Gil/Brett,

Here is the language in the Senate Authorization bill regarding assured Access.

This is what we know about how this got in the bill:
Bill Sutey, staffer to Bill Nelson (D-FL), got this inserted after the SBIRS ATR/EELV source. ( We moved WGS-1 from FY03 to FY04 to help pay for the SBIRS bill). Last word from Brian Green (about three, four weeks ago) was that the SASC majority was pushing a slightly-modified version of this for inclusion in the conference report, to get both the House and Senate on the record in support (most likely change in a conference version would be the addition of an actual suspense date to the report).

From S. 2514, pp. 29-30.

SEC. 136. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING ASSURED ACCESS TO SPACE.

(a) FINDINGS.-Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Assured access to space is a vital national security interest of the United States.

(2) The Evolved Expendable Launch Vehicle program of the Department of Defense is a critical element of the Department 's plans for assuring United States access to space.

(3) Significant contractions in the commercial space launch marketplace have eroded the overall viability of the United States space launch industrial base and could hamper the ability of the Department of Defense to provide assured access to space in the future.

(4) The continuing viability of the United States space launch industrial base is a critical element of any strategy to ensure the long-term ability of the United States to assure access to space.

(5) The Under Secretary of the Air Force, as acquisition executive for space programs in the Department of Defense, has been authorized to develop a strategy to address United States space launch and assured access to space requirements.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.-It is the sense of Congress that the Under Secretary of the Air Force should -

(1) evaluate all options for sustaining the United States space launch industrial base;

(2) develop an integrated, long-range, and adequately funded plan for assuring United States access to space; and

(3) submit to Congress a report on the plan at the earliest opportunity practicable.
