Third P.A.S. Briefing 6/19/91 [OA 6034]

* [[IT'S GREAT TO BE HERE. I UNDERSTAND WE'VE GOT PEOPLE FROM THE N.R.C., THE N.L.R.B., THE S.E.C., THE F.T.C., THE F.C.C., THE I.C.C... \ \ IS VANNA WHITE OUT THERE? \ \ I'D LIKE TO BUY A VOWEL. \ \]] I'M GLAD GREGG PETERSMEYER AND SECRETARY ALEXANDER HAD A CHANCE TO BRIEF YOU ON THEIR WORK -- AND I'D ADD THAT BOTH OF THEM ARE DOING OUTSTANDING WORK.

* THIS GROUP REFLECTS THE REMARKABLE ARRAY OF WAYS THAT GOVERNMENT TOUCHES PEOPLE'S LIVES -- AND ALL OF YOU REFLECT THE BEST IN PUBLIC SERVICE. SO TODAY I'D LIKE TO OFFER A FEW THOUGHTS ABOUT THE DOMESTIC AGENDA.

* I'VE SAID BEFORE THAT I CAN'T THINK OF A NATIONAL PROBLEM THAT CAN'T BE SOLVED THROUGH THE COMBINED EFFORTS OF A VIGOROUS FREE MARKET, A COMPASSIONATE AND COMPETENT GOVERNMENT, AND A NATION OF PEOPLE DEDICATED TO THE ETHIC OF SERVICE TO OTHERS.

* SO OUR POLICIES PURSUE THREE IMPORTANT THEMES: ENCOURAGING ECONOMIC GROWTH, THROUGH THE POWER OF FREE
WILLS AND FREE MARKETS; INVESTING IN THE FUTURE, THROUGH THE THOUGHTFUL APPLICATION OF PRIVATE INVESTMENT AND GOVERNMENT RESOURCES, WHERE APPROPRIATE; AND PUTTING POWER AND OPPORTUNITY IN THE HANDS OF INDIVIDUALS AND COMMUNITIES -- ENCOURAGING A NEW ENGAGEMENT AT THE LOCAL LEVEL, TO SOLVE CRITICAL SOCIAL PROBLEMS THROUGH WHAT I CALL "POINTS OF LIGHT."

* WE HAVE AN OBLIGATION IN GOVERNMENT TO PROMOTE PRODUCTIVITY IN THE MARKETPLACE AND IN THE COMMUNITY.
MANY OF YOU ARE ALL TOO AWARE OF THE BILLIONS OF HOURS AND BILLIONS OF DOLLARS AMERICANS SPEND EACH YEAR, DEALING WITH GOVERNMENT REGULATIONS AND PAPERWORK.
THAT'S WHY WE'RE SO COMMITTED TO REGULATORY REFORM AND PAPERWORK REDUCTION.

* IF THE COSTS OF NEW PAPERWORK AND REGULATIONS OUTWEIGH THE BENEFITS, WE NEED TO CUT THE PAPERWORK. WHEREVER YOU SEE RED TAPE, YOU OUGHT TO SEE RED.

* THESE COSTS HIT BUSINESSES, CONSUMERS, WORKERS -- EVERYONE. SO EVERYWHERE WE CAN STREAMLINE, IMPROVE, INNOVATE -- WE MUST. YOUR JOB WILL BE TO FIND AND ELIMINATE ENCROACHING REGULATIONS THAT ARE SELF-PERPETUATING BURDENS, BENEFITTING ONLY REGULATORS AND SPECIAL INTERESTS.

ON MY BEHALF, OMB IS AGGRESSIVELY MAKING SURE THAT REGULATIONS ARE COST-EFFECTIVE, AND MINIMIZE BURDENS ON THE ECONOMY. AND I'VE ASKED THE VICE PRESIDENT'S COUNCIL ON COMPETITIVENESS TO OVERSEE OUR REGULATORY REVIEW PROCESS. I'D LIKE ALL OF YOU TO LET THE COUNCIL KNOW ABOUT AREAS THAT NEED DEREGULATION.

* WE PURSUE REGULATORY REFORM BECAUSE WE WANT THIS NATION TO COMMIT AS MUCH HUMAN ENERGY AND CAPITAL AS POSSIBLE TO CULTIVATING GROWTH AND PROSPERITY -- TWO NECESSARY CONDITIONS FOR SERVICE TO OTHERS. [[AND REGULATORY REFORM WILL ALSO REDUCE THE RISK OF DISABILITY CLAIMS FROM ANYONE INJURED PICKING UP THE FEDERAL REGISTER.]]

* ALONG WITH ECONOMIC GROWTH, OUR SECOND THEME ON THE DOMESTIC FRONT, INVESTING IN THE FUTURE, BEGINS WITH OUR EFFORT TO INSTILL EXCELLENCE IN AMERICAN EDUCATION -- OUR AMERICA 2000 STRATEGY. AND WITH OUR NATIONAL ENERGY STRATEGY, WE'RE WORKING TO REDUCE OUR VULNERABILITY TO DISRUPTIONS IN FOREIGN OIL SUPPLIES. ANOTHER, CRUCIAL INVESTMENT IN THE FUTURE IS OUR FAR-REACHING TRANSPORTATION BILL.

* THIRD, WE'VE GIVEN GREATER POWER AND CHOICE TO INDIVIDUALS, FAMILIES, AND COMMUNITIES: IN CHILD CARE, IN ENVIRONMENTAL LEGISLATION, IN THE AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT. WE WANT TO EXPAND THE POSSIBILITIES OF CHOICE, TO INCLUDE EDUCATION, TRANSPORTATION AND OTHER CRUCIAL AREAS OF FEDERAL INVOLVEMENT.

* BEGINNING TO TURN BACK TO THE STATES THE PROGRAMS THEY KNOW BEST HOW TO DESIGN AND ADMINISTER. CONTINUING TO TURN THE TIDE ON DRUGS -- WANT TO CLAMP DOWN ON VIOLENT CRIME WITH TOUGH CRIME CONTROL LEGISLATION.

* YOUR EFFORTS CAN MAKE A HUGE DIFFERENCE. WE CAN MAKE A REAL DIFFERENCE IN GOVERNMENT -- AND IN THE LIFE OF THIS GREAT NATION -- IF WE MUSTER THE QUALITIES OF COMMITMENT, DEDICATION AND DETERMINATION THAT PROVED SO SUCCESSFUL IN THE GULF. MOST OF ALL, WE NEED TO APPLY THE MOST IMPORTANT GULF LESSON -- YOU CAN'T DO ANYTHING IF YOU DON'T MUSTER THE COURAGE TO ACT.

* SO LET ME THANK YOU AGAIN, FOR THE WORK YOU'VE BEEN DOING -- AND THE WORK THAT LIES AHEAD. YOU'VE ALREADY DONE GREAT THINGS, MANY OF WHICH DON'T GET NEARLY THE PRAISE OR ATTENTION THEY DESERVE. I KNOW YOU WILL ACCOMPLISH EVEN GREATER THINGS IN THE FUTURE. I THOUGHT IT WAS IMPORTANT, TODAY, TO SAY THANKS -- AND KEEP UP THE TERRIFIC WORK.

* [[AND IF THE FLURRY OF ACRONYMS EVER GETS TO YOU, REMEMBER, IT COULD BE WORSE -- LIKE THAT STORY ABOUT THE GUY WHO'S AN AGNOSTIC DYSLEXIC INSOMNIAC \\\ --
YOU KNOW, HE STAYS AWAKE ALL NIGHT, WONDERING IF THERE REALLY IS A DOG.]] THANK YOU ALL.

- * This group reflects the remarkable array of ways that government touches people's lives -- and all of you reflect the best in public service. So today I'd like to offer a few thoughts about the domestic agenda.

- * I've said before that I can't think of a national problem that can't be solved through the combined efforts of a vigorous free market, a compassionate and competent government, and a nation of people dedicated to the ethic of service to others.

- * So our policies pursue three important themes: encouraging economic growth, through the power of free wills and free markets; investing in the future, through the thoughtful application of private investment and government resources, where appropriate; and putting power and opportunity in the hands of individuals and communities -- encouraging a new engagement at the local level, to solve critical social problems through what I call "Points of Light."

That's why we're so committed to regulatory reform and paperwork reduction.

Your job will be to find and eliminate encroaching regulations that are self-perpetuating burdens, benefitting only regulators and special interests. On my behalf, OMB is aggressively making sure that regulations are cost-effective, and minimize burdens on the economy. And I've asked the Vice President's Council on Competitiveness to oversee our regulatory review process. I'd like all of you to let the Council know about areas that need deregulation.

- * We pursue regulatory reform because we want this nation to commit as much human energy and capital as possible to cultivating growth and prosperity -- two necessary conditions for service to others. [[And regulatory reform will also reduce the risk of disability claims from anyone injured picking up the Federal Register.]]

- * Along with economic growth, our second theme on the domestic front, investing in the future, begins with our effort to instill excellence in American education -- our America 2000 Strategy. And with our National Energy Strategy, we're working to reduce our vulnerability to disruptions in foreign oil supplies. Another, crucial investment in the future is our far-reaching Transportation Bill.

- * Third, we've given greater power and choice to individuals, families, and communities: in child care, in environmental legislation, in the Americans with Disabilities Act. We want to expand the possibilities of choice, to include education, transportation and other crucial areas of federal involvement.

* Beginning to turn back to the states the programs they know best how to design and administer. Continuing to turn the tide on drugs -- want to clamp down on violent crime with tough crime control legislation.

* Your efforts can make a huge difference. We can make a real difference in government -- and in the life of this great nation -- if we muster the qualities of commitment, dedication and determination that proved so successful in the Gulf. Most of all, we need to apply the most important Gulf lesson -- you can't do anything if you don't muster the courage to act.

* So let me thank you again, for the work you've been doing -- and the work that lies ahead. You've already done great things, many of which don't get nearly the praise or attention they deserve. I know you will accomplish even greater things in the future. I thought it was important, today, to say thanks -- and keep up the terrific work.

* [[And if the flurry of acronyms ever gets to you, remember, it could be worse -- like that story about the guy who's an agnostic dyslexic insomniac \\\ -- you know, he stays awake all night, wondering if there really is a dog.]]

"Investing in the future" is narrowly focused to mean "government resources." Investing in the future should mean private investment, taxpayer investment, volunteer efforts and removing government regulatory burdens that block economic opportunity.

The term "private excellence" in the marketplace is awkward -- it could read "private property" or "free exchange of goods and ideas."

Page 3, America 2000 strategy is an investment in the future because it seeks to "break the mold" -- it demands accountability through parental choice and testing. The strategy seeks to force an reevaluation how the hugh sums of money are presently being spent on education -- and prepare the Nation -- all of its citizens -- for the 21st century.

Attached is suggested language regarding the regulatory section.

Unnecessary and burdensome regulation needs to be eliminated. It is anti-competitive. Regulation creates an insidious drag on the economy, strangles new industry and discourages the very innovation that we need to keep America competitive. Your job * will be to find and eliminate encroaching regulations that are self-perpetuating burdens benefitting only regulators and special interests.

Those of you with large agencies to manage must be wary of becoming captured by your own staffs with separate agendas that seek to enlarge rather than streamline government. This is particularly the case in regulatory agencies where regulations address more speculative risks and the benefits are harder to prove.

On my behalf, OMB through its Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OIRA) is aggressively making sure that regulations are cost effective and minimize burdens on the economy. And I have asked the Council on Competitiveness, chaired by the Vice President, to oversee the Administration's regulatory review process. Moreover, the Council is identifying opportunities to further deregulate our free enterprise system and I would like you to let the Council know of areas that need deregulation.

I understand we've got people from the N.R.C., the N.L.R.B., the S.E.C., the F.T.C., the F.C.C., the I.C.C... \\ Is Vanna White out there? \\ I'd like to buy a vowel. \\]] I'm glad Gregg Petersmeyer and Secretary Alexander had a chance to brief you on their work -- and I'd add that both of them are doing outstanding work.

- * This group reflects the remarkable array of ways that government touches people's lives -- and all of you reflect the best in public service. So today I'd like to offer a few thoughts about the domestic agenda.

- * I've said before that I can't think of a national problem that can't be solved through the combined efforts of a vigorous free market, a compassionate and competent government, and a nation of people dedicated to the ethic of service to others.

- * Our policies pursue all three themes: encouraging economic growth, through the power of free wills and free markets; investing in the future, through the thoughtful application of government resources, where appropriate; and putting power and opportunity in the hands of individuals and communities -- encouraging a new engagement at the local level.

*In solving critical social problems, what I care
"Pinch of light." promote*

- * We have an obligation in government to ~~protect private~~ excellence in the marketplace and in the community. Many of you are all too aware of the billions of hours and billions of dollars Americans spend each year, dealing with government regulations and paperwork. That's why we're so committed to regulatory reform and paperwork reduction.

Productivity

- * If the costs of new paperwork outweigh the benefits, we need to cut the paperwork. Wherever you see red tape, you ought to see red.
- * These costs hit businesses, consumers, workers -- everyone. So everywhere we can streamline, improve, innovate -- we must. Government doesn't have to do more to be compassionate; it has to do its job well. "Kinder and gentler" government means "government that works." As a result, "kinder and gentler" often means "leaner and meaner."
- * We pursue regulatory reform because we want this nation to commit as much human energy and capital as possible to cultivating growth and prosperity -- two necessary conditions for service to others. [[Regulatory reform also will cut down on the number of disability claims from people injured by picking up the Federal Register.]]

- * Along with economic growth, our second theme on the domestic front, investing in the future, begins with our effort to instill excellence in American education -- our America 2000 Strategy. And with our National Energy Strategy, we're working to reduce our vulnerability to disruptions in foreign oil supplies. Another, crucial investment in the future is our far-reaching Highway Bill. Transportation
- * Third, we've given greater power and choice to individuals, families, and communities: in child care, in environmental legislation, in the Americans with Disabilities Act. We want to expand the possibilities of choice, to include education, transportation and other crucial areas of federal involvement.
- * Beginning to turn back to the states the programs they know best how to design and administer. Continuing to turn the tide on drugs -- want to clamp down on violent crime with tough crime control legislation.

* But legislation alone won't do the trick. We need to convince every business and union, every school and place of worship, every club and group in every locality to join with us in government in the fight against social problems. →

We've got to call forth the light in all of us.

* Your efforts can make a huge difference. We can make a real difference in government -- and in the life of this great nation -- if we muster the qualities of commitment, dedication and determination that proved so successful in the Gulf. Most of all, we need to apply the most important Gulf lesson -- you can't do anything if you don't muster the courage to act.

* So let me thank you again, for the work you've been doing -- and the work that lies ahead. You've already done great things, many of which don't get nearly the praise or attention they deserve. I know you will accomplish even greater things in the future. I thought it was important, today, to say thanks -- and keep up the terrific work.

* [[And if the flurry of acronyms ever gets to you, remember, it could be worse -- like that story about the guy .who's a dyslexic agnostic insomniac -- you know, he stays awake all night, wondering if there really is a dog.]]

Thank you all.

- * I've said before that I can't think of a national problem that can't be solved through the combined efforts of a vigorous free market, a compassionate and competent government, and a nation of people dedicated to the ethic of service to others.

- * Our policies pursue all three themes: encouraging economic growth, through the power of free wills and free markets; investing in the future, through the thoughtful application of government resources, where appropriate; and putting power and opportunity in the hands of individuals and communities -- encouraging a new engagement at the local level.

- * We have an obligation in government to protect private excellence in the marketplace and in the community. Many of you are all too aware of the billions of hours and billions of dollars Americans spend each year, dealing with government regulations and paperwork. That's why we're so committed to regulatory reform and paperwork reduction.
- * If the costs of new paperwork outweigh the benefits, we need to cut the paperwork. Wherever you see red tape, you ought to see red.
- * These costs hit businesses, consumers, workers -- everyone. So everywhere we can streamline, improve, innovate -- we must. Government doesn't have to do more to be compassionate; it has to do its job well. "Kinder and gentler" government means "government that works." As a result, "kinder and gentler" often means "leaner and meaner."
- * We pursue regulatory reform because we want this nation to commit as much human energy and capital as possible to cultivating growth and prosperity -- two necessary conditions for service to others. [[Regulatory reform also will cut down on the number of disability claims from people injured by picking up the Federal Register.]]

- * Along with economic growth, our second theme on the domestic front, investing in the future, begins with our effort to instill excellence in American education -- our America 2000 Strategy. And with our National Energy Strategy, we're working to reduce our vulnerability to disruptions in foreign oil supplies. Another, crucial investment in the future is our far-reaching Highway Bill.

- * Third, we've given greater power and choice to individuals, families, and communities: in child care, in environmental legislation, in the Americans with Disabilities Act. We want to expand the possibilities of choice, to include education, transportation and other crucial areas of federal involvement.

- * Beginning to turn back to the states the programs they know best how to design and administer. Continuing to turn the tide on drugs -- want to clamp down on violent crime with tough crime control legislation.

* Your efforts can make a huge difference. We can make a real difference in government -- and in the life of this great nation -- if we muster the qualities of commitment, dedication and determination that proved so successful in the Gulf. Most of all, we need to apply the most important Gulf lesson -- you can't do anything if you don't muster the courage to act.

* So let me thank you again, for the work you've been doing -- and the work that lies ahead. You've already done great things, many of which don't get nearly the praise or attention they deserve. I know you will accomplish even greater things in the future. I thought it was important, today, to say thanks -- and keep up the terrific work.

* [[And if the flurry of acronyms ever gets to you, remember, it could be worse -- like that story about the guy who's a dyslexic agnostic insomniac -- you know, he stays awake all night, wondering if there really is a dog.]]
Thank you all.

TALKING POINTS: THIRD P.A.S. BRIEFING
 [CLOSED PRESS]
 ROOM 450, OEOP
 WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1991

- * [[It's great to be here. I understand we've got people from the N.R.C., the N.L.R.B., the S.E.C., the F.T.C., the F.C.C., the I.C.C... \\ Is Vanna White out there? \\ I'd like to buy a vowel. \\]] I'm glad Gregg Petersmeyer and Secretary Alexander had a chance to brief you on their work -- and I'd add that both of them are doing outstanding work.

- * This group reflects the remarkable array of ways that government touches people's lives -- and all of you reflect the best in public service. So today I'd like to offer a few thoughts about the domestic agenda.

- * I've said before that I can't think of a national problem that can't be solved through the combined efforts of a vigorous free market, a compassionate and competent government, and a nation of people dedicated to the ethic of service to others.

- * Our policies pursue all three themes: encouraging economic growth, through the power of free wills and free markets; investing in the future, through the thoughtful application of government resources, where appropriate; and putting power and opportunity in the hands of individuals and communities -- encouraging a new engagement at the local level.

- * We have an obligation in government to protect private excellence in the marketplace and in the community. Many of you are all too aware of the billions of hours and billions of dollars Americans spend each year, dealing with government regulations and paperwork. That's why we're so committed to regulatory reform and paperwork reduction.
- * If the costs of new paperwork ^{and regulations} outweigh the benefits, we need to cut the ~~paperwork~~. Wherever you see red tape, you ought to see red.
- * These costs hit businesses, consumers, workers -- everyone. So everywhere we can streamline, improve, innovate -- we must. Government doesn't have to do more to be compassionate; it has to do its job well. "Kinder and gentler" government means "government that works." As a result, "kinder and gentler" often means "leaner and meaner."
- * We pursue regulatory reform because we want this nation to commit as much human energy and capital as possible to cultivating growth and prosperity -- two necessary conditions for service to others. [[Regulatory reform also will ^{reduce the risk of a} ~~cut down on the number of~~ disability claims from ⁵ ~~people~~ ^{filed} injured by picking up the Federal Register.]]

- * Along with economic growth, our second theme on the domestic front, investing in the future, begins with our effort to instill excellence in American education -- our America 2000 Strategy. And with our National Energy Strategy, we're working to reduce our vulnerability to disruptions in foreign oil supplies. Another, crucial investment in the future is our far-reaching Highway Bill.
- * Third, we've given greater power and choice to individuals, families, and communities: in child care, in environmental legislation, in the Americans with Disabilities Act. We want to expand the possibilities of choice, to include education, transportation and other crucial areas of federal involvement.
- * Beginning to turn back to the states the programs they know best how to design and administer. Continuing to turn the tide on drugs -- want to clamp down on violent crime with tough crime control legislation.

And if we are to achieve these goals, we all must ensure that the Federal government does not intervene into the ^{private} marketplace unless it's absolutely necessary.

- * Your efforts can make a huge difference. We can make a real difference in government -- and in the life of this great nation -- if we muster the qualities of commitment, dedication and determination that proved so successful in the Gulf. Most of all, we need to apply the most important Gulf lesson -- you can't do anything if you don't muster the courage to act.

- * So let me thank you again, for the work you've been doing -- and the work that lies ahead. You've already done great things, many of which don't get nearly the praise or attention they deserve. I know you will accomplish even greater things in the future. I thought it was important, today, to say thanks -- and keep up the terrific work.

- * [[And if the flurry of acronyms ever gets to you, remember, it could be worse -- like that story about the guy who's a dyslexic agnostic insomniac -- you know, he stays awake all night, wondering if there really is a dog.]]
Thank you all.
