PRESIDENTIAL MESSAGE: STATE GOP
Monday, May 18, 1992

Thank you Rich. Greetings from the White House. Let me begin by thanking you all for your dedication and hard work. We're united by what we have in common -- our commitment to family, to jobs, to peace. We want great things for this nation.

Together we've made a great beginning. And I've laid out an aggressive and ambitious agenda for change -- to take us to a new American future. Already, we've sparked a revolution in education through America 2000. Now it's time for parents, not government, to choose where their kids will go to school.

Our quality of health care is the best in the world -- the problem is access. We need to reform health care and make it affordable for everyone.

It's time to reform our legal system -- eliminate frivolous lawsuits that strain our economy and sap our strength. Because if we spend less time suing one another, we'll have more time to help one another.

We need to expand trade, open markets abroad that mean more American jobs at home. The new reality is simply this: to succeed economically at home we have to compete economically abroad.

Finally, we need a new approach -- one built on Republican principles -- to bring hope and opportunity to our inner cities.

Everyone is talking about change this year

~~We change this world by now we can change America a good~~
~~place to start is the Congress.~~ Think of what we'd accomplish with a Republican Senate and House. Majority 2000 is an ambitious goal -- but it's within our reach. We can be the majority party by the year 2000 if we start right now.

We'll see lots of Republican wins this year -- but only with your help. American leadership changed the world. Republican leadership will change America.

Thank you all. Have a great convention.

Our program is a program of change.
Another change we need is a few blocks from here -- the Congress.
