OFFICE OF THE VICE PRESIDENT
WASHINGTON

BRIEFING MEMORANDUM FOR THE VICE PRESIDENT
MEETING WITH REVEREND BUSTER SOARIES
EN ROUTE TO TRENTON, NEW JERSEY

Date: June 15, 1992
Time: TBD
Location: Air Force II en route to Trenton, N.J.
From: Stacie K. Cross SKC

I. PURPOSE

Meet privately with Reverend DeForest (Buster) Soaries for fifteen minutes aboard Air Force II. Opportunity to discuss family values and receive input on how to tap into the black conservative community.

II. BACKGROUND

The Reverend Buster Soaries, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Somerset, New Jersey, focuses on economic rather than civil rights in his church's programs to motivate the black children in his congregation.

Reverend Soaries worked with Jesse Jackson's Operation PUSH organization 1973 until 1976. The experience left him wary of independent civil rights ministers like Jackson and Al Sharpton. He and his wife, Donna have 2 year old twin boys.

New York Times Interview

Just prior to your speech before the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco, Dr. Soaries was interviewed by the New York Times decrying the erosion of family values. He singled out the "Murphy Brown" program as an example of cultural decay. The following are some key quotes in the interview (See attached article too):

"The black family has taken the same blows that the white family has. The American family has been wrestling with a whole generation of people who are raised to believe there are no absolutes, everything is relative and family life is optional."

"Immorality takes on a positive connotation, and we end up wondering why a million teen-age girls get pregnant... [in black communities] it's pronounced because you can see us, because we don't have an economic backdrop that can support single-parent families..."

"When Murphy Brown has a baby, she has a six-figure salary to support that. When a teen-ager has a baby, all she's got is welfare. The pathology appears to be an economic or racial pathology when in fact it is a cultural pathology that cuts across racial and economic lines."

"In black America, if you are considered a leader and if you are willing to say anything that suggests racism is not our no. 1 problem, they start painting you as a conservative. If you are willing to describe the responsibility of black people in public, then you're called a conservative."

New Jersey Q & A: The Rev. Buster Soaries

For Minister, Civil Rights Is Not the Issue

By TOM OKSENFELDT

THE Rev. Buster Soaries, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Somerset, across Route 27 from New Brunswick, sat in his basement office recently and talked about the riots in Los Angeles, his focus on economics rather than civil rights and his church's programs to motivate the black children in his congregation.

Mr. Soaries, a native of Montclair, left Livingston College in Alabama to work with the Rev. Jesse Jackson's Operation PUSH organization from 1973 until 1976. The experience, Mr. Soaries said, left him wary of independent civil rights ministers like Mr. Jackson and Al Sharpton.

Mr. Soaries holds a bachelor's degree in religious studies from Fordham University, a master's in divinity from the Princeton Theological Seminary and a doctorate of ministry from the United Theological Seminary in Dayton, Ohio. He was assistant pastor of the Shiloh Baptist Church in Trenton before becoming pastor at First Baptist 18 months ago.

Mr. Soaries, 40 years old, lives in Lwing Township with his wife, Donna, and their 2 1/2-year-old twin boys, Malcolm and Martin, named after Malcolm X and the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

Q. What should President Bush be doing after the Los Angeles riots?

A. He can use the power and the influence of the office of the President to make the urban situation a national priority, which is what he hasn't done. The tragedy is that after eight years of having been Vice President and four years of having been President, this visit to inner-city Los Angeles was Bush's first visit of his kind. The riots were proven right; it takes a riot for them to get attention.

Q. Do any Administration officials understand the needs of blacks?

A. I think Jack Kemp comes closest to understanding what to do in urban America. He understands the need for government to create a climate that fosters self-help initiatives among low-income people — homeownership initiatives, the tenant homeownership program in public housing, enterprise zones to give businesses tax relief.

Where Kemp is weak, and the Republicans are weak generally, is in the need to invest heavily in education. What we don't want are people who are just working in marginal jobs.

Q. You were active in New Brunswick last summer after a white police officer shot and killed a black youth. What can be done to improve relations between law enforcement and blacks?

A. Everyone wants to talk after this is a shooting. There is a high level of distrust between poor youth, minority youth, and law enforcement. At some point, someone has to take a loud in bridging that gap. When does an attorney general describe that dealing with this situation becomes a part of his job description, only when there is a crisis?

Q. Why are you dissatisfied with civil rights?

A. I think the term "civil rights" today is a misnomer if what you're attempting to describe is the primary problem of black people. Civil rights was an accurate description of people who did not have the right to eat at lunch counters, who did not have the right to go to schools that were exclusively white, and who did not have due process of law. But civil rights is not the right term to use to describe people who are caught in an economy which is shrinking. What we now need is a society that has enough opportunity for people to be able to pursue their dreams equally, and that's not a civil rights issue.

Beyond the ashes, a renewed focus on economics.

Q. Why are you labeled a conservative?

A. In black America if you are considered a leader and if you are willing to say anything that suggests racism is not our No. 1 problem, they start painting you as a conservative. If you are willing to describe the responsibilities of black people in public, then you're called a conservative.

It's not new that black folk will preach to black folk about taking responsibility. What's new is that people like me will say it in public, and that's a cardinal sin in the history of the black struggle.

Q. How do you distinguish your ideas from traditional white Republican ideas?

A. Generic conservatism suggests that market forces can solve all the problems. Give kids a choice, and competition will solve all the educational problems; give the insured a choice, and competition will solve the health insurance problem. Give tenants a choice, and you don't need rent control. The problem is, that discounts realities like greed, racism, violence and untruths. The Government has a role to see to it that the market can function within a context of fairness.

Q. What role does the church have in this?

A. Spiritual growth. In the absence of a moral consensus of right and wrong, civil rights, economic opportunity, housing and jobs are just nonsense, pure talk, folly. We attempt to encourage our people to embrace moral standards, to say that while we will love any baby that is born, there is a moral standard that prefers babies being born to married people.

Q. What are you doing at First Baptist Church to prepare children?

A. All of our children in this church bring their report cards to church. We assume that if we can motivate children to sing in choirs, to study in Sunday school and go on camping trips, we can motivate them to do well in school. We don't believe it is the schools' responsibility to create successful students alone. We think the entire community is responsible for that. I don't think there will ever be enough money in education for schools alone to solve the problems of educating our children.

Q. What happens then?

A. As children bring their report cards to church, we give them little gifts, and we assign them tutors if they have grades below a B. Most of adults don't have to tutor at all; most of our tutors spend time simply showing the child that someone else cares about their grades. They monitor homework and teach them time-management skills. Most of the children just need someone to hold them accountable for spending more time on their homework.

Q. How does this tie into your ideas about civil rights?

A. We believe our children need not wait until racism disappears to achieve excellence. Should I spend my time downtown beating up on the school board based on what they are not doing for our children, or should I spend time with our children challenging them to make the most of what they have?

Q. What was the Economic Development Expo that First Baptist sponsored in New Brunswick recently?

A. That expo was designed to introduce black small-business owners to the general public, to major corporations and public officials who otherwise would not know them. More than 2,000 people showed up on a Thursday at the Hyatt for it.

For instance, we've got a black guy who surveys land, but doesn't have the kind of money to market himself to big companies. So we sold him a little booth for $100 and put up an exhibit and invited all these people to come and see him. We've had phenomenal results.

Q. What has happened to the black family in the last 20 years?

A. The black family has taken the same blows that the white family has. The American family has been wrestling with a whole generation of people who are raised to believe there are no absolutes, everything is relative and family life is optional.

We grew up with a whole set of norms that related to family life — "Father Knows Best," Dick Van Dyke, "I Love Lucy." Then J. R. Ewing became the new star, which was quite devastating when you think about it. Larry Hagman was able to command the highest salary of any TV personality of his time, and what did he represent? Corrupt deals, sleep with your secretary, no family loyalty whatsoever. That became the psyche of America.

Q. What results have you seen?

A. Immorality takes on a positive connotation, and we end up wondering why a million teen-age girls get pregnant. And in the black community it's pronounced because you can see us, because we don't have an economic backdrop that can support single-parent families, and because America is predisposed to looking at what's wrong with someone else.

When Murphy Brown has a baby, she has a six-figure salary to support that. When a teen-ager has a baby, all she's got is welfare. The pathology appears to be an economic or racial pathology when in fact it is a cultural pathology that cuts across racial and economic lines.

Q. How does being the pastor of a local church distinguish you from freelance black ministers like Jesse Jackson and Al Sharpton?

A. The accountability. Two weeks ago we buried a 29-year-old woman who died of an overdose of drugs. If I was just Buster Soaries, the family could have called me to come preach the eulogy just as a personal appearance for me. But I'm not just Buster Soaries; I'm pastor of First Baptist Church, which means that I've got to deal with the pain of that family, I've got to deal with the embarrassment of that family. I've got to deal with the fact that there are other families within the church that didn't know they had family members on drugs.

Q. How does that accountability work in a practical matter?

A. These folks in the church vote on my salary; they decide how much money I have to spend on books, how many weeks I can go on vacation. That's the kind of accountability Jesse never had, Alfred's never had. That doesn't make me better than them; it just means I have a different reality.

POLICE ATHLETIC LEAGUE ROUNDTABLE/BASKETBALL GAME
HEMPSTEAD, NEW YORK

DATE: June 10, 1992
LOCATION: Kennedy Park Gymnasium
Hempstead, New York
TIME: 4:20 p.m.
FROM: Ann DeCain AD

I) PURPOSE

Meet with a group of children, parents, police officers and public officials involved with the Hempstead Village Police Athletic League to hear about how the program has helped police/community relations and helped steer young people in the right direction.

II) BACKGROUND

Mayor James Garner and Chief of Police James Russo started the Village of Hempstead's Police Athletic League (PAL) in February 1990. The Mayor had promised to form a PAL during his election campaign. Hempstead is the only village in Nassau county with a PAL -- there is also a countywide PAL.

Detective Al Balsamo, the Executive Director of the program, organized the Hempstead PAL after 16 years as a beat cop on the Village police force. He was voted "Public Servant of the Year" by the local Chamber of Commerce this year and also just started the town's DARE program.

The Hempstead PAL has attracted 1200 children to participate, nearly 90% of whom are from a minority group. Blacks are the biggest group, but nearly 15% are Latino or Asian. About 30 parents are involved as coaches, as are about 10 police officers.

The PAL offers baseball, flag football, lacrosse, basketball (year round), judo, karate, cheerleading and step dancing. Programs are available 52 weeks a year, and they usually meet in the evening. The PAL also offers trips to Met and Yankee games and to concerts at Jones Beach.

The program is considered a big success in Hempstead. Juvenile crime is down, in part, the police believe, because of the PAL. Friction between Blacks and Latinos also seems to be down, and there has been no gang activity in Hempstead.

It has become a rallying point for the community, getting kids, parents and police officers together. In the recent fundraising drive, several local businesses cited the PAL as one reason there were no disturbances in Hempstead after the Rodney King verdict.

The PAL is supported solely by private donations, primarily from local businesses, but the Hempstead Police Benevolent Association is one of the biggest donors.

BRIEFING MEMORANDUM FOR THE VICE PRESIDENT

FROM: DAVE JUDAY DJ
SUBJECT: BACKGROUND MATERIAL FOR NEW YORK

o The unemployment rate for March in the state of New York is 8.5 percent; for Nassau-Suffolk it is 6.9 percent; in New Jersey it is 7.6 percent. The national unemployment rate for April is 7.2 percent.

STATE/LOCAL ISSUES

o Under Governor Cuomo, the state of New York has experienced at least $2 billion in taxes in the last two years.

o Per capita government spending in New York is 47 times greater than the national average.

FEDERAL ISSUES

o EPA has recently proposed changes to the New York City nonattainment area under the Clean Air Act to include several suburban counties. Last year, New York was the first Northeastern state to adopt a California-like package of auto emission control regulations that is more stringent than the federal requirements.

o New Yorkers average five-to-six pounds of solid waste per person, compared to a 4 pound national average. That represents 8,000,000 millions tons of garbage per year in the City. On March 30, Mayor Dinkins announced plans to triple the amount of waste that is incinerated and triple the amount that is recycled. This announcement foresees the construction of an incinerator in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. There is considerable community opposition to this project. EPA has issued a permit for the construction of this incinerator.

o On September 10, 1991, the Inspector General's office published a report entitled "Management and Disposal of National Wildlife System Real Property, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service." This report recommended that the Service properly dispose of real properties determined to be excess. Six national wildlife refuges and one wildlife management area on Long Island were identified in the report as being underutilized. These were: Elizabeth Morton NWR, Conscience Point NWR, Oyster Bay NWR, Target Rock NWR, Seartuck NWR, Amagansett NWR, and Lido Beach WMA.

Since publication of the report, Service officials have visited the refuges in question. All were determined to be valuable to the Service's public use program. They will continue to be managed for both their wildlife resource values and public use benefits.

REFORM AGENDA STATE FACTS

DRUGS AND CRIME: New York City has about 555,000 drug abusers; at present there are about 44,000 slots for treatment programs. City health officials estimate the 10 percent of the babies born in 1992 will be born to drug addicted mothers.

o Since 1989 (when President Bush began the Office of National Drug Control Policy) federal drug grants to New York have more than doubled from $53.7 million to $108.1 million project for 1992.

EDUCATION: There is no statewide school choice plan in New York, nor is there any major legislation pending.

CJR: Prospects for civil justice reform are dim; last year a product liability reform measure passed the Republican-controlled State Senate, but died in the Democrat-controlled Assembly.

NEW YORK JTPA: 31 SDA's; State Job Training Coordinating Council Chairwoman is Jewell Jackson. The Nassua County PIC Chairman is Marvin Zuckerman. Total funds for this program year -- $190,480,855; 104,871 participants were served last year.

o On April 12, 1992, a $350,000 Department of Labor grant was awarded to the Council of Jewish Organizations of Boro Park for a pilot project designed to enhance the effectiveness of employment and training programs under JTPA.

EXPORT FACTS: New York ranks third among the 50 states and DC in total value of exports by selling products to 193 markets; Canada is New York's biggest customer, followed by Japan and the U.K. Exports to Mexico grew by more than 56 percent since 1987 ranking Mexico as New York's eighth largest customer. About 391,700 workers in the State of New York are employed by exports; in New York City, about 158,600 workers are employed by exports.

WETLANDS: The Fish and Wildlife Service is working cooperatively with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, and private landowners to restore and enhance wetlands in upstate New York.

A Service biologist, stationed in Canton, New York, is coordinating the wetland restoration program. Since 1989 1,886 acres of wetland habitat have been restored on private lands and 850 acres are scheduled for restoration work in 1992. In addition, another 350 landowners are on line for future restorations once funding becomes available. The wetland values that will accrue from this effort will benefit flood protection, increase water quality, provide fish and wildlife habitat, and provide for increased education and recreational opportunities.

POLICE ATHLETIC LEAGUE ROUNDTABLE/BASKETBALL GAME
HEMPSTEAD, NEW YORK

DATE: June 10, 1992
LOCATION: Kennedy Park Gymnasium
Hempstead, New York
TIME: 4:20 p.m.
FROM: Ann DeCain AD

I) PURPOSE

Meet with a group of children, parents, police officers and public officials involved with the Hempstead Village Police Athletic League to hear about how the program has helped police/community relations and helped steer young people in the right direction.

II) BACKGROUND

Mayor James Garner and Chief of Police James Russo started the Village of Hempstead's Police Athletic League (PAL) in February 1990. The Mayor had promised to form a PAL during his election campaign. Hempstead is the only village in Nassau county with a PAL -- there is also a countywide PAL.

Detective Al Balsamo, the Executive Director of the program, organized the Hempstead PAL after 16 years as a beat cop on the Village police force. He was voted "Public Servant of the Year" by the local Chamber of Commerce this year and also just started the town's DARE program.

The Hempstead PAL has attracted 1200 children to participate, nearly 90% of whom are from a minority group. Blacks are the biggest group, but nearly 15% are Latino or Asian. About 30 parents are involved as coaches, as are about 10 police officers.

The PAL offers baseball, flag football, lacrosse, basketball (year round), judo, karate, cheerleading and step dancing. Programs are available 52 weeks a year, and they usually meet in the evening. The PAL also offers trips to Met and Yankee games and to concerts at Jones Beach.

The program is considered a big success in Hempstead. Juvenile crime is down, in part, the police believe, because of the PAL. Friction between Blacks and Latinos also seems to be down, and there has been no gang activity in Hempstead.

It has become a rallying point for the community, getting kids, parents and police officers together. In the recent fundraising drive, several local businesses cited the PAL as one reason there were no disturbances in Hempstead after the Rodney King verdict.

The PAL is supported solely by private donations, primarily from local businesses, but the Hempstead Police Benevolent Association is one of the biggest donors.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE VICE PRESIDENT

FROM: ZELDA J. NOVAK ZJ
SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE VICE PRESIDENT FOR POLITICAL AFFAIRS

BARBARA J. SCHLEIBAUM
SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE VICE PRESIDENT FOR POLITICAL AFFAIRS

SUBJECT: NASSAU COUNTY 6TH ANNUAL SPRING RECEPTION AND DINNER

Date of Event: Wednesday, June 10, 1992
Location: Hofstra University
Hempstead, New York
Time: 6:05 p.m.

I. Purpose

To participate in a fundraising reception and dinner for the Nassau County Republican Party. You will participate in a photo opportunity/receiving line in which you will make brief remarks (160-200 people for 100 photos @ $250 per person). You will then participate in a mix and mingle and make brief remarks to elected officials, dais guests and their families (250 people). Following this, you will then address the general reception (2,000 @ $250 per person).

II. Background

Nassau County Republican Party Chairman Joe Mondello will host the event. Mondello was elected National Committeeman at the New York Republican Party State Convention on May 31. He will replace Richard Rosenbaum, and will officially assume the office in August following the Republican National Convention. Mondello also serves as the Hempstead Town Presiding Supervisor, the highest elected office in Hempstead, New York. During his tenure as Chairman, Mondello has brought the party out of debt, and made it an effective fundraising organization. His complete biography is attached.

Note: You met Mondello at a luncheon for Congressmen Norman Lent (R-4) and Raymond McGrath (R-5) on March 6, 1990 at the Coral House Restaurant in Baldwin, New York. Lent, McGrath, and RNC Chairman Rich Bond will travel to New York with you on Air Force II.

NASSAU COUNTY GOP BACKGROUND:

Located in Long Island, New York, Nassau County rivals Suffolk County as the most Republican County in New York State. Registration in the county is currently 3 to 2 Republican. Nassau County voted for the Bush/Quayle ticket in 1988 by a 57% to 42% margin.

Nassau County has been largely Republican since its surge in development began in the 1960's and 70's, when Nassau County's population growth changed the county from a rural to suburban region. According to GOP insiders, the Nassau County Republican Party has been such an effective political force that comparisons have been made to the Chicago political machine.

Well known Republicans from Nassau County include Senator Al D'Amato, New York State Senate Majority Leader Ralph Marino, RNC Chairman Rich Bond, and New York State GOP Chairman Bill Powers.

Nassau County is represented in the U.S. Congress by Republican Congressman Norman Lent (R-4) and Raymond McGrath (R-5). Both will be in attendance. Part of Rep. Robert Mrazek's (D-3) congressional district is located in Nassau County.

All five State Senators from Nassau County are Republican, and 7 out of 11 State Assemblymen are Republican. The entire Senate and Assembly delegation is expected to attend the event.

While the Nassau County Executive Tom Gulotta is Republican, and all of the county's major elected offices are represented by Republicans, the party has suffered some recent losses at the municipal level. Nassau County includes the towns of Hempstead, North Hempstead, and Oyster Bay. In North Hempstead, a Democrat Presiding Supervisor was elected in 1989, and the town's Board of Supervisors went Democrat in 1991. In Oyster Bay, a Democrat Presiding Supervisor was elected in 1991, but the Board remains Republican. The town of Hempstead remains Republican. It is the goal of the party to re-elect Republicans at all levels of government.

According to the Nassau County GOP, since a large sector of the County's population relies on the aerospace industry and is employed by Grumman Aerospace, the event's attendees are sensitive to remarks made about cuts in military spending.

NEW YORK BUSH/QUAYLE '92:

The Republican Presidential primary in New York was scheduled for April 7. The petition filing deadline was February 6. Pat Buchanan did not submit the required number of petition names of registered Republicans to qualify a delegate slate in any of the 34 Congressional districts. This eliminated the need for the April 7 primary and has committed all 100 state delegates to Bush/Quayle. State GOP Chairman Bill Powers is being credited with this "upset" of Buchanan. Powers moved the primary date from June to April 1 and moved the filing date to February 6 to prevent Buchanan from making it onto the ballot. While all of Powers' actions were legal, the developments have caused controversy and the call for New York election law reform.

The New York Bush/Quayle campaign is being chaired by H. Douglas Barclay, CEO of Hicock and Barclay. He will not be in attendance. The Finance Chairman is Jack Hennessy of 1st Boston Corporation. Hennessy and his wife Margarita will attend the event.

H. Ross Perot's campaign is opening an office in New York city, the first campaign office outside of Dallas, Texas. According to the New York Times (4/28), Perot workers will "deal with the intricacies of the NY ballot law -- long considered the most arcane and difficult in the nation for insurgents to overcome."

The Bush/Quayle campaign is hopeful that the Liberal Party will endorse Perot's candidacy. This could split the vote, and ensure victory for the Bush/Quayle ticket.

The Bush/Quayle ticket lost New York to Dukakis/Bentsen in 1988 by a 49 - 51 percent margin. New York has 33 electoral votes.

The Democrat primary was held on April 7. The results were as follows:

Clinton	41%
Tsongas	29%
Brown	26%

NEW YORK POLITICAL BRIEFING:

State Party Status:

Bill Powers, Chairman of the New York Republican State Committee, will not be in attendance. He is attending a GOP event in Queens County. Powers was elected in January of 1991 after the resignation of Pat Barrett. He is a former top aide to U.S. Senator Alfonse D'Amato and the chairman of the Rensselaer County Republican Committee. In addition, Powers was a consultant to the New York State Senate Republican Campaign Committee.

According to the WH, Powers recently was able to have the New York Republican leadership agree to a "no new taxes" pledge. The State Party was approximately $1.3 million in debt at the beginning of 1991. Powers has reduced the debt to less than $300,000.

Senate '92:

In 1992 Senator Alfonse D'Amato (an early Dole supporter) will face a tough bid for a third term. He is viewed as vulnerable as a result of a 20-month investigation into his dealings with HUD contracts. D'Amato was cleared of the allegations of misconduct by the Senate Ethics Committee. However, D'Amato's brother was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of fraudulently billing a defense contractor. D'Amato received the party's designation at the State Convention on May 31, 1992.

Former Vice Presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro is a candidate for the Senate seat. Recent polls show that she retains good name identification and high approval ratings. However, one third of those polled say they have an unfavorable view of Ferraro.

Four-term Attorney General Robert Abrams is also a candidate for D'Amato's seat. Abrams spent $2 million in his 1990 AG race. Abrams faces criticism for his statement that he "did not have enough information" to decide whether he supported U.S. intervention in the Gulf conflict.

New York Comptroller Liz Holtzman has also entered the race for the Democrat nomination to the U.S. Senate. In an effort to galvanize female voters, she has made sexual harassment and the Thomas hearings a campaign issue.

Reverend Al Sharpton, a controversial civil rights activist, has also entered the Democrat primary. The Democrat State Party recently drew fire for allowing Sharpton to participate in a candidate forum. Sharpton is facing felony tax evasion charges and has consistently exacerbated racial tensions in the state. GOP State Chairman Bill Powers has referred to Sharpton as "New York's own David Duke."

Congressman Bob Mrazek (D-3) withdrew from the Senate race on April 9, following the disclosure that he wrote 972 bad checks from the House bank, maintaining a negative balance in his account for more than 23 months. He held a fundraising advantage over the other Democrat candidates, and was the favorite of the Western New York regional convention in January. According to the RNC, Mrazek has initially agreed to release his banking records, but reneged on that promise and instead released a report from his attorneys stating that his overdrafts were nothing more than salary advances. Mrazek is not expected to run for a Congressional seat.

According to the New York Post (4/27), key Democrat insiders say Abrams and Ferraro are now "running neck and neck to be the state Democrat Party's officially designated candidate. Mrazek's upstate New York support now appears to be going to Ferraro, according to party insiders. New York's Liberal Party has endorsed Abrams's candidacy. Democrats fear that a likely scenario will be that Abrams will lose the Democrat primary, but still run on the Liberal line, guaranteeing a split vote that could assure D'Amato's re-election. In 1980, when NYC Comptroller Liz Holtzman (D) won the Democrat primary and D'Amato beat then-Senator Jacob Javitz (R) in the Republican primary, Javitz ran on the Liberal line in November, drawing enough votes from Holtzman to let D'Amato win by a 45%-44% margin.

A poll conducted March 27-29, 1992 showed Ferraro leading the Democrats with Abrams in second:

Ferraro	37%
Abrams	30%
Holtzman	14%
Sharpton	3%
Mrazek	2%

In head-to-head matchups, D'Amato trails Abrams and Ferraro:

D'Amato	34%	D'Amato	39%	D'Amato	40%
Abrams	45%	Ferraro	46%	Holtzman	37%

Congressional Reapportionment:

New York will to lose 3 Congressional seats.

After missing several self-imposed deadlines in five weeks, legislative officials at an impasse over how to draw the new Congressional districts sent a Senate Republican map and a Democrat Assembly map to the courts.

The Senate Republican plan would do the following:

- 1) Leave all Republican incumbents safe.
- 2) Put three pairs of Democrats together:
 - Rep. Gary Ackerman (D-7) and Rep. Tom Manton (D-9)
 - Rep. Eliot Engel (D-19) and Rep. Nita Lowey (D-20)
 - Rep. John LaFalce (D-32) and Rep. Louise Slaughter (D-30)
- 3) Do away with Rep. Bob Mrazek's (D-3) district.
- 4) Creates two Hispanic district.

The Democrat Assembly plan would do the following:

- 1) Pit Rep. Bill Green (D-15) and Rep. Ted Weiss (D-17) against each other.
- 2) Pit Rep. Bill Paxon (R-31) and Rep. John LaFalce (D-32) against each other.
- 3) Pit Rep. Norman Lent (R-4) and Rep. Raymond McGrath (R-5) against each other.
- 4) Do away with Rep. Bob Mrazek's (D-3) district.

Legislative Redistricting:

The Legislature is expected to vote on a final plan on June 9. The current makeup of the State Senate and Assembly is as follows:

State Senate 35R
 26D

State Assembly 55R
 95D

NOTE: This event will take place in Rep. Raymond McGrath's (R-5) congressional district. Republican Joe Mondello serves as the Hempstead Town Presiding Supervisor.

JOSEPH N. MONDELLO
PRESIDING SUPERVISOR
TOWN OF HEMPSTEAD

BIOGRAPHY

Joseph N. Mondello was re-elected Hempstead Town Presiding Supervisor in November 1991, by a margin of 27,730 votes. He has served in that position since January 1987, when he was selected by the Hempstead Town Board to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Thomas S. Gulotta to the Office of Nassau County Executive. Mr. Mondello was first elected Presiding Supervisor in November 1987, receiving 69 per cent of all the votes cast. He was overwhelmingly re-elected in November, 1989. A veteran member of town government, Mondello joined the board as a councilman in January 1979, and was returned to office by wide electoral margins in November 1979 and November 1983.

As Presiding Supervisor of the Town of Hempstead, the largest Town in America -- with a population larger than 11 states -- Supervisor Mondello serves more than 738,000 residents in an area that stretches from Inwood to Seaford, and from the Atlantic shores north to Garden City.

A dean's list student at Hofstra College, Mondello earned his Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1962. After graduating, Mondello worked as a teacher in the East Meadow school system and later became a probation officer in Nassau County.

His activities as a probation officer spurred him to return to the study of law, and in 1966, Mondello entered The New England School of Law. Mondello distinguished himself during his tenure in law school; he was named to law review after his first semester (an honor rarely accorded a freshman law student) and continued to serve on law review during his entire law school career. In addition, Mondello received the New England School of Law's American Jurisprudence Award, one of the school's highest academic honors.

In 1969, Supervisor Mondello graduated from law school and passed the bar examination. He then helped found the Levittown based law firm of Flaum, Imbarrato and Mondello.

Supervisor Mondello utilized his legal skills as counsel to the New York State Legislature, serving the New York State Senate Majority and the New York State Assembly Majority and Minority, the State Committee on Labor, and as a former Assistant District Attorney serving in the Complaint, Felony and Trial Bureaus. He also served as a Special Agent in the U.S. Office of Naval Intelligence.

He ran and was elected to the proposed Nassau County Legislature in 1975 but, due to the fact that the electorate failed to approve a referendum setting up a legislative form of government in the County, he never served in that capacity.

Mondello said early in his life that he was determined to make public service his goal. He said, "Helping people has always given me great satisfaction. There's nothing so special as knowing you've been there when it counted."

Locally, Mondello is active in many civic and fraternal organizations. He's a member of the Nassau County Bar Association, the former District Attorney's Association, the Nassau Lawyer's Association, the Columbia Lawyers Guild, the Criminal Justice Coordinating Council of Nassau County, New York State District Attorney's Association, and Criminal Bar Association.

He is a charter member and former orator and member of the Board of Directors, Sons of Italy, Marco Polo Lodge; Ushers Society of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church; Epsilon Sigma Fraternity of Hofstra University; Ancient Order of Hibernians; Knights of Columbus, Holy Innocents Council; the Knights of the Holy Sepulcher; Long Island Area Development Association; the Levittown Chamber of Commerce and the Uniondale Hispanic Association.

He is a member of the Nassau County Criminal Justice Coordinating Council, the Kiwanis and Lions Clubs and the Massapequa Park Post of the American Veterans. He also served as Levittown District Chairman of the Boy Scouts of America and a coordinator of Catholic Charities.

His military record includes service in the Air National Guard as an airman from 1955 to 1956, United States Army as a Corporal in the infantry from 1956 to 1958, and he presently serves as a Brigadier General in the New York Guard. He is currently a member of the Reserve Officers Association.

Presiding Supervisor Mondello has received a host of awards and recognitions from various civic, professional and fraternal organizations, including: The Good Scout Award for Community Service from the Nassau County Council of the Boy Scouts of America; the Law Enforcement Man of the Year Award from the Detective's Association of the Nassau County Police Department; Certificate of Merit from the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States; the Youth Service Award of the Levittown Athletic Club; Community Service Recognition from the Marco Polo Lodge of the Order Sons of Italy; Merit Award from the Hispanic Committee of Nassau County; Citation of Merit from the Grand Lodge of the State of New York, Order Sons of Italy; Certificate of Achievement from the American Committee on Italian Migration; the Frank A. Gulotta Criminal Justice Award; Certificate of Merit from the Adjunct Faculty Association of Nassau Community College; and a commendation from the Board of Directors of the Levittown Soccer Club.

During his educational career, Presiding Supervisor Mondello was recognized for outstanding academic achievement by being named to the Hofstra University Dean's List. While attending Law School, he received the Moot Court Award, the American Jurisprudence Award in Criminal Law and he was named Law Review Staff Editor at the New England School of Law.

In addition, Mondello was elected Chairman of both the Nassau County and Town of Hempstead Republican Committees in 1983. In May 1992, Mr. Mondello was elected to a four year term as New York State's Republican National Committeeman.

Born in Brooklyn in 1938, Mondello is married to the former Linda Elizabeth Crabtree. They have three children, Joseph, Elizabeth and Lisa. They have lived in Levittown for the past 24 years.

NEW DECEPTIVE MAIL LAW PROTECTS SENIORS

In 1990, Congress passed and the President signed into law the Deceptive Mailings Practices Act (Public Law 101-524). This legislation, which I vigorously supported, was a direct response to a marked increase in unwanted junk mail solicitations targeting senior citizens. Now, with this new law on the books for slightly more than one year, I can report that it is proving to be a notable success. It has provided the U.S. Postal Service with a number of very useful tools to alert and protect those in our society who are the most vulnerable to deceptive, but highly sophisticated, mail solicitations.

Under the provisions of the Deceptive Mailings Practices Act, mailings from non-government organizations which appear to be connected with the Federal government because of their name or insignia are required to display a specific disclaimer in a specific place both on the envelope and its contents. Without a clear and unequivocal disclaimer, the Postal Service may declare a mass mailing "unmailable" and take immediate steps to give it the fate that junk mail truly deserves.

Before the junk mail bill was enacted, seniors were swamped with misleading solicitations often discussing Social Security and Medicare benefits. These mailings were carefully designed to imply that they were from Uncle Sam himself or an organization that had some connection with or endorsement from the Federal government. The most deplorable solicitations carried official-looking seals and warned of severe consequences if not answered promptly. While most Americans simply threw this kind of junk away, a great many seniors felt compelled to respond.

Congress's decision to strengthen the laws aimed at protecting the public from deceptive mailings has greatly improved the situation. However, hucksters and scam artists continually find new ways to prey on elderly consumers. That is why I intend to continue to closely monitor mail complaints and work to put fraudulent and unscrupulous advertisers out of business for good.

If you receive a misleading mail solicitation, bring it to my attention or to your local postmaster or postal inspector. You may also send it directly to the Chief Postal Inspector, U.S. Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza, Washington, D.C., 20260-2100. For solicitations from non-governmental organizations which seek payment for "services" related to Social Security benefits, you may send it to me or directly to the Social Security Administration, Office of Public Affairs, Misleading Advertising, Box 17740, Baltimore, MD 21235.

been a strong proponent of legislation important to Long Island's coastal areas. In fact, Congressman Lent was closely involved in securing passage of the landmark 200-mile-limit law, the Coastal Zone Management Act, the Tanker Safety Act, and the Outer Continental Shelf Revenue Sharing Bill.

The much needed Ocean Dumping Ban Act of 1988 (PL 100-688) became law thanks in part to Rep. Lent's staunch support. It mandates an end to the dumping of treated sewage sludge in the ocean by December 31, 1991 and seeks to help municipalities find environmentally safe sludge disposal alternatives.

Congressman Lent also played a key role in breaking a 15 year stalemate that blocked passage of oil spill prevention and clean-up legislation. When it was signed into law in September 1990, the Oil Pollution Compensation and Liability Act (PL 101-380) replaced a confusing patchwork of state and local laws that greatly hampered clean-up operations across the country. The new law places great emphasis on the prevention of future oil spills by phasing out single hulled oil tankers in favor of those with double hulls. It also contains provisions designed to ensure the rapid deployment of well equipped clean-up crews and prompt compensation for oil spill victims.

Chosen by his Long Island colleagues as Chairman of the Long Island Congressional Caucus, Rep. Lent has led numerous efforts in support of his home region's interests. In 1989, he orchestrated the successful drive to save the F-14D "Tomcat" Navy fighter which is manufactured by Grumman Aerospace Corporation on Long Island. In addition, Mr. Lent established and chairs the Northeast Gas Congressional Caucus, an organization dedicated to ensuring that the northeastern U.S. has access to natural gas.

PERSONAL

A lifelong resident of Nassau County, Norman Lent was born in Oceanside, New York on March 23, 1931. He attended Long Island public schools in East Rockaway, Lynbrook and Malverne. He received his B.A. degree from Hofstra University in 1952. Following a two-year tour of active duty as a naval officer during the Korean conflict, Rep. Lent attended Cornell University Law School on the G.I. bill, receiving his J.D. in 1957.

Rep. Lent was a partner in the law firm of Hill, Lent and Troescher in Lynbrook, New York (1964-88), and is a member of the American, Florida, and Nassau County Bar Associations. He has served as Associate Police Justice of the Village of East Rockaway (1959-62), confidential law secretary to former New York Supreme Court Justice Thomas P. Farley (1961-62), New York State Senator (1963-70), and counsel to the Lido-Point Lookout Fire District (1973-81).

Mr. Lent has also served as a Republican State Committeeman and Republican Executive Leader of the Village of East Rockaway. He was a Delegate to the 1972, 1980, and 1984 Republican National Conventions and an Alternate Delegate to the 1976 National Convention. From 1972 to 1986, Rep. Lent was Vice Chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee.

Congressman Lent is married to Barbara A. Morris, and has three children from a former marriage: Norman III, Barbara Anne and Thomas Benjamin.

Biography

Republican Congressman Raymond J. McGrath was first elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1980. On November 6, 1990, he was comfortably re-elected to his sixth consecutive term. He represents New York's Fifth Congressional District which is located in Nassau County on Long Island.

The lawmaker serves on the House Ways and Means Committee, which has jurisdiction over all tax, international trade laws and the major federal social programs. In January 1991, Congressman McGrath's growing seniority enabled him to earn seats on the Health Subcommittee and the Trade Subcommittee.

Congressman McGrath's agenda for the 102nd Congress includes active participation on his new subcommittees. With several hospitals and a large elderly population in the Fifth Congressional District, Mr. McGrath intends to make himself and his constituents heard on national health care issues. Additionally, Long Island's high technology and transportation related industries will be looking for a favorable U.S. trade policy which the Congressman hopes to influence.

Congressman McGrath works diligently to accurately represent the views of his constituents. This independent-minded approach has sometimes led to votes against his party and two Republican Presidents. In 1986, McGrath opposed President Reagan's Tax Reform plan which would have eliminated the federal deduction for state and local taxes which is widely used in McGrath's suburban district. Last year, McGrath voted for a parental leave measure which would have benefitted thousands of working parents in his district but opposed by the White House.

Although known for his efforts in tax reform, senior citizen issues, trade and, early in his Congressional career, critical support of the space shuttle program, McGrath's principle legislative actions and accomplishments have come not in headlines, but in smaller, less recognizable means. He uses his assignment on the powerful House Ways and Means Committee to effect policies at the margin to shape legislation favorable to his constituents while preferring to work behind the scenes on broad national goals. A self-proclaimed "regular guy" from a working class background, Congressman McGrath appreciates the plight of ordinary people who need a legislator who listens in Washington.

Well-liked by his fellow Representatives, McGrath is known for his ability to forge compromises among his more partisan colleagues and with the Executive branch. His Washington experience, however, has not kept him from remaining true to his Long Island roots. His endorsement by Long Island Newsday and other local papers in the 1990 election noted his strong commitment to constituent service.

POLICE ATHLETIC LEAGUE ROUNDTABLE/BASKETBALL GAME
HEMPSTEAD, NEW YORK

DATE: June 10, 1992
LOCATION: Kennedy Park Gymnasium
Hempstead, New York
TIME: 4:20 p.m.
FROM: Ann DeCain AD

I) PURPOSE

Meet with a group of children, parents, police officers and public officials involved with the Hempstead Village Police Athletic League to hear about how the program has helped police/community relations and helped steer young people in the right direction.

II) BACKGROUND

Mayor James Garner and Chief of Police James Russo started the Village of Hempstead's Police Athletic League (PAL) in February 1990. The Mayor had promised to form a PAL during his election campaign. Hempstead is the only village in Nassau county with a PAL -- there is also a countywide PAL.

Detective Al Balsamo, the Executive Director of the program, organized the Hempstead PAL after 16 years as a beat cop on the Village police force. He was voted "Public Servant of the Year" by the local Chamber of Commerce this year and also just started the town's DARE program.

The Hempstead PAL has attracted 1200 children to participate, nearly 90% of whom are from a minority group. Blacks are the biggest group, but nearly 15% are Latino or Asian. About 30 parents are involved as coaches, as are about 10 police officers.

The PAL offers baseball, flag football, lacrosse, basketball (year round), judo, karate, cheerleading and step dancing. Programs are available 52 weeks a year, and they usually meet in the evening. The PAL also offers trips to Met and Yankee games and to concerts at Jones Beach.

The program is considered a big success in Hempstead. Juvenile crime is down, in part, the police believe, because of the PAL. Friction between Blacks and Latinos also seems to be down, and there has been no gang activity in Hempstead.

It has become a rallying point for the community, getting kids, parents and police officers together. In the recent fundraising drive, several local businesses cited the PAL as one reason there were no disturbances in Hempstead after the Rodney King verdict.

The PAL is supported solely by private donations, primarily from local businesses, but the Hempstead Police Benevolent Association is one of the biggest donors.

I) PURPOSE

Meet with a group of children, parents, police officers and public officials involved with the Hempstead Village Police Athletic League to hear about how the program has helped police/community relations and helped steer young people in the right direction.

II) BACKGROUND

Mayor James Garner and Chief of Police James Russo started the Village of Hempstead's Police Athletic League (PAL) in February 1990. The Mayor had promised to form a PAL during his election campaign. Hempstead is the only village in Nassau county with a PAL -- there is also a countywide PAL.

Detective Al Balsamo, the Executive Director of the program, organized the Hempstead PAL after 16 years as a beat cop on the Village police force. He was voted "Public Servant of the Year" by the local Chamber of Commerce this year and also just started the town's DARE program.

The Hempstead PAL has attracted 1200 children to participate, nearly 90% of whom are from a minority group. Blacks are the biggest group, but nearly 15% are Latino or Asian. About 30 parents are involved as coaches, as are about 10 police officers.

The PAL offers baseball, flag football, lacrosse, basketball (year round), judo, karate, cheerleading and step dancing. Programs are available 52 weeks a year and they usually meet in the evening. The PAL also offers trips to Met and Yankee games and to concerts at Jones Beach.

The program is considered a big success in Hempstead. Juvenile crime is down, in part, the police believe, because of the PAL. Friction between Blacks and Latinos also seems to be down and there has been no gang activity in Hempstead.

It has become a rallying point for the community, getting kids, parents and police officers together. In the recent fundraising drive, several local businesses cited the PAL as one reason there were no disturbances in Hempstead after the Rodney King verdict.

The PAL is supported solely by private donations, primarily from local businesses, but the Hempstead Police Benevolent Association is one of the biggest donors.
