MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT
THROUGH: DAVID DEMAREST DD
FROM: CURT SMITH S
SUBJECT: BLUFFSVIEW ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

On Thursday, April 30, at 2:00 p.m. you will deliver brief remarks (5 minutes/cards) to approximately 500 audience members (430 of which are students, the rest are parents and faculty) at the Bluffsview Elementary School in Worthington, Ohio. After observing students busy at various athletic activities, Arnold Schwarzenegger introduces you for remarks. Your speech emphasizes the importance of both physical and academic fitness.

Governor Voinovich. Principal Donna Kelley. Ted Sanders, State Superintendent of Education. Dr. David Asbury. Faculty, administrators, and friends of this school. Leaders of this wonderful community. / Former Mayor Jim Lerimer. / Honored guests, ladies and gentlemen. / Most of all, today's real stars. A special hello to the students of Bluffsvew Elementary School.

It is a joy to be in Worthington to celebrate the start of Physical Fitness Month. And what better person to help salute that event than our favorite Kindergarten Cop / Arnold Schwarzenegger. /

((This is the 50th State Arnold has visited as part of his mission to say "Hasta la vista, baby" to couch potatoes. / I asked him what he says to people to make so many of them start exercising. / He said: "It's easy. I just use those two magic words -- 'or else.'")) //

Today, Arnold is here to help spread the message: Each of us has a stake in improving America's fitness -- and making exercise a part of each American's day. // No matter what your age -- regardless of your condition -- fitness can enhance the quality and longevity of each American's life. // schools. Today, only one state -- Illinois -- requires daily physical education. ^{for students from K to 12 grade. (HHS)} Let's add Ohio to the list. / Let's also get the elderly involved -- here, I have a special interest -- and remember how exercise can be a truly family affair. //

What does fitness
 have to do with competition?
 Competition
 is actually
 what turns
 a lot of people off
 of physical exercise
 or sport.
 (Education)

which is physically +
 mentally alert,
 most of all a
 nation that provides
 opportunity,
 encourages
 participation
 and thrives
 healthy
 in competition.

My friend Woody Hayes -- the patron saint of Ohio -- knew that. He knew how physical fitness could link mothers and daughters, fathers and sons. / Once he put it this way: "Anyone who will tear down sports will tear down America. Sports and religion made America what it is." /

So let's remember what Woody said. Let's keep America physically fit / let's keep her mentally and spiritually fit / so that we are fit to take on the world. / Thank you for your kindness, and the warmth of this welcome. God bless the United States of America.

PROPOSED TELEPHONE CALL TO COLUMBUS SCHOOL

I know you're having a great event -- and I wanted to take this opportunity, even if only by telephone, to take part in the celebration in some way.

Let me just say a few words about why I couldn't join you today. / Last night, as many of you may know from talking to your Moms and Dads, or from seeing it on TV, there was serious violence in Los Angeles. Buildings were burned. People were hurt. Some were killed. It started because people there were angry about a very controversial court decision. What happened was a great tragedy, not just for Los Angeles, but for this country -- and I decided I needed to change my plans, stay at the White House this morning to take some urgent actions before coming to Columbus.

I think we can all understand the anger people in Los Angeles felt -- but we can't stand by and watch the violence. We can't stand by and watch people hurt one another. When something is wrong -- when one person is hurt or harmed -- we cannot use it as a reason to do wrong ourselves. When we give in to that kind of anger -- once we start, there's no place to stop.

Let me make another point: Not everyone was involved in what happened last night. I know that sometimes it may not look that way when we see the reports on television. But many, many people -- far more than took place in the street riots -- overcame their anger, obeyed the law, and refused to be a part of the violence in the streets. There were people who helped some of the victims of violence -- black people who came to the aid of whites. There were fire-fighters -- black, white and Hispanic - - who worked together to do their job, worked all night to put out fires before more innocent people were hurt. There were people who gathered at churches across Los Angeles to pray together -- to help each other understand what was happening.

So when you talk about what happened with your parents or your friends -- think of those people. Maybe you've heard your parents or your teachers say -- in America, there should be no place for discrimination. What they means is this: In America there should be no place for hate -- just because someone is different from you. ///

Again, let me say I am sorry I can't be there with you today. But let me say hello to my good friend, everybody's favorite Kindergarten Cop -- Arnold Schwarzenegger. Congratulations, Arnold, on completing your 50 state tour -- and I look forward to hearing all about your time today at Bluffsvievw when you join me tomorrow at the White House for the Great American Workout.
