PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: AMERICAN COMMUNITY GREETING
AMERICAN SCHOOL, THE HAGUE
NOVEMBER 9, 1991

- o Thank you. [[ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS TO COME]]. It's great to be in this beautiful country, and I am honored to be here at The American School in the Hague. You kids are so very fortunate to attend a school that combines the strengths of traditional American education with the experience of another country's culture and history.
- o I'd like to take the opportunity to thank all of you whose hard work and cooperation were responsible for building this school. It will provide a world-class education to many generations of American children overseas as well as children of other nationalities.
- o Americans living abroad are the everyday example to people around the world of what is embodied in the greatness of the United States of America. I have heard rave reviews about the American community here.
- o Thanks in large part to your enterprise enthusiasm, the United States has its largest bilateral trade surplus with the Netherlands. And I'll give credit where credit is due - your ambassador and my good friend, Howard Wilkins, has done a lot to promote business and commerce here in the Netherlands, and for that I thank him, too.
- o I wish the School and the American community continued success. May God bless you all.
