Dear Friend:

While the United States enjoys the well-deserved bounty of a record-setting economy – in South Africa the struggle continues. A burgeoning HIV crisis combined with a chronic shortage of doctors and health care professionals define a state of affairs that demands our action.

South Africa needs all of us to take action to help combat the remnants of apartheid's legacy of injustice and despair. Through the work of MESAB (Medical Education for South African Blacks) scholarships are provided which allow South Africa's future doctors and health care workers to complete their professional education in South African Universities and Technikons. This training will prepare them to address the many health care issues that afflict their home townships.

Please take pride in the enclosed 1999 MESAB Annual Report. Thanks to you and our many generous supporters, the work of MESAB continues to blossom.

You can continue your support today by sending a contribution in the enclosed envelope. Thank you.

Sincerely,

James W. Scott
President
