PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: PREMIO ENCUENTRO
TAPED OCTOBER 6, 1992

Tonight you gather to honor a contribution to our society that is long over due: The recognition of Hispanic achievement in the United States.

This special honor -- the "Premio Encuentro"[EN-KWEN-TRO] -- distinguishes five individuals who are leaders, heroes and role models -- Americans worthy of our recognition and emulation.

In this, the quincentennial year of the voyage that linked our two hemispheres -- our two worlds, old and new -- we celebrate the vital Latin culture, shaped even now by that first encounter five centuries ago.

From this historic intermingling of language and culture and belief has emerged the proud heritage of today's Hispanic America.

The five individuals that you honor tonight -- Miriam Colon, Fernando Valenzuela, Cesar Chavez, Fernando Alderete and Celia Cruz -- are the embodiment of Hispanic spirit and culture.

I salute them, one and all -- and I share the excitement for this commemoration, and what it represents to all Americans.

PRESIDENTIAL RECORDED MESSAGE: "GET OUT THE VOTE" MESSAGE

This is President George Bush. Before I make my pitch, there's something I want to say to all who call in on this line: Whether you fought to free Kuwait or helped to wage and win the Cold War without firing a shot, I salute your courage, your sacrifice -- your service to country.

You know our world is changing -- the question is, how will America rise to the challenge? In this election, you hear an awful lot about change. But I ask you to look not just at who is yelling the word change but at the direction of the change. Some want to look inward, pretend we can somehow protect what we already have. Our way is to look forward, to prepare our people to compete / to strengthen our families / to save and invest so we can win the economic competition.

We offer a philosophy that puts faith in the individual, not the bureaucracy; a philosophy that empowers people to do their best, so America can be its best.

Here's what I'm fighting for: Open markets for American products; lower government spending; tax relief; opportunities for small business; legal and health reform; job training; and new schools built on competition, ready for the 21st century.

Above all, I want every American to know that each of you has a stake in this election: America is not number one because its government is great, but because its people are great. Make no mistake: Democracy counts on your vote. Thank you for listening and God bless the United States of America.

SUBJECT: Presidential Video: Premio Encuentro

At your request, the Counsel's office has reviewed the above-referenced matter. Please see comments. I am concerned about the President endorsing these five individuals by name and would recommend deleting any praise of these individuals if that were practical. One is anathema to California business and may upset non-union supporters of the Administration.

- This is the first time these awards have been given -- the inaugural year. Thus, Jaime Escalante has never received one of these awards.
- The President signed a proclamation on Sept. 3 -- marking Sept. 15 thru Oct. 15 as National Hispanic Heritage Month.
- Celia Cruz was with the President at Florida International University. He gave her the following tribute: "May I also salute my fellow honorees: Celia Cruz, 'Queen of the Latin American Music,' 'Doctor of Salsa.' She's captured the soul of a culture in her music. She asked me where Barbara was. I said Barbara is up there trying to get an agent for our rich dog. But I know that if she were here -- she's a great Celia admirer -- she would give here a grande abraso like the rest of us do. Celia, congratulations."

PRESIDENTIAL VIDEO: PREMIO ENCUENTRO
TAPED OCTOBER 6, 1992

Tonight we gather to honor a contribution to our society that is long over due: The recognition of Hispanic achievement in the United States.

This special honor -- the "Premio Encuentro" -- distinguishes five individuals who are leaders, heroes and role models -- Americans worthy of our recognition and emulation.

In this, the quincentennial year of the voyage that linked our two hemispheres -- our two worlds, old and new -- we celebrate the vital Latin culture, shaped even now by that first encounter five centuries ago.

From this historic intermingling of language and culture and belief has emerged the proud heritage of today's Hispanic America.

The five individuals that we honor tonight -- Miriam Colon, Fernando Valenzuela, Cesar Chavez, Fernando Alderete and Celia Cruz -- are the embodiment of Hispanic spirit and culture.

I salute them, one and all -- and I share the excitement for this commemoration, and what it represents to all Americans.

PRESIDENTIAL RECORDED MESSAGE: "GET OUT THE VOTE" MESSAGE

This is President George Bush. Before I make my pitch, there's something I want to say to all who call in on this line: Whether you fought to free Kuwait or helped to wage and win the Cold War without firing a shot, I salute your courage, your sacrifice -- your service to country.

You know our world is changing -- the question is, how will America rise to the challenge? In this election, you hear an awful lot about change. But I ask you to look not just at who is yelling the word change but at the direction of the change. Some want to look inward, pretend we can somehow protect what we already have. Our way is to look forward, to prepare our people to compete / to strengthen our families / to save and invest so we can win the economic competition.

We offer a philosophy that puts faith in the individual, not the bureaucracy; a philosophy that empowers people to do their best, so America can be its best.

Here's what I'm fighting for: Open markets for American products; lower government spending; tax relief; opportunities for small business; legal and health reform; job training; and new schools built on competition, ready for the 21st century.

Above all, I want every American to know that each of you has a stake in this election: America is not number one because its government is great, but because its people are great. Make no mistake: Democracy counts on your vote. Thank you for listening and God bless the United States of America.
