Mr. Don Schreiber
2708 Maricopa Drive, S.E.
Rio Rancho, New Mexico 87124

Dear Don:

Thank you very much for your help during the President's recent trip to New Mexico.

Our ability to produce and distribute transcripts and press releases in a timely fashion is at the heart of the White House press operation. Your ability to respond in a timely manner to not one, but two, service calls did not go unnoticed. In the end, it was your help alone that enabled the traveling staff to get their jobs done.

Many thanks and best wishes.

Dear Mr. Schreiber, Mark

Thank you for your help in connecting us with Linda Veno and her work with the Mother's Love Foundation. I only wish we could recognize all of those who, like Ms. Veno, take a personal interest in issues that can seem so distant. I am thrilled that we were able to bring her to the White House to tell what she knew of the atrocities in Bosnia.

Again, thank you for all of your work on behalf of Ms. Veno, and for bringing humanity to an inhuman situation.

Dear Mr. Solot:

Thank you very much for your letter. I appreciate your concern, and I am glad that you took the time to share your ideas about Jonathan Pollard's executive clemency petition.

As you know, Mr. Pollard recently submitted a renewed petition for commutation of his sentence. After much deliberation, the President concluded that this petition should be denied. In making the difficult decision whether to grant or deny the petition, the President considered the recommendation of the Attorney General and of the law enforcement and national security agencies. The President also weighed the arguments made on Mr. Pollard's behalf by numerous groups and individuals.

Mr. Pollard committed a serious crime that posed a threat to our country. After carefully reviewing the arguments on both sides, the President concluded that the extraordinary remedy of executive clemency was not justified in this case.

Dear Mr. Stark:

Thanks for your good point. I've discussed this same concern with some members of the press and many agree. As long as the President holds regular news conferences, some of them are willing to forego the "gotcha" questions at formal occasions with foreign visitors.

Thanks for writing! You have my best wishes.

Thank you very much for sharing your story with me. You and I agree that children need and deserve the support of both mothers and fathers.

The President is working hard to enact meaningful child support reforms. By improving the effectiveness of procedures for establishing paternity, making it easier to enter and update child support awards, and dramatically strengthening our ability to enforce the payment of those awards, the Administration is encouraging individuals to fulfill the most basic obligations of parenthood -- the care and support of their children.

As we continue to work to promote parental responsibility, I hope you will stay involved and I send you my best wishes.
