

Originally Processed With FOIA(s):
S

FOIA Number:
S

FOIA MARKER

This is not a textual record. This is used as an administrative marker by the George Bush Presidential Library Staff.

Record Group/Collection: George H.W. Bush Presidential Records Collection/Office of Origin: Speechwriting, White House Office of Series: Speech File Draft Files
Subseries: Chron File, 1989-1993

OA/ID Number: 13601
Folder ID Number: 13601-006

Folder Title:
National Association of Religious Broadcasters 1/27/92 [OA 6096] [2]

Stack:	Row:	Section:	Shelf:	Position:
G	26	17	6	2

92 JAN 24 P2:28

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 1/22/92 ACTION/CONCURRENCE COMMENT DUE BY: 1:00 pm, Thurs., 1/23/92

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: Religious Broadcasters
Sheraton Washington Hotel
SUBJECT: Monday, January 27, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	☐	☒	HORNER	☐	☐
SKINNER	☐	☒	MCCLURE	☒	☐
SCOWCROFT	☒	☐	PETERSMEYER	☒	☐
DARMAN	☒	☐	PORTER	☒	☐
BRADY	☐	☒	ROGICH	☒	☐
BROMLEY	☐	☐	SMITH	☒	☐
CARD	☐	☒	Findlay	☐	☒
DEMAREST	☒	☐	Snow	☐	☒
FITZWATER	☐	☒	Porter Rose	☐	☒
GRAY	☒	☐	Martinez	☒	☐
HOLIDAY	☒	☐		☐	☐

REMARKS:

Please forward your remarks directly to Tony Snow in Room 122 EOB, Ext. 2930, NO LATER THAN THURSDAY, JAN., 23, with a copy to this office.

THANK YOU.

RESPONSE:

MEMORANDUM FOR TONY SNOW

January 24, 1992

The NSC staff concurs in the proposed presidential remarks subject to the changes noted in the attached text.

Brent Scowcroft
Brent Scowcroft

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

cc: Phillip D. Brady

(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

92 JAN 22 P5:17

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Fallwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on seven loaves and fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a crusade to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

note: we did not fight war to bring liberty or freedom to forcing a tyrant to stand down.

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the note: we did not fight war to bring liberty or freedom to Kuwait finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / ^{Army}~~Air Force~~ / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than nine in ten believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're hearing plenty about conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than the Bundys or the Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / We see it when groups like Public Enemy soil the memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. with vengeance and violence. // There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree ^{join} with me, ~~write --~~ ^{ing} ~~call -- picket -- petition --~~ ⁱⁿ demand ^{ing} an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

Surely he is not proposing that Public Enemy (whoever they are) be deported.

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things." To me, this is what family is: A pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan. //

That is why I demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. // Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. As Elijah drove the false prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, we must erase drugs from every corner of America. //

I will be honest: We have not erased them yet. But in the spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been miraculous. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk is ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement -- and through education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a

great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose: Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once ~~threw off the yoke of~~ ^{deposed} a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- so we have exported it as our ideal. Today, we must also export it economically and, above all, spiritually. // If you doubt freedom's victory, ^{look around you.} ~~look to the Persian Gulf.~~ / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once enslaved crowd churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible. // No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

George III
continued
to rule
in Britain - he therefore was not
"deposed."

Q: you cannot patronize
"freedom"
Julio-
Cesar Roosevelt democratic
P-hill

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." // In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. It's time to end this mockery. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

January 23, 1992

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

THROUGH: DAVID DEMAREST
TONY SNOW TS
FROM: CURT SMITH
SUBJECT: NATIONAL RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS

On Monday, January 27, 1992, at noon, you will deliver remarks (approximately 14 minutes/teleprompted) to the National Religious Broadcasters' annual conference. Roughly 1,500 will attend.

Your speech strives to cut through the political vagaries of campaign season by focusing on values -- the values that sustain America and that this administration shares with our nation's religious broadcasters. You talk about the sanctity of unborn life, opportunity and empowerment, decency and tolerance, family and choice, the war against drugs, and the power of prayer.

(Smith/Grossman)
January 23, 1992
Draft Three
RELIGION

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
12:00 P.M.

President David Clark and Executive Director Brandt Gustafson -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Liddy Dole. FCC Chairman Sykes. I see my good friend Rev. Billy Graham. Jim Dobson, Pat Robertson, and Jerry Falwell. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see Jerry Falwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on five loaves and two fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a struggle to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil /

right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, be "a light unto the world." Your support honored the finest soldiers / sailors / Marines / airmen / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than ninety percent believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're seeing a lot of conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it. In the words of Deuteronomy: "Let us choose life." / We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask for only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy works shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than The Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / We see it when

people ridicule religion and religious leaders -- like the group which crushed a consecrated host on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral. / We see it in bigotry, discrimination, and anti-Semitism. / I will continue to speak out against these apostles of hate who poison our kids' minds and debase their souls. //

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers - - must do our part to defend it. // I do not want one single action I take as President to weaken the American family. I want to strengthen it in every way I can. //

That is why I insisted that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. //

Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. //

There is more to do to win the final victory in our war on drugs. But we are winning. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk group remains 13 to 17-year-olds -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement -- and through education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose: Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- it is our most treasured export. // If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once oppressed crowd reopened churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer -- and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible.

// No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." //

In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I once again call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of remind us of the truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked what made America / America. He replied, simply: "[Its] religion. Otherwise there is no real and permanent grandeur." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

92 JAN 19 16:15
WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 1/22/92

ACTION/CONCURRENCE COMMENT DUE BY: 1:00 pm, Thurs., 1/23/92

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: Religious Broadcasters
 Sheraton Washington Hotel
 Monday, January 27, 1992

SUBJECT:

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	☐	☒	HORNER	☐	☐
SKINNER	☐	☒	MCCLURE	☒	☐
SCOWCROFT	☒	☐	PETERSMEYER	☒	☐
DARMAN	☒	☐	PORTER	☒	☐
BRADY	☐	☒	ROGICH	☒	☐
BROMLEY	☐	☐	SMITH	☒	☐
CARD	☐	☒	Findlay	☐	☒
DEMAREST	☒	☐	Snow	☐	☒
FITZWATER	☐	☒	Porter Rose	☐	☒
GRAY	☒	☐	Martinez	☒	☐
HOLIDAY	☒	☐		☐	☐

REMARKS:

Please forward your remarks directly to Tony Snow in Room 122 EOB, Ext. 2930, NO LATER THAN THURSDAY, JAN., 23, with a copy to this office.

THANK YOU.

RESPONSE:

see minor changes

PHILLIP D. BRADY
 Assistant to the President
 and Staff Secretary
 Ext. 2702

(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

02 JAN 22 P5:17

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ~~((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //~~

((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Fallwell^{sp}. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on seven loaves and fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a crusade to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / Air Force / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news, ~~for modern man~~. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than nine in ten believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're hearing plenty about conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the

wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than the Bundys or the Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / ~~We see it when groups like Public Enemy soil the memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. with vengeance and violence.~~ // There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree with me, write -- call -- picket -- petition: Demand an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things." To me, this is what family is: A pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan. //

That is why I demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. // Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. As Elijah drove the false prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, we must erase drugs from every corner of America. //

I will be honest: We have not erased them yet. But in the spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been miraculous. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk is ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement -- and through education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a

great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose: Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- so we have exported it as our ideal. Today, we must also export it economically and, above all, spiritually. // If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once enslaved crowd churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible. // No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." // In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. It's time to end this mockery. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

Document No.

300916WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUMDATE. 1/22/92ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: 1:00 pm, Thurs., 1/23,PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: Religious Broadcasters
Sheraton Washington Hotel
Monday, January 27, 1992

SUBJECT: _____

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	—	✓	HORNER	—	—
SKINNER	—	✓	MCCLURE	✓	—
SCOWCROFT	✓	—	PETERSMEYER	✓	—
DARMAN	✓	—	PORTER	✓	—
BRADY	—	✓	ROGICH	✓	—
BROMLEY	—	—	SMITH	✓	□
CARD	—	✓	Findlay	□	✓
DEMAREST	✓	—	Snow	□	✓
FITZWATER	—	✓	Porter Rose	—	✓
GRAY	✓	—	Martinez	✓	—
HOLIDAY	✓	—		—	—

REMARKS:

Please forward your remarks directly to Tony Snow in Room 122 EOB, Ext. 2930, NO LATER THAN THURSDAY, JAN., 23, with a copy to this office.

THANK YOU.

RESPONSE: _____

See comments
JD

MASTER

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

* Wasn't "Weed + seed" going to be announced in this speech?
(oca)

(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

92 JAN 22 P5:17

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Falwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked from Dan to Barshaba. (Gardner) ~~across the Potomac.~~)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on ~~seven~~ ⁵ loaves and ² fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a ~~crusade~~ ^{struggle} to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the

2

Airmen (N3C)

(Trow)
yes
no
AND WOMEN
finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / Air Force / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

yes
(Trow)
Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than 90% believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. // It's either 9 or 10.

yes
Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're seeing a lot of conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

no
The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

In the words of Deuteronomy.
"Let us choose life." (Grandma)
Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the all really

San Antonio
yes

or when people mock + ridicule religion + religious leaders, as when one group crushed a concentrated hoot on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral. (Gardner)

wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than ~~the Bundys~~ or the Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / ~~We see it when groups like Public Enemy soil the memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. with vengeance and violence.~~ // There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree with me, write -- call -- picket -- petition -- demand an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

Surely, he is not proposing that Public Enemy (whoever they are) be deported. (Nsc)

yes
yes
2 Fox
Network programs
it's try another net.
Show (Tian)

(Nsc)

the Rev. (Gardner)

bigotry, discrimination
ad.
anti-Semitism

NO I do not want one simple single action I take as Pres. to weaken the Am. family. (Gardner)

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

~~Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things."~~ To me, ~~this is what family is~~ a pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. ~~I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan.~~ //

honorable noble (Gard)

What? (HMS)

defend it.

That is why I ^{insisted} demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the ^{its} largest funding increase in the ^{Parental involvement is a critical element in its success.} history of Project Head Start. // ^{of (Gardner)} Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. As Elijah drove the false prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, ^{drive} we must erase drugs from every corner of America. //

(Baal was a god, not a prophet)

NO delete (HMS)

(NO) But there is reason for hope.
(CHHS)

There is more to do to win the final victory in the war on drugs.

~~I will be honest. We have not erased them yet.~~ But in the ~~spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been~~

~~miraculous.~~ // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. more drug resistant than ever before ~~The highest at-risk is~~

~~ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-~~

~~olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers.~~ // ~~that we are winning~~
~~it because of parents~~

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement, ~~and through~~

~~education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do.~~ //

Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. //

Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a

And the credit goes to the parents
the kids and even to the media for making drugs unacceptable

parents media points more

But gov't alone can not defeat this scourge.

Leaders in every community must help increase
(Peters)

Through the 100's of 1,000's of act of selflessness + voluntary service which ordinary men + women perform for their neighbors everyday. ← (Peters)

6

great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose:

Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and,

yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once threw off the yoke of (Nse) deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- it is our most treasure of export -- yes so we have exported it as our ideal. Today, we freedom must also export it economically and, above all, spiritually. //

If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once oppressed enslaved crowd churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where

Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // it is written:

"In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992:

Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible. // No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

(Peter's)
no
~~I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer.~~
~~He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." //~~
In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. ~~It's time to end this mockery.~~ // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / yes ^{one again (Grand)} I call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

No. (Peter's)
~~The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that~~
~~comes on one's knees.~~ // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

(Smith/Grossman)
January 23, 1992
Draft Three
RELIGION

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
12:00 P.M.

President David Clark and Executive Director Brandt Gustafson -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Liddy Dole. FCC Chairman Sykes. I see my good friend Rev. Billy Graham. Jim Dobson, Pat Robertson, and Jerry Falwell. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see Jerry Falwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on five loaves and two fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a struggle to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil /

right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, be "a light unto the world." Your support honored the finest soldiers / sailors / Marines / Air Force and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than ninety percent believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're seeing a lot of conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it. In the words of Deuteronomy: "Let us choose life." / We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy works shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than The Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / We see it when people ridicule religion and religious leaders -- like the group which crushed a consecrated host on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral. / We see it in bigotry, discrimination, and anti-Semitism. / I will continue to speak out against these apostles of hate who poison our kids' minds and debase their souls. //

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must do our part to defend it. // I do not want one single action I take as President to weaken the American family. I want to strengthen it in every way I can. //

That is why I insisted that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. //

Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. //

There is more to do to win the final victory in our war on drugs. But we are winning. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk group remains 13 to 17-year-olds -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement -- and through education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose: Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- it is our most treasured export. // If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once oppressed crowd reopened churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible.

// No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." // In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. ~~It's time to end this mockery.~~ // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I once again call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked what made America / America. He replied, simply: "[Its] religion. Otherwise there is no real and permanent grandeur." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

92 JAN 22 P6:17

DATE: 1/22/92 ACTION/CONCURRENCE COMMENT DUE BY: 1:00 pm, Thurs., 1/23/92

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: Religious Broadcasters
Sheraton Washington Hotel
SUBJECT: Monday, January 27, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	—	✓	HORNER	—	—
SKINNER	—	✓	MCCLURE n/c	✓	—
✓ SCOWCROFT	✓	—	✓ PETERSMEYER ✓	✓	—
✓ DARMAN ✓	✓	—	✓ PORTER ✓	✓	—
BRADY	—	✓	✓ ROGICH	✓	—
BROMLEY	—	—	✓ SMITH ✓	✓	—
CARD	—	✓	Findlay	—	✓
DEMAREST	✓	—	Snow	—	✓
FITZWATER	—	✓	Porter Rose	—	✓
✓ GRAY —	✓	—	✓ Martinez ✓	✓	—
✓ HOLIDAY ✓	✓	—		—	—

REMARKS:

Please forward your remarks directly to Tony Snow in Room 122 EOB, Ext. 2930, NO LATER THAN THURSDAY, JAN., 23, with a copy to this office.

THANK YOU.

RESPONSE:

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

02 JAN 22 P5:17

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Fallwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on seven loaves and fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a crusade to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / Air Force / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than nine in ten believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're hearing plenty about conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the

wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than the Bundys or the Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / We see it when groups like Public Enemy soil the memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. with vengeance and violence. // There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree with me, write -- call -- picket -- petition: Demand an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things." To me, this is what family is: A pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan. //

That is why I demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. // Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. As Elijah drove the false prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, we must erase drugs from every corner of America. //

I will be honest: We have not erased them yet. But in the spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been miraculous. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk is ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement -- and through education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a

great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose: Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- so we have exported it as our ideal. Today, we must also export it economically and, above all, spiritually. // If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once enslaved crowd churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible. // No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." // In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. It's time to end this mockery. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

92 JAN 23 P3:57

DATE: 1/22/92 ACTION/CONCURRENCE COMMENT DUE BY: 1:00 pm, Thurs., 1/23/92

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: Religious Broadcasters
Sheraton Washington Hotel
SUBJECT: Monday, January 27, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	☐	☒	HORNER	☐	☐
SKINNER	☐	☒	MCCLURE	☒	☐
SCOWCROFT	☒	☐	PETERSMEYER	☒	☐
DARMAN	☒	☐	PORTER	☒	☐
BRADY	☐	☒	ROGICH	☒	☐
BROMLEY	☐	☐	SMITH	☒	☐
CARD	☐	☒	Findlay	☐	☒
DEMAREST	☒	☐	Snow	☐	☒
FITZWATER	☐	☒	Porter Rose	☐	☒
GRAY	☒	☐	Martinez	☒	☐
HOLIDAY	☒	☐		☐	☐

REMARKS:

Please forward your remarks directly to Tony Snow in Room 122 EOB, Ext. 2930, NO LATER THAN THURSDAY, JAN., 23, with a copy to this office.

THANK YOU.

RESPONSE:

See comment

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

02 JAN 22 P5:17

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Fallwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on seven loaves and fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a crusade to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / Air Force / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than nine in ten believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're hearing plenty about conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the

wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than the Bundys or the Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / We see it when groups like Public Enemy soil the memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. with vengeance and violence. // There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree with me, write -- call -- picket -- petition: Demand an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things." To me, this is what family is: A pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan. //

That is why I demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the Head Start pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in ^{its} the history of Project Head Start. // Parental involvement is a critical element in its success. Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. As Elijah drove the false prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, we must erase drugs from every corner of America. //

Sully
5/7/8

I will be honest: We have not erased them yet. But in the spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been miraculous. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk is ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement -- and through education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a

great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose: Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- so we have exported it as our ideal. Today, we must also export it economically and, above all, spiritually. // If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once enslaved crowd churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible. // No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." // In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. It's time to end this mockery. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

92 JAN 23 12:40 WHITEHOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 1/22/92 ACTION/CONCURRENCE COMMENT DUE BY: 1:00 pm, Thurs., 1/23/

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: Religious Broadcasters
Sheraton Washington Hotel
Monday, January 27, 1992

SUBJECT: _____

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	—	✓	HORNER	—	—
SKINNER	—	✓	MCCLURE	✓	—
SCOWCROFT	✓	—	PETERSMEYER	✓	—
DARMAN	✓	—	PORTER	✓	—
BRADY	—	✓	ROGICH	✓	—
BROMLEY	—	—	SMITH	✓	—
CARD	—	✓	Findlay	—	✓
DEMAREST	✓	—	Snow	—	✓
FITZWATER	—	✓	Porter Rose	—	✓
GRAY	✓	—	Martinez	✓	—
HOLIDAY	✓	—		—	—

REMARKS:

Please forward your remarks directly to Tony Snow in Room 122 EOB, Ext. 2930, NO LATER THAN THURSDAY, JAN., 23, with a copy to this office.

THANK YOU.

RESPONSE:

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

92 JAN 22 P5:17

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Fallwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on ^{five}~~seven~~ loaves and ^{two}~~and~~ fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a crusade to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / Air Force / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than nine in ten believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're hearing plenty about conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the

wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than the Bundys or the Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / We see it when groups like Public Enemy soil the memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. with vengeance and violence. // There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree with me, write -- call -- picket -- petition: Demand an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things." To me, this is what family is: A pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan. //

That is why I demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. // Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. ~~As Elijah drove the false prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, we~~ must erase drugs from every corner of America. //

I will be honest: We have not erased them yet. But in the spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been miraculous. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk is ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

Can not defeat this scourge We will triumph through tough enforcement. But government alone ~~and through~~ every leader in every community must help increase ~~education:~~ Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a

great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose:

Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, according to the dictates of conscience, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America ^{has} once deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- so we have exported it as our ideal. Today, we must also export ^{freedom} it economically and, above all, spiritually. //

If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once enslaved crowd

churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where

Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written:

"In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992:

Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible.

// No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

Through the hundreds of acts of selfless and voluntary service which ordinary men
and women perform for their neighbors
every day

A broad, it is conveyed through the ideals we stand for:

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." //

In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. It's time to end this mockery. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

[The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that comes on one's knees.] // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 1/22/92 ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: 1:00 pm, Thurs., 1/23/92

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: Religious Broadcasters
Sheraton Washington Hotel
SUBJECT: Monday, January 27, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	☐	☒	HORNER	☐	☐
SKINNER	☐	☒	MCCLURE	☒	☐
SCOWCROFT	☒	☐	PETERSMEYER	☒	☐
DARMAN	☒	☐	PORTER	☒	☐
BRADY	☐	☒	ROGICH	☒	☐
BROMLEY	☐	☐	SMITH	☒	☐
CARD	☐	☒	Findlay	☐	☒
DEMAREST	☒	☐	Snow	☐	☒
FITZWATER	☐	☒	Porter Rose	☐	☒
GRAY	☒	☐	Martinez	☒	☐
HOLIDAY	☒	☐		☐	☐

REMARKS:

Please forward your remarks directly to Tony Snow in Room 122 EOB, Ext. 2930, NO LATER THAN THURSDAY, JAN., 23, with a copy to this office.

THANK YOU.

RESPONSE:

See comments. Thanks.
PK
Paul Korfonta
01/23/92

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

General Comment: (OCA)
wasn't "weed and seed"
going to be announced
at this speech?

(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

92 JAN 22 P5:17

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Fallwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on seven loaves and fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a crusade to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / Air Force / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than nine in ten believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're hearing plenty about conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the

wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than the Bundys or the Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / We see it when groups like Public Enemy soil the memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. with vengeance and violence. // There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree with me, write -- call -- picket -- petition: Demand an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")). //

Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things." To me, this is what family is: A pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan. //

what? (HHS)

That is why I demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. //

delete [Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart.] As Elijah drove the false prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, we must ~~erase~~ drugs from every corner of America. //

drive (HHS)

(HHS)
But there is reason for hope.
Delete (HHS)

I will be honest: We have not erased them yet. [But in the spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been miraculous.] // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 more drug resistant than ever before are the ~~most anti-drug group~~ in America. [The highest at-risk is ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers.] // Delete (HHS)

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement -- and through education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a

great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose: Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- so we have exported it as our ideal. Today, we must also export it economically and, above all, spiritually. // If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once enslaved crowd churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible. // No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." // In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. It's time to end this mockery. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 1/22/92 ACTION/CONCURRENCE COMMENT DUE BY: 1:00 pm, Thurs., 1/23.

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: Religious Broadcasters
 Sheraton Washington Hotel
 Monday, January 27, 1992

SUBJECT:

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	☐	☒	HORNER	☐	☐
SKINNER	☐	☒	MCCLURE	☒	☐
SCOWCROFT	☒	☐	PETERSMEYER	☒	☐
DARMAN	☒	☐	PORTER	☒	☐
BRADY	☐	☒	ROGICH	☒	☐
BROMLEY	☐	☐	SMITH	☒	☐
CARD	☐	☒	Findlay	☐	☒
DEMAREST	☒	☐	Snow	☐	☒
FITZWATER	☐	☒	Porter Rose	☐	☒
GRAY	☒	☐	Martinez	☒	☐
HOLIDAY	☒	☐		☐	☐

REMARKS:

Please forward your remarks directly to Tony Snow in Room 122 EOB, Ext. 2930, NO LATER THAN THURSDAY, JAN., 23, with a copy to this office.

THANK YOU.

RESPONSE:

A few suggestions.

BT for SR

PHILLIP D. BRADY
 Assistant to the President
 and Staff Secretary
 Ext. 2702

(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

92 JAN 22 P5:17

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Fallwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on seven loaves and fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a crusade to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / Air Force / and Coast Guardsmen^{and women} any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than ~~nine in ten~~ ^{90 percent} believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. // ~~it's either nine or ten~~

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're hearing plenty about conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies
 suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the

wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than the Bundys or the Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / We see it when groups like Public Enemy soil the memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. with vengeance and violence. // There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree with me, write -- call -- picket -- petition: Demand an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

two Fox Network
Programs --
Perhaps we can hit another network

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things." To me, this is what family is: A pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan. //

That is why I demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. // Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. As Elijah drove the false prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, we must erase drugs from every corner of America. //

I will be honest: We have not erased them yet. But in the spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been miraculous. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk is ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement -- and through education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a

great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose: Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- so we have exported it as our ideal. Today, we must also export it economically and, above all, spiritually. // If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once enslaved crowd churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible. // No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." // In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. It's time to end this mockery. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. //

This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Fallwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on seven loaves and fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a crusade to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / Air Force / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend our way of life, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make our way of life worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than nine in ten believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

You know I'm praying: This is an Election Year. ((The Bible tells us about the conversion that took place on the Road to Damascus. / This being Primary Season, we're hearing more about conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to talk of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is a universal value. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives that life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the wilderness / end the Depression / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. // Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776. Remember: // To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

((You know, I feel I'm among friends today. I know many of you personally. There's also television: Some of you make more appearances on the Nation's screens than Johnny Carson. // I am aware how you're steadfastly reminding Americans that the 10 Commandments mean what they say, and they're not going to be sent back for a re-write.)) //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and wrong. What good are possessions if we are spiritually bankrupt? "What does it profit a man to gain the world if he shall lose his own soul?" // We need a Nation closer to The Waltons than the Bundys -- more like Mayberry than Geraldo, Madonna, and Public

Enemy. // Today, a rap song by the group "Ice Cube" urges burning Korean-owned stores. There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree with me, write -- call -- picket -- petition: Demand an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things." To me, this is what family is: A pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- individually, and as a government -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan. //

That is why I demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include private as well as public schools. // We need more emphasis on the three R's -- and less on kooky left-wing curricula. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. // Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. As Elijah drove the false prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, we must erase drugs from the face of America. //

I will be honest: We have not yet done that. But in the spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been miraculous. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk is ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a Rubik's Cube of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness. They impair judgement, and hard work. // That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, is America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our drug strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community: As The Sound of Music says, "All the love [we] can give." // Let me tell you a story. Once, a great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what it detests: Injustice and tyranny. In what it reveres: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / twice this Century sent brave troops to every corner of the globe. // Yet freedom is not ours alone. So we have exported it to brave peoples in Korea, the Gulf, and yes, Viet Nam. Today, we must also export it economically and, above all, spiritually. // If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf, where a Nation is liberated. / Look to the Soviet Union, where those once enslaved crowd churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols now warm the bright winter chill. // It is said: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the final value that sustains America, and sustains the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer -- and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible. // No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." // In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. It's time to end this mockery. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of can find the daily truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that ~~God~~ cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless you, and the most wondrous land on earth -- these United States of America.

#

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Date: 1/23

92 JAN 23 P2:45

TO:

Tony/Curt

FROM: JOHN S. GARDNER
Special Assistant to the President and Assistant Staff Secretary

- ☐ Information
- ☒ Action
- ☐ Let's Discuss

Nice speech. Just a few comments.
Thanks
JG

✓
(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

92 JAN 22 P5:17

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

✓
2. ((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Fallwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked ~~across the Potomac~~)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on seven loaves and fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a ~~crusade~~ to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the

from Dan to Ben-Shabbat [Crusade will be badly struggle viewed - and used against us - in the Arab world]

finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / Air Force / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than nine in ten believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're hearing plenty about conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

✓ In the words of Deuteronomy, "Let us choose life."

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the wilderness / ~~win~~ two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than the Bundys or the Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. // We see it when groups like Public Enemy soil the memory of ^{the Rev.} Martin Luther King, Jr. with vengeance and violence. // There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree with me, write -- call -- picket -- petition: Demand an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

→ or when people mock and ridicule religion and religious leaders, as when one group crushed a consecrated host on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral or

[an example of anti-Semitism]

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things." To me, this is what family is: A pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan. //

That is why I demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. // Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. As Elijah drove the ~~false~~ prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, we must erase drugs from every corner of America. //

[Baal was a god, not a prophet]

I do not want one single action I take as President to weaken the American family. [He said something like this earlier on.]

honorable noble

I will ~~be~~ honest: We have not erased them yet. But in the spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been miraculous. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk is ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement -- and through education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a

great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose: Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once deposed a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- so we have exported it as our ideal. Today, we must also export it economically and, above all, spiritually. // If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once enslaved crowd churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible. // No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." // In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. It's time to end this mockery. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I ^{once again} call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

92 JAN 23 P2:46

DATE: 1/22/92 ACTION/CONCURRENCE COMMENT DUE BY: 1:00 pm, Thurs., 1/23

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: Religious Broadcasters
 SUBJECT: Sheraton Washington Hotel
 Monday, January 27, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	☐	☒	HORNER	☐	☐
SKINNER	☐	☒	MCCLURE	☒	☐
SCOWCROFT	☒	☐	PETERSMEYER	☒	☐
DARMAN	☒	☐	PORTER	☒	☐
BRADY	☐	☒	ROGICH	☒	☐
BROMLEY	☐	☐	SMITH	☒	☐
CARD	☐	☒	Findlay	☐	☒
DEMAREST	☒	☐	Snow	☐	☒
FITZWATER	☐	☒	Porter Rose	☐	☒
GRAY	☒	☐	Martinez	☒	☐
HOLIDAY	☒	☐		☐	☐

REMARKS:

Please forward your remarks directly to Tony Snow in Room 122 EOB, Ext. 2930, NO LATER THAN THURSDAY, JAN., 23, with a copy to this office.

THANK YOU.

RESPONSE:

MEMORANDUM FOR TONY SNOW

The NSC staff concurs in the proposed presidential remarks subject to the changes noted in the attached text.

Brent Scowcroft

cc: Phillip D. Brady

PHILLIP D. BRADY
 Assistant to the President
 and Staff Secretary
 Ext. 2702

(Smith/Grossman)
January 21, 1992
Draft Two
RELIGION

32 JAN 22 P5:17

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: RELIGIOUS BROADCASTERS
SHERATON WASHINGTON HOTEL
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1992
10:00 A.M.

President Rose and Director Cook -- and let me salute your leadership of the NRB. Ladies and gentlemen. Fellow communicators. // This marks the fifth time I have had the honor of addressing the annual convention of the National Religious Broadcasters. ((It's always a pleasure driving over here from the White House. I think if Moses were around today, he'd be called upon to part the traffic.)) //

((First, I'm glad to see my friend Jerry Fallwell. I invited Jerry to go jogging with me this morning, but he had his own exercise plans. / He walked across the Potomac.)) //

((Then, there's my other friend, Pat Robertson. Pat was telling me you have the lowest catering bill of any convention that comes to this hotel. // It's amazing how you can feed this entire multitude on seven loaves and fishes.)) //

A year ago we met in the first week of a crusade to protect what is right, and true. I came before you to talk of what was not a Christian or Jewish war -- not a Moslem war. It was a just war. // In the Persian Gulf we fought for good versus evil / right versus wrong / dignity against oppression. America stood fast -- so that liberty could stand tall. //

Today, I want to thank you for helping America, as Christ ordained, "be a light unto the world." Your support honored the finest sailors / soldiers / Marines / ^{army}~~Air Force~~ / and Coast Guardsmen any Nation has ever known. // What they did in war, let us now do in peace. // Just as our forces fought to defend all that is best in America, we need you to help instill the traditional values that make life and liberty worth defending. //

Let me begin with some good news for modern man. According to Gallup surveys, no society is more religious than the United States of America. // Seven in ten Americans believe in life after death -- eight in ten that God works miracles. Nine in ten Americans pray. And more than nine in ten believe in God. // To which I say: Thank God. //

Now, I know this is an election year. ((I don't know about Damascus -- but this Primary Season, we're hearing plenty about conversions on the road to New Hampshire.)) // We hear candidates promising this, and that -- espousing policies suddenly in fashion. // Today, I want to speak of values which sustain America -- values that are always in fashion. /

The first value is not simply American -- but universal. I refer to the sanctity of life. You know my position -- but I'll restate it now. We need policies that encourage adoption, not abortion. //

Next comes a value which gives each life meaning: The self-reliance central to the dignity of work. // Go to the barrios of San Antonio, or the suburbs of St. Paul. There you will find people who ask only what our forefathers had: The same opportunity which helped us brave independence / push back the wilderness / win two World Wars / and create the highest standard of living in the history of man. //

The Bible reminds us: "By thy sweat shall Ye know them." What we must do is give working Americans the level playing field to keep us rich in goods, and spirit. //

Tomorrow, my State of the Union Address will detail how we can nurture the creativity as old as 1776 -- harness it to the needs of a new American Century. // Remember: To this day, the only footprints on the moon are American footprints. / The only flag on the moon is the stars and stripes. // The knowledge that put it there is stamped: "Made in USA." // The world looks to us to lead -- and lead we will. // Tune in tomorrow, and see if you don't agree: I will announce a program to help Americans outwork / outproduce / and outcompete any Nation in the world. //

The next value I speak of must be forever cast in stone. // I speak of decency -- the moral courage to say what is right, and condemn what's wrong. // We need a nation closer to The Waltons than the Bundys or the Simpsons -- an America which rejects the rising tide of incivility and intolerance. //

We see this tide in the naked epithet -- and in the code words -- that play to our worst prejudices. / We see it when groups like Public Enemy soil the memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. with vengeance and violence. // There is no place in America for such apostles of hate. // If you agree, ^{join} with me, ~~write~~ ^{ing} ~~call~~ ~~picket~~ ~~petition~~ ⁱⁿ demand an end to the trash which poisons our kids's minds and debases their souls. //

Surely he is not proposing that Public Enemy ~~be~~ (whoever they are) be deported.

This brings me to a fourth value crucial to America: Belief in family -- the foundation of our strength. ((I admit it: I've been lucky -- a wonderful wife and five great kids. // Having helped put them through college, I remember receiving letters from them, and there would always be a P.S. at the bottom. It was those three words that say so much about the bond between parents at home and kids at school. "Please send money.")) //

Phillippians reminds us, "Whatsoever things are pure . . . think on these things." To me, this is what family is: A pure and priceless bequest. // Too often today, the family is under siege. I say to you: Each one of us -- parents, preachers, politicians, and teachers -- must lift it from the valley of indifference to the high plateau of Canaan. //

That is why I demanded that the child-care bill I signed in 1990 allow parents -- not bureaucrats -- to decide how to care for their children. I refused to see the option of religious-based child care restricted or eliminated. // The family is also why our education program -- America 2000 -- insists that choice include both private and public schools. // Last week, I announced another policy to strengthen the family: Expanding the pre-school program to serve all those who are eligible -- the largest funding increase in the history of Project Head Start. // Finally, families will stay together only if drugs do not drive them apart. As Elijah drove the false prophet Baal [BALE] out of Israel, we must erase drugs from every corner of America. //

I will be honest: We have not erased them yet. But in the spirit of the occasion, let me add: Our progress has been miraculous. // Over the past four years, marijuana, crack, and cocaine use has declined. What's more, today kids aged 9 to 12 are the most anti-drug group in America. The highest at-risk is ages 13 to 17 -- but last year / for the first time / 13-year-olds mirrored the behavior of pre-teenagers. //

Drugs effect a multitude of issues. They contribute to AIDS and homelessness -- shattering families and futures / hopes and dreams. / That's why -- literally -- we should thank God for the drug use decline. The drop in use doesn't just prove we were right in our assault on substance use: It shows how we can achieve drugs' unconditional surrender. //

We will triumph through tough enforcement -- and through education: Increasing awareness of the damage drugs do. // Over the last four years, more kids talked about drugs with their parents and teachers. Another force has been America's print and electronic media -- the major source of drug information and the primary "influencer" on drug use, especially among the young. // Together, they have helped reawaken America's conscience -- which, in turn, inspires America's greatness. / Later today, I will unveil our fourth National Drug Control Strategy to build on these beginnings. It will say no to drugs. It will also say yes to life. //

To stop drug use will require caring, and community -- above all, abundant love. / Let me tell you a story. Once, a

great First Lady -- Pat Nixon -- toured a medical center and stopped to embrace a little girl blinded by rubella. For a few minutes, she talked to the girl and held her close. Later, someone told her that the child was deaf as well as blind. // Pat answered that she had known that. // "But she knows what love is," Mrs. Nixon said. "She can feel love." //

America's love is conveyed in many ways. In what we oppose: Injustice and tyranny. In what we support: The inalienable rights that include the freedom to think, dream, worship, and, yes, vote as we please. // To preserve our liberty, America once ~~shrew off the yoke of~~ ~~deposed~~ a king / fought a great Civil War / five times this Century sent Americans into major battle. Yet freedom is not ours alone -- so we have exported it as our ideal. Today, we must also export it economically and, above all, spiritually. // If you doubt freedom's victory, look to the Persian Gulf. / Look to the former Soviet Union, where those once enslaved crowd churches and synagogues. / Look to Eastern Europe, where Christmas carols warm the bright winter chill. // It is written: "In the beginning was the Word." Here is the word for 1992: Today, the times are on the side of peace -- because the world, increasingly, is on the side of God. //

George III
continued
to rule
in Britain -- he therefore was not ~~deposed~~ deposed.

This brings me to the ultimate value that sustains America, and the values I have already cited: A belief in prayer --and through prayer, in the One through whom all things are possible. // No country can claim a special place in God's heart. Yet we are better as a people because He has a special place in ours. //

I once asked one of my grandkids how he felt about prayer. He said: "Just try getting through a math test without it." // In Sunday school, children learn that God is everywhere -- but in public school they find that He's absent from class. It's time to end this mockery. // I continue to believe -- as do the overwhelming majority of Americans -- in the right to voluntary school prayer. / I call on the Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment putting the Faith of our Fathers back in our schools. /

The values I have spoken of reminds us of the truth that comes on one's knees. // I believe with all my heart that one cannot be America's President without a belief in God and in prayer. I also believe America will be a better place if the Golden Rule becomes our daily guide. //

The poet Walt Whitman was once asked to name America's true grandeur. He replied, simply: "Its religion. Without that, America is not America." // Let that be our essence as a people -- and our message as a Nation. Thank you for this occasion. God bless this most wondrous land on earth -- the United States of America.

#