

Originally Processed With FOIA(s):

S

FOIA Number:

S

FOIA MARKER

This is not a textual record. This is used as an administrative marker by the George Bush Presidential Library Staff.

Record Group/Collection: George H.W. Bush Presidential Records Collection/Office of Origin: Speechwriting, White House Office of Series: Speech File Draft Files
Subseries: Chron File, 1989-1993

OA/ID Number: 13636
Folder ID Number: 13636-008

Folder Title:
Warsaw Park Luncheon 8/24/92 [OA 5811]

Stack:	Row:	Section:	Shelf:	Position:
G	26	18	4	2

problems and continue to lead in the world. Thank you very much.

Note: The President spoke at 10:05 a.m. in the main automotive shop area. In his remarks, he referred to P.J. Santangelo, Lincoln Technical Institute president and chief executive officer, and Donald T. DiFrancesco, New Jersey State Senate president.

Remarks to the Chamber of Commerce in Ansonia, Connecticut August 24, 1992

The President. Thank you very, very much. Michael, thank you and all the others at the Chamber. Thank you for that introduction. Let me just explain what Michael was talking about. There has been this hurricane down in Florida, and so we leave right from here to go down to Newark, take the plane and head on down to look at that damage and express our concerns to the people there.

But I am just delighted to be here. A warm reception coming into town. I want to thank David Rifkin and especially the Mayor Thomas Hallihan. Let me also mention an old friend and a good man, Gary Franks, who's the Congressman here. I am so indebted to him. And another that you all know so well in this valley, John Rowland, he's a great man, and I want to see him do more. I was touched by the Reverend Father Weiss' invocation. And I want to ask today that we now take a little political look ahead to the fall.

I'll tell you something. I came out of that Houston convention, and the whole spirit around this country is different. I am determined to win this election, and I'm determined to do it fair and square. If I hadn't been fired up when I walked in here, the Company, that great music, would have got it going, I'll tell you. That was fantastic. I don't even know where they are.

But anyway, we're looking ahead to a great classic that takes place this fall. I'm not talking about Ansonia versus Derby—[laughter]—I'm talking about the November 3d contest. That does have a lot to do with the direction of this country and also the new century beyond.

I heard my grandson speak at our convention, and I was so very proud of that young kid. It just reminded me on a very personal basis of what the Reverend Father was talking about and the job that lies ahead of us, to make life better for all.

Now, we have witnessed, as I pointed out down there, a world of change from Managua to Moscow. Millions of men and women now turn towards freedom. They're celebrating a new birth of freedom. I believe people right here in the valley, many of whom came here from other countries, many of whose family came here, understand what I'm talking about when I say this Nation can take pride in the freedom of others. Many right in this room, because of family, not just because of freedom and democracy, because of family, prayed for this day of freedom to come to Eastern Europe, to Russia, to the countries south of our border. We've witnessed this remarkable change, and this miracle has come true.

So now the challenge for this country is to bring that spirit home from Warsaw, Poland, to Warsaw Park and to focus this great Nation on the mission ahead. We have literally changed the world with the help of the taxpayer, Presidents that preceded me, fighting men and women that have served this great country with distinction. We've changed the world, and now we must change America for the better.

Our challenge quite simply is to win the global economic challenge, to win the peace, be a military superpower, an economic superpower, an export superpower. In this election you're going to hear two very different visions of how to do this. Theirs is to turn inward and protect; and ours is to look outward and open new markets and prepare our people to compete, to restore social fabric, to save and invest. When I'm talking about investment, I don't mean more taxpayer money going into Government investment. I mean more private investment, small business investment.

I don't want to get too personal in this wonderful area that I understand has some wonderfully smart Democrats because I need you guys in the fall. But let me say this, and also the new ask at our convenand of that young in a very personal Father was talk-lies ahead of us,

as I pointed out ge from Managua and women now y're celebrating a lieve people right whom came here of whose family hat I'm talking n can take pride any right in this t just because of ecause of family, dom to come to
 to the countries witnessed this re-miracle has come

r this country is om Warsaw, Poo focus this great ad. We have lit-with the help of at preceded me, hat have served stinction. We've we must change

ly is to win the
 to win the peace, an economic su-pperpower. In this ar two very difthis. Theirs is to d ours is to look ets and prepare store social fab-hen I'm talking mean more taxernment invest-investment, small personal in this rstand has some rats because I t let me say this,

that my opponent has spent most of his adult life in government, and that's pretty much, I think, all he knows about. But his idea about creating jobs is to have Government jobs, public payroll jobs. And I come at things a different way. I spent, I computed it the other day, half of my adult life in government service, one kind or another, and half in the private sector. Long before I was in the public sector, I worked for a living out in the oil fields of west Texas, built a company, and did what many here has in small or larger operations, I met a payroll. I took risks, and I made it work. I happen to think having held a job is not a bad qualification even for President of the United States of America.

Look, the world economy is changing, and we've got to be in the lead of that change. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from moving from that brass and copper age in the mills along the Naugatuck to the new corporate headquarters in the industrial parks across the valley. Right now one in every six American manufacturing jobs is tied directly to exports. That doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay mortgages or buy a car or feed the kids.

Since '88, since 1988, three-fifths of the economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what we do best, the products we make right here in America. We are the best manufacturers in the world, and don't let anybody tell you, don't you let that gloomy opposition tell you we can't compete or say that we're a Nation in decline. We are not.

As President, I'm working now to create jobs, new markets, markets in Moscow, markets in Mexico City that mean new American jobs. I am convinced that the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the Government in charge but to use the Government to help you literally go back to work in this country. That's what I want to tell you, how I'm going to do it.

Here are some of what we stand for: open markets for American products. Here's one we have a big difference on: lower Government spending and tax relief, not spend and tax; tax relief and less Federal Government spending. And the other one is opportunities for small business. We've got to do better getting the regulatory burden off the back of these mom-and-pop, these small operators. We're going to keep doing it until we get that job done.

You know my feeling about too many lawsuits in this country. I've been fighting to change that, blocked by this gridlocked Congress. We sue each other too much. We care for each other too little. We've got to break the back of those that are breaking this country with these damn lawsuits.

Audience members. Clean House! Clean House! Clean House!

The President. I'll get to that. New schools—and I know we've got some teachers here, and God bless them. But I'll tell you something. We need new schools to back up these teachers, new ideas. Our whole program, America 2000, is a good program to literally revolutionize how we bring our kids into the next century. It's exciting program. I might say, we've got to win this fight on narcotics. Teenage use of cocaine is down, but we've just begun to fight. We've got to win it, clean out these schoolyards.

You know, a big difference is, a big one, I do believe that they're too big in Government and spend too much. Last week I offered an idea to get the deficit down. We'll give you a special box—I believe that people should have it—a special box on that tax return to check so that up to 10 percent of your income tax can go for one purpose, and that is to reduce the budget deficit. If Congress doesn't like it—all these editorials that you read around here on some of these sophisticated journals don't like it—but the Congress has failed to do it. So let's get the people a chance to check that box, and then we have to live with it.

Then there's something that's very important to the valley that I talked about today in Union, New Jersey, a dramatic new approach to job training: To help young people find that first job, a program we call the Youth Training Corps, to get inner-city kids off the mean streets and get them a second chance to build the skills they need to succeed. For older workers who have lost their job or worry that next pay envelope may have a pink slip, we've developed a new concept called skill grants, vouchers worth $3,000 to be used towards the training program of their choice. Our plan is based on empowering people to get the kind of training they want, not empowering the bureaucracies to hire more people. That is a very different approach than the approach the others are taking toward job training.

The Governor of Arkansas says he's all for free enterprise. Then he proposes right out of the box the largest tax increase in history, much of it on the back of small business. I learned the hard way, holding out my hand to that gridlocked Congress, and they bit it off. Once you make one mistake you don't make it again. I am not going to go forward and go with this program of spending and taxes.

We've literally proposed, and it's before Congress right now, eliminating over 200 programs and 4,000 projects. It's there; it's put down in detail. It's before this gridlocked Congress. We've got to do something about changing the Congress. If we had more people like Gary Franks, we wouldn't have a gridlock problem. But the Congress has been controlled—they have been controlled by the same Party for 38 years. Everything else has changed in the country, not the House of Representatives. Help me change the House. Clean it. Clean the House.

My opponent says he's for fiscal responsibility. He's against a balanced budget amendment. Says he's for a line-item veto; but the gridlocked Congress refuses to give it to the President. I stand for something different. I want to see us cut that Federal spending with the help of a new Congress, get the taxes down so we can get the economy stimulated and let people keep a little more of what they earn. It's a big philosophical difference between the Bush-Quayle ticket on the one hand and Clinton-Gore on the other. Look at it, it is fundamentally different.

Now, in this campaign, we've got to call it as we see it. This year I believe the choice is very clear. We've got two different, fundamentally different approaches. I believe in the Government. You get all this talk: Government, Government, of the Government, by the Government, for the Government. That's not going to get the job done. We are fighting against that because we happen to believe still that the power should flow from the people. So it's of the people, by the people, and for the people. Really, what's at stake here is the future of this country.

We're in choppy waters. I heard the Reverend. I know it. People that are hurting and can't find jobs when they need it. I'll tell you another area we've got a big difference: on the defense spending. I have cut defense, but we're not going to cut into the muscle of the defense. The other side wants to take $60 billion more than Colin Powell and Cheney tell me is the right level. We still have a tough world out there. We must still be strong. While you're thinking about it, we don't needlessly need to throw another million defense workers out of work by cutting back on defense below the levels needed for national security.

Let me just tell you, I wish Barbara Bush were here. This would be great for her morale. This would be great for her spirits.

But I'll tell you something. I want to be serious about this one point. When I drove in here today—and I've been here as some of you know many, many times. My dad was a Senator from this State, and we grew up down the way. Leave out the politics for just a minute. When I came in here this morning, a lot of the people out there were waving. I'm sure they were not for me. They were there because I am privileged to be the President of the United States of America.

But you sense something else out there along the highway. You sense this community feeling and this feeling of family. I want to tell you something. The cynics, the liberal theoreticians, they can ridicule me all they want when I talk about family values. But this one transcends Democrat. It transcends Republican. It gets to the heart of what our community is about. The community has been diminished by the decimation and sometimes the decline of the American family.

I saw it today, that family spirit is still strong. And I just want to pledge to you, I am not going to get off talking about that because we must find ways—whether it's welfare reform, whether it's making the fathers that run away stay there, whether it's helping, as Barbara does, hold someone in the arms to demonstrate the compassion and love we feel for our fellow man—we've got to fir

Adm

ily. I to Ar 5: level
and,
and t Th recep ley,
of Ar

Note Wars ferre
Davi
Chan
John pasto

Whi
Adju
Aug

Th comp ment
ers h empl centu
Th Un ers w sistar

Sk
woul
of pr locate

$1 almo:
voted ment
5 yea ensur adju servic

The 1

Th
the 1

le, by the peo-ally, what's at country.

heard the Rev-are hurting and d it. I'll tell you difference: on ut defense, but e muscle of the ts to take $60 ll and Cheney ill have a tough still be strong.
t it, we don't her million dey cutting back needed for na-

Barbara Bush
at for her mor spirits.

I want to be When I drove here as some
s. My dad was d we grew up politics for just e this morning, were waving.
ne. They were
o be the Presinerica.

else out there his community nily. I want to cs, the liberal le me all they ily values. But
t. It transcends art of what our ommunity has ecimation and American fam-spirit is still edge to you, I ng about that —whether it's aking the fa-e, whether it's d someone in mpassion and an—we've got to find ways to strengthen the American family. It is not demagoguery. It's fundamental to America.

She and I will continue to try to do our level-best to set a level of decency and honor and, hopefully, trust there in the Oval Office and there in the White House.

Thank you very much for this wonderful reception. May God bless the Naugatuck Valley, and may God bless the United States of America.

*Note: The President spoke at 2:05 p.m. in Warsaw Park Hall. In his remarks, he referred to Michael Pacowta, president, and David Rifkin, chairman, Greater Valley
Chamber of Commerce; former Congressman John Rowland; and Father Robert Weiss, pastor, St. Joseph's Church.*

White House Fact Sheet: Worker Adjustment Initiative

August 24, 1992

The President today announced a new, comprehensive $10 billion worker adjustment initiative to assure that American workers have the training and skills they need for employment security today and into the next century.

The President's proposal features:

Universal coverage. All dislocated workers would have access to basic transition assistance and training support.

Skill grants. Vouchers of up to $3,000 would be available to help meet the costs of providing new skills and training for dislocated workers.

$10 billion in Federal funding. The plan almost triples the resources currently devoted to skill training and worker adjustment—to $2 billion a year in each of the next 5 years. This level of funding is sufficient to ensure that workers anticipated to need these adjustment services will have access to those services.

The Problem

Three related developments have created the need for a flexible, adaptable, well-trained, and highly-skilled workforce in the United States.

First, world trade is expanding and promises to continue to expand during the coming decade. The United States has been at the forefront of this effort through the Uruguay round GATT negotiations and the North American free trade agreement. Expanding trade brings with it great opportunities for exports and job creation. But, it also brings with it the need for adjustment as nations concentrate on what they do best.

Second, the pace of technological change has accelerated. Computers and innovations in production technology have sharply increased manufacturing productivity. Technological advances are reducing the need for certain skills and increasing the need for others.

Third, the end of the cold war provides the U.S. with an historic opportunity to re-evaluate and revise its national security requirements. This development inevitably involves redeploying resources, including human resources, from the defense to the civilian economy.

These changes create new opportunities;
they also involve adjustments. Adult workers who lose their jobs need the training and skills that will allow them to adjust and adapt in a dynamic economy, to make the transition to new industries and occupations, and to compete successfully in the global marketplace.

The problem and the challenge is how best to facilitate the development of a dynamic, well-trained workforce that will keep the U.S. globally competitive.

The President's Proposal

In January, the President announced a comprehensive, streamlined Federal job training system that provides "one-stop shopping" for job training services in every community. This structure is designed to meet the Nation's workforce needs into the next century.

Building on this plan, the President proposes to complete the restructuring of Federal job training programs by replacing the current dislocated worker adjustment programs under the Economic Dislocation and Worker Adjustment Assistance (EDWAA)

August 20, 1992

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: DAN MC GROARTY mcg

SUBJECT: ANSONIA, CT. EVENT

On Monday, August 24, you will travel to Ansonia, Connecticut, where you will deliver luncheon remarks at the Warsaw Park Hall. Ansonia is a blue-collar town, with a good number of Polish-Americans.

The remarks focus on the economy, with a short reprise of the job training announcement you make earlier in the day in New Jersey.

The remarks also include a section on defense -- Clinton's promise on the Seawolf, contrasted with his plans to gut defense. Connecticut ranks 8th in the nation in defense contracts.

McGroarty/Bunton
August 20, 1992
1:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

I want to ask you today to look ahead with me to the great contest that takes place this fall. No ... I'm not talking about Ansonia versus Derby at [xxxx] Stadium. I'm talking about the contest on November 3rd -- and the new course we'll set for the next four years and the new century beyond.

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

We all know the number one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world -- you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A.

-- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important -- because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. Interest rates are at 20 year lows. Inventories are down -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. The question to ask yourselves between now and November 3rd is this: Which candidate knows how to keep the economy up on its feet -- and which one would drive it to its knees? //

Two candidates seek your vote for President this year. We have vastly different backgrounds. My opponent has spent most of his years in government. //

My opponent's idea about creating jobs is to put people on the public payroll. There are 144,000 government employees in Arkansas, and 235,000 in private industry. That's the kind of ratio we'd expect to see in the old U.S.S.R. -- not the U.S.A.

//

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the Valley.

Right now, 1 in every 6 American manufacturing jobs are tied directly to trade -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. Since 1988, three-fifths of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets from Mexico City to Moscow that mean new American jobs here in Ansonia and all across America. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

Earlier today in Union, New Jersey, I announced a dramatic new in job training. To help young people find that first job, a program I call Youth Training Corps -- to get at-risk youth off the mean streets, and get them a second chance to build the skills they need to succeed. For older workers who've lost their jobs -- or worry that next pay envelope may contain a pink slip: we've developed a new concept called Skills Grants -- vouchers worth $3000 dollars to be used toward the training program of their choice.

That's our approach to job training: Meaningful work -- not make-work. Real-world help ... for real jobs. //

That's an approach the other side can't match. The other side sees job training as just another reason to raise taxes. We see it as a way to raise self-esteem -- restore productivity and generate economic growth. //

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. Look at every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And they could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

I stand for something different. I propose to cut federal spending -- and with the help of a new Congress, cut federal taxes, so we can get this economy moving again.

My opponent says he agrees with me -- but his actions are different.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old movie, Zelig? The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt?

Now, I think Governor Bill Clinton has seen the movie. Let me give you one good example. Governor Clinton knows Connecticut ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- he didn't mention his plans to put our nation security on the line by carving out another $60 billion dollars in defense cuts, beyond what our military experts deem is responsible.

He didn't tell you those cuts would throw another one million defense-industry employees -- thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare.

He didn't say that. Instead he said he will somehow sink the Navy, but spare the Seawolf. //

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I owe you the straight story.

I went on national TV last week and I admitted I made a mistake by signing the Democrats tax increase. When was the last time you saw a politician admit a mistake?

I came up here to Connecticut and said I don't support a military project that is made here. I won't promise you I can protect your favorite defense project, while telling the rest of America I will gut the defense budget. In this campaign, I will give you straight talk about what's right for America, and let the chips fall where they may.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

Because what is at stake here is our future. We are in choppy waters now, people in Connecticut and other states are uneasy.

But I see the opportunity that global change has brought. I see clear water ahead for America, if we don't go back to the failed policies of the past. I see clear water ahead, if we have the courage to sail for it.

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patron of the past -- but the architect of the future.

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

8/24/92

DATE: _____ ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: _____

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT

SUBJECT: _____ AUGUST 24, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MOORE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
BAKER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MULLINS	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PROVOST	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	ROSS	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
CALIO	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	TUTWILER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	ZOELICK	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	KAUFMAN	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	McGuarty	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
HORNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	_____	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
MCBRIDE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	_____	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

The attached has been forwarded to the President.

RESPONSE:

PHILLIP D. BRADY
 Assistant to the President
 and Staff Secretary
 Ext. 2702

to POTUS
8/21

August 20, 1992

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM:

DAN MC GROARTY dmh

SUBJECT:

ANSONIA, CT. EVENT

On Monday, August 24, you will travel to Ansonia, Connecticut, where you will deliver luncheon remarks at the Warsaw Park Hall. Ansonia is a blue-collar town, with a good number of Polish-Americans.

The remarks focus on the economy, with a short reprise of the job training announcement you make earlier in the day in New Jersey.

The remarks also include a section on defense -- Clinton's promise on the Seawolf, contrasted with his plans to gut defense. Connecticut ranks 8th in the nation in defense contracts.

McGroarty/Bunton
August 20, 1992
1:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

I want to ask you today to look ahead with me to the great contest that takes place this fall. No ... I'm not talking about Ansonia versus Derby at [xxxx] Stadium. I'm talking about the contest on November 3rd -- and the new course we'll set for the next four years and the new century beyond.

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

We all know the number one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world -- you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A.

-- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important - - because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. Interest rates are at 20 year lows. Inventories are down -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. ~~The~~ question to ask yourselves between now and November 3rd is this: ~~which candidate knows how to keep the economy up on its feet -- and which one would drive it to its knees?~~ //

Two candidates seek your vote for President this year: We have vastly different backgrounds. My opponent has spent most of his years in government. //

My opponent's idea about creating jobs is to put people on the public payroll. There are 144,000 government employees in Arkansas, and 235,000 in private industry. That's the kind of ratio we'd expect to see in the old U.S.S.R. -- not the U.S.A.

//

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the Valley.

Right now, 1 in every 6 American manufacturing jobs are tied directly to trade -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. Since 1988, three-fifths of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets from Mexico City to Moscow that mean new American jobs here in Ansonia and all across America. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

Earlier today in Union, New Jersey, I announced a dramatic new in job training. To help young people find that first job, a program I call Youth Training Corps -- to get at-risk youth off the mean streets, and get them a second chance to build the skills they need to succeed. For older workers who've lost their jobs -- or worry that next pay envelope may contain a pink slip: we've developed a new concept called Skills Grants -- vouchers worth $3000 dollars to be used toward the training program of their choice.

That's our approach to job training: Meaningful work -- not make-work. Real-world help ... for real jobs. //

That's an approach the other side can't match. The other side sees job training as just another reason to raise taxes. We see it as a way to raise self-esteem -- restore productivity and generate economic growth. //

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. Look at every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And they could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

I stand for something different. I propose to cut federal spending -- and with the help of a new Congress, cut federal taxes, so we can get this economy moving again.

My opponent says he agrees with me -- but his actions are different.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old movie, Zelig? The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt?

Now, I think Governor Bill Clinton has seen the movie. Let me give you one good example. Governor Clinton knows Connecticut ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- he didn't mention his plans to put our nation security on the line by carving out another $60 billion dollars in defense cuts, beyond what our military experts deem is responsible.

He didn't tell you those cuts would throw another one million defense-industry employees -- thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare.

He didn't say that. Instead he said he will somehow sink the Navy, but spare the Seawolf. //

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I owe you the straight story.

I went on national TV last week and I admitted I made a mistake by signing the Democrats' tax increase. When was the last time you saw a politician admit a mistake?

I came up here to Connecticut and said I don't support a military project that is made here. I won't promise you I can protect your favorite defense project, while telling the rest of America I will gut the defense budget. In this campaign, I will give you straight talk about what's right for America, and let the chips fall where they may.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

Because what is at stake here is our future. We are in choppy waters now, people in Connecticut and other states are uneasy.

But I see the opportunity that global change has brought. I see clear water ahead for America, if we don't go back to the failed policies of the past. I see clear water ahead, if we have the courage to sail for it.

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patron of the past -- but the architect of the future.

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

— MASTER —

345749SS

Document No. _____

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 8/18/92 ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: 2:00PM, WED., AUG. 19

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT

SUBJECT: _____
AUGUST 24, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	HORNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SKINNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCBRIDE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	* MOORE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	* PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	* PROVOST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
* CALIO N/C	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
* DEMAREST N/C	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	YEUTTER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	KAUFMAN	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
* GRAY N/C	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	FINDLAY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
* HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	MCGROARTY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
			BOSKIN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please provide comments on the attached directly to Dan McGroarty, Rm. 122, x2930, with a copy to this office NO LATER THAN 2:00PM, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19. Thank you.

Seawolf section cleared by OMB, NSC.

√ = comments received

RESPONSE:

Called 1:00 ✓ 2:00 ✓

x 4657 Bob Howard.

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

— MASTER —

NOTE → Dorrance will comment to you in Houston (per Maria S.)

2 AUG 18 P3:07

McGroarty/Aarhus
August 18, 1992
12:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

[Local color: Saturday night dance at Warsaw Park....]

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

There are those -- to quote the poet -- who will say that the liberation of humanity, the freedom of man and mind, is nothing but a dream.

And they are right. It is the American Dream.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

That's what November 3rd is all about. This election is about the big issues. About the issues that shape the world -- about the values close to home: I'm talking about family and faith -- about neighborhoods free from crime... about a world free from fear. //

↓
about schools that work, that help educate our children...
(C. Kolb)

But we all know the number-one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world, you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A. -- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important -- because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. [Interest rates are at a 20-year low.]
 Inventories are ~~down~~ ^{low (J.D. Foster, CEA)} -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. The question to ask yourselves between now and November 3rd is this: Which candidate knows how to ~~keep~~ ^{put (J.D. Foster, CEA)} the economy ~~up~~ on its feet -- and which one would drive it to its knees. //

The simple fact is, there is only one candidate for President who has lived a life ~~beyond~~ ^{outside (C. Kolb)} government ... who has known a call above political ambition. Since the day he left law

] bracket
per JD Foster
CEA

see last pg.

~~school, every paycheck Bill Clinton has earned has come out of the taxpayer's pocket. He's put plenty of people on the public payroll -- but he's never created a single job. //~~

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck River -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the valley.

Right now, ^{more than 1 in 6} ~~1 in every 14~~ Americans ^{manufacturing jobs are} ~~works in a job tied~~ ^{per NJ speech} directly to ^{exports} ~~foreign trade~~ -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. [Reference to the Valley's largest export company.*] ^{Since 1988 (NJ speech)} ~~In the past [three] years~~ -- ^{one-half (JD Foster)} ~~more than half~~ of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

We don't need more studies or statistics to prove that free trade is our future. America's real wealth isn't something we dig up from the ground -- it's the sweat and the smarts of the American worker. Yes, the world's coming our way -- but I know: we can play the game. //

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets in ~~the world~~ that mean ^S new American jobs in Ansonia and all across Europe and the Pacific Rim:

* Valley's lgst. is United Technologies (Sikorsky helicopter)

Ahmad al-Sammarnie commented in NJ Speech that we should use 3/5 - which is "more than half". It's your call.

the Valley. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

[[JOB TRAINING REPRISE -- TWO PARAGRAPHS DRAWN FROM FINAL NEW JERSEY LANGUAGE.]]

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. Look at every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And he could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

That's what Bill Clinton says ... now let me tell you what a former Democratic candidate -- more recently, a Connecticut country innkeeper -- says that this year's Democratic ticket is a Trojan Horse. He said, "They're much more liberal underneath -- and ^{will} they'll prove it when they're elected."

That's not me using the "L" word -- that's George McGovern.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old (Woody Allen) movie, Zelig?

↓
delete name
due to public perception (OCA, Counsel, fact-check change

The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt? In a word, Zelig was slick.

Now, I think Bill Clinton has seen the movie. He knows Connecticut ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- did he tell you about his plans to put our national security on the line by carving out ^{nearly} ~~another~~ $60 billion dollars in defense cuts? per NJ Speech

Did he tell you those cuts would throw ^{as many as} ~~another~~ one million defense-industry employees -- ^{possibly} ~~another~~ thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare? per NJ Speech

Or did he just smile, wave goodbye, and get back on the bus?

So there you have it: Bill Clinton will sink the Navy -- but somehow, he'll spare the Seawolf. // I've got a plan in place on defense conversion. * (OCA)

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I owe you the straight story. I stake my claim on a simple philosophy: To lead a great nation ... you must first trust the people you lead.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the

* or, → "It doesn't add up."
(C. Kolb)

government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

I trust parents -- not the government -- to make the important (OCA) decisions that matter in life. //

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's schools: public, private or religious. //

I trust the people -- not the government -- to choose their own health care.

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's child care. // When the other side says, "government knows best" -- I say: Parents know better. Parents know better than some bureaucrat in Washington, D.C. //

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the ^(Counsel) patrons of the past -- but the ^(Counsel) architects of the future.

I intend to spend the last 71 days of this campaign winning a mandate for the first 100 days of the next Congress. Send me a Congress I can work with ... a responsible Congress -- ready to do the will of the American people. Send me a Congress ready to do the will of the American people -- and we will get the job done. //

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

19-AUG-1992 04:17PM

TO: CHRISTINA M. MARTIN
FROM: CAROL B. AARHUS
OFFICE OF COMMUNICATIONS
SUBJECT: SPEECH INSERT/CORRECTION

FAX TO CHRISTINA MARTIN: HOUSTON STAFF OFFICE: 713-688-0173

CHRISTINA -- DAN ASKED ME TO FAX THIS TO YOU.

IN ANY SPEECH WHERE WE TALK ABOUT CLINTON NEVER RECEIEVING A PAYCHECK OTHER THAN FROM THE TAXPAYER'S POCKET -- THAT IS WRONG.

IT IS ALSO INCORRECT TO STATE THAT HE'S NEVER CREATED ANY JOBS.
HE MAY HAVE DONE THAT WHILE HE SERVED ON THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OR WHEN HE WAS WITH A LAW FIRM.

DAVID TELL SUGGESTED WE USE THE FOLLOWING LANGUAGE:

"ONCE BILL CLINTON GOT INTO PUBLIC OFFICE, THE ONLY WAY HE GOT OUT WAS WHEN THE VOTERS KICKED HIM OUT."

CALL WITH ANY QUESTIONS. DAVID TELL IS IN HOUSTON, IN CASE YOU NEED TO SPEAK WITH HIM FURTHER, REGARDING THIS.

McGroarty/Bunton
August 20, 1992
1:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

I want to ask you today to look ahead with me to the great contest that takes place this fall. No ... I'm not talking about that annual football classic -- Ansonia versus Derby. I'm talking about the contest on November 3rd -- and the new course we'll set for the next four years and the new century beyond.

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

The defining challenge of the 1990's is to win the global economic competition -- to win the peace. America must be a military superpower, an economic superpower, and an export superpower.

In this election, you'll hear from candidates with two visions of how to do this -- two backgrounds and philosophies.

Their philosophy is to look inward, and protect what we already have. Ours is to look forward -- to open new markets, create incentives, restore our social fabric and prepare our people to compete, to save and invest -- so we can win.

My opponent has spent most of his adult life in government -
 - that's pretty much all he knows about. His idea about creating → jobs is to put people on the public payroll. There are 144,000 State government employees in Arkansas, and 235,000 in private local industry. That's the kind of ratio we'd expect to see in the old U.S.S.R. -- not the U.S.A. //

I come at things a different way. I've spent half of my life in government -- half in the private sector. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the Valley.

→ Right now, 1 in every 6 American manufacturing jobs are tied directly to ~~trade~~ ^{exports} -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. Since 1988, three-fifths of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets from Mexico City to Moscow that mean new American jobs here in Ansonia and all across America. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

Earlier today in Union, New Jersey, I announced a dramatic new in job training. To help young people find that first job, a program I call Youth Training Corps -- to get inner city kids off the mean streets, and get them a second chance to build the skills they need to succeed. For older workers who've lost their jobs -- or worry that next pay envelope may contain a pink slip: we've developed a new concept called Skills Grants -- vouchers worth $3,000 dollars to be used toward the training program of their choice.

Our plan is based on empowering people to get the training they want -- not empowering bureaucracies to hire more people.//

That's an approach the other side can't match. The other side sees job training as just another reason to raise taxes. //

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to ~~cut~~ eliminate. The honey bee subsidy.

[[And they could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

I stand for something different. I propose to cut federal spending -- and with the help of a new Congress, cut federal taxes, so we can get this economy moving again.

My opponent says he agrees with me -- but his actions are different.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old movie, Zelig? The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt?

Now, I think Governor Bill Clinton has seen the movie. Let me give you one good example. Governor Clinton knows Connecticut ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- he didn't mention his plans to put our nation security on the line by carving out another $60 billion dollars in defense cuts, beyond what our military experts deem is responsible.

He didn't tell you those cuts would throw another one million defense-industry employees -- thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare.

He didn't say that. Instead he said he will somehow sink the Navy, but spare the Seawolf. //

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I will give you the straight story.

I won't promise you I can protect your favorite defense project, while telling the rest of America I will gut the defense budget. In this campaign, I will give you straight talk about what's right for America, and let the chips fall where they may.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

Because what is at stake here is our future. We are in choppy waters now, people in Connecticut and other states are uneasy.

But I see the opportunity that global change has brought. I see clear water ahead for America, if we don't go back to the failed policies of the past. I see clear water ahead, if we have the courage to sail for it.

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patron of the past -- but the architect of the future.

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

6350

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 8/18/92 92 AUG 20 8:23 ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: 2:00PM, WED., AUG. 19SUBJECT: PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT

AUGUST 24, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	HORNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SKINNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCBRIDE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	MOORE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PROVOST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CALIO	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	YEUTTER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	KAUFMAN	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	FINDLAY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	MCGROARTY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
			BOSKIN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please provide comments on the attached directly to Dan McGroarty, Rm. 122, x2930, with a copy to this office NO LATER THAN 2:00PM, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

TO: DANIEL B. MCGROARTY

August 19, 1992

The NSC staff has reviewed the above-referenced matter and has no objection, subject to the comment noted on the attached text.

Brent Scowcroft

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

cc: Phillip D. Brady

12 AUG 18 P3:07

McGroarty/Aarhus
August 18, 1992
12:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

[Local color: Saturday night dance at Warsaw Park....]

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, ~~this change we've worked for~~ is a miracle come true.

There are those -- to quote the poet -- who will say that the liberation of humanity, the freedom of man and mind, is nothing but a dream.

And they are right. It is the American Dream.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

That's what November 3rd is all about. This election is about the big issues. About the issues that shape the world -- about the values close to home: I'm talking about family and faith -- about neighborhoods free from crime ... about a world free from fear. ~~It~~. . . about hope for the future

which poet

But we all know the number-one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world, you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A. -- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important -- because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. Interest rates are at a 20-year low. Inventories are down -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. The question to ask yourselves between now and November 3rd is this: Which candidate knows how to keep the economy up on its feet^{and improve it} -- and which one would drive it to its knees. //

The simple fact is, there is only one candidate for President who has lived a life beyond government ... who has known a call above political ambition. Since the day he left law school, every paycheck Bill Clinton has earned has come out of the taxpayer's pocket. He's put plenty of people on the public payroll -- but he's never created a single job. //

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck River -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the valley.

Right now, 1 in every 14 Americans works in a job tied directly to foreign trade -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. [Reference to the Valley's largest export company.] In the past [three] years -- [more than half] of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

We don't need more studies or statistics to prove that free trade is our future. America's real wealth isn't something we dig up from the ground -- it's the sweat and the smarts of the American worker. Yes, the world's coming our way -- but I know:

we can play the game.

// ?? Not sure what this means

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets in [....] that mean new American jobs in Ansonia and all across the Valley. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

[[JOB TRAINING REPRISE -- TWO PARAGRAPHS DRAWN FROM FINAL NEW JERSEY LANGUAGE.]]

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. Look at every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And he could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

That's what Bill Clinton says ... now let me tell you what a former Democratic candidate -- more recently, a Connecticut country innkeeper -- says that this year's Democratic ticket is a Trojan Horse. He said, "They're much more liberal underneath -- and they'll prove it when they're elected."

That's not me using the "L" word -- that's George McGovern.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old Woody Allen movie, Zelig?

Suggest a different reference in view of recent news.

The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt? In a word, Zelig was slick.

Now, I think Bill Clinton has seen the movie. He knows Connecticut ^{economically} ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- did he tell you about his plans to put our national security on the line by carving out another $60 billion dollars in defense cuts?

Did he tell you those cuts would throw another one million defense-industry employees -- thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare?

Or did he just smile, wave goodbye, and get back on the bus?

So there you have it: Bill Clinton will sink the Navy -- but somehow, he'll spare the Seawolf. //

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I owe you the straight story. I stake my claim on a simple philosophy: To lead a great nation ... you must first trust the people you lead.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

I trust parents -- not the government -- to make the decisions that matter in life. //

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's schools: public, private or religious. //

I trust the people -- not the government -- to choose their own health care.

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's child care. // When the other side says, "government knows best" -- I say: Parents know better. Parents know better than some bureaucrat in Washington, D.C. //

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patrons of the past -- but the architects of the future.

I intend to spend the last 71 days of this campaign winning a mandate for the first 100 days of the next Congress. Send me a Congress I can work with ... a responsible Congress -- ready to do the will of the American people. Send me a Congress ready to do the will of the American people -- and we will get the job done. //

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 8/18/92 ^{32 AUG 20 10:15} ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: 2:00PM, WED., AUG. 19

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT

SUBJECT: _____
AUGUST 24, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	HORNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SKINNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCBRIDE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	MOORE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN 	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PROVOST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CALIO	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	YEUTTER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	KAUFMAN	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	FINDLAY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	MCGROARTY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
			BOSKIN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please provide comments on the attached directly to Dan McGroarty, Rm. 122, x2930, with a copy to this office NO LATER THAN 2:00PM, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

See comment

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

2 AUG 18 P3:07

McGroarty/Aarhus
August 18, 1992
12:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

[Local color: Saturday night dance at Warsaw Park....]

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

There are those -- to quote the poet -- who will say that the liberation of humanity, the freedom of man and mind, is nothing but a dream.

And they are right. It is the American Dream.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

That's what November 3rd is all about. This election is about the big issues. About the issues that shape the world -- about the values close to home: I'm talking about family and faith -- about neighborhoods free from crime ... about a world free from fear. //

But we all know the number-one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world, you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A. -- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important - - because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. Interest rates are at a 20-year low. Inventories are down -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. The question to ask yourselves between now and November 3rd is this: Which candidate knows how to keep the economy up on its feet -- and which one would drive it to its knees. //

The simple fact is, there is only one candidate for President who has lived a life beyond government ... who has known a call above political ambition. Since the day he left law school, every paycheck Bill Clinton has earned has come out of the taxpayer's pocket. He's put plenty of people on the public payroll -- but he's never created a single job. //

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck River -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the valley.

Right now, 1 in every ¹⁵~~14~~ Americans works in a job tied (Al-Ansonia) 5873 directly to foreign trade -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. [Reference to the Valley's largest export company.] Since 1988 In the past [three] years -- three-fifths (Al-Ansonia) 5873 [more than half] of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

We don't need more studies or statistics to prove that free trade is our future. America's real wealth isn't something we dig up from the ground -- it's the sweat and the smarts of the American worker. Yes, the world's coming our way -- but I know: we can play the game. //

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets in [...] that mean new American jobs in Ansonia and all across the Valley. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

[[JOB TRAINING REPRISE -- TWO PARAGRAPHS DRAWN FROM FINAL NEW JERSEY LANGUAGE.]]

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. Look at every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And he could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

That's what Bill Clinton says ... now let me tell you what a former Democratic candidate -- more recently, a Connecticut country innkeeper -- says that this year's Democratic ticket is a Trojan Horse. He said, "They're much more liberal underneath -- and they'll prove it when they're elected."

That's not me using the "L" word -- that's George McGovern.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old Woody Allen movie, Zelig?

— do we want to use his name? Moir 5178

→ a little closer to refer to Woody Allen now Rutman 2044

The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt? In a word, Zelig was slick.

Now, I think Bill Clinton has seen the movie. He knows Connecticut ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- did he tell you about his plans to put our national security on the line by carving out another $60 billion dollars in defense cuts?

Did he tell you those cuts would throw another one million defense-industry employees -- thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare?

Or did he just smile, wave goodbye, and get back on the bus?

So there you have it: Bill Clinton will sink the Navy -- but somehow, he'll spare the Seawolf. //

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I owe you the straight story. I stake my claim on a simple philosophy: To lead a great nation ... you must first trust the people you lead.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

I trust parents -- not the government -- to make the decisions that matter in life. //

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's schools: public, private or religious. //

I trust the people -- not the government -- to choose their own health care.

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's child care. // When the other side says, "government knows best" -- I say: Parents know better. Parents know better than some bureaucrat in Washington, D.C. //

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patrons of the past -- but the architects of the future.

I intend to spend the last 71 days of this campaign winning a mandate for the first 100 days of the next Congress. Send me a Congress I can work with ... a responsible Congress -- ready to do the will of the American people. Send me a Congress ready to do the will of the American people -- and we will get the job done. //

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

J.D. Foster

CEA

92 AUG 19 P2: 35

* p. 2

4th ¶

- Inventories ^{low} ~~down~~

- last sent.

" which candidate knows how to ~~keep~~ ^{put} the up on its feet "

* p. 3

3rd ¶

last sent.

... past 3 3½ years

one half more than half

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 8/18/92 ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY: 4:00PM, WED., AUG. 19

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT

SUBJECT: _____
AUGUST 24, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	HORNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SKINNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCBRIDE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	MOORE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PROVOST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CALIO	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	YEUTTER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	KAUFMAN	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	FINDLAY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	MCGROARTY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
			BOSKIN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please provide comments on the attached directly to Dan McGroarty, Rm. 122, x2930, with a copy to this office NO LATER THAN 2:00PM, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

*Comments from C. Kelly
8/14/92*

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

2 AUG 18 P3:07

McGroarty/Aarhus
August 18, 1992
12:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

[Local color: Saturday night dance at Warsaw Park....]

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

There are those -- to quote the poet -- who will say that the liberation of humanity, the freedom of man and mind, is nothing but a dream.

And they are right. It is the American Dream.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

That's what November 3rd is all about. This election is about the big issues. About the issues that shape the world -- about the values close to home: I'm talking about family and faith -- about neighborhoods free from crime... about a world free from fear. //

about schools that work,
that help educate our children

But we all know the number-one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world, you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A. -- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important - - because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. Interest rates are at a 20-year low. Inventories are down -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. The question to ask yourselves between now and November 3rd is this: Which candidate knows how to keep the economy up on its feet -- and which one would drive it to its knees ^(?) //

The simple fact is, there is only one candidate for President who has lived a life ^{outside} ~~beyond~~ government ... who has known a call above political ambition. Since the day he left law

school, every paycheck Bill Clinton has earned has come out of the taxpayer's pocket. He's put plenty of people on the public payroll -- but he's never created a single job. //

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck River -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the valley.

Right now, 1 in every 14 Americans works in a job tied directly to foreign trade -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. [Reference to the Valley's largest export company.] In the past [three] years -- [more than half] of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

We don't need more studies or statistics to prove that free trade is our future. America's real wealth isn't something we dig up from the ground -- it's the sweat and the smarts of the American worker. Yes, the world's coming our way -- but I know: we can play the game. //

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets in [.....] that mean new American jobs in Ansonia and all across the Valley. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

[[JOB TRAINING REPRISE -- TWO PARAGRAPHS DRAWN FROM FINAL NEW JERSEY LANGUAGE.]]

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. Look at every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And he could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

That's what Bill Clinton says, ... now let me tell you what a former Democratic candidate -- more recently, a Connecticut country innkeeper -- says that this year's Democratic ticket is a Trojan Horse. He said, "They're much more liberal underneath -- and they'll prove it when they're elected."

That's not me using the "L" word -- that's George McGovern.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old Woody Allen movie, Zelig?

The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt? In a word, Zelig was slick.

Now, I think Bill Clinton has seen the movie. He knows Connecticut ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- did he tell you about his plans to put our national security on the line by carving out another $60 billion dollars in defense cuts?

Did he tell you those cuts would throw another one million defense-industry employees -- thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare?

Or did he just smile, wave goodbye, and get back on the bus?

So there you have it: Bill Clinton will sink the Navy -- but somehow, he'll spare the Seawolf. // It doesn't add up.

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I owe you the straight story. I stake my claim on a simple philosophy: To lead a great nation ... you must first trust the people you lead.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

I trust parents -- not the government -- to make the decisions that matter in life. //

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's schools: public, private or religious. //

I trust the people -- not the government -- to choose their own health care.

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's child care. // When the other side says, "government knows best" -- I say: Parents know better. Parents know better than some bureaucrat in Washington, D.C. //

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patrons of the past -- but the architects of the future.

I intend to spend the last 71 days of this campaign winning a mandate for the first 100 days of the next Congress. Send me a Congress I can work with ... a responsible Congress -- ready to do the will of the American people. Send me a Congress ready to do the will of the American people -- and we will get the job done. //

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

12 AUG 19 12:38

August 19, 1992

MEMORANDUM FOR DANIEL B. MCGROARTY

FROM: STEPHEN G. RADEMAKER SR
ASSOCIATE COUNSEL TO THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: Presidential Remarks: Warsaw Park Luncheon,
Ansonia, Connecticut

Pursuant to Phil Brady's request, Counsel's Office has reviewed the above-referenced matter and has no objection, subject to the comments noted on the attached text.

Attachment

cc: Phillip D. Brady

2 AUG 18 P3:07

McGroarty/Aarhus
August 18, 1992
12:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

[Local color: Saturday night dance at Warsaw Park....]

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

There are those -- to quote the poet -- who will say that the liberation of humanity, the freedom of man and mind, is nothing but a dream.

And they are right. It is the American Dream.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

That's what November 3rd is all about. This election is about the big issues. About the issues that shape the world -- about the values close to home: I'm talking about family and faith -- about neighborhoods free from crime ... about a world free from fear. //

But we all know the number-one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world, you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A. -- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important -- because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. Interest rates are at a 20-year low. Inventories are down -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. The question to ask yourselves between now and November 3rd is this: Which candidate knows how to keep the economy up on its feet -- and which one would drive it to its knees. //

The simple fact is, there is only one candidate for President who has lived a life beyond government ... who has known a call above political ambition. Since the day he left law school, every paycheck Bill Clinton has earned has come out of the taxpayer's pocket. He's put plenty of people on the public payroll -- but he's never created a single job. //

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck River -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the valley.

Right now, 1 in every 14 Americans works in a job tied directly to foreign trade -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. [Reference to the Valley's largest export company.] In the past [three] years -- [more than half] of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

We don't need more studies or statistics to prove that free trade is our future. America's real wealth isn't something we dig up from the ground -- it's the sweat and the smarts of the American worker. Yes, the world's coming our way -- but I know: we can play the game. //

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets in [....] that mean new American jobs in Ansonia and all across the Valley. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

[[JOB TRAINING REPRISE -- TWO PARAGRAPHS DRAWN FROM FINAL NEW JERSEY LANGUAGE.]]

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. Look at every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And he could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

That's what Bill Clinton says ... now let me tell you what a former Democratic candidate -- more recently, a Connecticut country innkeeper -- says that this year's Democratic ticket is a Trojan Horse. He said, "They're much more liberal underneath -- and they'll prove it when they're elected."

That's not me using the "L" word -- that's George McGovern.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old Woody Allen movie, Zelig?

Suggest a different reference in view of recent news.

government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

I trust parents -- not the government -- to make the decisions that matter in life. //

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's schools: public, private or religious. //

I trust the people -- not the government -- to choose their own health care.

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's child care. // When the other side says, "government knows best" -- I say: Parents know better. Parents know better than some bureaucrat in Washington, D.C. //

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patrons of the past -- but the architects of the future.

I intend to spend the last 71 days of this campaign winning a mandate for the first 100 days of the next Congress. Send me a Congress I can work with ... a responsible Congress -- ready to do the will of the American people. Send me a Congress ready to do the will of the American people -- and we will get the job done. //

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

WHITE HOUSE STAFFING MEMORANDUM

DATE: 8/18/92

12 AUG 19 8:21
ACTION/CONCURRENCE/COMMENT DUE BY 2:00PM, WED., AUG. 19

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT

SUBJECT: _____
AUGUST 24, 1992

	ACTION	FYI		ACTION	FYI
VICE PRESIDENT	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	HORNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
SKINNER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	MCBRIDE	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
SCOWCROFT	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	MOORE	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DARMAN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PETERSMEYER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BRADY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	PORTER	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
BROMLEY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	PROVOST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
CALIO	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	SMITH	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
DEMAREST	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	YEUTTER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
FITZWATER	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	KAUFMAN	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
GRAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	FINDLAY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
HOLIDAY	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	MCGROARTY	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
			BOSKIN	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

REMARKS:

Please provide comments on the attached directly to Dan McGroarty, Rm. 122, x2930, with a copy to this office NO LATER THAN 2:00PM, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19. Thank you.

RESPONSE:

[Handwritten scribbles]

PAUL KORFOUTA

7 pages

See comments.

PK

PHILLIP D. BRADY
Assistant to the President
and Staff Secretary
Ext. 2702

2 AUG 18 P3:07

McGroarty/Aarhus
 August 18, 1992
 12:30 p.m.
 [CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
 ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
 AUGUST 24, 1992
 7:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

[Local color: Saturday night dance at Warsaw Park....]

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

There are those -- to quote the poet -- who will say that the liberation of humanity, the freedom of man and mind, is nothing but a dream.

And they are right. It is the American Dream.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

That's what November 3rd is all about. This election is about the big issues. About the issues that shape the world -- about the values close to home: I'm talking about family and faith -- about neighborhoods free from crime ... about a world free from fear. //

2

But we all know the number-one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world, you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A. -- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important -- because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. Interest rates are at a 20-year low. Inventories are down -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. The question to ask yourselves between now and November 3rd is this: Which candidate knows how to keep the economy up on its feet -- and which one would drive it to its knees. //

The simple fact is, there is only one candidate for President who has lived a life beyond government ... who has known a call above political ambition. Since the day he left law school, every paycheck Bill Clinton has earned has come out of the taxpayer's pocket. He's put plenty of people on the public payroll -- but he's never created a single job. //

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck River -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the valley.

(WSTR, DOC, TREAS.)
✓

Right now, 1 in every ¹³ Americans works in a job tied directly to foreign trade -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. [Reference to the Valley's largest export company.] In the past [three] years -- [more than half] of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

United Technologies (DOC)

We don't need more studies or statistics to prove that free trade is our future. America's real wealth isn't something we dig up from the ground -- it's the sweat and the smarts of the American worker. Yes, the world's coming our way -- but I know: we can play the game. //

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets in [.....] that mean new American jobs in Ansonia and all across the Valley. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

Canada, UK, France, Japan (DOC)

[[JOB TRAINING REPRISE -- TWO PARAGRAPHS DRAWN FROM FINAL NEW JERSEY LANGUAGE.]]

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. Look at every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And he could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

That's what Bill Clinton says ... now let me tell you what a former Democratic candidate -- more recently, a Connecticut country innkeeper -- says that this year's Democratic ticket is a Trojan Horse. He said, "They're much more liberal underneath -- and they'll prove it when they're elected."

That's not me using the "L" word -- that's George McGovern.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old Woody Allen movie, Zelig?

not good with current publicity

The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt? In a word, Zelig was slick.

Now, I think Bill Clinton has seen the movie. He knows Connecticut ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- did he tell you about his plans to put our national security on the line by carving out another $60 billion dollars in defense cuts?

Did he tell you those cuts would throw another one million defense-industry employees -- thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare?

Or did he just smile, wave goodbye, and get back on the bus?

So there you have it: Bill Clinton will sink the Navy -- but somehow, he'll spare the Seawolf. //

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I owe you the straight story. I stake my claim on a simple philosophy: To lead a great nation ... you must first trust the people you lead.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the

I've got a plan in place on defense conversion -- (See Fact Sheets 5/28 and 7/30)

6

government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

I trust parents -- not the government -- to make the decisions that matter in life. //

important

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's schools: public, private or religious. //

I trust the people -- not the government -- to choose their own health care.

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's child care. // When the other side says, "government knows best" -- I say: Parents know better. Parents know better than some bureaucrat in Washington, D.C. //

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patrons of the past -- but the architects of the future.

I intend to spend the last 71 days of this campaign winning a mandate for the first 100 days of the next Congress. Send me a Congress I can work with ... a responsible Congress -- ready to do the will of the American people. Send me a Congress ready to do the will of the American people -- and we will get the job done. //

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

Phil Brady's office said it was the best they could do.

Staffed for 2pm
8/19

McGroarty/Aarhus
August 18, 1992
12:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

[Local color: Saturday night dance at Warsaw Park....]

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

There are those -- to quote the poet -- who will say that the liberation of humanity, the freedom of man and mind, is nothing but a dream.

And they are right. It is the American Dream.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

That's what November 3rd is all about. This election is about the big issues. About the issues that shape the world -- about the values close to home: I'm talking about family and faith -- about neighborhoods free from crime ... about a world free from fear. //

But we all know the number-one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world, you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A. -- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important -- because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. Interest rates are at a 20-year low. Inventories are down -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. The question to ask yourselves between now and November 3rd is this: Which candidate knows how to keep the economy up on its feet -- and which one would drive it to its knees. //

The simple fact is, there is only one candidate for President who has lived a life beyond government ... who has known a call above political ambition. Since the day he left law school, every paycheck Bill Clinton has earned has come out of the taxpayer's pocket. He's put plenty of people on the public payroll -- but he's never created a single job. //

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck River -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the valley.

Right now, 1 in every 14 Americans works in a job tied directly to foreign trade -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. [Reference to the Valley's largest export company.] In the past [three] years -- [more than half] of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

We don't need more studies or statistics to prove that free trade is our future. America's real wealth isn't something we dig up from the ground -- it's the sweat and the smarts of the American worker. Yes, the world's coming our way -- but I know: we can play the game. //

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets in [....] that mean new American jobs in Ansonia and all across the Valley. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

[[JOB TRAINING REPRISE -- TWO PARAGRAPHS DRAWN FROM FINAL NEW JERSEY LANGUAGE.]]

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. Look at every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And he could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

That's what Bill Clinton says ... now let me tell you what a former Democratic candidate -- more recently, a Connecticut country innkeeper -- says that this year's Democratic ticket is a Trojan Horse. He said, "They're much more liberal underneath -- and they'll prove it when they're elected."

That's not me using the "L" word -- that's George McGovern.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old Woody Allen movie, Zelig?

The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt? In a word, Zelig was slick.

Now, I think Bill Clinton has seen the movie. He knows Connecticut ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- did he tell you about his plans to put our national security on the line by carving out another $60 billion dollars in defense cuts?

Did he tell you those cuts would throw another one million defense-industry employees -- thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare?

Or did he just smile, wave goodbye, and get back on the bus?

So there you have it: Bill Clinton will sink the Navy -- but somehow, he'll spare the Seawolf. //

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I owe you the straight story. I stake my claim on a simple philosophy: To lead a great nation ... you must first trust the people you lead.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

I trust parents -- not the government -- to make the decisions that matter in life. //

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's schools: public, private or religious. //

I trust the people -- not the government -- to choose their own health care.

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's child care. // When the other side says, "government knows best" -- I say: Parents know better. Parents know better than some bureaucrat in Washington, D.C. //

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patrons of the past -- but the architects of the future.

I intend to spend the last 71 days of this campaign winning a mandate for the first 100 days of the next Congress. Send me a Congress I can work with ... a responsible Congress -- ready to do the will of the American people. Send me a Congress ready to do the will of the American people -- and we will get the job done. //

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

McGroarty/Aarhus
August 18, 1992
12:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words.[Acknowledgements.]

[Local color: Saturday night dance at Warsaw Park....]

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

There are those -- to quote the poet -- who will say that the liberation of humanity, the freedom of man and mind, is nothing but a dream.

And they are right. It is the American Dream.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

That's what November 3rd is all about. This election is about the big issues. About the issues that shape the world -- about the values close to home: I'm talking about family and faith -- about neighborhoods free from crime ... about a world free from fear. //

But we all know the number-one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world, you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A. -- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important -- because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. Interest rates are at a 20-year low. Inventories are down -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. The question to ask yourselves between now and November 3rd is this: Which candidate knows how to keep the economy up on its feet -- and which one would drive it to its knees. //

The simple fact is, there is only one candidate for President who has lived a life beyond government ... who has known a call above political ambition. Since the day he left law school, every paycheck Bill Clinton has earned has come out of the taxpayer's pocket. He's put plenty of people on the public payroll -- but he's never created a single job. //

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck River -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the valley.

Right now, 1 in every 14 Americans works in a job tied directly to foreign trade -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. [Reference to the Valley's largest export company.] In the past [three] years -- [more than half] of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

We don't need more studies or statistics to prove that free trade is our future. America's real wealth isn't something we dig up from the ground -- it's the sweat and the smarts of the American worker. Yes, the world's coming our way -- but I know: we can play the game. //

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets in [....] that mean new American jobs in Ansonia and all across the Valley. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

[[JOB TRAINING REPRISE -- TWO PARAGRAPHS DRAWN FROM FINAL NEW JERSEY LANGUAGE.]]

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. Look at every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And he could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

That's what Bill Clinton says ... now let me tell you what a former Democratic candidate -- more recently, a Connecticut country innkeeper -- says that this year's Democratic ticket is a Trojan Horse. He said, "They're much more liberal underneath -- and they'll prove it when they're elected."

That's not me using the "L" word -- that's George McGovern.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old Woody Allen movie, Zelig?

The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt? In a word, Zelig was slick.

Now, I think Bill Clinton has seen the movie. He knows Connecticut ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- did he tell you about his plans to put our national security on the line by carving out another $60 billion dollars in defense cuts?

Did he tell you those cuts would throw another one million defense-industry employees -- thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare?

Or did he just smile, wave goodbye, and get back on the bus?

So there you have it: Bill Clinton will sink the Navy -- but somehow, he'll spare the Seawolf. //

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I owe you the straight story. I stake my claim on a simple philosophy: To lead a great nation ... you must first trust the people you lead.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

I trust parents -- not the government -- to make the decisions that matter in life. //

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's schools: public, private or religious. //

I trust the people -- not the government -- to choose their own health care.

I trust parents -- not the government -- to choose their children's child care. // When the other side says, "government knows best" -- I say: Parents know better. Parents know better than some bureaucrat in Washington, D.C. //

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patrons of the past -- but the architects of the future.

I intend to spend the last 71 days of this campaign winning a mandate for the first 100 days of the next Congress. Send me a Congress I can work with ... a responsible Congress -- ready to do the will of the American people. Send me a Congress ready to do the will of the American people -- and we will get the job done. //

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#

August 20, 1992

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: DAN MC GROARTY dmh

SUBJECT: ANSONIA, CT. EVENT

On Monday, August 24, you will travel to Ansonia, Connecticut, where you will deliver luncheon remarks at the Warsaw Park Hall. Ansonia is a blue-collar town, with a good number of Polish-Americans.

The remarks focus on the economy, with a short reprise of the job training announcement you make earlier in the day in New Jersey.

The remarks also include a section on defense -- Clinton's promise on the Seawolf, contrasted with his plans to gut defense. Connecticut ranks 8th in the nation in defense contracts.

McGroarty/Bunton
August 20, 1992
1:30 p.m.
[CT]

PRESIDENTIAL REMARKS: WARSAW PARK LUNCHEON
ANSONIA, CONNECTICUT
AUGUST 24, 1992
?:00 P.M.??

Thank you, -----, for those kind words. [Acknowledgements.]

I want to ask you today to look ahead with me to the great contest that takes place this fall. No ... I'm not talking about Ansonia versus Derby at [xxxx] Stadium. I'm talking about the contest on November 3rd -- and the new course we'll set for the next four years and the new century beyond.

We've witnessed a world of change. From Managua to Moscow, millions of men and women now celebrate a new birth of freedom. For the people here today -- people who came to America from the Old Country -- who prayed for this day to come, the change we've witnessed, this change we've worked for is a miracle come true.

Today, our challenge is to bring that spirit home -- home from Warsaw, Poland to Warsaw Park. To focus this great nation on the new mission at hand. America has changed the world -- now we will change America. //

We all know the number one worry today is the economy, it's jobs. Just as you can't drive a nail without a hammer, you can't build a dream without a job.

If you want to talk to the most productive workers in the world -- you don't have to brush up on your German, or take a crash course in Japanese. You can start right here in the U.S.A.

-- because the American worker is the most productive worker in the world. //

That simple fact is worth pointing out because it can help us keep our economic problems in perspective. That's important - - because we're hearing an awful lot these days from folks who've got a vested interest in talking this economy down, feeding fears, treating what's temporary as terminal.

You know as well as I do, we want to bring unemployment down. For any worker without a job, the unemployment rate is 100%. But the economy is on the move. Inflation -- the stealth tax that once upon a time in the 70s ravaged your paycheck -- inflation is under control. Interest rates are at 20 year lows. Inventories are down -- a sure sign that production lines will be gearing up to meet new demand. The signs point to recovery. The

But now coming out of the shoot is Arkansas Gov. He has already proposed tax increases, many of which would ~~which candidate knows how to keep the economy up on its feet --~~ hit small business people and he has already proposed massive spending increases. Tax = spend, tax = spend.

NO

Two candidates seek your vote for President this year! We have vastly different backgrounds. My opponent has spent most of his years in government. //

My opponent's idea about creating jobs is to put people on the public payroll. There are 144,000 government employees in Arkansas, and 235,000 in private industry. That's the kind of ratio we'd expect to see in the old U.S.S.R. -- not the U.S.A.

//

I prefer spending control and tax reduction. Vastly diff. approach to economic recovery.

I come at things a different way. Long before I came to public service, ^{I worked in the field then} I built a company ... I met a payroll ... took the risks ... made it work. And I happen to think that's not a bad qualification for being President. //

We know the world economy is changing -- and America must change with it if we want to compete. Think of the economic changes you've seen right here in Ansonia, from the brass and copper age, and the mills along the Naugatuck -- to the new corporate headquarters and industrial parks across the Valley.

Right now, 1 in every 6 American manufacturing jobs are tied directly to trade -- and that doesn't count the economic ripple effect created when those workers pay the mortgage, buy a car or feed their kids. Since 1988, three-fifths of all our economic growth has come from people in other countries buying what's Made in America.

As President, I've worked to create the new American markets from Mexico City to Moscow that mean new American jobs here in Ansonia and all across America. I'm convinced the answer is not to build a wall around our economy, not to put the government in charge -- but to use the government to help you -- literally -- go to work.

Earlier today in Union, New Jersey, I announced a dramatic new in job training. To help young people find that first job, a program I call Youth Training Corps -- to get at-risk youth off the mean streets, and get them a second chance to build the skills they need to succeed. For older workers who've lost their jobs -- or worry that next pay envelope may contain a pink slip: we've developed a new concept called Skills Grants -- vouchers worth $3000 dollars to be used toward the training program of their choice.

That's our approach to job training: Meaningful work -- not make-work. Real-world help ... for real jobs. //

That's an approach the other side can't match. The other side sees job training as just another reason to raise taxes. We see it as a way to raise self-esteem -- restore productivity and generate economic growth. //

You see, it's all part of a larger philosophy. ~~Look at~~ every big issue we face. You'll see a choice -- a choice between those who put their faith in everyday Americans, and those who put their faith in government.

Bill Clinton says he's all for free enterprise -- then he proposes the largest tax hike in history, much of it on the back of small business.

Bill Clinton says he wants smaller government -- but of all the thousands of government programs, he can find only one he's willing to cut: The honey bee subsidy.

[[And they could still get stung on that one.]]

Bill Clinton says he's for fiscal responsibility -- and then he comes out against the Balanced Budget Amendment.

I stand for something different. I propose to cut federal spending -- and with the help of a new Congress, cut federal taxes, so we can get this economy moving again.

My opponent says he agrees with me -- but his actions are different.

There's a temptation some find hard to resist, to be all things to all people. Remember the old movie, Zelig? The one about the guy who could slip on a new personality as easily as he could change his shirt?

Now, I think Governor Bill Clinton has seen the movie. Let me give you one good example. Governor Clinton knows Connecticut ranks 8th of all 50 states in terms of defense contracts. He knew I'd made a tough decision -- a decision, quite frankly, that would cost Connecticut -- to bring down the deficit by cutting two Seawolf submarines. So when Bill Clinton came to town, on the eve of the Connecticut primary, he told citizens of this state exactly what he thought you'd want to hear. He swore to save the Seawolf.

Now, while he was here -- he didn't mention his plans to put our nation security on the line by carving out another $60 billion dollars in defense cuts, beyond what our military experts deem is responsible.

He didn't tell you those cuts would throw another one million defense-industry employees -- thousands from right here in Connecticut -- out of work and onto welfare.

He didn't say that. Instead he said he will somehow sink the Navy, but spare the Seawolf. //

I can't tell you what to think -- but I can tell you what I think. I owe you the straight story.

I went on national TV last week and I admitted I made a mistake by signing the Democrats tax increase. When was the last time you saw a politician admit a mistake?

I came up here to Connecticut and said I don't support a military project that is made here. I won't promise you I can protect your favorite defense project, while telling the rest of America I will gut the defense budget. In this campaign, I will give you straight talk about what's right for America, and let the chips fall where they may.

This year, the choice is clear. It's a choice between two fundamentally different philosophies: Of the government, by the government, for the government" versus "of the people, by the people, for the people."

Because what is at stake here is our future. We are in choppy waters now, people in Connecticut and other states are uneasy.

But I see the opportunity that global change has brought. I see clear water ahead for America, if we don't go back to the failed policies of the past. I see clear water ahead, if we have the courage to sail for it.

What we need now is someone who sees the new horizon -- someone who understands America's place in the world is never to be the patron of the past -- but the architect of the future.

I will take my message to the American people -- and together we will do what's right for America. //

Thank you all for this warm welcome -- and may God bless this great nation, the United States of America.

#