Subject: 1/15 cloning story -- cows

Cloning of three Holstein calves -- George and Charlie, plus one yet to be named calf.

Q) How does this differ from the cloning of Dolly?

It uses a similar, but a cheaper, more efficient technique. The techniques used by Drs. Stice and Robl of the University of Massachusetts to clone George and Charlie and another calf are similar to the techniques used in Scotland a year ago by Ian Wilmut,s group to clone Dolly.
However, the Massachusetts scientists have improved the efficiency of the technique. As scientists gain experience with these methods, additional improvements are expected. Successful cloning in cows holds the promise of producing commercially useful pharmaceuticals for humans in cows, milk.

When they made Dolly, the scientists added cells to 277 eggs. Only 13 developed into embryos, all of which died in early pregnancy, except for one which survived and became Dolly -- a 5 percent success rate. With this new method used in Massachusetts, 5 to 10 percent of the attempts to create embryos met with success.

Comments/questions in caps.

My comments notwithstanding, I agree with your conclusion that we not propose pre-emption. However, as an alternative we might want to be more aggressive with a push for Federal leg. in the absence of pre-emption.

Pre-emption

The industry is strongly advocating that the Administration Bill use this bill to pre-empt state laws restricting cloning research. The industry cites the California Bill as an example of the type of provision that would prohibit appropriate biomedical research on cloning and they point to the political climate as one that would likely pressure states to adopt unduly restrictive measures.

There are also a number of reasons arguing against pre-emption at this time. For example, federalism concerns would normally militate against preemption unless it could be shown that such action is necessary (e.g. when there is a need for national standards). In this case, although the industry might be inconvenienced by the existence of differing laws, there is no clear reason why uniform standards are required. Indeed, in the area of biomedical research, there is a strong argument in favor of allowing the states to experiment with a wide range of options because no single correct approach to this issue is immediately obvious. IT'S TRUE THAT WE HAVEN'T SETTLED ON OUR FINAL WORDING BUT WE HAVE/WILL PROPOSE LEG. LANGUAGE IN ORDER TO KEEP A NARROWLY FOCUSED PROHIBITION AND TO WARD OFF OTHER APPROACHES. Moreover, the industry,s fears that the states would act in concert to preclude important biomedical research BEYOND USING CLONING TO CREATE A CHILD seem unwarranted. It is not likely that every state would choose to ban all research because the states that elect to forego restrictive regulation would be likely, on that account, to attract new industry. Finally, using this particular bill to preclude all state regulation of biomedical research WOULD PRE-EMPTION DO THAT? OR ARE YOU SAYING THAT TO COUNTER BIO,S FEARS? is inconsistent with our position that this bill is designed to address only the limited issue of cloning and is not an attempt to address broader research issues.

TEXT:
GIFTS TO THE FUTURE

In that spirit, let us lift our eyes toward the new millennium. How will we mark that passage? Let us honor what we have been; and let us imagine what we can become. Let us invoke the wonders of science and the richness of our culture to bestow our gifts to the future.

What does it mean to imagine the future? What are the real advances we can look forward to seeing in our lifetimes?

The entire store of human knowledge now doubles every five years. In the 1980s, it took scientists 9 years to isolate the gene causing cystic fibrosis. Last year, we isolated the gene that causes Parkinsons, Disease in only 9 days. Soon, people with severe spinal cord injuries will be able to rise from their wheelchairs and walk. Within a decade, &gene chips8 will offer a roadmap for prevention of illness throughout a lifetime. We will be able to carry all the phone calls on Mother,s Day on a single strand of fiber the width of a human hair. A typical child born in 1998 may well live to see the 22d Century. (ck)

Tonight, I propose a 21st Century Research Fund -- an ambitious new initiative for pathbreaking research at our nation,s premiere scientific institutions.

In the past year, we have unlocked the dark secrets of disease, discovering genes for breast cancer and diabetes. Now, let,s make ours the generation in which we win the war against cancer.

As important as rapid scientific progress is, science cannot proceed in a moral vacuum. We must prevent the misuse of genetic tests to discriminate against any American.

And we must ratify the ethical consensus of the scientific and religious communities, and ban human cloning.

In our next gift to the new millennium, we as a people will explore the far reaches of cyberspace.

The first time I reported to you on the State of the Union, there was no such thing as a web page on the Internet. Now, [#] web pages are created each and every day. The Internet is an exploding global marketplace of ideas as well as commerce. I call on all the nations of the world to make the Internet a global free-trade zone: no discriminatory taxes, no unfair tariffs.

But the Internet must not be a values-free zone. We will continue to work with the computer industry to give parents tools to protect their children from inappropriate material on the Net.

And even as we explore innerspace, in the new millennium we will open new frontiers in outer space.

For all of human history, humankind has had only one place to call home -- the planet Earth. Yet beginning this year, 1998, for the first time, men and women will build a permanent foothold in the heavens -- the international space station. With its vast compartments, scientists and engineers will set sail on this uncharted sea of limitless mystery and unlimited potential.

And this October, a true American hero, a veteran pilot of 141 combat missions, and one five hour space flight that changed the world, will return to the heavens.

Godspeed, John Glenn.

Senator Glenn, you will carry with you America,s hopes, and on your uniform you will carry America,s flag, marking the unbroken connection between the deeds of America,s past and the daring of America,s future.

Rachael -- I had passed along your one comment, glad you had the chance to share the others with NIH. FDA has sent Roger some additional comments, I have asked him to give them to Lana and I will fax you a copy ASAP. Also, with regard to the paper, yes, Feinsteins' staffer has it, marked for her personal use and I told her we were still refining it -- she said she desperately needed something. Also gave her the embryo background info. that I gave you during our meeting. One other item regarding the cloning paper, following our meeting with you, Jane suggested that the paper include somewhere at the front a purpose statement and include some identification of the source --because it will start getting wider distribution by others (i.e.Hill staff) once finalized. Any thoughts?

Bill Raub briefings are as follows. This afternoon we meet with Glenda/Fienstein and with the Frist staff. Oh, late yesterday there was a R-meeting including Bond, Gregg, and Frist; maybe after our meeting with staff we can tell you more. Tommorrow morning we have a meeting with Kennedy and Daschle staff. Just got a call with a somewhat strange request from Dave

Nexon saying that they were going to work with Feinstein and wanting a GC type to sit down and help them draft a bill, he seemed unaware of our planned briefings or that we were reviewing a Feinstein draft bill ?!! He is going back to talk to the Feinstein folks.

Will keep you posted via e-mail or phone as this fast-moving train leaves

TEXT:
Cloning Update

It appears that the Republicans will introduce a bill in the Senate next week to prohibit cloning human beings in the public and private sectors. Although the language has not been finalized, it is likely that the bill would seek to ban the creation of a zygote (a one-cell embryo) using somatic cell nuclear transfer cloning technology. This differs from our bill in that it would preclude research on the embryo prior to implantation, while our ban would start at introduction of the embryo into a woman,s uterus. Currently, such research is allowed using private funds. It is not certain whether or not a sunset provision would be included. The plan is for the bill to go directly to the floor with the blessing of Senate leadership and others (Lott, Gregg, Bond, and Frist). Kennedy and Feinstein are poised to introduce a bill today that is close to the President,s (draft attached).

We have at least five options: (1) try to work with the Senate majority on drafting a bill; (2) declare our support for the Kennedy/Feinstein bill; (3) issue a statement reiterating the principles in our bill in order to influence the drafting process; (4) wait until the Senate bill goes to the floor and then issue a SAP; or (5) do nothing and let the biotech industry and patient advocacy groups continue to fight against overly restrictive legislation. Should we choose to act prior to the floor debate, we will have to move quickly.

I heard that Kennedy/Feinstein are leaning toward a Monday press conference. Also heard that they have the 10-year sunset back in. I don't like it but a good bill with a too-long sunset is better than a kick in the pants. Shouldn't we include them if we are going to talk to others on the Hill? Maybe that was in your other e:mail

(virginia, pls give info to larry)

have spoken w/feinstein's office re their legislation. they want administration support. i have suggested letter from hhs, science person, which addresses science/research reasons why their approach good. hhs is working on letter. can get omb to do sap on bond bill. looks like house bill will be more restrictive than senate and get into abortion issues.
if it is too crazy, we can elevate issue to shalala.

feinstein will intro bill on tuesday. shopping for cosponsors now. hope to have at least one repub and demo leadership. will offer as substitute on floor. let me know if you agree or have other suggestions. hhs making rounds on hill and nih sending up paper they have on cloning (technical).

TEXT:

Here is the letter. Can you please format and put on azure and get to me? Thanks.

February 5, 1998

Dr. John H. Gibbons
Assistant to the President and Director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Jack:

I have received your letter of February 3, and it is with deep regret that I accept your resignation, effective February 28, 1998. I am grateful for your five years of service to my Administration as Assistant to the President and Director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy, and I know that I speak for your colleagues both here at the White House and in the greater scientific community when I say that your work here will be missed.

You have made many important contributions during your tenure. Your advice and assistance has been essential on a range of difficult issues from replacing nuclear testing with science-based stockpile stewardship to banning human embryo research and cloning while preserving our ability to make advances in biomedical research to our response to changes in the Earth's climate. I have also greatly valued your efforts to forge scientific consensus and build bipartisan coalitions to promote our objectives.

Your background as a bench scientist and high-tech entrepreneur has allowed you to marry the sometimes competing interests of researchers and the business community and help us develop science and technology policies that will successfully take our country into the 21st century. The Partnership for a New Generation of Vehicles, which I know you have long championed, is but one example of our work to link economic growth with environmental quality, public with private interests, and science and technology to improve the lives of our citizens.

As you move on to new challenges, I thank you for all you have done and hope that I can continue to call on you for advice on the many issues that will continue to confront us in the years ahead. Hillary joins me in wishing you very best wishes for every success and happiness.

Sincerely,

TEXT:

During yesterday's Public Affairs Executive Committee (PAEC) conference call, the PAEC instructed us to send the following telegram to all members of the U.S. Senate:

"The Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology (FASEB) urges the Senate to proceed extremely cautiously as it considers legislation regarding human cloning. While the Federation considers the cloning of a human being to be reprehensible, dangerous, and unethical, we are concerned that overly restrictive legislation could unintentionally preclude critical research of great benefit to the American people. We believe that S. 1599, currently pending consideration by the Senate, would be damaging to worthwhile research. By flatly banning all use of human somatic cell nuclear technology for any purpose, this legislation would close off key areas of research which do not involve the creation of humans. We urge that the Senate not approve this legislation in its current form as it does not balance appropriate ethical considerations with the health needs of the American people."

The message was sent yesterday evening for delivery today.

Subject: Adhoc: Cloning Legislation

Colleagues:

I am writing to bring everyone up to speed on the status of the anti-cloning legislative proposals, and to ask for help. Please note that while I am borrowing the Ad Hoc Group's List Serve capacity, I am not speaking for the Ad Hoc Group.

Senators Feinstein and Kennedy have introduced a bill (S 1602) as has Senator Bond (S 1599). Bonds has been re-introduced with Sen. Lott as main sponsor (S. 1601) in order to make it a leadership bill.

The Bond bill prohibits the use of somatic cell nuclear transfer technology. It prohibits the use of this technology to produce an embryo from the earliest stages, but it does not define the term somatic cell anywhere.

The Kennedy/Feinstein Bill contains clear definitions, has a federal preemption, has a sunset in 10 years, and it makes illegal any attempt to implant an embryo produced from cloning into a woman's uterus.

We think the Bond bill is very dangerous for the medical research community. It makes the use of a specific technology in medical research a federal crime, punishable by 10 years in prison.

Its broad prohibition and imprecise wording endanger many areas of medical research including gene therapy and stem cell research. It also poses risks for several promising infertility treatments.

We expect an attempt to bring the Bond (now the Lott) bill to the floor of the Senate as early as Thursday, and certainly by early next week.

I hope that regardless of where you or your organization stand on cloning or cloning legislation, you will at least object to the bringing this measure to the floor in such a hurry. I would urge you to contact members of the Senate and ask them to avoid acting on this with such haste and instead deal with this matter in the serious deliberative manner it deserves.

Please feel free to contact me with questions or comments.

Subject: Telegram on Proposed Cloning Legislation

During yesterday's Public Affairs Executive Committee (PAEC) conference call, the PAEC instructed us to send the following telegram to all members of the U.S. Senate:

"The Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology (FASEB) urges the Senate to proceed extremely cautiously as it considers legislation regarding human cloning. While the Federation considers the cloning of a human being to be reprehensible, dangerous, and unethical, we are concerned that overly restrictive legislation could unintentionally preclude critical research of great benefit to the American people. We believe that S. 1599, currently pending consideration by the Senate, would be damaging to worthwhile research. By flatly banning all use of human somatic cell nuclear technology for any purpose, this legislation would close off key areas of research which do not involve the creation of humans. We urge that the Senate not approve this legislation in its current form as it does not balance appropriate ethical considerations with the health needs of the American people."

The message was sent yesterday evening for delivery today.
