RADIO ACTUALITY TAPING: SUPERCONDUCTING SUPER COLLIDER APPROPRIATIONS

The House vote to kill the Super Collider symbolizes everything that's wrong with the Congress. The vote is a misguided effort to find budget savings at the expense of a vital scientific project that common-sense Americans understand and believe ought to be built. This effort, led by many Democrats in the House who voted against the balanced budget amendment, jeopardizes our position as the scientific leader of the world. That's why I'll pull out all the stops to keep funding the Collider when this issue goes before the Senate.

RADIO ACTUALITY

The House vote to kill the Super Collider symbolizes everything that's wrong with the Congress. The vote is a misguided effort to find budget savings at the expense of a vital scientific project -- the kind of project Americans understand we (need to compete in the next century.) This effort -- led by many Democrats in the House who voted against the balanced budget amendment -- jeopardizes our position as the scientific leader of the world. (You and I know the Super Collider is (about shaping the future.) That's why I'll fight to keep funding the Collider when this issue goes before the Senate.

The House vote to kill the Super Collider symbolizes everything that is wrong with Congress. [I submitted a budget to Congress in January that reduced the deficit but, provided for increased research and development to help keep the foundation of our economy strong. How else can we compete with Europe and Japan. The Congress, lead by Democrats, has started to destroy that foundation in the name of a balanced budget. Many of these same Democrats voted against the balanced budget amendment.] I'm going to pull out all the stops to keep funding the Collider when this issue goes before the Senate.
