THE HEMET HONEY BEARS

BOWLING LEAGUE TO HELP THE DISABLED DEVELOP SKILLS AND CONFIDENCE

HEMET, CALIFORNIA

I am pleased to honor the Hemet Honey Bears Bowling League of Hemet, California as the 570th Daily Point of Light for the Nation. Using bowling as physical and social therapy, the Honey Bears' team of volunteers help individuals with disabilities reach their highest potential and gain a positive sense of self-worth. Launched in 1974, the league provides an enjoyable outlet of competition for the physically impaired.

All across our great country, individuals like the volunteers from Honey Bears are taking direct and consequential action to help solve serious social problems within their communities. These individuals exemplify and enrich the essential goodness of America. Everyone has a gift to give, and none of us should be content until we have found a way to serve.

MS. TILLIE BLACK BEAR

WORKS WITH ABUSED NATIVE AMERICAN WOMEN

ST. FRANCIS, SOUTH DAKOTA

I am pleased to honor Ms. Tillie Black Bear of St. Francis, South Dakota, as the 571st Daily Point of Light for the Nation. Ms. Black Bear counsels battered women in the Rosebud Sioux Indian reservation. A past victim herself, Ms. Black Bear applies her knowledge in the service of other women who have suffered the indignity of domestic abuse. In 1979, seeing a need for support services for battered women, Ms. Black Bear established the White Buffalo Calf Women's Society. Under her leadership, the Society has done much to alleviate the pain of domestic violence, providing a shelter for women who have suffered physical and mental anguish. Although physically slowed by lupus in recent years, Ms. Black Bear continues to be a voice for the dignity of women at the reservation, and I salute her efforts.

All across our great country, volunteers like Ms. Black Bear are taking direct and consequential action to help solve serious social problems within their communities. These individuals exemplify and enrich the essential goodness of America. Everyone has a gift to give, and none of us should be content until we have found a way to serve.

VOLUNTEERS OF THE CHILDREN'S BEREAVEMENT ART GROUP

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA

I am pleased to honor the volunteers of the Children's Bereavement Art Group of Sacramento, California, as the 573rd Daily Point of Light for the Nation. This dedicated group encourages children who have suffered the loss of someone close to express their grief through art. Over 20 volunteers assist three registered art therapists in easing the way for these kids, who are often unable to verbalize their anguish, to vent their heartache through a variety of art works. Sponsored by the Sutter Community Hospitals Foundation, the Children's Bereavement Art Group has served 805 children between the ages of four and sixteen since 1985. These compassionate volunteers contribute a valuable service in alleviating the pain suffered by these children, and I salute their efforts.

MS. ADA COOPER

FOUNDER OF THE BLITCH STREET PROJECT

STATESBORO, GEORGIA

I am pleased to honor Ms. Ada Cooper of Statesboro, Georgia, as the 574th Daily Point of Light for the Nation. Just over a year ago, Ms. Cooper founded the Blitch Street Project to provide Statesboro youth with an alternative to the violence that is too often visited on their community. Instilling these children with a greater sense of self-worth and responsibility, Ms. Cooper has improved their lives by providing hope. Believing in what she calls the "total child" method, Ms. Cooper and her staff address not only the children's educational and recreational needs but also the core values needed to succeed in life. Ms. Cooper's Blitch Street Project is working wonders in showing the way toward a better life for Statesboro's young -- and I heartily salute her efforts.

All across our great country, people like Ms. Cooper are taking direct and consequential action to help solve serious social problems within their communities. JULIE HARMS

EIGHTH-GRADER WHO HELPS STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES AT HER SCHOOL
HOUSTON, TEXAS

I am proud to honor Julie Harms of Houston, Texas, as the 575th Daily Point of Light for the Nation. This remarkable eighth-grader contributes her time and talent toward helping young people with disabilities live more meaningful lives. Not content to merely help these impaired students develop basic skills, Julie's heartfelt devotion goes deeper. She has taken the extra time needed to develop personal friendships with her special students and to learn sign language. A volunteer since the fourth grade and straight A student, Julie's ability and commitment are truly exemplary and I heartily salute her efforts.

All across our great country, volunteers like Julie are taking action to help solve serious problems within their communities. These individuals exemplify and enrich the essential goodness of America. Everyone has a gift to give, and none of us should be content until we have found a way to serve.

JULIE HARMS

EIGHTH-GRADER WHO HELPS STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES AT HER SCHOOL
HOUSTON, TEXAS

I am proud to honor Julie Harms of Houston, Texas, as the Nation's 575th Daily Point of Light. This remarkable eighth-grader contributes her talent and time toward helping young people with disabilities live more meaningful lives. Not content to merely help these impaired students develop basic skills, Julie's heartfelt devotion goes deeper. She has taken the extra time needed to develop personal friendships with her special students and to learn sign language. A volunteer since the fourth grade and straight A student, Julie's ability and commitment are truly exemplary and I heartily salute her efforts.

All across our great country, volunteers like Julie are ^{making} ~~taking~~ ^{a difference in helping} ~~direct and consequential action to help~~ solve serious problems within their communities. These individuals exemplify and enrich the essential goodness of America. Everyone has a gift to give, and ~~none should be content until we have found a way to serve.~~

Julie Harms is leading the way in Houston.

WORKS WITH ABUSED NATIVE AMERICAN WOMEN

ST. FRANCIS, SOUTH DAKOTA

I am proud to honor Ms. Tillie Black Bear of St. Francis, South Dakota, as the ~~Nation's~~ 571st Daily Point of Light ^{for the nation.} Ms. Black Bear counsels battered women in the Rosebud Sioux Indian reservation. A past victim herself, Ms. Black Bear applies her knowledge in the service of other women who have suffered the indignity of domestic abuse. In 1979, seeing a need for support services for battered women, Ms. Black Bear established the White Buffalo Calf Women's Society. Under her leadership, the Society has done much to ^{alleviate} ~~ameliorate~~ the pain of domestic violence, providing a shelter for women who have suffered physical and mental anguish. Although physically slowed by lupus in recent years, Ms. Black Bear continues to be a voice for the dignity of women at the reservation, and I salute her efforts.

VOLUNTEERS OF THE BEREAVEMENT ART GROUP

I am proud to honor the volunteers of the ^{Childrens} Bereavement Art Group of Sacramento, California, as the ~~Nation's~~ 573rd Daily Point of Light ^{for the nation.} This dedicated group encourages children who have suffered the loss of someone close to express their grief through art. Over 20 volunteers assist three registered art therapists in easing the way for these kids, who are often unable to verbalize their anguish, to vent their heartache through a variety of art works. Sponsored by the Sutter Community Hospitals Foundation, the Children's Bereavement Art Group has served 805 children between the ages of four and sixteen since 1985. These compassionate volunteers contribute a valuable service in alleviating the pain suffered by these children, and I salute their efforts.

FOUNDER OF THE BLITCH STREET PROJECT

STATESBORO, GEORGIA

I am proud to honor Ms. Ada Cooper of Statesboro, Georgia, ^{as} the ~~Nation's~~ ^{for the nation.} 574th Daily Point of Light. Just over a year ago, Ms. Cooper founded the Blitch Street Project to provide Statesboro youth with an alternative to the violence that is too often visited on their community. Instilling these children with a greater sense of self-worth and responsibility, Ms. Cooper has improved their lives by providing hope. Believing in what she calls the "total child" method, Ms. Cooper and her staff address not only the children's educational and recreational needs but also the core values needed to succeed in life. Ms. Cooper's Blitch Street Project is working wonders in showing the way toward a better life for Statesboro's young and I heartily salute her efforts.
