HEADLINE: Hillary Clinton defends husband, blames right-wing conspiracy'
Special counsel denounces accusations as nonsense'

BODY:

WASHINGTON - First lady Hillary Rodham Clinton offered a spirited defense of her husband on Tuesday, saying that she believes him and that "a vast right-wing conspiracy" is behind the latest scandal.

Mrs. Clinton, in a previously scheduled interview on NBC's Today, attacked Whitewater independent counsel Kenneth Starr, whose investigation has ...

... scratching for dirt, intimidating witnesses, doing everything possible to try to make some accusation against my husband," Mrs. Clinton said.

Reprising the administration's charges of a broad anti-Clinton conspiracy, the first lady said: "We've been accused of everything, ...

... received credible evidence of serious federal crimes" and that it was being conducted by experienced prosecutors and law enforcement officials.

Mrs. Clinton's comments, which drew cheers at the White House senior staff meeting on Tuesday morning, opened one of Washington's ...

... gag order issued by Judge Wright.

On the Today set in New York City's Rockefeller Center, Mrs. Clinton stepped into a role already familiar to many Americans: her husband's chief defender.

The nation first saw her in that role ...

... week when Gennifer Flowers' allegations of a 12-year sexual affair with Mr. Clinton threatened to torpedo his presidential candidacy. Mrs. Clinton appeared at his side on the Super Bowl Sunday edition of CBS' 60 Minutes.

"You know, I'm not sitting here as some little woman standing by my man like Tammy Wynette," Mrs. Clinton said at that time.

Tuesday, a more battle-hardened Mrs. Clinton did not criticize Ms. Lewinsky.

The first lady instead followed the lead of Mr. Clinton and his aides and refused to elaborate on the relationship between the president and Ms. Lewinsky.

But unlike other aides who have come to Mr. Clinton's defense, Mrs. Clinton said she had spoken "at great length" with the president about the charges.

... Clinton appears to fumble around a bit," said Dr. Boller, the author of a book on first ladies. "Mrs. Clinton is more disciplined and better organized. She can build a defense in an orderly fashion."

Besides firing a broadside at her husband's critics, Mrs. Clinton offered the subtler message that if she is comfortable with their marriage, everyone else should be, too. She took a similar tack in 1992.

"We've been married ...

... I would like to see times, dates, places, people and where they met," he said in an interview.

In making her case, Mrs. Clinton noted Mr. Starr's Republican ties, as well as those of the three judges on the panel that approved his inquiry's expansion.

And she said Ms. ...
