FOREST CENTENNIAL BANQUET

I WANT TO THANK THE BOONE AND CROCKETT CLUB AND THE AMERICAN FORESTRY ASSOCIATION FOR HOSTING THIS FINE EVENING.

THE TWO ORGANIZATIONS GATHERED HERE TONIGHT HAVE PLAYED MAJOR ROLES IN PRESERVING FOREST LANDS FOR OUR GENERATION -- AND FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS OF AMERICANS. YOU ADVOCATED THE CREATION OF THE YELLOWSTONE PARK TIMBERLAND RESERVE A CENTURY AGO. ^{MADE} YOU LED THE FIGHT FOR CONSERVATION AT A TIME WHEN NO ONE MUCH CARED ABOUT THE ISSUE. YOU SET IMPORTANT STANDARDS IN THE PRIVATE SECTOR/PUBLIC SECTOR PARTNERSHIP -- A PARTNERSHIP THAT HAS BEEN CRITICAL TO THE SUCCESS OF OUR NATIONAL FOREST SYSTEM. YOU CONTINUE YOUR STEWARDSHIP TODAY.

ALTHOUGH I REGRET THAT I CANNOT BE WITH YOU, I KNOW YOU ALL ARE ENJOYING THE EXTRAORDINARY ART AND OTHER COLLECTIONS HERE AT THE HISTORICAL CENTER. THESE WORKS CELEBRATE THE RICH HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN WEST AND THE NATIONAL FOREST SYSTEM. ⁵⁰⁰ THIS SUMMER, THOUSANDS OF AMERICANS WILL SEE THESE EXHIBITS AND I KNOW EVERY VISITOR WILL LEAVE WITH A BETTER APPRECIATION OF OUR NATIONAL FORESTS.

WE ARE THE STEWARDS OF THESE LANDS AND EVERY ONE OUGHT TO JOIN THE PARTNERSHIPS THAT HELP ADVANCE THE CAUSE OF CONSERVATION. WE SHOULD FEEL GRATEFUL FOR THE FACT THAT VISIONARIES BEGAN WORKING 100 YEARS AGO TO PROVIDE THESE LANDS FOR PUBLIC USE. ^{MOVE} WE'RE TRYING TO DO OUR PART FROM WASHINGTON. I'VE PROPOSED A PROGRAM TO PLANT -- IN COOPERATION WITH ORGANIZATIONS SUCH AS YOURS -- ONE BILLION TREES A YEAR. I'VE PROPOSED INCREASES FOR FOREST SERVICE RECREATION AND RESOURCE PROTECTION. I HOPE CONGRESS FUNDS THEM -- SO THAT WE CAN MAKE THIS 100TH ANNIVERSARY THE YEAR IN WHICH WE RE-COMMIT TO THE HEALTH, BEAUTY, AND PRODUCTIVITY OF OUR FORESTS. MEMBERS OF THE BOONE AND CROCKETT CLUB AND THE AMERICAN FORESTRY ASSOCIATION CAN BE VERY PROUD OF YOUR LEGACIES. THIS 100TH BIRTHDAY PARTY COMMEMORATES THE BIRTH OF A FOREST SYSTEM THAT PROTECTS THIS NATION'S NATURAL BEAUTY AND STRENGTHENS OUR COMMITMENT TO AN ENVIRONMENT THAT ENRICHES US ALL.

VIDEO TAPING SESSION: "DISNEY GREAT AMERICAN CELEBRATION" TO BE AIRED ON JULY 4TH ON CBS

Good evening. This Fourth of July is a special day in the life of our nation. And the "Disney Great American Celebration" tonight honors who we are and what we have achieved. And yet, there is always more for us to achieve -- from ending drug abuse and homelessness, to fighting illiteracy and hunger.

In facing these challenges, there is a critical role for volunteers -- "Points of Light," I call them -- those men and women reaching out to others in need. Many people all across the country have answered the call to be Points of Light in their communities. [[In fact, I understand three of our Points of Light are in tonight's audience at Walt Disney World.]]

Tonight it's my honor to announce the 500th Daily Point of Light: Alvin and Gwendolyn Sims of Chicago, and their seven-year old daughter, Brittany.

What makes the Sims family so special is the way they open their home to anyone who needs a friend. They are father and mother to teenagers in their neighborhood who have no family. On any night of the week, there are eight or nine kids at their home ... youngsters who need a place to sleep, a hot meal, or just someone to listen. Even little Brittany helps out by lending a hand at the local homeless shelter -- showing that no matter how young or old, every American has a gift to give.

Alvin, Gwendolyn and Brittany, families like yours are an inspiration to me and to all Americans. You've shown that from now on in America, any definition of a successful life must include serving others. God bless you and Happy Fourth of July.

[IF SIMS FAMILY IS PRESENT: Mr. President, thank you so much for this honor. Happy Fourth of July, too.]

THE WHITE HOUSE
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1991

Friends and fellow Americans. Let me welcome you to the 24th annual General Convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. /

I wish I could be with you in Orlando, but unfortunately, my schedule does not permit it. But I did want to congratulate you on 88 years -- and going strong -- of superb union service to your fellow Teamsters. //

Your leadership in the fight for benefits and acceptable wages for the 1.6 million men and women of the Teamsters is widely known. Yet you also deserve to be commended for all you have done above the call of duty for your families -- and the American family. //

Your General President, Billy McCarthy, and I have talked about issues crucial to the Teamsters and the Nation. I've always enjoyed these meetings, and our honest give-and-take. I know that when the chips are down, Teamsters revere America's interests. //

Today, let me salute you for your wonderful backing of our troops in the Persian Gulf. The teamsters were among the first organizations in the Nation to support us in the early days. You helped us during the Congressional debate and vote concerning possible use of force in the Gulf. You helped secure U.S. support of United Nations Security Council resolutions on the Persian Gulf. / Recently, you helped enormously in flying home so many of the brave men and women who served in the Gulf -- and who made America so proud. /

Your International headquarters building was among the first in Washington to display a sign in support of our troops. That sign remains on display today -- and will stay up, Billy tells me, until the last U.S. service member in the Gulf comes home. //

I want to also thank you for your work to ensure a smooth return for our reservists as they come back to work. And what you've done on behalf of Easter Seals and Muscular Dystrophy. I have also said the definition of a successful life must include serving others. Well, by that criteria, Teamsters live truly successful lives. //

Theodore Roosevelt preached against the doctrine "of ignoble ease." You practice the creed of truly noble service. // I thank you for that, and wish you good luck in your convention this week and with your Project 2000. // God bless you, and the Nation you richly bless -- the United States of America.

Hello. I'm glad to be able to address this Nazarene Youth Congress. I'm especially glad to be able to speak to you 5,000 terrific kids who've come from all across the country and abroad.

I know this will be an unforgettable week for you -- a week of fellowship and fun, of scripture and service. Your commitment to service impresses me -- and touches me -- deeply. What a wonderful way for you to grow as Christians -- as Americans -- and as members of our human family.

You care enough to make the world around you a better place. You understand that our lives aren't measured by the size of our bank accounts or the shine of our gold. They're measured by something deeper and more important -- the size of our hearts, and the shine of our goodness.

We call people like you our "Points of Light." You are part of this wonderful movement of Americans whose kindness illuminates the dark, forgotten corners of our land. I know that when you return home from Orlando, you'll spread the glow of your good work throughout this land -- throughout your lives.

We feel a surge of hope when we think of the coming century -- knowing the future is in the hands of good kids like you. May God bless you, your families, and the wonderful nation we love.

It's a pleasure to commend you all, for your devotion to the ethic of service. As dedicated officials from across the country, you form the backbone of our system of government. You uphold the community values that give America its strength.

I'd been looking forward to meeting with you and your President, Mike Stewart, in Salt Lake County during your Annual Conference. But my schedule has me in London during your meeting -- so I offer this message as a gesture of thanks -- and tribute.

You serve people who have nowhere to turn -- through your health departments and human services agencies. You give hope to the hopeless -- a way up -- a future.

You keep our economy moving by promoting agriculture and business development. You keep your people moving by building and maintaining the roads and bridges so crucial to our economy.

Whether you're helping to create a cleaner environment, providing libraries, training our youth, or keeping our communities safe, you touch the lives of millions and millions of Americans.

That's why I was so pleased to sign a resolution authorizing National County Government Week, earlier this year.

Your commitment to serving the American public has been amplified -- and exemplified -- during this past year by your president, Mike Stewart.

Mike has urged us all to keep our focus on the family -- and to devote more of our time and talents to activities in our neighborhoods. Those values and commitments know no political boundaries. They stand at the heart of our hopes for healthy and whole communities.

Your incoming President, Kaye Braaten, will have a hard act to follow. But I know she can get things done, and will keep NACo and its fine staff moving forward in telling the "county story."

Your commitment to serving the American public has been amplified -- and exemplified -- by Mike Stewart during this past year as your President.

Mike has urged us all to keep our focus on the family -- and to devote more of our time and talents to activities in our neighborhoods. Those values and commitments know no political boundaries. They stand at the heart of our hopes for healthy and whole communities.

Your incoming President, Kaye Braaten, will have a hard act to follow. But I know she can get things done, and will keep NACo and its fine staff moving forward in telling the "county story."

Proclamation 6261—National County Government Week, 1991

March 19, 1991

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

Although many Americans are just beginning to understand its special role in our Federal system, county government has a long and rich history in the United States.
In fact, it is one of the oldest forms of local government in America, existing before many States and cities. Colonists divided part of Virginia into eight shires or counties as early as 1634, and the first counties in Massachusetts were formed in 1643. Today approximately 98 percent of the Nation's people reside in counties.

During the 1800s and the early part of this century, the primary functions of county government involved the administration of justice, law enforcement, and the building and maintenance of roads. In recent decades, however, the responsibilities of county government have grown enormously.

The duties of our Nation's county governments now range from the preservation of public safety to environmental protection.
While every county is unique, these government entities direct housing and community development programs; they maintain parks, airports, and transit systems; and they work to solve area-wide problems such as air and water pollution, solid waste disposal, and drug trafficking. For many ill, elderly, and low-income Americans, the county is often the only available source of help in obtaining health care and other social services. The National Association of Counties reports that county governments, employing more than 2.9 million people, spent almost $111 billion in 1990 to provide services to the public.

National County Government Week is a fitting time to reaffirm the continued importance of a strong partnership between

City, County, State, and Federal Government—particularly in areas such as education, transportation, and the fight against drug abuse. In recent years, more and more Americans have realized what many have known all along: that the answer to many of the problems before us can be found, not in bigger Federal Government, but in effective local leadership and cooperation between citizens and public officials at all levels. Indeed, we know that government closest to the people is truly government “of the people, by the people, and for the people.” This is the essence of federalism and democracy, and it is the key to meeting many of the challenges and opportunities before our country.

In recognition of the Nation's county governments, the Congress, by Public Law 101-470, has designated the week of April 7
through April 13, 1991, as “National County Government Week” and has authorized and requested the President to issue a proclamation in observance of this week.

Now, Therefore, I, George Bush, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the week of April 7
through April 13, 1991, as National County Government Week. I call upon the American people and their elected representatives at all levels of government to observe this week with appropriate programs, ceremonies, and activities.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this 19th day of March, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and ninety-one, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and fifteenth.

Hello. I'm glad to be able to address this Nazarene Youth Congress. I'm especially glad to be able to speak to you 5,000 terrific kids who've come from all across this great country. ~~I tell you from the bottom of my heart: You make us proud.~~ D²

I know this will be an unforgettable week for you -- a week of fellowship and fun, of scripture and service. Your commitment to service impresses me -- and touches me -- deeply. What a wonderful way for you to grow as Christians -- as Americans -- and as members of our human family.

~~When you recognize your responsibility to help others, you truly live by the words of Christ when he said: "I was hungry and you gave me to eat; I was thirsty and you gave me to drink; I was a stranger and you took me in ... Inasmuch as you have done this for one of the least of my brothers, you have done it unto me."~~ D²

You care enough to make the world around you a better place. You understand that our lives aren't measured by the size of our bank accounts or the shine of our gold. They're measured by something deeper and more important -- the size of our hearts, and the shine of our goodness.

We call people like you our "Points of Light." You are part of this wonderful movement of Americans whose kindness illuminates the dark, forgotten corners of our land. I know that when you return home from Orlando, you'll spread the glow of your good work throughout this land -- throughout your lives.

We feel a surge of hope when we think of the coming century -- knowing the future is in the hands of good kids like you. May God bless you, your families, and the wonderful nation we love.

It's a pleasure to commend you all, for your devotion to the ethic of service. As dedicated officials from across the country, you form the backbone of our system of government. You uphold the community values that give America its strength.

I'd been looking forward to meeting with you and your President, Mike Stewart, in Salt Lake County during your Annual Conference. But my schedule has me in London during your meeting -- so I offer this message as a gesture of thanks -- and tribute.

You serve people who have nowhere to turn through your health departments and human services agencies. You give hope to the hopeless -- a way up -- a future.

You keep our economy moving by promoting agriculture and business development. You keep your people moving by building and maintaining the roads and bridges so crucial to our economy.

Whether you're helping to create a cleaner environment, providing libraries, training our youth, or keeping our communities safe, you touch the lives of millions and millions of Americans.

That's why I was so pleased to sign a resolution authorizing National County Government Week, earlier this year.

Your commitment to serving the American public has been amplified -- and exemplified -- by Mike Stewart during this past year as your President.

Good evening. This Fourth of July is a special day in the life of our nation. And the "Great American Celebration" tonight really ^{honors} ~~is~~ about who we are and what we have achieved. And yet, ^{always} ~~still~~ there is more for us to achieve -- ending drug abuse and homelessness, fighting illiteracy and hunger, finding a cure for AIDS. D²

In facing these challenges, there is a critical role for volunteers -- "Points of Light," I call them -- those men and women reaching out to others in need. Many people all across the country have answered the call to be Points of Light in their communities. [[In fact, I understand three of our Points of Light are in tonight's audience at Walt Disneyworld.]]

Tonight it's my honor to announce the 500th Daily Point of Light: Alvin and Gwendolyn Sims of Chicago, and their seven-year old daughter, Brittany.

What makes the Sims family so special is the way they open their home to anyone who needs a friend. They are father and mother to teenagers in their neighborhood who have no family. On any night of the week, there are eight or nine kids at their home ... youngsters who need a place to sleep, a hot meal, or just someone to listen. Even little Brittany helps out by lending a hand at the local homeless shelter -- showing that no matter how young or old, every American has a gift to give.

Alvin, Gwendolyn and Brittany, families like yours are an inspiration to me and to all Americans. You've shown that from now on in America, any definition of a successful life must include serving others. God bless you and Happy Fourth of July.

Friends and fellow Americans. Let me welcome you to the 24th annual General Convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. /

I wish I could be with you in Orlando, but unfortunately, my schedule will not permit it. But I did want to congratulate you on 88 years -- and going strong -- of superb union service to your fellow Teamsters. //

Your leadership in the fight for benefits and acceptable wages for the 1.6 million men and women of the Teamsters is widely known. Yet you also deserve to be commended for all you have done above the call of duty for your families -- and the American family. //

Your General President, Billy McCarthy, and I have talked about issues crucial to the Teamsters and the Nation. I've always enjoyed these meetings, and our honest give-and-take.

~~[I've come away from these sessions aware that he has the best interests of the Teamsters at heart.] Just like when the chips are down, every Teamster reveres America's interests. //~~

Today, let me salute you for your wonderful backing of our troops in the Persian Gulf. Teamsters were among the first in the Nation to offer their support during the Congressional debate and vote concerning U.S. support of United Nations Security Council relations on the Persian Gulf. / Recently, you helped enormously in flying home so many of our brave men and women who made America so proud. /

Your International headquarters building was among the first in Washington to display a sign in support of our troops. That sign remains on display today -- and will stay up, Billy tells me, until the last U.S. service member in the Gulf comes home. //

I want to also thank you for your work to ensure a smooth return for our reservists as they come back to work. And what you've done on behalf of Easter Seals and Muscular Dystrophy. I have also said the definition of a successful life must include serving others. Well, by that criteria, Teamsters live ~~about the~~ ~~most~~ successful lives ~~around~~. //

Theodore Roosevelt preached against the doctrine "of ignoble ease." You practice the creed of truly noble service. // I thank you for that, and wish you good luck in your convention this week and with your Project 2000. // God bless you, and the Nation you richly bless -- the United States of America.

Dear Public Service Director:

As you may know, I love our nation's great outdoors. To me, one of the greatest spectacles in nature is the annual migration of millions of waterfowl. But this great international treasure -- a heritage we share with Canada and Mexico -- faces serious problems. That's why I was so eager to lend my support to a program of the United States Fish & Wildlife Service designed to help save the habitat -- the nesting and living spaces -- our migratory waterfowl and many other birds depend on.

The enclosed Public Service Announcements treat a conservation effort that virtually any citizen can participate in -- the Federal Duck Stamp Program.

For 57 years, the sale of Duck Stamps has generated nearly $400 million dollars that have purchased almost 4 million acres of precious marshes, bogs and coastal bays for our National Wildlife Refuge system. From coast to coast Duck Stamps have been saving habitat, not only for waterfowl and other migratory birds, but also for many rare species of animals and plants. The fact that 98 cents of every Duck Stamp dollar goes directly for the acquisition of habitat makes it one of the most effective conservation initiatives anywhere.

Please review the enclosed announcements and take a moment to look over the free materials the Fish & Wildlife Service will send to respondents to these spots. I think you will agree that the Federal Duck Stamp Program is a timely and important topic about which more of our fellow citizens should know.

Sincerely,

President

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Dear Friend,

Thank you for your interest in the Federal Duck Stamp, and thank you for your commitment to conservation.

I am pleased to share the enclosed Duck Stamp Story with you. After you read it, I am sure you will agree that this important program can help guarantee a safe future for America's beloved migratory waterfowl.

The ducks, geese and swans that fly our autumn skies can ever remain a rich part of our natural heritage -- but only if their homes, resting places and nesting sites are conserved. The Duck Stamp can make a meaningful difference in securing their future.

Again, my thanks for your interest in conservation, and my encouragement to you as you help in saving and restoring our waterfowl resources.

Sincerely,

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

RE: DUCKS AND DISNEY

- 1) Duck Stamp PSAs: At the risk of being predictable, we recommend deleting the line from these spots that describes duck stamps as "an American success story." While the stamp program has raised significant funds for habitat protection, a 1990 Department of the Interior study showed that waterfowl populations nationwide are down 30 percent since 1969. Mallards and pintails, while not listed as threatened or endangered, are down by half or more since mid-century.

Given the President's high identification with the "Field and Stream" crowd, which is strongly aware of these trends, a better stance might be neutral -- "Let's leave the environment better than we found it" -- or one of concern -- "Now more than ever, they need our help."

- 2) Disney's Great American Celebration: I assume the audience for this program primarily will be families with children, a group that registers some of the highest support for the environmental cause, albeit not the hard-core liberal kind.

In the first paragraph, therefore, it would ring the right bells to insert "protecting the environment" and "building better schools" after "fighting illiteracy and hunger," in the list of "still more for us to achieve."

Not to be a broken record, broken record, broken record... but the President has laid out an informed, balanced, forward-looking environmental agenda, and has already delivered on major portions of that agenda. We should not miss opportunities to present him in that light.

Hello. I'm glad to be able to address this Nazarene Youth Congress. I'm especially glad to be able to speak to you 5,000 terrific kids who've come from all across this great country. ~~I tell you from the bottom of my heart: You make us proud.~~

I know this will be an unforgettable week for you -- a week of fellowship and fun, of scripture and service. Your commitment to service impresses me -- and touches me -- deeply. What a wonderful way for you to grow as Christians -- as Americans -- and as members of our human family.

~~When you recognize your responsibility to help others, you truly live by the words of Christ when he said: "I was hungry and you gave me to eat; I was thirsty and you gave me to drink; I was a stranger and you took me in ... Inasmuch as you have done this for one of the least of my brothers, you have done it unto me."~~

You care enough to make the world around you a better place. You understand that our lives aren't measured by the size of our bank accounts or the shine of our gold. They're measured by something deeper and more important -- the size of our hearts, and the shine of our goodness.

We call people like you our "Points of Light." You are part of this wonderful movement of Americans whose kindness illuminates the dark, forgotten corners of our land. I know that when you return home from Orlando, you'll spread the glow of your good work throughout this land -- throughout your lives.

VIDEO SCRIPT: NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COUNTIES
ANNUAL MEETING
OEOB STUDIO
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1991

It's a pleasure to commend you all, for your devotion to the ethic of service. As dedicated officials from across the country, you form the backbone of our system of government. You uphold the community values that give America its strength.

I'd been looking forward to meeting with you and your President, Mike Stewart, in Salt Lake County during your Annual Conference. But my schedule has me in London during your meeting -- so I offer this message as a gesture of thanks -- and tribute.

You serve people who have nowhere to turn through your health departments and human services agencies. You give hope to the hopeless -- a way up -- a future.

You keep our economy moving by promoting agriculture and business development. You keep your people moving by building and maintaining the roads and bridges so crucial to our economy.

Whether you're helping to create a cleaner environment, providing libraries, training our youth, or keeping our communities safe, you touch the lives of millions and millions of Americans.

That's why I was so pleased to sign a resolution authorizing National County Government Week, earlier this year.

Your commitment to serving the American public has been amplified -- and exemplified -- by Mike Stewart during this past year as your President.

Mike has urged us all to keep our focus on the family -- and to devote more of our time and talents to activities in our neighborhoods. Those values and commitments know no political boundaries. They stand at the heart of our hopes for healthy and whole communities.

Your incoming President, Kaye Braaten, will have a hard act to follow. But I know she can get things done, and will keep NACo and its fine staff moving forward in telling the "county story."

TEAM

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: TEAMSTERS VIDEO
THE WHITE HOUSE
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1991

Friends and fellow Americans. Let me welcome you to the 24th annual General Convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. /

I wish I could be with you in Orlando, but unfortunately, my schedule will not permit it. But I did want to congratulate you on 88 years -- and going strong -- of superb union service to your fellow Teamsters. //

Your leadership in the fight for benefits and acceptable wages for the 1.6 million men and women of the Teamsters is widely known. Yet you also deserve to be commended for all you have done above the call of duty for your families -- and the American family. //

Your General President, Billy McCarthy, and I have talked about issues crucial to the Teamsters and the Nation. I've always enjoyed these meetings, and our honest give-and-take. I've come away from these sessions aware that he has the best interests of the Teamsters at heart. ^{Because I know that} ~~Just like~~ when the chips are down, every Teamster reveres America's interests. //

and vote concerning U.S. support of United Nations Security Council relations on the Persian Gulf. / Recently, you helped enormously in flying home so many of our brave men and women who made America so proud. /

Your International headquarters building was among the first in Washington to display a sign in support of our troops. That sign remains on display today -- and will stay up, Billy tells me, until the last U.S. service member in the Gulf comes home. //

I want to also thank you for your work to ensure a smooth return for our reservists as they come back to work. And what you've done on behalf of Easter Seals and Muscular Dystrophy. I have also said the definition of a successful life must include serving others. Well, by that criteria, Teamsters live about the most successful lives around. //

Theodore Roosevelt preached against the doctrine "of ignoble ease." You practice the creed of truly noble service. // I thank you for that, and wish you good luck in your convention this week and with your Project 2000. // God bless you, and the Nation you richly bless -- the United States of America.
