We found no record that suggests that Karl Rove or any member of his staff had access to advance knowledge -- as described in the Department of Justice's request -- about impending government actions against those three organizations.

We did find that early on the morning of December 4, the Staff Secretary's office circulated a draft of the speech on the Holy Land Foundation to 17 staff offices, including Karl Rove's office.

Dear Mr. President,

On October 19th-20th, 2001 The Holy Land Christian Ecumenical Foundation will hold its Third International Conference in Washington, D.C., The Forgotten Faithful: Arab Christians Suffering in the Holy Land.

The Conference will be held at the National Presbyterian Church, and a banquet will be held at the Capital Hilton Hotel in Washington D.C. on October 20, 2001.

HCEF is a charitable organization founded in 1999 by American Christians that is dedicated to improving the living conditions of Palestinian Christians in the Holy Land. We have been honored in previous years to receive a letter of support from the United States President, which helped in making the conference, and banquet a success therefore, we respectfully request if you can send a letter of support for the conference, which would be read at the conference and published in our program book.

Should you agree the letter would be published in the conference program book, along with the letters from Church leaders, ambassadors and heads of organizations. To be able to print the program book in ample time for the conference it would be highly appreciated if your letter was received by October 8th, 2001 in order to have it included in the program book.

Thank you for your consideration in this matter; in the meantime if you have any questions please feel free to have any member of your staff contact me at (301) 871-9222.

Sincerely yours,

Thank you for allowing me the honor of conveying this message. This year's annual banquet of the Michigan chapter of the American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee comes at a time of deep trial for the United States.

The tragic attacks of September 11 have filled the people of this Nation with both grief and moral outrage. I know this has been a particularly difficult period for the Arab-American community. Members of this community have been forced not only to bear the universal burdens of sorrow and anger that are shared by all Americans, but also have had to face misguided acts of harassment and retaliation. As you know, I have spoken loudly and repeatedly against such acts, and I will continue to do so. I also want to assure you that people who target Arab-Americans with violence or vandalism will face the full weight of the law.

At the same time, I hope you take pride, as I do, in the outpouring of support from non-Arab-Americans who have joined me in condemning these incidents and in volunteering to assist Arab and Muslim communities around our Nation. Obviously, America must still do more to fight ignorance and prejudice. When I look around me, I am encouraged by the manner in which the vast majority of Americans cherish our diversity, including American communities like yours.

Finally, I want to express my personal confidence in and appreciation for the Arab-American community. You are a great asset to America, and I am proud to stand shoulder to shoulder with you as we face the challenges ahead. With your strength, and the strength of a united America, I am confident that we will prevail.

I am pleased to send warm greetings to the Christian Educators Association International as you hold your 32nd Annual Convention, "Teachers Light the Way."

Education is America's top priority. As parents, teachers, and caring citizens, we must all work together to help ensure that boys and girls have the knowledge and skills they need to succeed in a changing and dynamic world. Our schools must challenge students to meet the highest standards, both in academics and in building their personal character.

I commend Association members for your contributions to this precious endeavor. By drawing on your faith and encouraging young people to lead lives of dignity and purpose, you help prepare them for the opportunities of tomorrow and point the way to a brighter future for our Nation.

Best wishes for a successful and memorable convention.

June 11, 2001

I am pleased to send warm greetings to all those gathered for the 75th National Convention of the Fellowship of Orthodox Christians in America.

In cities and towns across our Nation, an enduring faith in God and spiritual values remain central to the lives of Americans. Through fellowship, example, and education, you help new generations of Orthodox Christians understand the power and tenets of your faith. Your support of education through scholarship programs and Orthodox seminaries and your efforts to address medical needs abroad exemplify the caring spirit of America.

I salute delegates for your commitment to meeting spiritual needs and providing opportunities to strengthen bonds of friendship between individuals and families in your local communities. The United States is a better place because of your dedication to sharing love and compassion with your neighbors.

Laura joins me in sending best wishes for a successful meeting and memorable diamond anniversary.
