President Bill Clinton
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

I am writing to ask that you reserve the morning of Sunday, January 21, 1996, for a nationally televised exchange of views with a random sample of 600 voting-age Americans, drawn from all over the United States, who will gather at The University of Texas at Austin. Sponsored by The University of Texas at Austin and all eleven of the nation's Presidential Libraries in association with the Public Broadcasting System, the "1996 National Issues Convention" will be the first event of its kind in the United States. It will be built around a televised "deliberative opinion poll"--a technique designed by UT Professor James Fishkin and successfully tested in Great Britain.

The details of the event are set forth in the enclosed press kit prepared by the Public Broadcasting Service which will provide live television coverage of the candidate appearances as well as a follow-on documentary a week later. MacNeil/Lehrer Productions will be in charge of all PBS coverage with Jim Lehrer as anchor. We are particularly interested in your participation on Sunday morning when we plan a two-hour live broadcast to be repeated Sunday evening in prime time. We hope that a major part of that broadcast will consist in your answering the questions of ordinary citizens from our national sample of 600. The same 600 citizens will have had an exchange of views with Republican presidential candidates broadcast on the preceding Saturday evening. In addition, there will be a prime time special broadcast several days later which summarizes the proceedings and the results of the "deliberative poll" on the issues.

President Bill Clinton
June 23, 1995
Page Two

A blue-ribbon national advisory committee chaired by Newton Minow and Charls Walker is assisting in planning the event. A special bipartisan review committee chaired by former members of Congress Barbara Jordan and Bill Frenzel will help make certain that all briefing material sent to the "delegates" is accurate and balanced. The questions in the survey instrument will be overseen by a Technical Review Committee headed by Professor Philip Converse of the University of Michigan, who is widely respected among experts in survey research.

Here is a brief summary of the National Issues Convention:

- Based on analyses of polls and focus groups, several broad issue areas suitable for citizen deliberation will be selected. We anticipate that there will be at least four. One issue area will inevitably focus discussion on the economy, and one will focus discussion on America's role in the world. All the issues will define broad topics which are so much a matter of public concern or so intrinsic to the role of the Presidency that any leading Presidential candidate or incumbent would naturally expect to present a position on them.
- In November 1995, the highly regarded National Opinion Research Center at the University of Chicago (NORC) will conduct personal interviews on these major campaign issues with a national random sample of eligible voting-age Americans.
- 600 of these respondents will travel to Austin for the convention; in the interim they will receive briefing materials on the major campaign issues, prepared by the Kettering Foundation and the Public Agenda Foundation and approved by the Frenzel-Jordan review committee. In addition, you will be invited to provide us with materials detailing your position on the major issues facing the country. If you request, we will be glad to relay those materials to the respondents before their arrival in Austin.
- On their arrival in Austin on Thursday, January 18, 1996, the 600 delegates will be divided randomly into about thirty small groups, each of which will discuss the issues and select questions and questioners for the meetings with candidates, convened by moderators from the National Issues Forums, trained by the Kettering Foundation.

President Bill Clinton
June 23, 1995

- With Jim Lehrer as anchor, delegates will discuss the issues with candidates on Saturday and Sunday (all on live national television); these live sessions may also be repeated at other points in the weekend, greatly increasing the number of hours broadcast beyond the initial six hours.
- On Sunday afternoon, before their departure, delegates will be surveyed again, using the same questions as in the original base-line poll in their homes.
- Finally, a MacNeil/Lehrer produced summary of the National Issues Convention and its significance will be carried nationwide over PBS for at least one hour on the evening of Friday, January 26.

What will this accomplish? We live in an era where campaigns have been reduced to shrinking sound bites, sensationalistic headlines and negative advertising. The National Issues Convention will offer a new and substantive departure for the campaign dialogue. Unlike other "town meetings," its participants will be more than a haphazard collection of citizens. Rather, they will be a scientific sample representing the entire country in one room. And unlike many other televised events, the questions will come from citizens who have done the hard work of informing themselves and deliberating about the issues together.

We believe this event will capture the public's imagination. It offers you a unique, extended, forum for communicating your positions to the American people in a dialogue addressed to the concerns of ordinary citizens. The deliberative poll will focus on the issues and on candidate positions on the issues. It will not result in candidate endorsements. We are not interested in "winners" and "losers" but in engaging the public in the substance of important issues while we conduct a unique experiment in public opinion research.

President Bill Clinton

You have played a unique role in engaging ordinary citizens in public debate about the issues. We think that you are especially well placed to see the merit of this experiment as a method for reinvigorating our public dialogue.

We look forward to your participation in Austin.

Robert M. Berdahl

The White House

Dear Billy:

I understand that the President has been invited to participate in a National Issues Convention next January in Austin, Texas. I want to give this invitation the strongest possible endorsement.

My reasons are as follows:

1. The organizers of the event are experienced, dedicated Americans who have come together across party lines with no agenda other than the revitalization of citizenship in our country.
2. This Issues Convention is a perfect example of the cause that the President has been advancing so effectively in recent months--involving citizens in the search for common ground through a serious, non-ideological, well-informed discussion of the most important issues we face as a nation.
3. The format--questions from informed citizens about key policy questions--suits the President very well. And the issues to be discussed--the economy, the U.S. role in the world, and the future of the American family--would enable the President to highlight his most important accomplishments and plans for the future.
4. The moderator, Jim Lehrer, is consistently skilful and fair-minded.
5. This would not be a candidate debate. The President would appear by himself in a context that would emphasize statesmanship rather than political combat.
6. This event won't be a tree falling in the forest with no one to hear it. If he participates, the President will get a substantial chunk (at least an hour) of live TV.

All the best,

Bill Galston

Molly - did you talk to Halston & Walker's office?

At 10:00 a.m. tomorrow morning we are holding a press conference in Washington to announce that our "National Issues Convention" at the University of Texas next January 18-21 is now fully "go." (You may have noticed Dick Berke's placement of it on the "political calendar" in his article in the New York Times magazine yesterday.) At the press conference, I may well get a question on contacts with the White House about the President's appearance, results of conversations, outlook for his acceptance, etc. Subject to your advice, here is what I plan to say:

We have had several encouraging conversations with top Presidential aides regarding his appearance. We also understand the issue has been raised with the President. Anything beyond that will, of course, have to come from the President's office.

Please call me on this ASAP.

Mack,

Evelyn called Charly Walker & spoke with him about this. There is no scheduling request in Billy's office though

Dear Charly:

Your memorandum of July 11th is received, noted, and appreciated. My reaction to your proposal for a nationally televised exchange of views with the President, moderated by Jim Lehrer, is positive. This could present just the right forum for a civil and positive exchange of dialogue between the President and the people. Of course, I am a big fan of Jim Lehrer's, and his involvement would add balance and credibility, and provide just the right tone, in my view.

You are smart to involve Bill Galston as an advocate. Bill is one of our nation's best, and the President values his counsel highly, as you know.

Let me "work this issue" (to use the political vernacular), and I will be back in touch.

PERSONAL and CONFIDENTIAL

MEMORANDUM TO: The Honorable Thomas F. McPartly III
FROM: Charly Walker ew

You may or may not have seen the enclosed letters from University of Texas president Robert Berdahl and Les Crystal of MacNeil/Lehrer Productions to President Clinton -- that you were not "copied" is an oversight for which I take responsibility. I am asking that, if you haven't read them, to do so and then meet with me to discuss the event at your earliest convenience.

What I want to talk personally to you about is whether you agree that this event -- with the President given considerable time to respond to questions from an informed microcosm of voting-age Americans (moderated by Jim Lehrer) -- is right down the President's alley. It is a perfect example of the more civil public discourse he advocated in his excellent Georgetown speech. If so, then an early meeting with us planners of the project, including key MacNeil/Lehrer people, should and can be arranged.

Note: The PBS publicity kit on the project is not attached. Assuming that we can get together soon, I'll bring it with me, plus a tape of an earlier British experiment with the technique that proved to be highly interesting and successful.

We hope to get Bill Galston very much involved in this project. He has been an enthusiastic supporter of and advocate for it since its inception a few years ago. He agrees that this is "right down the President's alley." You might want to call him after you've glanced at this material.

The MacNeil/Lehrer NEWSHOUR

LESTER M. CRYSTAL
EXECUTIVE PRODUCER

June 22, 1995

President Bill Clinton
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear President Clinton:

On behalf of the Public Broadcasting Service, The MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour is honored to join University of Texas President Berdahl in this invitation to the 1996 National Issues Convention.

The National Issues Convention (NIC) will provide you and the major Republican candidates for nomination to be President an unparalleled opportunity to have a separate dialogue with citizens, one that will be given extended prime-time coverage across the nation on PBS. It will make a real contribution to the discourse between candidates and citizens at an early stage of the 1996 election campaign, before the heat of the primary battle overwhelms the airwaves and dominates public discussion.

I would like to describe some of the key elements of the National Issues Convention and our plans for television coverage.

- Jim Lehrer will host the sessions between candidates and convention delegates. As illustrated in 1992 when he hosted two Presidential debates, and, of course, nightly on the NewsHour, Jim has the often-demonstrated ability to insure fair treatment and even consideration for all participants in multi-guest situations.
- The two-hour broadcast at the NIC will be Sunday morning, January 21st. It will be a live session with repeat feeds available for PBS rebroadcast on Sunday night, January 21st.
- This will not be a debate in the classic sense, but rather a dialogue between the candidates and the citizens-participants. We will, however, firmly honor equal time considerations between candidates.

NIC
6/22/95

- There will be a three-hour Republican party segment which will air live Saturday night, January 20th. It will be available for PBS station rebroadcast on Sunday afternoon.
- The Friday after the Austin event, we will air a special program focusing on the process of public deliberation and the results of the deliberative poll.
- The sessions between participants at the National Issues Convention and the presidential candidates will be held on the stage of the Bass Concert Hall at the University of Texas in Austin campus. While plans are not finalized, we are considering closing the hall to the general public to insure all candidates are treated equally and respectfully by the audience.
- The National Issues Convention will hold to the strictest of standards of fairness and objectivity. The NewsHour's involvement in the NIC was predicated on our deeply held conviction that the National Issues Convention organizers at the University of Texas, on its national steering committee, and at the eleven presidential libraries are single-minded in their dedication to open and unfettered dialogue. The organizers have taken a number of steps to insure the integrity of the National Issues Convention in its many stages. These include:
 - establishment of a bipartisan committee to review NIC briefing papers.
 - involvement of the Kettering Foundation, widely known for its nonpartisan efforts to stimulate public discussion of the issues of the day, in the drafting of NIC briefing papers and the training of the small group moderators.
 - creation of an review committee of academic and press polling experts to certify the integrity and validity of the National Issue Convention's Deliberative Poll. This will not be a candidates preference poll but will, instead seek to determine views on underlying issues and values of public concern.

6/22/95

The National Issues Convention will be highly publicized across the nation by PBS and by the organizing committee. As the preliminary press indicates, the National Issues Convention is likely to receive great attention from the political press and provide all candidates participants with a significant national platform in mid-January.

We very much hope you agree the National Issues Convention will be an important event on the January, 1996, political calendar. We look forward to working with your staff on any and all questions you might have about the National Issues Convention broadcasts.

Dear Mr. McLarty:

Charls Walker has sent to me an information copy of your very kind letter of July 17 concerning the National Issues Convention in Austin next January. Your positive reaction to our plans is most welcome, and I want to assure you that PBS, its member stations, and all who are involved in the planning will strive to make this a worthwhile and major national event.

I have been deeply impressed by recent remarks by the President and Mrs. Clinton about elevating the tone of our national debate and discourse. That is precisely the purpose of PBS's DEMOCRACY PROJECT, of which the National Issues Convention in Austin is a key event.

Once again, our thanks. If I can answer any question, or be of help to you personally in any way, I hope you will not hesitate to let me know.

POOL REPORT

Thursday, Nov. 16, 1995

President Clinton/Oval Office

The couches and chairs had been moved out of the Oval Office and the portable podium installed in front of the fireplace. After the pool had set up, President Clinton entered the room, accompanied by Chief of Staff Leon Panetta and John Koskinen, deputy director of management at OMB. Clinton delivered his remarks and then answered questions for a while; all this was fed on the mult, carried on CNN and will be available on Federal Transcript Service. Clinton was wearing a resolute and determined look, and also a red and blue patterned tie. After Clinton left, Koskinen answered a few questions, also carried on the mult. He said the Veterans Administration would recall 1,700 workers, out of 13,000 who do this kind of processing work on new benefit applications, and more than 50,000 Social Security workers, out of 66,000 who process applications.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Office of the Commissioner

November 16, 1995

The Honorable Alice Rivlin
Director
Office of Management and Budget
Washington, D.C. 20503

Dear Ms. Rivlin:

In response to the President's request for a review of agency shutdown plans in light of the unprecedented shutdown of the Federal government, we have determined that SSA must begin implementing Phase II of its contingency staffing plan on Monday morning, November 20, 1995 in order to begin accepting and processing claims. SSA is taking this action in order to appropriately administer the trust funds.

In addition to continuing benefit payments under the Social Security, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), the Federal Coal Miners Health and Safety ("Black Lung") programs, Phase II will involve recalling sufficient staff from furlough to administer these programs, including the taking of new applications. This action is essential for the SSA to carry out its responsibilities to the public to administer the trust funds for which it is responsible, and is consistent with the Department of Justice's advice concerning activities authorized during a lapse in appropriations.

Social Security disability, retirement and survivor's benefits are funded through an indefinite appropriation which does not require annual appropriations legislation. Funds for SSI and Black Lung Benefits have been appropriated through December 31, 1995. Although funds for the costs necessary to administer these programs have not been appropriated, the Department of Justice opinions indicate that continued appropriations for the benefit payments "necessarily implies" lawful continuation of such administration. An appropriations lapse which lasts for more than one to two weeks would cripple SSA's ongoing ability to properly administer its trust funds, and could irreversibly impair its capacity not only to distribute accurate payments to current beneficiaries of all of its programs, but also to process new claims and appeals "in the pipeline."

Phase II of SSA's contingency staffing plan would operationalize SSA's field facilities, including the reopening of SSA's toll-free telephone service, and State DDS facilities. Under Phase II, SSA would take and process new applications for SSI and Social Security benefits, and the agency would resume processing appeals. Under Phase II, however, SSA would not process applications for Social Security numbers, personal earnings and benefit estimates and annual wage reporting activities. Employees whose primary duties are staff support would continue to be furloughed. Approximately 49,715 staff will be recalled from furlough to ensure the payment of benefits to individuals who are eligible under our programs. Total staffing under Phase II of the contingency staffing plan will be 54,495. 11,700 employees will continue to be furloughed.

Sincerely,

Shirley S. Chater
Commissioner of Social Security

- A. No new OASDI and SSI benefit applications are being processed.
1. On an average day, SSA receives 28,000 applications for retirement, survivors, or disability benefits for OASDI and SSI. In addition, it handles 200,000 calls through its 800 telephone service, which is closed during the shutdown.
 2. On an average day, SSA receives 60,000 requests for new or replacement Social Security cards and receives 75,000 visits to local field offices.
- B. No new applications for Veterans benefits are being processed.
1. On an average day, VA processes 1,613 new claims for compensation and pension benefits and 8,074 claims actions from existing beneficiaries for adjustments to their benefit amount.
 2. On an average day, VA processes 883 original claims for Montgomery GI Bill and other veterans education benefits and 4,570 claims for adjustments from current beneficiaries.
 3. If an appropriation is not enacted by November 21, over 3.3 million veterans and survivors will not receive their benefit checks.
- C. No new applications for Medicare are being processed.
1. On an average day, HHS processes 10,000 new Medicare beneficiaries.
- D. Head Start services are threatened.
1. Within several days, 60,000 Head Start children will lose services and 11,000 Head Start staff will be without funding.
- E. "Deadbeat Dads" are getting a holiday through the shutdown.
1. The Federal Parent Locator Service to which on average, 20,000 cases per day are referred is closed.

F. Vital legal and law enforcement functions are shutdown or delayed.

1. FBI training of agents and state and local law enforcement officers has ceased.
2. The FBI's liaison function with state, local, and international law enforcement has been canceled.
3. Federal law provides that only the Attorney General may authorize a Federal Prosecutor to seek the imposition of the death penalty. Processing of these requests -- in violent crime and narcotics cases -- will be substantially delayed.
4. All civil litigation has been postponed to the extent possible. This exposes the United States to significant liability and means that lawsuits which could be filed on behalf of the government against, for example, elderly fraud operators, will not be filed. The effects will be felt by the taxpayer in general and by victims in particular.
5. Investigations of employment discrimination on the basis of race, sex, religion, or national origin are suspended.
6. Processing of prison grant applications is slowed down. Appropriated funds to assist states in constructing and bringing on line new prison facilities is delayed.
7. Collection activities by Justice's Civil Division have ceased. The cessation of collection activities means that the Treasury receives less income and thus the deficit actually grows. In addition, individuals who owe the government money can withhold payment without any particular penalty.

G. FHA mortgages are halted.

1. On an average day, the Federal Housing Administration processes 2,500 home purchase loans and refinancings totaling $200 million worth of mortgage loans for moderate-and low-income working families nationwide. The shutdown has halted these activities, delaying home ownership for those who have played by the rules.

H. Reduced funding to public housing authorities.

1. On an average day, HUD provides $25 million in operating subsidies and modernization funds to the 3,400 local housing agencies who in turn provide public housing and services to 1.4 million low-income households. Shutoff of this funding will potentially prevent public housing authorities from paying utilities, providing basic maintenance needs, or paying staff.

I. Reduced funding for homeless services.

1. A one-day shutdown of HUD's Line of Credit Control System could prevent the delivery of essential housing and emergency services provided to at least 32,000 homeless persons.

J Many protections for American workers are suspended due to the shutdown of much of the Labor Department. For each day of the shutdown:

1. 95 percent of workplace safety complaints are going unanswered.
2. 170 workplace safety and health inspections are not being performed.
3. 190 worker complaints of minimum wage and overtime violations would remain unresolved.
4. 500 requests for information and assistance from pensioners participating in plans with $3 trillion in assets are going unanswered.

K. National Park Services facilities are closed.

1. On an average day, 726,000 people visit National Park Services facilities.
2. On an average day, 55,000 people visit National Park Services facilities in the National Capital Region, such as the Washington Monument, Ford's Theater, the White House, and Great Falls Park.

- L. The Smithsonian museums, Kennedy Center, National Zoo, and National Gallery of Art are closed.
1. On an average day, 80,000 people visit the Smithsonian Museums on the Mall and the National Zoo.
 2. On an average day, 12,400 people visit the National Gallery of Art.
 3. On an average day, 6,900 people visit the JFK Center for Performing Arts. (This does not include individuals who pay to attend performances, for which the Kennedy Center will continue to be open.)
- M. Applications for passports are not being processed and new passports are not being issued.
1. On an average day, the State Department receives 23,000 applications for passports.
 2. On an average day, the State Department issues 22,000 passports.
- N. No recruits to join the armed forces are being processed or inducted.
1. On an average day, over 700 members of the armed forces are enlisted.
- O. The Federal Employment Information System is closed.
1. On an average day, 24,000 Americans will be denied access to job information including veterans transitioning from active duty to civilian life, disabled veterans seeking information about special hiring programs, college students seeking careers in public service, and displaced federal employees seeking outplacement.
- P. Hiring for Law Enforcement Positions has been interrupted.
1. Hiring of up to 400 new Border Patrol Agents has already been delayed by the cancellation of two recruitment cycles.

Q. Assistance to Small Businesses has been interrupted.

1. On an average day, over 260 small businesses will not receive SBA guaranteed financing totaling over $40 million of loans.
2. On an average day, over 90 small businesses will be prevented from bidding on government contracts because they will be unable to receive SBA guaranteed bid bonds which allow them to bid on those contracts.
3. On an average day, 1,200 small business owners will not receive SBA-sponsored training and counseling normally available to them.

R. American exporting businesses are being disadvantaged during a shutdown.

1. On an average day, over 30 export licenses with a value of $30.5 million that would otherwise have been approved by the Bureau of Export Administration are not being acted upon.
2. On an average day, over 2,500 telephone calls and faxes from U.S. businesses seeking export advice, information and counseling are not being responded to by the Bureau of Export Administration or the International Trade Administration due to the shutdown.

Dear Mr. Salo:

The Internal Affairs Office investigated your complaint of excessive force during your arrest, documented by case file 81-18476.

A thorough investigation was hindered by your failure to return the medical disclosure form mailed to you on May 11, 1984.

Deputies D. Mays, A. Gray, and A. Lopez were interviewed and based on their accounts of your arrest, your complaint was determined to be unfounded.

This case is subsequently closed.

Dear Mr. Salo:

The material you sent to the Attorney General of the United States has been referred to the FBI and brought to my attention.

It would appear that your dissatisfaction with the investigation being conducted by local law enforcement authorities into the murder of your sister is the basis for your bringing this material to his attention. Based on the information provided, there is no evidence of a Federal violation falling within the FBI's jurisdiction; therefore, we have no authority to conduct an investigation. Although you have advised the Governor of California of your views in this matter, you may also wish to contact the Attorney General for the state of California.

Sincerely yours,

DEAR SIR:

THE BERKELEY POLICE DEPARTMENT AND THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE OF BERKELEY ARE PRACTICING RACISM AND RACIAL DISCRIMINATION IN ENFORCING JUSTICE. I WAS THE VICTIM OF BRANDISHING A WEAPON BY A COUPLE OF HISPANIC GANGS, AND THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND POLICE FREED THE SUSPECTS. ON THE OTHER HAND, I WAS ARRESTED AND JAILED WRONGFULLY FOR FALSE SUSPICION OF SIMILAR VIOLATION, AND, I WILL BE "PLACED UNDER PROBATION," MY SECOND AMENDMENT RIGHTS WILL BE FOREVER SUSPENDED." I BELIEVE I AM NOT BEING TREATED AS A U.S. CITIZEN AND A U.S. VETERAN DURING YOUR ADMINISTRATION. Phil MASON OF EBMUD WATER COMPANY IN OAKLAND over reported the incident. He lied to arresting Berkeley Police officers RIC MOSHER AND GEORGE GRAVETTE. The garbage 9mm finding was coincidence. I was factually innocent of the charge. The empty 9mm was removed from trunk of my VAN under my garage and the clip wrapped in a foil, was also removed from atop VAN'S CABIN when officers were raiding my residence from across street, and dumped it both into garbage CAN NEAR downstairs. I intended to target practice and see chief RON NELSON OF BPD to talk to him about securing a permit to carry a concealed weapon due to my being the victim of crimes by numerous multi-racial gangs with knives, pistol and a telescopic RIFLE they brandished at me in 1979, 1982, 1985 and in 1987. This is a risky political situation the Democrats & the Republicans are putting me in...

Mr. Michael McCurry
Press Secretary
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. McCurry:

I am writing to inquire about the possibility of working in your office as a Press Assistant. Because I have a large breadth of experience in this area, I believe I would be a valuable addition to the White House Press Office.

In two weeks I will graduate with a Master's degree from the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, and am eager to work in your office in helping promote President Clinton's agenda and accomplishments.

This job is of special significance to me, given my activities with the Clinton/Gore '92 campaign, the Democratic National Committee and the Democratic Leadership Council in helping to promote the President's solid record of job creation, deficit reduction and international peacemaking. In addition, my college honors thesis, "White House Press Relations from Roosevelt to Reagan," allows me a historical perspective on the President's relations with the media.

My journalism experience includes stints with The New York Times as a news assistant in New York and Washington, with The Washington Post as a special correspondent during the Gulf War, and with States News Service, The Miami Herald and Times Community Newspapers as a reporter covering local issues both in the field and in Washington. This would bring to your office valuable expertise in writing ability and insight into how journalists on the local and national level formulate their stories.

In addition, my internships as a press aide with the Robb for Senate campaign last fall and in the Press Office of the American Embassy in Paris last summer would bring considerable experience to The White House.

Enclosed is my resume. I would appreciate your careful consideration and an opportunity for us to meet in the near future to further discuss my background and qualifications. I may be reached at (202) 333-2060.

Sincerely,

John Arundel

Mr. Mike McCurry,
White House Press Secretary,
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW,
Washington, DC 20500.

Dear Mr. McCurry,

I have followed the events relative to the "Contract" in the current Republican dominated U.S. Congress with a great deal of interest and dissatisfaction.

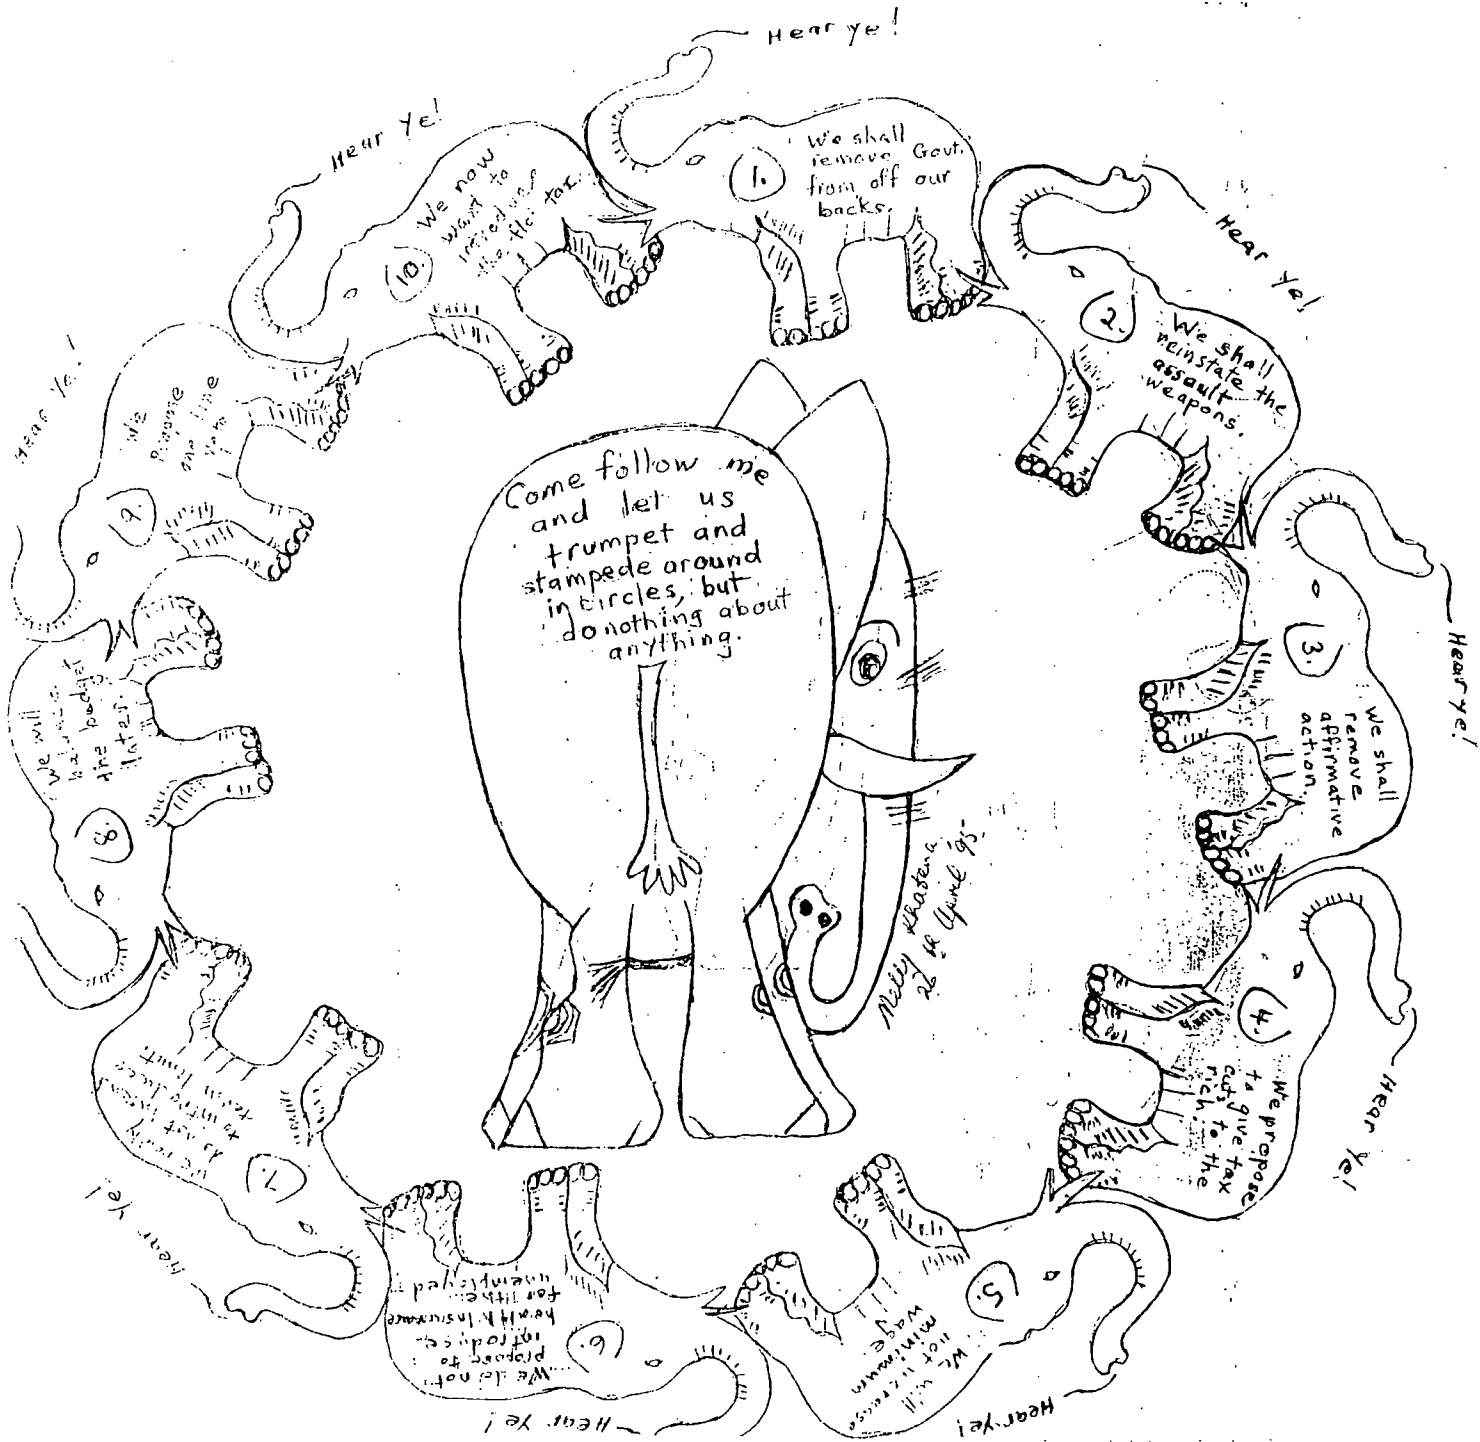

The "Contract" among other things has attempted to insult the intelligence of the American public and must be continually challenged. My own reaction to the G.O.P. component of the Congress as it actively sought to bamboozle the people of this country with a one-sided "illegal" document found expression in the enclosed copy of my satirical art work.

I am sending this art work to you to use as you see fit to the advantage of our President and the democratic idealism that informs his thoughts and actions for the good of our country. I have high regard for you and hope that if your role does not permit you to do this, perhaps you could direct it to an agent or agency that can towards the same end. In any case, please acknowledge receipt my letter and this art work.

I have the highest regard for President Clinton and the effective work he continues to do. He is in my opinion one of the greatest presidents of the United States and I am proud to acclaim this.

Sincerely yours,

Nelly Khatena

Mr. Michael McCurry
Asst. to the President & Press Secretary
The White House,
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. McCurry,

A recent Gallup Poll found that some 39 percent of those surveyed consider themselves to be either "born-again" or "evangelical" Christians. In November, self-identified evangelical Christians made up 33 percent of the electorate.

To help you better understand the values and beliefs of this large group of Americans, many of whom are awakening with a start to their duties as Christian citizens, I am sending along recently tallied results of the 1995 Coral Ridge Ministries State of the Nation Survey. This annual write-in poll, sent to our friends and supporters nationwide, gauges the opinions of evangelical Christians on various social and moral issues.

Abortion emerges as a salient issue for this group in their consideration of candidates for public office. Fully 88 percent of those responding would not vote for an office-seeker who is "well-qualified in every aspect, but supports federally funded abortion." Further, abortion ranked second only to religious liberty as their issue of primary concern.

And, perhaps not surprisingly, those responding registered almost complete agreement when asked about matters such as taxation, government-controlled health care, pornography, homosexuality, and educational choice. Nearly all agreed that: "American families are weakened by over-taxation," government-controlled health care is consistent with biblical principles, "there is a link between pornography and sexually violent crimes," homosexuals should not be "granted special rights in housing and employment" and "education choice enhances religious freedom."

I hope you will bear in mind these responses, supplied by more than 30,000 people. While the survey results are unscientific and cannot be extrapolated to the general public, they nonetheless offer insight into the attitudes and concerns of evangelical Americans, a constituency often not well understood. Complete survey questions and results are enclosed for your examination.

Sincerely,

D. James Kennedy, Ph.D.

Subject: Coronado Vacation
To: president

President Clinton, I wish to express thanks for choosing Coronado last year as a vacation spot for yourself and your family. As A 4th Generation Coronadoian, I was appalled by the over abundance of press corp people in our small resort town. I hope that you will come back to Coronado to vacation, but please leave the press corp at home. I was under the impression that you were on vacation! As the job that you have is very stressful, you ought not to attract attention so you can rest, and enjoy yourself.

Thank you,

Dear Mr. McCurry:

I understand you are President Clinton's Press Secretary. Please tell me you are not the person who decided to place George Stephanopolis against the leader of the Christian Right, and Robert Rubin against Phil Gramm on the Sunday morning talk shows.

Both choices were really dumb! First of all, Stephanopolis is a nice kid and really bright, but he's no match for the fire breathing demagogue of the Christian Right. He literally got eaten alive. Just look at the tape and figure out how much air time the President got in that interview concerned to the Christian Coalition. I can tell you without even looking because of one simple fact...reporters ask the most questions to the most interesting interviewee! Anyone who's ever worked in the media (and I have 20 years of print and television experience) knows that. Stupid mistake!

Secondly, Bob Rubin is a nice guy and we like him, but HE DOES NOT SPEAK ENGLISH! I'm a college graduate, and I had trouble understanding his remarks. Even David Brinkley had to ask him to repeat one of his answers. Therefore, on one of the most important issues to this Administration, the President lost points to PHIL GRAMM! Do you think anybody in Bastrop, Louisiana sat glued to their sets while Bob expounded the values of...whatever he said? NO. Do you think they understood Phil Gramm who continued to promise them that they could keep more of their money and still get a tax break? Absolutely!

Now, Mr. McCurry...you must be a smart man or the President wouldn't like you so much. But, you (if you did this) gotta stop doing stupid stuff or the President is going to (once again) lose the public relations battle on an issue that should be a no-brainer. That's all I have to say, and since it's my opinion it doesn't mean a hill of beans to you big shots in Washington,

But, I will say this. Ask any major news organization why the media is so powerful, and this will be your response: The media knows and operates from the premise that Americans understand at a sixth grade level. If you don't teach the President's men (including Al Gore who is the world's worst) to talk at a sixth grade level the way Peter Jennings, Dan Rather, Tom Brockaw and all the Republicans do...you can all kiss 1996 good-bye.

Sincerely,

JG

Dear Sir, dear Madam:

My name is Anne Richardson. I am a U.S. citizen (age 18) living in Germany. At present I am gathering information for my school paper about the Clinton administration.

I would be interested to know if I could obtain from you any information about or transcripts of press conferences or interviews with the President or the First Lady, in particular where they express their views on the successes and failures of the present administration and their strategies for dealing with a Republican Congress. Please send me a list of what information is available along with the corresponding charges, or kindly let me know about other possible sources.

I would be most grateful for any help you could give me.

Gentlemen:

I understand that the personal income tax returns for both Bill and Hilary Clinton and Al and Tipper Gore have been made available to the press. I have seen excerpts from the tax returns but have not seen the entire returns.

I would like to receive a copy of both the 1993 and 1994 federal individual income tax returns for both the Clintons and the Gores. If there is a copy charge, please let me know.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

To whom it may concern:

I would like to receive a transcript of the President's speech to a joint session of the U.K. Parliament, delivered in November of last year.

You will undoubtedly recall that the President's appearance at the Palace of Westminster was part of his tour through the British Isles, which included time in Ireland. The "locals" cheered him for every speech he presented, but his words in Parliament were definitely his magnum opus!

With my thanks and good wishes,

Keep the peace

President Clinton, speaking before Parliament in England, said, "America will never turn to isolationism again." I hope not. I remember the fervent isolationists and "America First" zealots just before we were attacked by the Japanese in 1941. They thought we could ride out the war in Europe, but were proved wrong.

The atrocities and terrible cruelty in Bosnia have gone on unchallenged for too long. I am happy America brokered the peace and will try to help keep the peace. Blessed are the peacemakers.

Read with much interest about President Clinton traveling to Bosnia. The comments by two Bosnians in my newspaper were quite interesting. In Sarajevo Zlatan Pasic said "If the people here will listen to somebody, it definitely ^{WILL} be him". Nijas Cracic said "I don,t think he actually cares about us, he needs more votes to be elected again".

I was a W.W.2 B-17 co-pilot who flew several missions from Mendelsham, England to targets in Germany. One mission was to Munich, Germany. Yugoslavia was only a couple hundred miles south of Munich and we in the 8th Air Corps had heard of the Bosnian Partisans who were friendly to U.S. downed airmen.

I do not think President Clintons trip to Bosnia is purely political. I think he has deep feelings of sympathy for the Bosnian people just as I have. It took a lot of courage because even the V. F. W. is against American involvement.

Enclosed is my personal letter to my local paper here at Sarasota, Florida dated Dec. 9, 1996 endorsing President Clintons decision. Blessed are the peacemakers.

Respectfully,

I thank you for your attached letter but again like all others to the President it conveys nothing regarding our letter to you out of sheer desperation.

What we ask and can easily be answered is will the President or will he not make "any deals or compromises on Medicaid" ???
A simple yes or no is all that is asked which the President owes those of us who have supported him and question if we can continue in the future.

Talk Radio's Support

To the Editor:

I know these are tough days for The New York Times. Your circulation is falling. Your editorials go unheeded by the President of the United States. It takes energy and effort to cover monumental Republican successes. I feel your pain.

But "Talk Radio's Conservatives Erupt in the Budget Battle" (front page, Nov. 18) asserts: "Some of the hosts, like Rush Limbaugh, have begun urging listeners to call the White House with their complaints."

I did not give out the White House phone number, or urge listeners to call it — especially to "complain."

(1 My program is totally based on uplift, optimism and good cheer. ←)

For only the third time in my seven-year national radio broadcast, I gave out the Capitol Hill switchboard number, for listeners who wanted to convey to Republicans encouragement and support. I did this in an attempt to counter the weight of anti-Republican fervor in the mainstream media — including the venerable New York Times.

Dear Mr McCurry,

I am very interested in politics and so it cannot be helped that I collect autographs of famous politicians from all over the world.

Up to now I own more than 1200 autographs such as Konrad Adenauer, Michail Gorbatchev, Richard Nixon, Benazir Bhutto and King Fahd of Saudi-Arabia.

Now I would like to complete my collection with your autograph and I would be very glad if you send me your autographed photograph.

Thank you very much for your effort and all best wishes for the future.

yours sincerely,
