

Originally Processed With FOIA(s):

S

FOIA Number:

S

FOIA MARKER

This is not a textual record. This is used as an administrative marker by the George Bush Presidential Library Staff.

Record Group/Collection: George H.W. Bush Presidential Records
Collection/Office of Origin: Speechwriting, White House Office of Series: Speech File Draft Files
Subseries: Chron File, 1989-1993

OA/ID Number: 13577
Folder ID Number: 13577-004

Folder Title:
Moscow Summit Arrival 7/30/91 [OA 6030]

Stack:	Row:	Section:	Shelf:	Position:
G	26	17	2	6

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

5625

DATE: 7/26/91

ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: TODAY, 7/26/91 3:00pm

SUBJECT: PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT - 7/30/91

	ACTION FYI			ACTION FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCCLURE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SUNUNU	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	ROGICH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	UNTERMAYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CARD	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	ROGERS	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SNOW	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER ROSE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
				<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please forward your comments directly to Tony Snow, Rm. 122, x2930, no later than 3:00 p.m., TODAY, FRIDAY, JULY 26, with a copy to this office. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

The NSC Staff concurs with the changes and insert indicated. July 27, 1991

B
Brent Scowcroft

cc: Phillip Brady

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 7/26/91

ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: TODAY, 7/26/91 5:00pm

SUBJECT: PROPOSED EMBASSY GREETINGS: MOSCOW, USSR

	ACTION FYI			ACTION FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCCLURE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SUNUNU	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	ROGICH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	UNTERMAYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CARD	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	ROGERS	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SNOW	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER ROSE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please forward your comments directly to Tony Snow, Rm.122, x2930, no later than 5:00 pm, TODAY, FRIDAY, JULY 26, with a copy to this office. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

John DS

PHILLIP D. BRADY
 Assistant to the President
 and Staff Secretary
 Ext. 2702

PROPOSED EMBASSY GREETINGS:

MOSCOW, USSR
THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1991
9:15 A.M.
91 JUL 26 PM 2:02

- o I am glad for this opportunity to thank all of you for the marvelous job you have done in supporting me on this trip and in representing the United States in the Soviet Union.
- o I know what a terrific group of professionals serve our nation here at Embassy Moscow. Despite fires, primitive working conditions, isolation, understaffing, housing problems, and the Moscow winter you keep focused on the job at hand. Time after time you have rendered indispensable service to your country.
- o I can now see for myself -- although I already knew -- the difficult circumstances under which you labor. It's tough to look forward to an entire tour working out of a garage or bowling alley. I have no doubt that you will be the richer for it, however; everyone in the Defense Attache's office will finally learn how to pick up the even ten pin spilt. And where else in the world can you learn the basics of auto mechanics while typing cables.
- o I know that changes in the Soviet Union bring greater demands on your time and resources. Yet everyday living and working conditions are slow to improve. Still, you continue to perform your duties at the high level we have come to expect of this Embassy.

257610

- o I also want to say a special word to the families. Barbara and I know from our own experience in China how hard it can be for spouses and children in the Foreign Service. We know how important you are to this community and we know the contribution you make to representing the U.S. here in the Soviet Union.

- o I would like to take a moment to thank Ambassador Matlock for his extraordinary service over the past four and half years. During your time here, Jack, you have not only witnessed, but taken part in, some of the most exciting changes we have witnessed this century in the arena of political thought. I hold in my hands proof of your efforts to the open the way for cultural exchange between the United States and the Soviet Union -- a russian edition of Readers Digest. And I would like to bring to everyone's attention an article on page 27 . . . "Good-Bye Gospodeen Matlock". I want to leave you with a copy or two to mull over, and once again say thank you for your valuable insight and tireless dedication.

- o I wish to again extend my sincere thanks to all of you in the overworked, but still precisely appropriate, phrase used in military awards -- "your performance of duty reflects great honor upon you and has been in the highest tradition of the Foreign Service." Thank you.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

July 27, 1991

MEMORANDUM TO THE PRESIDENT

THROUGH: DAVID DEMAREST
 TONY SNOW TS

FROM: BETH HINCHLIFFE

On Tuesday, July 30, you will be attending the State Dinner in Moscow. The enclosed remarks (4 minutes, cards) are for your toast at the dinner. They restate a number of Summit themes: the strengthening U.S.-Soviet relationship; the accomplishment of the START treaty; encouragement of the Soviet move towards democratization and market reforms; and the shared spirit of cooperation toward world peace.

(Hinchliffe/Blymire)
July 28, 1991 1 p.m.
MTOAST.TS Draft Three

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: MOSCOW STATE DINNER TOAST
July 30, 1991

Thank you Mr. President, Mrs. Gorbachev, and all the Soviet people who have welcomed Barbara and me so warmly to this great city and this great country in this historic time. [joke] [[[try to redo the Schwarzenegger joke]]]

I want to pay a special tribute to our host and friend -- a man my country greatly admires. And a man I greatly admire. When he came to Washington last year I took him to our weekend home, Camp David. While there, we played horseshoes -- and on his very first toss, he made a ringer! I gave him that horseshoe as a symbol of good luck. But -- as with everything he's accomplished -- I think his success was due more to his unique mixture of determination, courage and skill.

Dramatic changes have reshaped our world since we first met six years ago, Mr. President. The relationship between our nations has moved from confrontation to friendship. Our growing ties remind me of an old proverb from your land: "There's no road too long and no obstacle too hard for friendship." Our nations' friendship, built on mutual respect and personal trust, has changed the world.

For almost a decade, our START negotiators sought to achieve real and stabilizing reductions in our strategic arsenals. Tomorrow, we will sign a START agreement -- a treaty that bolsters the promise of peace and advances the security of both our nations -- the first agreement ever to reduce the number of strategic nuclear arms. START and CFE both testify to our new spirit of cooperation -- and to its potential for building world peace. [[Once we have signed START, we must reflect on where we go next, rather than plunge into new negotiations.]]

But arms control is only one element of our new relationship. We will spend much of our two days together discussing the issues that will shape our future -- democracy, free markets, prosperity, and peace.

A peaceful revolution has unfolded in the Soviet Union, and we wholeheartedly support your progress towards building a rule of law, democratic institutions, and a system of free enterprise.

In economics, we stand ready to help you complete liberal reforms -- through bilateral ties and improved trade relations. Today, we spoke of ways to follow up on President Gorbachev's successful visit to London. The United States will support your integration into the global economy -- something that will depend on your democratic and market reforms.

Internationally, our growing partnership as peacemakers and peacekeepers continues to deepen. In the past year we have worked together to deter aggression and to encourage nations to resolve their differences peacefully.

Now, our common efforts may help bring peace to the Middle East by getting factions there to conduct serious talks. This region, where dangerous confrontations once divided our nations, now may help us consolidate our partnership as peacemakers.

Our people will face tough challenges in the days ahead. It's an ancient custom in your land that when you prepare for a long journey you sit for a moment of quiet reflection. Perhaps that is what we need to do now, at least in the silence of our hearts: for individually and together, we face a long, exciting journey of change.

We can gain strength from the words of Anton Chekhov, who once wrote of our responsibility to our world: "Man has been endowed with reason, with the power to create, so that he can add to what he has been given."

Let us add to the relationship we have developed in recent years. Let us build a better future.

As we begin, I echo your traditional toast: "To the future of our countries!"

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 7/26/91

91 JUL 29 A 9:50

ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: TODAY, 7/26/91 4:30pm

SUBJECT: PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: DEPARTURE FOR KIEV-HALL OF ST. GEORGE, KREMI

	ACTION FYI			ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCCLURE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SUNUNU	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	ROGICH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	UNTERMAYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CARD	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	ROGERS	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SNOW	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER ROSE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please forward your comments directly to Tony Snow, Rm. 122, x2930, no later than 4:30 pm, TODAY, FRIDAY, JULY 26, with a copy to this office. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

dk
PS

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

91 JUL 26 PM 1:33

(Lange/Simon)
July 26, 1991
1:30 P.M.
[DEPARTURE.DOC]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: DEPARTURE FOR KIEV
HALL OF ST. GEORGE, THE KREMLIN
AUGUST 1, 1991
[TIME]

I leave Moskow grateful for your kindness, and encouraged by our progress.

We've worked to build a new basis for prosperity -- and new hope for peace and stability. We've discussed ways to encourage economic cooperation, and share expertise and advice. We've sought a framework for shared efforts toward peace in the Middle East.

We have considered ways to curb the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, and to encourage environmental stewardship. And we've signed an historic START treaty that will help the world breathe a little easier.

But more fundamentally, after decades of ideology that cruelly divided us, I hope we have confirmed more of the shared values that unite us. Compared to the dark days of the Cold War, we have less in the way of differences than ever -- and more reason for hope.

My optimism about the future of this great land stems from the strength of its leadership -- that of President Gorbachev, and many others. But more fundamentally, I find faith in the future of the Soviet Union, because I believe deeply in the power of its people.

I've met with business people, leaders of the Republics, and reformers at all levels. In spite of the vast array of challenges before you, a deep undercurrent of enduring optimism runs here. The forces of reform -- the drive toward democratization, political pluralism and market economics -- all offer real hope for lasting stability and prosperity.

In my country, those who struggled for their own kind of reform two hundred years ago began our Constitution with the words, "We the people" -- words we Americans still admire.

And while the Soviet Union will forge its own future in its own way, this we hold in common: We seek to unleash the energy and ambition of the individual in the service of a greater good. We believe that while men may, for a time, be intimidated by force, mankind finds inspiration in freedom.

Leo Tolstoi once wrote, "The strongest of all warriors are these two: Time, and Patience."

We have both -- matched by a determination that our two nations, once feared as the strongest of warriors, now become the firmest of friends.

Thank you all for your many kindnesses.

May God bless the U.S.S.R.

#

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

July 27, 1991

MEMORANDUM TO THE PRESIDENT

THROUGH: DAVID DEMAREST
 TONY SNOW TS

FROM: BETH HINCHLIFFE

On Tuesday, July 30, you will be attending the State Dinner in Moscow. The enclosed remarks (4 minutes, cards) are for your toast at the dinner. They restate a number of Summit themes: the strengthening U.S.-Soviet relationship; the accomplishment of the START treaty; encouragement of the Soviet move towards democratization and market reforms; and the shared spirit of cooperation toward world peace.

(Hinchliffe/Blymire)
July 28, 1991 1 p.m.
MTOAST.TS Draft Three

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: MOSCOW STATE DINNER TOAST
July 30, 1991

Thank you Mr. President, Mrs. Gorbachev, and all the Soviet people who have welcomed Barbara and me so warmly to this great city and this great country in this historic time. [joke] [[[try to redo the Schwarzenegger joke]]]

I want to pay a special tribute to our host and friend -- a man my country greatly admires. And a man I greatly admire. When he came to Washington last year I took him to our weekend home, Camp David. While there, we played horseshoes -- and on his very first toss, he made a ringer! I gave him that horseshoe as a symbol of good luck. But -- as with everything he's accomplished -- I think his success was due more to his unique mixture of determination, courage and skill.

Dramatic changes have reshaped our world since we first met six years ago, Mr. President. The relationship between our nations has moved from confrontation to friendship. Our growing ties remind me of an old proverb from your land: "There's no road too long and no obstacle too hard for friendship." Our nations' friendship, built on mutual respect and personal trust, has changed the world.

For almost a decade, our START negotiators sought to achieve real and stabilizing reductions in our strategic arsenals. Tomorrow, we will sign a START agreement -- a treaty that bolsters the promise of peace and advances the security of both our nations -- the first agreement ever to reduce the number of strategic nuclear arms. START and CFE both testify to our new spirit of cooperation -- and to its potential for building world peace. [[Once we have signed START, we must reflect on where we go next, rather than plunge into new negotiations.]]

But arms control is only one element of our new relationship. We will spend much of our two days together discussing the issues that will shape our future -- democracy, free markets, prosperity, and peace.

A peaceful revolution has unfolded in the Soviet Union, and we wholeheartedly support your progress towards building a rule of law, democratic institutions, and a system of free enterprise.

In economics, we stand ready to help you complete liberal reforms -- through bilateral ties and improved trade relations. Today, we spoke of ways to follow up on President Gorbachev's successful visit to London. The United States will support your integration into the global economy -- something that will depend on your democratic and market reforms.

Internationally, our growing partnership as peacemakers and peacekeepers continues to deepen. In the past year we have worked together to deter aggression and to encourage nations to resolve their differences peacefully.

Now, our common efforts may help bring peace to the Middle East by getting factions there to conduct serious talks. This region, where dangerous confrontations once divided our nations, now may help us consolidate our partnership as peacemakers.

Our people will face tough challenges in the days ahead. It's an ancient custom in your land that when you prepare for a long journey you sit for a moment of quiet reflection. Perhaps that is what we need to do now, at least in the silence of our hearts: for individually and together, we face a long, exciting journey of change.

We can gain strength from the words of Anton Chekhov, who once wrote of our responsibility to our world: "Man has been endowed with reason, with the power to create, so that he can add to what he has been given."

Let us add to the relationship we have developed in recent years. Let us build a better future.

As we begin, I echo your traditional toast: "To the future of our countries!"

#

VIDEO TAPING INFORMATION SHEET

VIDEO SESSION DATE: 9/12/91

FOR BROADCAST: X NOT FOR BROADCAST:

ORGANIZATION: NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE
75th ANNIVERSARY

VIDEO DEADLINE: ASAP

VIDEO LENGTH:

CONTACT NAME & #: TOM CONSENTINO
(212) 532-7673

BILLING CONTACT & ADDRESS:

TAPE FORMAT/# REQUESTED/FORMAT TIME:

30 sec: 60 sec: OTHER:

1 inch: Beta: VHS: 3/4 Inch:

Close captioned:

NOTES: MULROHEY IS ALSO DOING MESSAGE

NHL

ANNIVERSARIES

 FAX *****

 COVER SHEET *****

RECIPIENT: Barrie Tron

AFFILIATION: The White House

DEPARTMENT: _____

FAX NUMBER: (202) 456-2878

SENDER: TOM COSENTINO

LAPIN EAST/WEST
 386 PARK AVENUE SOUTH, #501
 NEW YORK, NY 10016
 FAX #: (212) 779-7034
 BACKUP FAX #: (212) 532-8376

NUMBER OF PAGES: 2 DATE: 9/5
 (Including cover)

COMMENTS:

PLEASE CALL (212) 532-7673 IMMEDIATELY IF THIS DOCUMENT DID NOT PRINT CLEARLY.

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE ANNIVERSARIES

75th. SEASON
1991-92

STANLEY CUP CENTENNIAL
1993

*Use pen
on the other side, -- show to the press is ok number.
no one's with it in car,
-- please report
what's in it with Suey...*

Personally and on behalf of the millions of hockey fans throughout the United States, I would like to congratulate the National Hockey League on the occasion of its diamond anniversary season.

me, a with it

For 75 years now, the National Hockey League has been entertaining fans across our country. The League has grown dramatically, especially in the last 25 years, and now embraces 14 cities in the United States.

*Use pen, make it as soon possible
I want to see it*

There has been a dramatic increase as well in the number of United States-born players in the NHL, and we are proud to be such a vital source of talent supply for professional hockey's number one league.

*Use pen, make it as soon possible
I want to see it*

All Americans are proud of our long-standing cultural, diplomatic, and sporting ties with our neighbor to the north, Canada, which was the birthplace of hockey and where the National Hockey League was founded in the year 1917.

Adm.

*Use pen, make it as soon possible
I want to see it*

*Use pen, make it as soon possible
I want to see it*

The National Hockey League and the talented players that perform in the NHL have carved a unique place in the annals of American sport. With 75 years behind it, congratulations and best wishes are due. Happy birthday to the NHL.

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE ANNIVERSARIES

75th. SEASON
1991-92

STANLEY CUP CENTENNIAL
1993

Text of Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney's 75th Anniversary Message to the National Hockey League

The pride Canadians feel for our national sport is largely due to the example set by generations of players, referees and coaches that we have seen on the ice or behind the bench.

But, few of us could have been thrilled by the memorable exploits without the dedicated work of an army of men and women who work behind the scenes to make it all possible. I wish to give special thanks to all of them.

Hockey has become more than a game, more than just a sport for Canadians. Born from our climate and history, through its link to lacrosse, it's part of our culture, it's become part of our identity.

This is largely due to the outstanding work accomplished by the NHL. As an old hockey fan, and on behalf of the government of Canada and all Canadians, I want to congratulate the league and its pioneers and employees on the occasion of the 75th anniversary of this great national institution.

Tron
September 5, 1991
Draft one
Title: Ryder Cup

PROPOSED VIDEO MESSAGE
RYDER CUP TOURNAMENT

Good afternoon. It's a pleasure to tee off this bi-annual golf classic -- the world famous Ryder Cup.

As every weekend golfer with a hard slice knows, the Ryder Cup brings together the best golfers in the United States and Europe. It's always been a competitive golf tournament and this year's Cup promises to be a close contest.

By bringing together nations and people in friendly competition -- the Ryder Cup reflects the finest tradition in sports. And while only one team can claim victory, everyone involved will walk away enriched by this tournament.

Thank you and let the round begin.

#

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

September 6, 1991

TO: Christina Martin
FROM: Barrie Tron
RE: Ryder Cup video message

Attached is a draft script for the Ryder Cup broadcast. This message will "tee off" the NBC broadcast on September 28th. Change anything but please don't make it longer.

Thank you.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

September 6, 1991

TO: Christina
FROM: Sheri Sheri
RE: Republicans Abroad

For September 12th Session

Thank you.

Chiefs of Police

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

August 26, 1991

MEMORANDUM FOR BARRIE TRON

FROM : SCHELLY REID SR
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR
OFFICE OF NATIONAL SERVICE

SUBJECT : VIDEO ACTUALITY OF DAILY POINT OF LIGHT

Enclosed is the press release announcing the Bedford-Stuyvesant Volunteer Ambulance Corps as the 570th Daily Point of Light. That announcement will fall on Tuesday, September 24. The organization has been notified of the impending video actuality. The cost of the production will be underwritten by a grant.

We anticipate the need for 7 video tapes to be mailed to local New York affiliates and the Spanish-speaking networks. In addition, we will secure a transcribed copy of the text to accompany the tapes. As on the two previous occasions, I am requesting that the audio version be broadcast as a White House radio actuality on September 24th.

As always, thank you for your help!

cc: Paul Luthringer

THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 24, 1991

The President today named the volunteers of the Bedford-Stuyvesant Volunteer Ambulance Corps of Brooklyn, New York, as the 570th Daily Point of Light for the Nation. The Ambulance Corps recruits and trains disadvantaged and unemployed neighborhood youth while serving the emergency medical needs of the community. The volunteers have become role models to the residents.

The Bedford-Stuyvesant Volunteer Ambulance Corps (BSVAC) was established in 1988 by Lt. James Robinson, a supervisor and 20 year veteran of the New York City Emergency Medical Service and Specialist Joe Perez, a registered health care instructor for ten years. Robinson and Perez, observing a discernible deficiency and lack of emergency medical care for the Bedford-Stuyvesant area, formed the Ambulance Corps to ensure the availability of adequate care and to increase the emergency response in this underserved, ethnically diverse neighborhood.

The group's founders developed an organizational structure that is dependent upon the commitment and support of volunteers, many of whom were previously unskilled. The outreach efforts of BSVAC has known no bounds. Volunteers are actively recruited from among young men and women who are jobless and school dropouts. They undergo an extensive training program and become certified technicians upon the completion of the coursework. During this process, many students develop enough self-confidence to complete their high school educations. The program has produced over 110 graduates, all of whom are now gainfully employed. The corps claims a 100 percent success rate in the placement of its graduates. The volunteers, in turn, recruit their peers in service to the community. Today, over 200 young people per week are seeking an affiliation with BSVAC.

The organization, originally headquartered in an abandoned building, has expanded to a staff of 20 with over 50 volunteers. Calls initially answered on foot by volunteers are now met by one of 3 ambulances owned by BSVAC. The number of emergency responses has increased from 75 medical alerts per month to over 300 calls. The corps attributes the success of its activities to the importance of saving a life and learning to assist others in need.

The President salutes the volunteers of the Bedford-Stuyvesant Volunteer Corps for their community service efforts and for demonstrating that, "From now on in America, any definition of a successful life must include serving others."

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Tracey Taylor of Jill Chodorov
(202) 456-6266

THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary

Embargoed for release
until April 17, 1991

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT NAMING THE
RED MOUNTAIN HIGH SCHOOL'S CLUB RIF AS THE 432nd POINT OF LIGHT

April 9, 1991

THE PRESIDENT: On the Ft. McDowell Indian Reservation in Mesa, Arizona, kids who never owned books now have them. Kids who'd never been read to now listen at story hours. Teens who couldn't read now make the honor roll. High school volunteers turned these kids lives around. They donated books, read aloud and tutored.

For reaching out to their community, I'm naming, as our 432nd Daily Point of Light, Red Mountain High School's Club RIF. Our Point of Light Volunteers are the North Stars who guide this nation out of the darkness. They show that Americans can find within our own hearts the solutions for our countries problems. They show that true success means caring; helping someone who needs you. And they show who our real heroes are: our neighbors, our friends and the kids at Red Mountain High.

Every American should hear the story of this school's Club RIF and think: I can help others. I can come up with creative, caring solutions. I can do something good, feel something real. That's how each person in this country can become a true American hero. And that's the central theme of the Points of Light National Celebration of Community Service.

Americans have always extended a helping hand to their neighbors. Nothing seems more American than voluntary service. This administration will celebrate that ideal each day by recognizing a different success story from around the country. We hope these observances will help every American to become a point of light, a source of joy.

God bless Red Mountain High's Club RIF and all our Points of Light. Those brightening our lives right now and those yet to shine.

End

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

SCHEDULE PROPOSAL

September 5, 1991

TO:

KATHERINE L. SUPER
DEPUTY ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT
FOR APPOINTMENTS AND SCHEDULING

FROM:

C. GREGG PETERSMEYER
ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT &
DIRECTOR, OFFICE OF NATIONAL SERVICE

REQUEST:

For the President to tape a series of radio actualities announcing the Daily Points of Light, to be broadcast during the weeks of September 16th and 23rd. The time allotted for this request should not exceed 15 minutes.

BACKGROUND:

The long range scheduling committee has approved periodic monthly Presidential announcements of the Daily Points of Light in both audio and video formats to be aired in major television and radio markets.

The Points of Light selection committee has approved in advance all the Daily Points of Light for the month of September in preparation for the Daily Point of Light Celebration in Orlando, Florida on September 30th. Those groups and individuals selected represent the top 50 ADI markets.

DATE AND TIME:

September

LOCATION:

Oval Office

PARTICIPANTS:

The President, WHCA

MEDIA COVERAGE:

OPEN for Radio Broadcast

The New York Times

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 28, 1991

A Gift of an Ambulance

Amid turmoil between blacks and Hasidic Jews in Crown Heights, leaders of two Brooklyn volunteer ambulance services — one run by blacks and Hispanics, the other by the Hasidim — announced yesterday that they will help a volunteer ambulance service run by blacks get started.

The Bedford-Stuyvesant Volunteer Ambulance Service will provide a van which the Hatzolah Volunteer Ambulance Service will refurbish. Together, the services will donate the van to a new service in Crown Heights tentatively called Tri-Community, which an official of the Bedford-Stuyvesant service said has been trying to get started for a year.

Harold Jacobs, president of Hatzolah, said the plans were the first glimpse of a silver lining in the tension that has hung over Crown Heights since Aug. 19, when a car driven by a Hasidic man killed a black child, 7-year-old Gavin Cato.

Four nights of violence followed rumors that emergency medical technicians from Hatzolah ignored Gavin to tend to the Hasidic driver, Yosef Lifsh.

The vice president of the Bedford-Stuyvesant ambulance company, Joe Perez, said: "We knew there was a service trying to get going for about a year now. If it existed, it would probably have been the first on the scene and maybe none of this trouble would have happened."

BROOKLYN VOLUNTEERS SAVE NEIGHBORS' LIVES

When James Robinson and Joe Perez formed Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant Volunteer Ambulance Corps in 1988, it was the first of its kind in a New York City minority neighborhood.

Robinson and Perez—both experienced Emergency Medical Services (EMS) professionals—had three goals: save lives, help people get jobs and assist other communities in starting similar programs. Today they're doing all three.

Off and Running

"At first, we didn't even have an ambulance," says Robinson. "Our headquarters were in an abandoned building with no electricity. Volunteers monitored police calls and responded on foot to emergencies."

On February 24, 1989, the Bed-Stuy Volunteer Ambulance Corps acquired its first ambulance, a gift from the Williamsburg Volunteer Corps in another part of Brooklyn. The next day, the ambulance was used to save ten people trapped in a burning building.

"People in emergency services are constantly on an emotional roller coaster," Perez explains. "One minute we're out on the streets trying to save a life and minutes later we can be up on a roof delivering a baby."

The Corps now owns three ambulances and answers more than 300 calls a month for emergencies ranging from heart attacks to gunshot wounds. Most volunteers are on public assistance. Some are senior citizens. Many attend or teach classes given by the Corps.

To the Rescue

Vivian Lomacang works in the Corps office during the day and rides the ambulances as a volunteer from 4 p.m. to midnight. One morning, after a late-night shift, she helped save a man's life by applying pressure to a knife wound and flagging down an EMS vehicle that rushed him to the hospital. Lomacang says, "When I help someone like that, I realize how much we're needed here." After on-the-job training with the Corps, Sharima Johnson passed the state certification test for emergency medical technician (EMT). Today, she has a full-time job with a private ambulance company, but still comes back to do volunteer service in Bed-Stuy. "During my training I fell in love with the idea of taking care of people right here in my neighborhood."

Perez understands this kind of dedication and more. "Saving lives is an important part of what we're doing. But we're also helping our own volunteers get jobs... get off the welfare rolls... and find some deeply needed self-esteem."

From left: Theodore Goodman, Raymond Johnson and Sharima Johnson respond to an emergency.

20th in a series of community communities, improving the quality of life in their own backyards.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

July 27, 1991

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

THROUGH: DAVID DEMAREST
 TONY SNOW TS

FROM: MARY KATE GRANT MKG

SUBJECT: RECIPROCAL DINNER TOAST AT SPASO HOUSE

On Wednesday, July 31st you will deliver the reciprocal dinner toast at Spaso House in Moscow. Your remarks are brief (four minutes, cards). Acknowledged are President Gorbachev, President Yeltsin, President Nazarbaev, President Ter-Petrozian, and Mayor Popov. Your speech focuses on Soviet-American cooperation; American respect for and curiosity about the Soviets; and our hope for a peaceful and prosperous future relationship.

Grant / Grossman
A:MOSCOW.TOA Draft three
July 27, 1991

BRIEF REMARKS: RECIPROCAL DINNER TOAST
SPASO HOUSE, MOSCOW
WEDNESDAY, JULY 31, 1991

President Gorbachev, President Yeltsin, President Nazarbaev [naw-zer-BYE-ev], President Ter-Petrozian; Mayor Popov, distinguished guests, welcome to Spaso House. I am delighted to have you to our American home in Moscow -- in the hope of repaying, in at least some small measure, the warmth and hospitality shown to us by the Soviet people since our arrival.

We are here in Moscow to strengthen further our relationship with the Soviet government and with all the peoples in this land -- to launch a new era of hope. In the past year alone, we have seen that despite political differences, we can move forward together. The START agreement; our common efforts to liberate Kuwait; and our resolve to bring peace to the Middle East offer vivid testimony to our new political and economic cooperation.

Our new relationship will be built not just by politicians and bureaucrats in Washington and Moscow, but in a more profound way by our peoples -- in Seattle and Sverdlovsk; Houston and Stavropol -- by Americans in California's Silicon Valley and Russians in your great universities and scientific institutes.

Americans look upon the Soviet Union with profound curiosity and hope; they want to work with all levels of Soviet society. We all seek greater understanding in a larger society -- among businessmen, students, artists, scientists -- people engaged in every imaginable profession and endeavor.

More and more, our people share a sense of curiosity, hope and -- most importantly -- peace. We are ready to work with the Soviet people to establish a partnership in the new world order based on the rule of law, the promise of freedom, and the consent of the governed.

Those of us who have had the privilege of visiting you this week look upon your society with a sense of respectful awe. You have wrought incredible transformations in just a few years. We are honored to host such a distinguished group of guests -- men and women who will lead the Soviet Union to a new era of democracy, a new hope of a better life for all.

God has blessed our two nations with abundant resources -- and infinite reserves of ingenuity, talent and dedication. Together, we can build peace -- and with it, a brighter tomorrow for our children.

I am reminded of an old Russian proverb: "You can't tie a knot with one hand." Tonight, the United States offers our hand, as we tie the knot of friendship -- and peace -- together. I raise my glass: Za mir! To peace!

#

REMARKS FOR LEGION OF MERIT PRESENTATION TO GENERAL PETER DE LA BILLIERE

I AM PLEASED TO MARK MY VISIT TO GREAT BRITAIN BY HONORING ONE OF HER MAJESTY'S FINEST, SIR PETER DE LA BILLIERE [DE LA BEEL-EE-AIR], FOR HIS MANY CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE COALITION VICTORY IN THE GULF. GENERAL, UNDER YOUR LEADERSHIP -- IN THE MIDST OF THE MOST DAUNTING TASKS -- NEVER ONCE DID BRITAIN HESITATE OR WAVER. ALWAYS, BRITAIN WAS THERE -- STEADFAST AND STRONG.

- 2 -

SIR, LET ME SAY TO YOU AND TO THE FORCES UNDER YOUR COMMAND: AMERICA IS HONORED TO BE YOUR ALLY. / IN RECOGNITION OF YOUR COURAGE AND ACCOMPLISHMENT, IT IS A PRIVILEGE AND A PLEASURE TO PRESENT YOU WITH THE LEGION OF MERIT, DEGREE OF CHIEF COMMANDER.

AND NOW, LT. COMMANDER JUSTICE IF YOU WOULD PLEASE READ THE CITATION.

#

McGroarty
July 12, 1991
1:30 pm
[Citations]

DRAFT REMARKS FOR ROQUEJEOFFRE:

I am pleased to mark this brief visit to your country by honoring a Frenchman of great character and courage, General Michel Roquejeoffre. / General, under your able leadership, French forces displayed a valor that brought credit to the name of France -- and contributed to the success of our coalition.

General, like Lafayette before you, you took the field in service to a larger cause. / A grateful nation gives you thanks. On behalf of all Americans, I am pleased to present you the Legion of Merit, Degree of Chief Commander.

#

These aspirations provide powerful reasons why the well-being of the Soviet Union matters to America.

President Gorbachev has earned my respect and admiration -- for his humanity, and his uncommon courage in pursuit of a common European home. But more fundamental than the relations of leaders are the shared values of their people -- and here our common humanity offers the greatest hope for mankind.

That's why we Americans want to work with all levels of Soviet society. Beyond our central governments, we look for greater interaction between the citizens of our states and your Republics. And beyond government, we seek greater understanding in a larger society -- among businessmen, students, artists and scientists.

We have hope now as never before, for a far-reaching US/Soviet agenda. In the Middle East, we see new prospects for peace where once was only contention. In Cuba and in our shared security agreements, we face challenges to push for freedom, democracy and reform. And in all of our affairs, we seek an enduring partnership: based on politics peaceful and democratic; on economies productive and free.

For the sake of peace and new prosperity -- on behalf of all Americans -- I come here today to assure ^{President Gorbachev and} the great people of this land in each of its Republics, that we stand with you in your historic struggle for democracy and reform. ^{peoples of the Soviet Union.}

Thank you -- and may God bless the ~~Union of Sovereign Soviet Republics.~~

#

Fifty years ago, we were brought together as allies to fight a horrible war. This week, let us come together again to seek a newer world -- more stable, more just, more peaceful.

(Lange/Simon)
July 25, 1991
5:00 P.M.
[ARRIVAL.DOC]

91 JUL 26 AM 10:15

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT
[PLACE]
TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1991
[TIME]

I'm honored to be in Moscow to meet with President Gorbachev for this historic summit -- as a time of tension gives way to a new season of hope. We need only compare the words of the Cold War with ~~the deeds~~ ^{our historic accomplishments} of recent years, to realize that a new age of promise has dawned.

Since my last visit in 1985, we've witnessed the opening of Europe -- and the end of a world polarized by suspicion. We've moved forward in every sphere: political, military and economic. We stood together for the first time in fifty years, to face down aggression in the Persian Gulf. Our affairs as trading partners have never been stronger. And this week, we take another step away from the Cold War with the signing of a START treaty.

This new era of cooperation offers the world the promise of unprecedented peace and prosperity -- if we ~~but~~ have the will to make it so.

From South America to Angola to Afghanistan -- no longer must all the world serve as a stage for superpower stand-offs. Instead, we see new opportunities. We see new possibilities:

The stability of a world no longer polarized; the growing mutual benefit of our economic ties; new hope for cooperation on everything from weapons proliferation to environmental problems.

Insert
A →

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

91 JUL 26 P3:57

July 26, 1991

MEMORANDUM FOR TONY SNOW

FROM: STEPHEN G. RADEMAKER SR
ASSOCIATE COUNSEL TO THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: Presidential Remarks: Arrival, Moscow Summit --
7/30/91

Pursuant to Phil Brady's request, Counsel's Office has reviewed the above-referenced matter. We have no objection, subject to the following comments:

Page 1, fourth paragraph, first line should refer to Central America, not South America. Page 2, third full paragraph, third sentence, the words "and in our shared security agreements" should be deleted. Page 2, final sentence, we question the political wisdom of having the President ask God to bless a country that has nuclear missiles pointed at us; if the reference to the Union of Sovereign Soviet Republics is important, there must be other ways to work it into the text.

cc: Phillip D. Brady

INSERT A

~~When I last visited the Soviet Union, in 1985, the world was a different place. Our two countries were mired deep in the distrust and suspicion of the Cold War. But in that year, President Gorbachev began the historic process of restructuring and openness that has since produced such profound changes for your country, for our relationship and for the entire world.~~

President Gorbachev and I have much to do over the next two days. We are building a new relationship and ~~should~~ ^{I hope we can} use our time together to chart an ambitious path for U.S.-Soviet relations in the 1990s. In economics, we must pledge to finish the process we began at Malta to normalize our economic relationship and continue the work begun at London just two weeks ago to integrate a reforming Soviet Union into the world economy.

Building on our historic cooperation in the Persian Gulf, we should now pursue with equal determination lasting peace between Israel and her Arab neighbors. We ~~should pledge~~ ^{must commit} our common efforts to resolve conflicts in Afghanistan and Cambodia as we did in Angola, Namibia and Nicaragua. And we should mark the historic achievement of the START treaty by resolving to continue the quest for a stable and peaceful military balance.

But we should also use our time together to address our differences-- the future of the Baltic states and their legitimate quest for national self-determination, the challenge to bring democracy to Cuba--the western hemisphere's last remaining autocracy. Northern territories?

This is a state visit to the Soviet Union but it is also a trip to discover a rapidly changing country. In my meetings, ~~with President Boris Yeltsin and Chairman Leonid Kravchuk,~~ I hope to communicate ~~to them and~~ to all the peoples of this great country the support of the United States for the process of democratic and political reform underway here.

and contacts,

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

91 JUL 26 P12:32

DATE: 7/26/91

ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: TODAY, 7/26/91 3:00pm

SUBJECT: PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT - 7/30/91

	ACTION FYI			ACTION FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCCLURE N/C	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SUNUNU	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PORTER N/C	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN N/C	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	ROGICH N/C	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	SMITH N/C	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	UNTERMAYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CARD	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	ROGERS	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SNOW	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER ROSE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY N/C	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
				<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
				<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please forward your comments directly to Tony Snow, Rm. 122, x2930, no later than 3:00 p.m., TODAY, FRIDAY, JULY 26, with a copy to this office. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

PHILLIP D. BRADY
 Assistant to the President
 and Staff Secretary
 Ext. 2702

(Lange/Simon)
July 25, 1991
5:00 P.M.
[ARRIVAL.DOC]

91 JUL 26 AM 10:15

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT
[PLACE]
TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1991
[TIME]

I'm honored to be in Moscow to meet with President Gorbachev for this historic summit -- as a time of tension gives way to a new season of hope. We need only compare the words of the Cold War with the deeds of recent years, to realize that a new age of promise has dawned.

Since my last visit in 1985, we've witnessed the opening of Europe -- and the end of a world polarized by suspicion. We've moved forward in every sphere: political, military and economic. We stood together for the first time in fifty years, to face down aggression in the Persian Gulf. Our affairs as trading partners have never been stronger. And this week, we take another step away from the Cold War with the signing of a START treaty.

This new era of cooperation offers the world the promise of unprecedented peace and prosperity -- if we but have the will to make it so.

From South America to Angola to Afghanistan -- no longer must all the world serve as a stage for superpower stand-offs. Instead, we see new opportunities. We see new possibilities:

The stability of a world no longer polarized; the growing mutual benefit of our economic ties; new hope for cooperation on everything from weapons proliferation to environmental problems.

These aspirations provide powerful reasons why the well-being of the Soviet Union matters to America.

President Gorbachev has earned my respect and admiration --- for his humanity, and his uncommon courage in pursuit of a common European home. But more fundamental than the relations of leaders are the shared values of their people -- and here our common humanity offers the greatest hope for mankind.

That's why we Americans want to work with all levels of Soviet society. Beyond our central governments, we look for greater interaction between the citizens of our states and your Republics. And beyond government, we seek greater understanding in a larger society -- among businessmen, students, artists and scientists.

We have hope now as never before, for a far-reaching US/Soviet agenda. In the Middle East, we see new prospects for peace where once was only contention. In Cuba and in our shared security agreements, we face challenges to push for freedom, democracy and reform. And in all of our affairs, we seek an enduring partnership: based on politics peaceful and democratic; on economies productive and free.

For the sake of peace and new prosperity -- on behalf of all Americans -- I come here today to assure the great people of this land in each of its Republics, that we stand with you in your historic struggle for democracy and reform.

Thank you -- and may God bless the Union of Sovereign Soviet Republics.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

5625

DATE: 7/26/91

ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: TODAY, 7/26/91 3:00pm

SUBJECT: PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT - 7/30/91

	ACTION FYI			ACTION FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCCLURE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SUNUNU	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	ROGICH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	UNTERMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CARD	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	ROGERS	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SNOW	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER ROSE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please forward your comments directly to Tony Snow, Rm. 122, x2930, no later than 3:00 p.m., TODAY, FRIDAY, JULY 26, with a copy to this office. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

The NSC Staff concurs with the changes and insert indicated. July 27, 1991

B
Brent Scowcroft

cc: Phillip Brady

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

(Lange/Simon)
July 25, 1991
5:00 P.M.
[ARRIVAL.DOC]

91 JUL 26 11:10:15

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS:

ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT
[PLACE]
TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1991
[TIME]

I'm honored to be in Moscow to meet with President Gorbachev for this historic summit -- as a time of tension gives way to a new season of hope. We need only compare the words of the Cold War with ~~the deeds~~ ^{our historic accomplishments} of recent years, to realize that a new age of promise has dawned.

*Insert
A* →
~~Since my last visit in 1985, we've witnessed the opening of Europe -- and the end of a world polarized by suspicion. We've moved forward in every sphere: political, military and economic. We stood together for the first time in fifty years, to face down aggression in the Persian Gulf. Our affairs as trading partners have never been stronger. And this week, we take another step away from the Cold War with the signing of a START treaty.~~

~~This new era of cooperation offers the world the promise of unprecedented peace and prosperity -- if we but have the will to make it so.~~

~~From South America to Angola to Afghanistan -- no longer must all the world serve as a stage for superpower stand-offs. Instead, we see new opportunities. We see new possibilities:~~

~~The stability of a world no longer polarized; the growing mutual benefit of our economic ties; new hope for cooperation on everything from weapons proliferation to environmental problems.~~

These aspirations provide powerful reasons why the well-being of the Soviet Union matters to America.

President Gorbachev has earned my respect and admiration -- for his humanity, and his uncommon courage in pursuit of a common European home. But more fundamental than the relations of leaders are the shared values of their people -- and here our common humanity offers the greatest hope for mankind.

That's why we Americans want to work with all levels of Soviet society. Beyond our central governments, we look for greater interaction between the citizens of our states and your Republics. And beyond government, we seek greater understanding in a larger society -- among businessmen, students, artists and scientists.

We have hope now as never before, for a far-reaching US/Soviet agenda. In the Middle East, we see new prospects for peace where once was only contention. In Cuba and in our shared security agreements, we face challenges to push for freedom, democracy and reform. And in all of our affairs, we seek an enduring partnership: based on politics peaceful and democratic; on economies productive and free.

For the sake of peace ~~and new prosperity~~ -- on behalf of all Americans -- I come here today to assure ^{President Gorbachev and} the great people of this land in each of its Republics, that we stand with you in your historic struggle for democracy and reform. ^{peoples of the Soviet Union.} ~~Union of Sovereign Soviet Republics.~~

Thank you -- and may God bless the ~~Union of Sovereign Soviet Republics.~~

#

Fifty years ago, we were brought together as allies to fight a horrible war. This week, let us come together again to seek a newer world -- more stable, more just, more peaceful.

INSERT A

When I last visited the Soviet Union, in 1985, the world was a different place. Our two countries were mired deep in the distrust and suspicion of the Cold War. But in that year, President Gorbachev began the historic process of restructuring and openness that has since produced such profound changes for your country, for our relationship and for the entire world.

President Gorbachev and I have much to ^{I hope we can} do over the next two days. We are building a new relationship and ~~should~~ use our time together to chart an ambitious path for U.S.-Soviet relations in the 1990s. In economics, we must pledge to finish the process we began at Malta to normalize our economic relationship and continue the work begun at London just two weeks ago to integrate a reforming Soviet Union into the world economy.

Building on our historic cooperation in the Persian Gulf, we should now pursue with equal determination lasting peace between Israel and her Arab neighbors. We ~~should pledge~~ ^{must commit} our common efforts to resolve conflicts in Afghanistan and Cambodia as we did in Angola, Namibia and Nicaragua. And we should mark the historic achievement of the START treaty by resolving to continue the quest for a stable and peaceful military balance.

But we should also use our time together to address our differences-- the future of the Baltic states and their legitimate quest for national self-determination, the challenge to bring democracy to Cuba--the western hemisphere's last remaining autocracy.

This is a state visit to the Soviet Union but it is also a trip to discover a rapidly changing country. In my meetings, ~~with President Boris Yeltsin and Chairman Leonid Kravchuk,~~ ^{with} I hope to communicate ~~to them and~~ to all the peoples of this great country the support of the United States for the process of democratic and political reform underway here.

and contacts,

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 7/26/91 ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: TODAY, 7/26/91 3:00pm

SUBJECT: PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT - 7/30/91

	ACTION FYI			ACTION FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCCLURE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SUNUNU	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	ROGICH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	UNTERMAYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CARD	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	ROGERS	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SNOW	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER ROSE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please forward your comments directly to Tony Snow, Rm. 122, x2930, no later than 3:00 p.m., TODAY, FRIDAY, JULY 26, with a copy to this office. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

OK JS

PHILLIP D. BRADY
 Assistant to the President
 and Staff Secretary
 Ext. 2702

(Lange/Simon)
July 25, 1991
5:00 P.M.
[ARRIVAL.DOC]

91 JUL 26 11:10:15

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT
[PLACE]
TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1991
[TIME]

I'm honored to be in Moscow to meet with President Gorbachev for this historic summit -- as a time of tension gives way to a new season of hope. We need only compare the words of the Cold War with the deeds of recent years, to realize that a new age of promise has dawned.

Since my last visit in 1985, we've witnessed the opening of Europe -- and the end of a world polarized by suspicion. We've moved forward in every sphere: political, military and economic. We stood together for the first time in fifty years, to face down aggression in the Persian Gulf. Our affairs as trading partners have never been stronger. And this week, we take another step away from the Cold War with the signing of a START treaty.

This new era of cooperation offers the world the promise of unprecedented peace and prosperity -- if we but have the will to make it so.

From South America to Angola to Afghanistan -- no longer must all the world serve as a stage for superpower stand-offs. Instead, we see new opportunities. We see new possibilities:

The stability of a world no longer polarized; the growing mutual benefit of our economic ties; new hope for cooperation on everything from weapons proliferation to environmental problems.

These aspirations provide powerful reasons why the well-being of the Soviet Union matters to America.

President Gorbachev has earned my respect and admiration -- for his humanity, and his uncommon courage in pursuit of a common European home. But more fundamental than the relations of leaders are the shared values of their people -- and here our common humanity offers the greatest hope for mankind.

That's why we Americans want to work with all levels of Soviet society. Beyond our central governments, we look for greater interaction between the citizens of our states and your Republics. And beyond government, we seek greater understanding in a larger society -- among businessmen, students, artists and scientists.

We have hope now as never before, for a far-reaching US/Soviet agenda. In the Middle East, we see new prospects for peace where once was only contention. In Cuba and in our shared security agreements, we face challenges to push for freedom, democracy and reform. And in all of our affairs, we seek an enduring partnership: based on politics peaceful and democratic; on economies productive and free.

For the sake of peace and new prosperity -- on behalf of all Americans -- I come here today to assure the great people of this land in each of its Republics, that we stand with you in your historic struggle for democracy and reform.

Thank you -- and may God bless the Union of Sovereign Soviet Republics.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

91 JUL 26 P4:19

DATE: 7/26/91

ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: TODAY, 7/26/91 3:00pm

SUBJECT: PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT - 7/30/91

	ACTION FYI			ACTION FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCCLURE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SUNUNU	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	ROGICH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	UNTERMAYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CARD	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	ROGERS	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SNOW	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER ROSE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
				<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please forward your comments directly to Tony Snow, Rm. 122, x2930, no later than 3:00 p.m., TODAY, FRIDAY, JULY 26, with a copy to this office. Thank you.

RESPONSE: No comment

PHILLIP D. BRADY
 Assistant to the President
 and Staff Secretary
 Ext. 2702

(Lange/Simon)
July 25, 1991
5:00 P.M.
[ARRIVAL.DOC]

91 JUL 25 AM 10:15

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT
[PLACE]
TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1991
[TIME]

I'm honored to be in Moscow to meet with President Gorbachev for this historic summit -- as a time of tension gives way to a new season of hope. We need only compare the words of the Cold War with the deeds of recent years, to realize that a new age of promise has dawned.

Since my last visit in 1985, we've witnessed the opening of Europe -- and the end of a world polarized by suspicion. We've moved forward in every sphere: political, military and economic. We stood together for the first time in fifty years, to face down aggression in the Persian Gulf. Our affairs as trading partners have never been stronger. And this week, we take another step away from the Cold War with the signing of a START treaty.

This new era of cooperation offers the world the promise of unprecedented peace and prosperity -- if we but have the will to make it so.

From South America to Angola to Afghanistan -- no longer must all the world serve as a stage for superpower stand-offs. Instead, we see new opportunities. We see new possibilities:

The stability of a world no longer polarized; the growing mutual benefit of our economic ties; new hope for cooperation on everything from weapons proliferation to environmental problems.

These aspirations provide powerful reasons why the well-being of the Soviet Union matters to America.

President Gorbachev has earned my respect and admiration --- for his humanity, and his uncommon courage in pursuit of a common European home. But more fundamental than the relations of leaders are the shared values of their people -- and here our common humanity offers the greatest hope for mankind.

That's why we Americans want to work with all levels of Soviet society. Beyond our central governments, we look for greater interaction between the citizens of our states and your Republics. And beyond government, we seek greater understanding in a larger society -- among businessmen, students, artists and scientists.

We have hope now as never before, for a far-reaching US/Soviet agenda. In the Middle East, we see new prospects for peace where once was only contention. In Cuba and in our shared security agreements, we face challenges to push for freedom, democracy and reform. And in all of our affairs, we seek an enduring partnership: based on politics peaceful and democratic; on economies productive and free.

For the sake of peace and new prosperity -- on behalf of all Americans -- I come here today to assure the great people of this land in each of its Republics, that we stand with you in your historic struggle for democracy and reform.

Thank you -- and may God bless the Union of Sovereign Soviet Republics.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

91 JUL 26 P3:06

DATE: 7/26/91

ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: TODAY, 7/26/91 3:00pm

SUBJECT: PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT - 7/30/91

	ACTION FYI			ACTION FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCCLURE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SUNUNU	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	ROGICH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	UNTERMAYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CARD	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	ROGERS	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SNOW	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER ROSE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>		<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
				<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please forward your comments directly to Tony Snow, Rm. 122, x2930, no later than 3:00 p.m., TODAY, FRIDAY, JULY 26, with a copy to this office. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

No comments. Thanks.

Elizabeth Luttig EL
07/26/91

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

STAFFED
3/102

(Lange/Simon)
July 25, 1991
5:00 P.M.
[ARRIVAL, DOC]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT
[PLACE]
TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1991
[TIME]

I'm honored to be in Moscow to meet with President Gorbachev for this historic summit -- as a time of tension gives way to a new season of hope. We need only compare the words of the Cold War with the deeds of recent years, to realize that a new age of promise has dawned.

Since my last visit in 1985, we've witnessed the opening of Europe -- and the end of a world polarized by suspicion. We've moved forward in every sphere: political, military and economic. We stood together for the first time in fifty years, to face down aggression in the Persian Gulf. Our affairs as trading partners have never been stronger. And this week, we take another step away from the Cold War with the signing of a START treaty.

This new era of cooperation offers the world the promise of unprecedented peace and prosperity -- if we but have the will to make it so.

From South America to Angola to Afghanistan -- no longer must all the world serve as a stage for superpower stand-offs. Instead, we see new opportunities. We see new possibilities:

The stability of a world no longer polarized; the growing mutual benefit of our economic ties; new hope for cooperation on everything from weapons proliferation to environmental problems.

These aspirations provide powerful reasons why the well-being of the Soviet Union matters to America.

President Gorbachev has earned my respect and admiration -- for his humanity, and his uncommon courage in pursuit of a common European home. But more fundamental than the relations of leaders are the shared values of their people -- and here our common humanity offers the greatest hope for mankind.

That's why we Americans want to work with all levels of Soviet society. Beyond our central governments, we look for greater interaction between the citizens of our states and your Republics. And beyond government, we seek greater understanding in a larger society -- among businessmen, students, artists and scientists.

We have hope now as never before, for a far-reaching US/Soviet agenda. In the Middle East, we see new prospects for peace where once was only contention. In Cuba and in our shared security agreements, we face challenges to push for freedom, democracy and reform. And in all of our affairs, we seek an enduring partnership: based on politics peaceful and democratic; on economies productive and free.

For the sake of peace and new prosperity -- on behalf of all Americans -- I come here today to assure the great people of this land in each of its Republics, that we stand with you in your historic struggle for democracy and reform.

Thank you -- and may God bless the Union of Sovereign Soviet Republics.

#

ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT \ KREMLIN
TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1991 \ 10:30 A.M.

I'M HONORED TO BE IN MOSCOW TO MEET WITH PRESIDENT GORBACHEV FOR THIS HISTORIC SUMMIT -- AS A TIME OF TENSION GIVES WAY TO A NEW SEASON OF HOPE. WE NEED ONLY COMPARE THE WORDS OF THE COLD WAR WITH OUR HISTORIC ACCOMPLISHMENTS IN RECENT YEARS, TO REALIZE THAT A NEW AGE OF PROMISE HAS DAWNED.

NO VISITOR TO THIS COUNTRY CAN FAIL TO SEE THE SIGNS OF CHANGE.

- 2 -

AS VICE PRESIDENT I VISITED MOSCOW THREE TIMES IN THREE YEARS. THAT THIRD VISIT, I MET WITH A NEW LEADER, MIKHAIL GORBACHEV -- THAT MAN WHO PUT MANY MONUMENTAL CHANGES INTO MOTION.

SINCE MY LAST VISIT IN 1985, WE'VE WITNESSED THE OPENING OF EUROPE -- AND THE END OF A WORLD POLARIZED BY SUSPICION. THAT YEAR, MIKHAIL GORBACHEV ASSUMED LEADERSHIP OF THE SOVIET UNION, AND BEGAN INSTITUTING REFORMS THAT CHANGED THE WORLD.

IN THE U.S., EVERYONE NOW KNOWS AT LEAST TWO RUSSIAN WORDS: GLASNOST AND PERESTROIKA. AND HERE, EVERYONE APPRECIATES AN ENGLISH WORD, DEMOCRACY.

OUR NATIONS HAVE MOVED FORWARD IN EVERY SPHERE: POLITICAL, MILITARY AND ECONOMIC. WE STOOD TOGETHER FOR THE FIRST TIME IN FIFTY YEARS, TO FACE DOWN AGGRESSION IN THE PERSIAN GULF. AND THIS WEEK, WE TAKE ANOTHER STEP AWAY FROM THE COLD WAR WITH THE SIGNING OF THE START TREATY.

IN THE NEXT TWO DAYS, PRESIDENT GORBACHEV AND I HOPE TO BUILD UPON THIS BEGINNING -- TO FORGE A U.S.-SOVIET AGENDA BUILT NOT UPON MILITARY CONFRONTATION, BUT UPON ECONOMIC AND SECURITY COOPERATION.

IN THE ECONOMIC SPHERE, WE HOPE TO BUILD UPON THE AGREEMENTS WE MADE IN MALTA -- TO NORMALIZE ECONOMIC RELATIONS AND WORK TOWARD HELPING THE SOVIET UNION INTEGRATE ITSELF INTO THE INTERNATIONAL ECONOMY.

IN THE MIDDLE EAST, WE SEE NEW PROSPECTS FOR PEACE WHERE ONCE THERE WAS ONLY CONTENTION.

TOGETHER, WE WILL WORK TOWARD BUILDING A LASTING PEACE BETWEEN ISRAEL AND HER ARAB NEIGHBORS.

WE ALSO WILL WORK TOGETHER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTS IN AFGHANISTAN AND CAMBODIA, JUST AS WE WORKED TO BUILD PEACE AND DEMOCRACY IN ANGOLA, NAMIBIA AND NICARAGUA.

NO LONGER MUST ALL THE WORLD SERVE AS A STAGE FOR SUPERPOWER STAND-OFFS. INSTEAD, LET EVERY PLACE FROM CENTRAL AMERICA TO ANGOLA TO AFGHANISTAN OFFER NEW HOPES, NEW OPPORTUNITIES. LET US PURSUE SHARED GOALS:

A STABLE WORLD, NO LONGER POLARIZED; MUTUALLY BENEFICIAL ECONOMIC TIES; COOPERATION ON EVERYTHING FROM WEAPONS PROLIFERATION TO ENVIRONMENTAL PROBLEMS.

PRESIDENT GORBACHEV HAS EARNED OUR RESPECT AND ADMIRATION -- FOR HIS UNCOMMON VISION AND COURAGE IN REPLACING OLD ORTHODOXY WITH GLASNOST AND PERESTROIKA. BUT MORE FUNDAMENTAL THAN THE RELATIONS OF LEADERS ARE THE SHARED VALUES OF THEIR PEOPLE -- AND HERE OUR COMMON HUMANITY OFFERS THE GREATEST HOPE FOR MANKIND.

IT CAN ENABLE US TO ADDRESS OUR DIFFERENCES -- DIFFERENCES, FOR EXAMPLE, OVER CUBA, THE FUTURE OF THE BALTIC STATES, AND WHAT JAPAN CALLS THE NORTHERN TERRITORIES.

LET US CONDUCT ALL OUR AFFAIRS IN THE SPIRIT OF ENDURING PARTNERSHIP: BASED ON POLITICS PEACEFUL AND DEMOCRATIC; ON ECONOMIES PRODUCTIVE AND FREE.

AMERICANS WANT TO WORK WITH ALL LEVELS OF SOVIET SOCIETY.

BEYOND OUR CENTRAL GOVERNMENTS, WE LOOK FOR GREATER INTERACTION BETWEEN THE CITIZENS OF OUR STATES AND YOUR REPUBLICS. AND BEYOND GOVERNMENT, WE SEEK GREATER UNDERSTANDING THROUGHOUT THE BROAD SPECTRUM OF SOCIETY -- AMONG BUSINESSMEN, STUDENTS, ARTISTS AND SCIENTISTS.

I COME HERE ON A STATE VISIT TO THE SOVIET UNION,
BUT I ALSO COME TO DISCOVER A RAPIDLY CHANGING COUNTRY.

- 9 -

FOR THE SAKE OF PEACE AND NEW PROSPERITY -- ON BEHALF OF ALL AMERICANS -- I COME HERE TODAY TO ASSURE
PRESIDENT GORBACHEV AND THE GREAT PEOPLE OF THIS LAND
IN EACH OF ITS REPUBLICS, THAT WE STAND WITH YOU IN YOUR HISTORIC STRUGGLE FOR DEMOCRACY AND REFORM.

FIFTY YEARS AGO, WE UNITED AS ALLIES TO FIGHT A HORRIBLE WAR. THIS WEEK, LET US COME TOGETHER AGAIN TO SEEK A NEWER WORLD -- MORE STABLE, MORE JUST, MORE PEACEFUL.

- 10 -

THANK YOU -- AND MAY GOD BLESS THE SOVEREIGN PEOPLE OF THE SOVIET UNION.

#

(Lange/Simon)
July 25, 1991
5:00 P.M.
[ARRIVAL.DOC]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: ARRIVAL, MOSCOW SUMMIT
 [PLACE]
 TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1991
 [TIME]

I'm honored to be in Moscow to meet with President Gorbachev for this historic summit -- as a time of tension gives way to a new season of hope. We need only compare the words of the Cold War with the deeds of recent years, to realize that a new age of promise has dawned.

Since my last visit in 1985, we've witnessed the opening of Europe -- and the end of a world polarized by suspicion. We've moved forward in every sphere: political, military and economic. We stood together for the first time in fifty years, to face down aggression in the Persian Gulf. Our affairs as trading partners have never been stronger. And this week, we take another step away from the Cold War with the signing of a START treaty.

This new era of cooperation offers the world the promise of unprecedented peace and prosperity -- if we but have the will to make it so.

From South America to Angola to Afghanistan -- no longer must all the world serve as a stage for superpower stand-offs. Instead, we see new opportunities. We see new possibilities:

The stability of a world no longer polarized; the growing mutual benefit of our economic ties; new hope for cooperation on everything from weapons proliferation to environmental problems.

These aspirations provide powerful reasons why the well-being of the Soviet Union matters to America.

President Gorbachev has earned my respect and admiration -- for his humanity, and his uncommon courage in pursuit of a common European home. But more fundamental than the relations of leaders are the shared values of their people -- and here our common humanity offers the greatest hope for mankind.

That's why we Americans want to work with all levels of Soviet society. Beyond our central governments, we look for greater interaction between the citizens of our states and your Republics. And beyond government, we seek greater understanding in a larger society -- among businessmen, students, artists and scientists.

We have hope now as never before, for a far-reaching US/Soviet agenda. In the Middle East, we see new prospects for peace where once was only contention. In Cuba and in our shared security agreements, we face challenges to push for freedom, democracy and reform. And in all of our affairs, we seek an enduring partnership: based on politics peaceful and democratic; on economies productive and free.

For the sake of peace and new prosperity -- on behalf of all Americans -- I come here today to assure the great people of this land in each of its Republics, that we stand with you in your historic struggle for democracy and reform.

Thank you -- and may God bless the Union of Sovereign Soviet Republics.

#

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

25-Jul-1991 09:05am

TO: David F. Demarest
TO: Robert A. Snow
TO: Daniel B. McGroarty

FROM: Christina M. Martin
Office of Communications

SUBJECT: MOSCOW SUMMIT SPEECHES

Monday, July 29

ARRIVAL NO REMARKS

Tuesday, July 30

WREATH LAYING NO REMARKS

ARRIVAL Lange\Simon 3-5 mins, 10:30 a.m.

KREMLIN McGroarty\Dooley 15 mins, 3 p.m., Telep.

STATE DINNER TOAST Hinchliffe\Blymire 5-7 mins

Wednesday, July 31

BUSINESS BREAKFAST Grant\Grossman 7-10 mins, 8:30 a.m.
100-150 Soviets, Radisson Slavjanskaya (1st Am. managed hotel in USSR)

START SIGNING McGroarty\Dooley 3-5 mins, 3:30 p.m.

PRESS CONFERENCE Press or NSC 3-5 mins

RECIPROCAL DINNER Grant\Grossman 2 mins, light

Thursday, August 1

EMBASSY GREETINGS 3 mins, 9:15 a.m.

DEPARTURE STATEMENT Lange\Simon 3 mins

ARRIVAL -- KIEV Grant\Simon 3-5 mins

UKRAINIAN LUNCH Hinchliffe\Blymire 3-5 mins

UKRAINIAN PARLIAMENT Snow\Simon 15 mins, Telep.

Babi Yar

BABI YAR

Snow\Blymire

7 mins