusing the appeals process. Republicans fought for reforms of the exclusionary rule -- a judge-made law that lets the guilty go free. And Republicans fought for a real federal death penalty for drug kingpins and terrorists. The liberal Democrats blocked these provisions -- blocked the will of the American people.

Rudy agrees with me: we need to be tough on crime and criminals. Republicans want change. Give me more Republicans, and we'll get the job done.

Republicans truly want to build a better America. To do it, we need more Republicans. We need a strong Senator like Rudy Boschwitz on Capitol Hill. We need a governor like Arne Carlson in the State House. I need them, Minnesota needs them, and most of all, America needs them. //

Today, we're here to express our partisan point of view -- to participate with pride in our political process. But now, let me put partisan politics aside. I know that everyone in this country is vitally interested in the situation in the Middle East, so let me bring you up to date. Former Senator Vandenberg was right when he said, "Politics ends at the water's edge." I am grateful to the leaders and other Members of Congress -- Democrat and Republican -- for their bipartisan support.

On August 2nd, Iraq invaded Kuwait. They literally raped, pillaged, and plundered this once-peaceful land -- this nation that is a member of the Arab League and of the United Nations. Iraq began to brutally and systematically dismantle Kuwait -- shipping its medical equipment, its machines, its records, its gold -- back to Baghdad. They have tried to silence Kuwaiti dissent and courage with firing squads. In one incident, a 15 year-old boy gunned down, his family forced to watch. His crime -- passing out leaflets.

The United States and the rest of the world, united in anger and outrage, determined to force Saddam Hussein out of Kuwait.

On August 5th, Saddam Hussein announced he was pulling his forces out of Kuwait. At that very moment he sent his armor and his troops south to mass along the Saudi border, threatening yet another member of the U.N. and Arab League.

Subsequently, the United Nations Security Council passed ten resolutions of condemnation and disapproval. On August 5th, I said Saddam Hussein's aggression will not stand. Today I am more determined than ever: This aggression will not stand. ///

This morning over 300 Americans, innocent civilians, are held against their will in Iraq. Many of them reportedly staked out as human shields, near possible military targets -- something even Adolf Hitler didn't do.

Many more Americans are in hiding in Kuwait, their lives at stake; 27 imprisoned in the U.S. Embassy in Kuwait City. They are cut off from food and other supplies. They are surrounded by Iraqi troops. Our flag still flies but the rights of these American citizens are, at this very moment, being denied by Iraq's brutal dictator.

Let me be clear -- we bear no hostility toward the Iraqi people, nor do any of the over 25 countries represented on land and sea in the Gulf area. We have no argument with the Iraqi people. Our problem is with Saddam Hussein -- alone.

I want a peaceful resolution to this crisis. Indeed, we have worked closely with the United Nations in putting sanctions into effect, in passing resolutions and in speaking with one voice against the invader's aggression.

We are giving the sanctions time to work. I hope there will never be a shot fired in anger, but let me be very, very clear:

There will be no compromise on the stated objectives of the United Nations Security Council resolutions -- none at all. // The brutality against innocent civilians will not be tolerated and will not stand. // Saddam's clear violations of international law will not stand. // And that means, yes, Saddam Hussein's brutal aggression will not stand. //

No one wants a peaceful solution to this crisis more than I do. No one is more determined to see this aggression turned back than I am.

At this moment -- on the other side of the world -- brave men and women in our Armed Services -- the best ever to serve -- stand at the ready in the desert sun. // The last few weeks, many of them have taken time out of their duties to send in an absentee ballot. There's a lesson there -- a lesson in the love of liberty, the precious freedom that gives America its meaning. // So next Tuesday, I urge everyone, especially those of you here in Southeastern Minnesota: take that lesson to heart. Get out and vote. Don't take democracy for granted.

Once again, my thanks for this warm welcome. We need to keep solid Republicans like Rudy Boschwitz in the U.S. Senate. We need his integrity, his leadership and his experience. // Let's roll up our sleeves and send Senator Rudy Boschwitz back to the United States Senate. ///

Thank you, and God bless the United States of America.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RUDY BOSCHWITZ FOR GOVERNOR RALLY
ROCHESTER, MINNESOTA
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1990
TIME?

((Acknowledgements))

Thank you so much, ((name)), for that great introduction. It is wonderful to be out of Washington -- and I am glad to be here to show my strong support for a national leader in our Party and one of America's great Senators, Rudy Boschwitz. //

Only three days until Election Day, and we're pulling out all the stops campaigning across the country -- for top-notch candidates like Arne Carlson, "the Rocky Balboa of Minnesota," a seasoned leader we know and trust -- who in just three days is going to defy the odds and become the next governor of this great state. \\

((You know, I heard Arne was in favor of a shortened campaign season, but this is ridiculous. ///))

((You know when Rudy called and asked us to come out for this rally, I asked if perhaps we should bring out the Republican secret weapon, and really rev up the crowds.// Rudy said, "Sure, Mr. President // but Barbara told us she couldn't make it."))

It's a pleasure to be here on behalf of Rudy Boschwitz -- a tremendous Senator and a man Minnesotans can count on. You know Rudy's a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee -- a real champion of your dairy farmers -- arguing that milk production isn't the problem, it's the underconsumption of it. So, at

"Rudy's Super Duper Milk House" at the State Fair every year, he serves cherry, banana, and root beer-flavored milk. Rudy, I'm with you all the way on this one. But please, no broccoli-flavored milk. // Well, I think I've milked that for all I can get.))

Today, after ten years on the Budget Committee, Rudy's known as a tough fighter for lower taxes and a strong advocate of the spending freeze. And he can tell you when it comes to raising taxes, the Democrats can't tell the difference between milking a cow and sending it to slaughter. //

Back in Washington, we need more Senators like Rudy -- we need more Republicans in Congress. Now, we've got just three days until Election Day -- I like to call it Opportunity Day -- when voters have the opportunity to vote for change. To vent their frustration and their anger at the unresponsive and irresponsible Democratic Congress. // And nowhere has this Democratic Congress been more irresponsible than the budget process we've just completed.

This country faces an enormous challenge of tremendous consequences. A federal budget deficit spiraling into the hundreds of billions of dollars. I was elected to make some tough decisions, to govern.

At times, every President finds that he must compromise for the good of the country. And I reached out my hand -- to work with the Democrats in Congress -- only to have a parade of liberal Democrats march to the microphone to blame me for their failures. My goodwill has been rewarded with business-as-usual on the budget. Well, enough is enough. // America deserves a Better Deal. Send me more Senators like Rudy Boschwitz. // Send me more Republicans and we'll get the job done. //

We're taking our case to the American people. We can send a message to every Democratic Congressman or Senator who mortgaged the future of our kids. To every Democrat who tried to raise income taxes on every working American -- and believe me, they tried. And to every Democrat who's part of this Democratic spending binge -- Americans say we're not going to take it anymore. //

Because this is our country. It doesn't belong only to the privileged few who roam the congressional corridors of power. Perhaps the Democrats have forgotten that. Perhaps they're too busy taking care of their special interests and their own re-elections.

What a shame that the highest aspirations of the Founding Fathers would come down to this: an imperious majority that uses its power to protect its own prerogatives; its own perks; its own privileges; and its own pet projects. It's time the American people say 'enough is enough.' //

You know, Will Rogers -- whose birthday is this weekend -- once said, "Lord, the money we do spend on Government -- and it's not one bit better than the government we got for one-third the money twenty years ago." He was right -- the American people know that it's Congress that appropriates every dime we spend.

Well, I say it's time we got more for our money. It's time Americans got a Better Deal. //

((You know, they say there are two things you should never watch being made: sausage and laws. // When it comes to the Democrats in Congress, I'd say we've all been taken on a first-class tour of the hot dog factory. //))

And, frankly, I can't say I was surprised to hear a Democrat leader say -- before the ink was dry on the budget agreement -- that the Democrats will fight for higher taxes next year. I was disgusted to hear them call it their bill to 'soak the rich.' What it really did was go after the paycheck of the working men and women in this country with $³⁶40 billion in new income taxes. Well, we stopped them cold. // Their rhetoric is wrong and their purpose is wrong. And Republicans aren't going to let them get away with it -- because Republicans are looking out for the working men and women of this country. //

Americans have had to endure six months of endless budget negotiations. Rudy will tell you -- he saw it all as a member of the Budget Committee -- but for six months this Democratic Congress stalled the budget agreement and risked stalling the economy -- all in the name of politics and higher taxes. And the American people are not going to let them get away with that, either.//

All in all, this budget agreement is unprecedented, and long-overdue. We got nearly $350 billion in spending cuts and almost $500 billion in total deficit reduction. And we fought for what was good in the package: spending cuts, entitlement reform, and tough enforcement provisions. It was time to stop mortgaging the future of these kids ((in audience)). This Democratic spending binge had to stop. //

But there was a price for that agreement. Those spending cuts were held hostage by the liberal Democrats, and the ransom we paid was taxes. The Democrats are still pushing that tired line of more taxes, more spending, and more bureaucracy. And at the same time the Administration and Republican members on the Hill wanted to cut spending, Congress voted to spend half a million dollars to create a Lawrence Welk tourist attraction. ((And that is not "wunnerful, wunnerful."))

This liberal Democrat Congress has become America's biggest, most entrenched special interest. /// In 1959, Congress was served by 5800 staff members. Today it is served by almost 20,000 staff members, who control the perks and pass out the pork. It's an endless maze of 300 committees and subcommitttes - - all fed by special interests -- while the national interest is lost in the rush to get re-elected. The House intended to be closest to the people has become a House of Lords. Ninety-eight percent who seek re-election, are re-elected. It's time to make a change -- the American people deserve a Better Deal. //

The solution is simple: We need more Republicans in Congress.

You know the difference between Republicans and Democrats. We are the ones fighting for family values in this year's legislation -- in education, in child care, in housing. And we're going to keep right on fighting. And we're the ones determined to bring hope and opportunity to the millions forgotten by the Democrats. And we won't give up on them. We're the ones with more sympathy for the victims of crime than for the criminals. And we're the ones who understand that the world remains a dangerous place and that American leadership can meet the challenges of an uncertain world. And America will continue to lead because Republicans will not undermine America's strength. //

Let me tell you, it's great to be out of Washington. /// And as we travel around the country, I've seen the wisdom of the American people. They've got an answer for entrenched politicians: it's called term limitation. In states like California, Oklahoma, and Colorado frustrated voters have taken matters into their own hands -- with ballot initiatives to limit the terms of state legislators. But when it comes to Congress, Minnesotans don't have to wait for a ballot initiative. They can start limiting a few terms themselves -- this Tuesday. // They can elect citizen-legislators -- men and women who return to live under the laws they made. Term limitation is an idea whose time has come. /// And it's time it came to Capitol Hill. //

When you get out in the country, you also see the ideas that work. See what good Governors -- like Arne Carlson will be -- what they can do when they have the tools they need. And what works is the line item veto that 43 governors already have. If

*Baschinsky is an incumbent
Should delete paragraph?
Taylor x 3192*

Congress can't cut spending then I say: give the President a shot. Give me the line item veto and see what we can do. ///

And that's not all. We want a balanced budget amendment like 49 states already have. The Democratic tax-and-spend machine must be stopped -- and we're the ones to do the job. ///

So here is my message to the voters of this state: This year, don't make November 6 a day like any other day. This year, when you go to the polls, vote Republican -- vote for Rudy Boschwitz and Arne Carlson. // Because Minnesota deserves the best -- and you've got it right here. //

Meanwhile, I'm going to crisscross this country from North to South and East to West, and take this message to those Americans who don't have Rudy Boschwitz to represent them in the U.S. Senate: more Republicans in Congress means more men and women fighting against more taxes and more spending. // And more Republicans means a Better Deal for America. //

Thank you. God bless the United States of America.

And the American people are not going to let them get away with that, either.//

All in all, this budget agreement is unprecedented, and long-overdue. We got nearly $350 billion in spending cuts and almost $500 billion in total deficit reduction. And we fought for what was good in the package: spending cuts, entitlement reform, and tough enforcement provisions. It was time to stop mortgaging the future of these kids ((in audience)). This Democratic spending binge had to stop. //

But there was a price for that agreement. Those spending cuts were held hostage by the liberal Democrats, and the ransom we paid was taxes. The Democrats are still pushing that tired line of more taxes, more spending, and more bureaucracy. And at the same time the Administration and Republican members on the Hill wanted to cut spending, Congress voted to spend half a million dollars to create a Lawrence Welk tourist attraction. ((And that is not "wunnerful, wunnerful."))

This liberal Democrat Congress has become America's biggest, most entrenched special interest. /// In 1959, Congress was served by 5800 staff members. Today it is served by almost 20,000 staff members, who control the perks and pass out the pork. It's an endless maze of 300 committees and subcommittees - - all fed by special interests -- while the national interest is lost in the rush to get re-elected. The House intended to be closest to the people has become a House of Lords. Ninety-eight percent who seek re-election, are re-elected. It's time to make a change -- the American people deserve a Better Deal. //

The solution is simple: We need more Republicans in Congress.

You know the difference between Republicans and Democrats. We are the ones fighting for family values in this year's legislation -- in education, in child care, in housing. And we're going to keep right on fighting. And we're the ones determined to bring hope and opportunity to the millions forgotten by the Democrats. And we won't give up on them. We're the ones with more sympathy for the victims of crime than for the criminals. And we're the ones who understand that the world remains a dangerous place and that American leadership can meet the challenges of an uncertain world. And America will continue to lead because Republicans will not undermine America's strength. //

Let me tell you, it's great to be out of Washington. /// And as we travel around the country, I've seen the wisdom of the American people. They've got an answer for entrenched politicians: it's called term limitation. In states like California, Oklahoma, and Colorado frustrated voters have taken matters into their own hands -- with ballot initiatives to limit the terms of state legislators. But when it comes to Congress, Minnesotans don't have to wait for a ballot initiative. They can start limiting a few terms themselves -- this Tuesday. // They can elect citizen-legislators -- men and women who return to live under the laws they made. Term limitation is an idea whose time has come. /// And it's time it came to Capitol Hill. //

When you get out in the country, you also see the ideas that work. See what good Governors -- like Arne Carlson will be -- what they can do when they have the tools they need. And what works is the line item veto that 43 governors already have. If

Congress can't cut spending then I say: give the President a shot. Give me the line item veto and see what we can do. ///

And that's not all. We want a balanced budget amendment like 49 states already have. The Democratic tax-and-spend machine must be stopped -- and we're the ones to do the job. ///

So here is my message to the voters of this state: This year, don't make November 6 a day like any other day. This year, when you go to the polls, vote Republican -- vote for Rudy Boschwitz and Arne Carlson. // Because Minnesota deserves the best -- and you've got it right here. //

Meanwhile, I'm going to crisscross this country from North to South and East to West, and take this message to those Americans who don't have Rudy Boschwitz to represent them in the U.S. Senate: more Republicans in Congress means more men and women fighting against more taxes and more spending. // And more Republicans means a Better Deal for America. //

Thank you. God bless the United States of America.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RUDY BOSCHWITZ FOR GOVERNOR RALLY
ROCHESTER, MINNESOTA
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1990
TIME?

((Acknowledgements))

Thank you so much, ((name)), for that great introduction. It is wonderful to be out of Washington -- and I am glad to be here to show my strong support for a national leader in our Party and one of America's great Senators, Rudy Boschwitz. //

Only three days until Election Day, and we're pulling out all the stops campaigning across the country -- for top-notch candidates like Arne Carlson, "the Rocky Balboa of Minnesota," a seasoned leader we know and trust -- who in just three days is going to defy the odds and become the next governor of this great state. \\

((You know, I heard Arne was in favor of a shortened campaign season, but this is ridiculous. ///))

((You know when Rudy called and asked us to come out for this rally, I asked if perhaps we should bring out the Republican secret weapon, and really rev up the crowds.// Rudy said, "Sure, Mr. President // but Barbara told us she couldn't make it."))

It's a pleasure to be here on behalf of Rudy Boschwitz -- a tremendous Senator and a man Minnesotans can count on. You know Rudy's a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee -- a real champion of your dairy farmers -- arguing that milk production isn't the problem, it's the underconsumption of it. So, at

"Rudy's Super Duper Milk House" at the State Fair every year, he serves cherry, banana, and root beer-flavored milk. Rudy, I'm with you all the way on this one. But please, no broccoli-flavored milk. // Well, I think I've milked that for all I can get.))

Today, after ten years on the Budget Committee, Rudy's known as a tough fighter for lower taxes and a strong advocate of the spending freeze. And he can tell you when it comes to raising taxes, the Democrats can't tell the difference between milking a cow and sending it to slaughter. //

Back in Washington, we need more Senators like Rudy -- we need more Republicans in Congress. Now, we've got just three days until Election Day -- I like to call it Opportunity Day -- when voters have the opportunity to vote for change. To vent their frustration and their anger at the unresponsive and irresponsible Democratic Congress. // And nowhere has this Democratic Congress been more irresponsible than the budget process we've just completed.

This country faces an enormous challenge of tremendous consequences. A federal budget deficit spiraling into the hundreds of billions of dollars. I was elected to make some tough decisions, to govern.

At times, every President finds that he must compromise for the good of the country. And I reached out my hand -- to work with the Democrats in Congress -- only to have a parade of liberal Democrats march to the microphone to blame me for their failures. My goodwill has been rewarded with business-as-usual on the budget. Well, enough is enough. // America deserves a Better Deal. Send me more Senators like Rudy Boschwitz. // Send me more Republicans and we'll get the job done. //

We're taking our case to the American people. We can send a message to every Democratic Congressman or Senator who mortgaged the future of our kids. To every Democrat who tried to raise income taxes on every working American -- and believe me, they tried. And to every Democrat who's part of this Democratic spending binge -- Americans say we're not going to take it anymore. //

Because this is our country. It doesn't belong only to the privileged few who roam the congressional corridors of power. Perhaps the Democrats have forgotten that. Perhaps they're too busy taking care of their special interests and their own re-elections.

What a shame that the highest aspirations of the Founding Fathers would come down to this: an imperious majority that uses its power to protect its own prerogatives; its own perks; its own privileges; and its own pet projects. It's time the American people say 'enough is enough.' //

You know, Will Rogers -- whose birthday is this weekend -- once said, "Lord, the money we do spend on Government -- and it's not one bit better than the government we got for one-third the money twenty years ago." He was right -- the American people know that it's Congress that appropriates every dime we spend.

Well, I say it's time we got more for our money. It's time Americans got a Better Deal. //

((You know, they say there are two things you should never watch being made: sausage and laws. // When it comes to the Democrats in Congress, I'd say we've all been taken on a first-class tour of the hot dog factory. //))

And, frankly, I can't say I was surprised to hear a Democrat leader say -- before the ink was dry on the budget agreement -- that the Democrats will fight for higher taxes next year. I was disgusted to hear them call it their bill to 'soak the rich.' What it really did was go after the paycheck of the working men and women in this country with $40 billion in new income taxes. Well, we stopped them cold. // Their rhetoric is wrong and their purpose is wrong. And Republicans aren't going to let them get away with it -- because Republicans are looking out for the working men and women of this country. //

Americans have had to endure six months of endless budget negotiations. Rudy will tell you -- he saw it all as a member of the Budget Committee -- but for six months this Democratic Congress stalled the budget agreement and risked stalling the economy -- all in the name of politics and higher taxes. And the American people are not going to let them get away with that, either.//

All in all, this budget agreement is unprecedented, and long-overdue. We got nearly $350 billion in spending cuts and almost $500 billion in total deficit reduction. And we fought

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RUDY BOSCHWITZ FOR ~~SENATE~~ RALLY
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1990
TIME?

Thank you so much, ((name)), for that great introduction, and thank you, Wayne Newton for a beautiful rendition of the Anthem. It is wonderful to be out of Washington -- and I am glad to be here to show my strong support for a national leader in our Party and one of America's great Senators, Rudy Boschwitz. //

Only three days until Election Day, and we're pulling out all the stops campaigning across the country -- for top-notch candidates like Arne Carlson, "the Rocky Balboa of Minnesota," a seasoned leader we know and trust -- who in just three days is going to defy the odds and become the next governor of this great state. \\

((You know, I heard Arne was in favor of a shortened campaign season, but this is ridiculous. ///))

And I'm excited about the rest of our state ticket as well: Kevin Johnson (Attorney General); Dave Jennings (Sec. of State); Bob Heinrich (State Auditor); and John Burger (State Treasurer);.

((You know when Rudy called and asked us to come out for this rally, I asked if perhaps we should bring out the Republican secret weapon, and really rev up the crowds.// Rudy said, "Sure, Mr. President // but Barbara told us she couldn't make it.")) embodies responsible government. You know Rudy's a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee -- a real champion of your dairy farmers -- arguing that milk production isn't the problem, it's the underconsumption of it. So, at "Rudy's Super Duper Milk House" at the State Fair every year, he serves cherry, banana, and root beer-flavored milk. Rudy, I'm with you all the way on this one. But please, no broccoli-flavored milk. // Well, I think I've milked that for all I can get.))

I'm glad
~~It's a pleasure~~ to be here on behalf of Rudy Boschwitz -- a tremendous Senator and a man Minnesotans can trust. A man who

Today, after ten years on the Budget Committee, Rudy's known as a tough fighter for lower taxes and a strong advocate of the spending freeze. ~~And~~ he can tell you when it comes to raising taxes, the Democrats can't tell the difference between milking a cow and sending it to slaughter. // Back in Washington, we need more Senators like Rudy -- we need more Republicans in Congress.

I'm glad to be here today campaigning for ^{Rudy and} this great team, because I think one of the most important things we can do together is to get more Republicans elected in every town, in every state and for every federal seat in this land. Because the Republican party is the party with an agenda -- the party of change, not the status quo -- the party of new ideas.

There is no higher domestic priority on the Republican agenda than America's economy -- the job-creating engine that every family in this country counts on.

In recent months, ^{we} we've seen some uncertainty and concern about slower economic growth. That's why a budget agreement was crucial -- and why I was willing to go the extra mile to get it.

Despite tough negotiations, we finally reached a budget agreement with the Democrats controlling Congress. There were clear differences between the parties in how to cut the deficit.

The Democrats wanted to raise taxes, including income tax rates for working Americans. I wanted to reduce the deficit with spending cuts. What we got was a compromise: some taxes but almost $500 billion in deficit reduction in five years. $350 billion in spending cuts -- the largest in history. Incentives to make America less dependent on foreign oil.

And we put Congress on the pay-as-you-go plan. The enforcement provisions in this agreement are real -- they are strong. No longer will programs be funded with red ink.

Finally, we held the line against reckless cuts of our Armed Forces to ensure that this nation's defense remains strong. We owe that to our men and women in the Persian Gulf.

But getting our fiscal policy on track is just part of what we have accomplished as the party of change. A year ago, I challenged the Congress and the American people to work with me, to break the stalemate that has hindered progress on clean air for the past decade.

We've put our best minds to work, on both sides of the aisle, and both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue, to turn technology and the power of the marketplace to the advantage of the environment. To create. To innovate. To tip the scales in favor of recovery, restoration, and renewal.

A year ago, I said "Every American expects and deserves to breathe clean air. And as President, it is my mission to guarantee it: for this generation, and for generations to come."

Today, thanks to the innovation and cooperation of industry, government, and environmental experts -- and thanks especially to the hard work of Rudy Boschwitz -- I can say that I'll have a clean air bill I can sign.///

This legislation will remove 10 million tons of the emissions that cause acid rain from the air; it will bring the nation's 100 most smog-laden cities safe, healthy air; and it encourages the use of alternative fuels, that are safer for our environment, and reduce our dependence on foreign energy. This bill is good for us. It's good for Canada -- Mexico, too. And it sends a signal of commitment and leadership to the rest of the world.

The fulfillment of this commitment has broken an eight year legislative logjam. But more important, it's going to make every man, woman, and child in America breathe a little easier. Because Republicans care about change, we've got a Clean Air Bill. \\ I think that's something to celebrate. \\

But of course there is still work to be done on the Republican agenda. America is fed up with crime. And Republicans know handcuffs belong not on the cops and the courts -- handcuffs belong on the criminals. \\

Shortly after taking office, I stood before the U.S. Capitol and called on Congress to pass tough new laws to help America

"Take Back the Streets." Instead, in the final hours of the Congress, Democratic liberals choked -- and completely gutted our package to fight back against violent crime.

Republicans fought for habeas corpus reforms -- aimed at stopping convicted criminals from endlessly abusing the appeals process. Republicans fought for reforms of the exclusionary rule -- a judge-made law that lets the guilty go free. And Republicans fought for a real federal death penalty for drug kingpins and terrorists. The liberal Democrats blocked these provisions -- blocked the will of the American people.

We need to be tough on crime and criminals. Republicans want change. Give me more Republicans, and we'll get the job done.

Republicans truly want to build a better America. To do it, we need more Republicans. We need a strong Senator like Rudy Boschwitz on Capitol Hill. We need a governor like Arne Carlson in the State House. And so especially here in Southeastern Minnesota, we need to get out the vote for these great Republican candidates. I need them, Minnesota needs them, and most of all, America needs them. //

Today, we are at a partisan political event but now let me put partisan politics aside -- totally. I know that everyone in this country is vitally interested in the situation in the Middle East, so let me bring you up to date. Former Senator Vandenberg was right when he said, "Politics ends at the water's edge." I am grateful to the leaders and other Members of Congress -- Democrat and Republican -- for their bipartisan support.

On August 2nd, Iraq invaded Kuwait. They literally raped, pillaged, and plundered this once-peaceful land -- this nation that is a member of the Arab League and of the United Nations. Iraq began to brutally and systematically dismantle Kuwait -- shipping its medical equipment, its machines, its records, its gold -- back to Baghdad. They have tried to silence Kuwaiti dissent and courage with firing squads. In one incident, a 15 year-old boy gunned down, his family forced to watch. His crime -- passing out leaflets.

The United States and the rest of the world, united in anger and outrage, determined to force Saddam Hussein out of Kuwait. On August 5th, Saddam Hussein announced he was pulling his forces out of Kuwait. At that very moment he sent his armor and his troops south to mass along the Saudi border, threatening yet another member of the U.N. and Arab League.

Subsequently, the United Nations Security Council passed ten resolutions of condemnation and disapproval. On August 5th, I said Saddam Hussein's aggression will not stand. Today, I am more determined than ever: This aggression will not stand. !!! ✓

This morning, over 300 Americans, innocent civilians, are held against their will in Iraq. Many of them reportedly staked out as human shields, near possible military targets -- brutality not seen since Adolf Hitler. ✓

Many more Americans are in hiding in Kuwait, their lives at stake; 27 imprisoned in the U.S. Embassy in Kuwait City. They are cut off from food and other supplies. They are surrounded by Iraqi troops. Our flag still flies but the rights of these American citizens are, at this very moment, being denied by Iraq's brutal dictator.

Let me be clear -- we have no argument with the Iraqi people. We bear no hostility to the Iraqi people, nor do any of the over 25 countries represented on land and sea in the Gulf area. Our problem is with Saddam Hussein -- alone.

I want a peaceful resolution to this crisis. Indeed, we have worked closely with the United Nations in putting sanctions into effect, in passing resolutions and in speaking with one voice against the invader's aggression.

We are giving the sanctions time to work. I hope there will never be a shot fired in anger, but let me be very, very clear:

There will be no compromise on the stated objectives of the United Nations Security Council resolutions -- none at all.

The brutality against innocent civilians will not be tolerated and will not stand. // Saddam's clear violations of international law will not stand. // And that means, yes, Saddam Hussein's brutal aggression will not stand. //

No one wants a peaceful solution to this crisis more than I do. No one is more determined to see this aggression turned back than I am.

As to our own forces deployed in the Gulf, we have the best young men and women over there ever to serve in our armed forces. They are all volunteers, they are all well trained, they are all highly motivated. They are your sons and daughters-- your neighbors' kids. They are the finest and we owe them an enormous vote of thanks. ///

These men and women don't take ~~de~~democracy for granted. Thousands upon thousands of them will be sending absentee ballots from the Saudi desert and the Persian Gulf. If they can find the time to vote under such conditions, so can every single American here at home. We have an obligation to show these extraordinary GI's that we don't take democracy for granted either. Let's make them as proud of us as we are of them. //

Thank you, and God bless the United States of America.

Back in Washington, we need more Senators like Rudy -- we need more Republicans in Congress. Now, we've got just three days until Election Day -- I like to call it Opportunity Day -- when voters have the opportunity to vote for change. To vent their frustration and their anger at the unresponsive and irresponsible Democratic Congress. // And nowhere has this Democratic Congress been more irresponsible than the budget process we've just completed.

This country faces an enormous challenge of tremendous consequences. A federal budget deficit spiraling into the hundreds of billions of dollars. I was elected to make some tough decisions, to govern.

At times, every President finds that he must compromise for the good of the country. And I reached out my hand -- to work with the Democrats in Congress -- only to have a parade of liberal Democrats march to the microphone to blame me for their failures. My goodwill has been rewarded with business-as-usual on the budget. Well, enough is enough. // America deserves a Better Deal. Send me more Senators like Rudy Boschwitz. // Send me more Republicans and we'll get the job done. //

We're taking our case to the American people. We can send a message to every Democratic Congressman or Senator who mortgaged the future of our kids. To every Democrat who tried to raise income taxes on every working American -- and believe me, they tried. And to every Democrat who's part of this Democratic spending binge -- Americans say we're not going to take it anymore. //

Because this is our country. It doesn't belong only to the privileged few who roam the congressional corridors of power. Perhaps the Democrats have forgotten that. Perhaps they're too busy taking care of their special interests and their own re-elections.

What a shame that the highest aspirations of the Founding Fathers would come down to this: an imperious majority that uses its power to protect its own prerogatives; its own perks; its own privileges; and its own pet projects. It's time the American people say 'enough is enough.' //

You know, Will Rogers -- whose birthday is this weekend -- once said, "Lord, the money we do spend on Government -- and it's not one bit better than the government we got for one-third the money twenty years ago." He was right -- the American people know that it's Congress that appropriates every dime we spend.

Well, I say it's time we got more for our money. It's time Americans got a Better Deal. //

((You know, they say there are two things you should never watch being made: sausage and laws. // When it comes to the Democrats in Congress, I'd say we've all been taken on a first-class tour of the hot dog factory. //))

And, frankly, I can't say I was surprised to hear a Democrat leader say -- before the ink was dry on the budget agreement -- that the Democrats will fight for higher taxes next year. I was disgusted to hear them call it their bill to 'soak the rich.' What it really did was go after the paycheck of the working men and women in this country with $40 billion in new income taxes. Well, we stopped them cold. // Their rhetoric is wrong and their purpose is wrong. And Republicans aren't going to let them get away with it -- because Republicans are looking out for the working men and women of this country. //

Americans have had to endure six months of endless budget negotiations. Rudy will tell you -- he saw it all as a member of the Budget Committee -- but for six months this Democratic Congress stalled the budget agreement and risked stalling the economy -- all in the name of politics and higher taxes. And the American people are not going to let them get away with that, either.//

All in all, this budget agreement is unprecedented, and long-overdue. We got nearly $350 billion in spending cuts and almost $500 billion in total deficit reduction. And we fought for what was good in the package: spending cuts, entitlement reform, and tough enforcement provisions. It was time to stop mortgaging the future of these kids ((in audience)). This Democratic spending binge had to stop. //

But there was a price for that agreement. Those spending cuts were held hostage by the liberal Democrats, and the ransom we paid was taxes. The Democrats are still pushing that tired line of more taxes, more spending, and more bureaucracy. And at the same time the Administration and Republican members on the Hill wanted to cut spending, Congress voted to spend half a million dollars to create a Lawrence Welk tourist attraction. ((And that is not "wunnerful, wunnerful."))

This liberal Democrat Congress has become America's biggest, most entrenched special interest. /// In 1959, Congress was served by 5800 staff members. Today it is served by almost 20,000 staff members, who control the perks and pass out the pork. It's an endless maze of 300 committees and subcommittes - - all fed by special interests -- while the national interest is lost in the rush to get re-elected. The House intended to be closest to the people has become a House of Lords. Ninety-eight percent who seek re-election, are re-elected. It's time to make a change -- the American people deserve a Better Deal. //

The solution is simple: We need more Republicans in Congress.

You know the difference between Republicans and Democrats. We are the ones fighting for family values in this year's legislation -- in education, in child care, in housing. And we're going to keep right on fighting. And we're the ones determined to bring hope and opportunity to the millions forgotten by the Democrats. And we won't give up on them. We're the ones with more sympathy for the victims of crime than for the criminals. And we're the ones who understand that the world remains a dangerous place and that American leadership can meet the challenges of an uncertain world. And America will continue to lead because Republicans will not undermine America's strength. //

Let me tell you, it's great to be out of Washington. /// And as we travel around the country, I've seen the wisdom of the American people. They've got an answer for entrenched politicians: it's called term limitation. In states like California, Oklahoma, and Colorado frustrated voters have taken matters into their own hands -- with ballot initiatives to limit the terms of state legislators. But when it comes to Congress, Minnesotans don't have to wait for a ballot initiative. They can start limiting a few terms themselves -- this Tuesday. // They can elect citizen-legislators -- men and women who return to live under the laws they made. Term limitation is an idea whose time has come. /// And it's time it came to Capitol Hill. //

When you get out in the country, you also see the ideas that work. See what good Governors -- like Arne Carlson will be -- what they can do when they have the tools they need. And what works is the line item veto that 43 governors already have. If

Congress can't cut spending then I say: give the President a shot. Give me the line item veto and see what we can do. ///

And that's not all. We want a balanced budget amendment like 49 states already have. The Democratic tax-and-spend machine must be stopped -- and we're the ones to do the job. ///

So here is my message to the voters of this state: This year, don't make November 6 a day like any other day. This year, when you go to the polls, vote Republican -- vote for Rudy Boschwitz and Arne Carlson. // Because Minnesota deserves the best -- and you've got it right here. //

Meanwhile, I'm going to crisscross this country from North to South and East to West, and take this message to those Americans who don't have Rudy Boschwitz to represent them in the U.S. Senate: more Republicans in Congress means more men and women fighting against more taxes and more spending. // And more Republicans means a Better Deal for America. //

Thank you. God bless the United States of America.
