

FOIA MARKER

This is not a textual record. This is used as an administrative marker by the William J. Clinton Presidential Library Staff.

Collection/Record Group: Clinton Presidential Records

Subgroup/Office of Origin: Speechwriting

Series/Staff Member: Terry Edmonds

Subseries:

OA/ID Number: 10981

FolderID:

Folder Title:

6-23-95 C/G Fundraiser - Arkansas "Amer's Hope, Ark's Pride" Little Rock, AR

Stack:

S

Row:

0

Section:

0

Shelf:

0

Position:

0

Withdrawal/Redaction Sheet

Clinton Library

DOCUMENT NO. AND TYPE	SUBJECT/TITLE	DATE	RESTRICTION
001. schedule	Schedule of the President (partial) (2 pages)	06/23/95	P6/b(6)

COLLECTION:

Clinton Presidential Records
Speechwriting
Terry Edmonds
OA/Box Number: 10981

FOLDER TITLE:

6-23-95 C/G Fundraiser - Arkansas "Amer's Hope, Ark's Pride" Little Rock, AR

2006-0462-F

ry600

RESTRICTION CODES

Presidential Records Act - [44 U.S.C. 2204(a)]

Freedom of Information Act - [5 U.S.C. 552(b)]

P1 National Security Classified Information [(a)(1) of the PRA]
P2 Relating to the appointment to Federal office [(a)(2) of the PRA]
P3 Release would violate a Federal statute [(a)(3) of the PRA]
P4 Release would disclose trade secrets or confidential commercial or financial information [(a)(4) of the PRA]
P5 Release would disclose confidential advice between the President and his advisors, or between such advisors [(a)(5) of the PRA]
P6 Release would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy [(a)(6) of the PRA]

b(1) National security classified information [(b)(1) of the FOIA]
b(2) Release would disclose internal personnel rules and practices of an agency [(b)(2) of the FOIA]
b(3) Release would violate a Federal statute [(b)(3) of the FOIA]
b(4) Release would disclose trade secrets or confidential or financial information [(b)(4) of the FOIA]
b(6) Release would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy [(b)(6) of the FOIA]
b(7) Release would disclose information compiled for law enforcement purposes [(b)(7) of the FOIA]
b(8) Release would disclose information concerning the regulation of financial institutions [(b)(8) of the FOIA]
b(9) Release would disclose geological or geophysical information concerning wells [(b)(9) of the FOIA]

C. Closed in accordance with restrictions contained in donor's deed of gift.
PRM. Personal record misfile defined in accordance with 44 U.S.C. 2201(3).
RR. Document will be reviewed upon request.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON
CLINTON/GORE FUNDRAISER
LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS
JUNE 23, 1995

We couldn't have done it without all of you.

Acknowledgements and introduction. Thank you, Al for such a nice introduction. I am tremendously proud of what we have accomplished for the people of Arkansas and the people of America. ~~It's terrific, isn't it. Let me extend a hearty thank you to all of you for joining me this afternoon. It is a delight to be home with all of you! You have all played a very real role in helping to get this country back on the right track. And I thank you for it.~~ Special welcome to: Jay Dunn [Southeast campaign finance director], Doug Hederman [works for Skip Rutherford], and Maurice Mitchell.

I want to great

~~You know, like any American, I can feel at home amongst the soaring monuments to our nation that you find in Washington. Or amongst the soaring trees in Yellowstone Park. Or watching the soaring sky turn to gold along the grand beaches of Delaware. I love visiting these places. They are part of America and they are part of me. But I feel most at home right here, when I'm right here under the blue sky of Arkansas. Because this is the place where I learned about the unique opportunity and responsibility to do the most we can with our lives, and to be sure that others have the opportunity to do the same. This is where I learned about hard times, and learned that hard times have solutions. That tough problems can be solved. That individuals can succeed and communities can prosper at the same time. That we can do better. This is my birthplace as an American and what I learned about here is the American Dream.~~

It's
great
to be home.

~~When I was elected more than three years ago, the American Dream was on its way to becoming the American fairy tale. I traveled across this country and I met people who were doing their dead-level best to raise their kids, be productive workers, and responsible citizens. But the system had forgotten them. They had become the forgotten middle class. I heard story after story that confirmed and strengthened my concern that our children would become the first generation of Americans not to do as well as their parents. I felt we needed to stand together as a nation and do something about it.~~

People
here in Ark and there was a real possibility

~~The goal of my presidency has been to restore the American Dream. That means reinvigorating the middle class. Preserving our freedom. Maintaining our democracy. It means getting this country back on track so that our children have the same chance we did to build happy, productive and worthwhile lives. On this goal -- of restoring the American Dream -- I have never wavered.~~

~~Now, there are several ways to reach this goal. Vice President Gore has already mentioned some of the ways we've worked with~~ thing we've done

back in the office

It's
great
to be home.

the American Dream
it is the birthplace of
When I was elected more than three years ago, the American Dream was on its way to becoming the American fairy tale. I traveled across this country and I met people who were doing their dead-level best to raise their kids, be productive workers, and responsible citizens. But the system had forgotten them. They had become the forgotten middle class. I heard story after story that confirmed and strengthened my concern that our children would become the first generation of Americans not to do as well as their parents. I felt we needed to stand together as a nation and do something about it.
that the have the
the great American values of family,
hard work,
responsibility
and community.

~~tremendous success, I might add~~ to improve Arkansas and America. But our work is not yet done. Many middle class Americans are still finding it difficult to cope with the rapid changes of technology and with the new global economy. Many of them are working harder for the same or less money than they made 15 years ago. They are uncertain about their jobs, about crime, about their futures.

Debate in Washington

Today, there is a great debate going on in Washington about what more the government ought to do to solve these problems. In this debate, there are those who say our primary problems are personal and cultural, not economic and political. There are those who say the biggest problems we face are due to the fact that the federal government has too much authority, and more ought to be given to the state and local level. At one level they are right. If people don't do what they are supposed to, nothing the rest of us can do will make anybody get an education, or be a good parent, or stay out of a gang. But, I'm a Democrat because I believe the problems we face are personal and cultural, but not exclusively personal and cultural. I think we're put on this earth to try to help other people reach their full potential. And we're better off when we do that.

As you know, I have been a proponent of smaller government for a long time. When I was Governor, we shrunk state government and made it serve us better. We've been successful at doing the same on the national level. The Vice President and I have shrunk federal government by more than 100,000 positions since we came to Washington. So, we all agree that government should be smaller and more efficient, and that individual responsibility is essential to our success. The debate now turns to precisely what a smaller, better government should do for the American people.

I believe that government must be a partner to help people who work hard make the most of their lives.

Balanced Budget. To build a secure future for working families and all Americans, we must reduce the deficit and balance the budget.

Agreement. For the first time in a long time, the leaders in both parties share the will to balance the federal budget. We need to seize this opportunity. The real question is how can we do it in a way that is good for the long-run and the short-run futures of America.

Differences. There is bipartisan agreement about a balanced budget. But, there are differences between my approach and what Congressional leaders want to do. The difference is between necessary cuts and unacceptable pain. Yes, there is a budget deficit, but there is also an education deficit and an investment deficit in the American people. I believe we have to reduce the deficit and at the same time continue to invest in the things that make us strong: education, technology, health care, the environment. My proposal does not give big tax cuts to upper-income people who really don't need them. We will save that money and put it back into education and medical care for the elderly and others who are in real need. So, let's find a way to balance the budget and still invest in the education and training and empowerment of all the people we expect to lead us into the 21st century. That's what it means to be a Democrat. And that's why I'm proud to be one.

When we talk about investing in people, here's what we mean:

Education. You and I are winners. We have the education and training to thrive in this global economy. I feel very fortunate just to stand here tonight. I'm the first person in my family to get a college education. I had student loans and I paid them back, but I needed them badly. For people to have the chance to make the most of their lives in the 21st century, we must give them the choice of lifelong learning -- constant re-education and training. We must give our children the same opportunities we had. Cutting education now would be like cutting the Defense Department at the height of the Cold War.

Environment. If you have no faith in government at all, then you're not doing anything wrong by letting polluters rewrite the laws like they are doing now in Congress. I don't believe that and most Americans don't either. We must not forsake our stewardship of the environment.

Minimum Wage. If you believe that the market always solves all problems, and the government only messes things up, it's understandable why you would be against raising the minimum wage. But we know better. If we don't raise the minimum wage this year, it's going to be at the lowest level in 40 years next year. If we are serious about reforming welfare and moving people to work, we must make work pay. We ought to raise the minimum wage. It's the right thing to do.

Welfare reform. Real welfare reform moves people from dependence to independence -- from a welfare check to a paycheck. The Democratic approach to welfare reform achieves this without simply cutting people off or hurting their children. This will save more money down the road than the other Congressional proposals.

Crime bill. One of our most important challenges and responsibilities is to make sure that Americans feel more secure in their homes and neighborhoods. That our children can learn in school and not fear for their safety. That's why I fought hard to put 100,000 new police officers on the street. That's why we fought hard to pass an assault weapons ban. That's why we will keep those commitments.

Going Up and Down Together. In the face of all these challenges, I believe our nation is in the best position of any country to seize the opportunities of the 21st century, but only if we understand that we will go up and down together. It is folly for any of us to believe that we can live and function and make the most of our lives all by ourselves. That's why we are Democrats. We have always embraced the idea that beyond our families, we have work, we have communities, we have states, and we are part of a country. We must go forward together. We have been divided long enough. There are children out there to be saved and a world to be made, and that is what we intend to do.

Thank you and God bless you all.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON
CLINTON/GORE FUNDRAISER
SOMERSET, NEW JERSEY
JUNE 22, 1995

Acknowledgements and introduction. Thank you, Al for that gracious introduction. Senators Lautenberg and Bradley -- powerful voices in the Senate and a great team for New Jersey. Senator Lautenberg won a tough battle to return to the Senate last year. We're glad he's back. Senator Bradley is up for re-election next year. Let's make sure he returns. His voice is vital for the direction of America. Al DeCotiis, Lou Katz, Ray Lesniak, Jack Rosen, Bob Raymar. Hillary and I are delighted to be back here in New Jersey with members of our extended family which includes all of you, and our good friends, Al and Tipper Gore.

'92 Bus Tour. You might recall that New Jersey was the first stop in that great moment for all of us, our 1992 Bus Tour. And I have fond memories of one of our last stops in that campaign -- a wonderful rally at the Meadowlands the Sunday night before the election. You have been among our biggest supporters. You were with us at the beginning. You are with us now. Thank you.

Keep the American Dream alive. During the Bus Tour, we met hundreds of hard working people across this state who were doing their dead-level best to be productive workers and responsible citizens. For too long they had been the forgotten middle class. I ran for President because I was profoundly worried that our children could become the first generation of Americans not to do as well as their parents. Our job is to restore the American Dream as we face the challenges and opportunities of a new century. To reinvigorate the middle class. To preserve our freedom, maintain our democracy, and do what is necessary to help the people of New Jersey and all Americans make the most of their lives.

Our work is not yet done. Many middle class Americans, like the ones we met on that Bus Tour, are finding it difficult to cope with the rapid changes of technology and with the new global economy. Many of them are working harder for the same or less money than they made 15 years ago. They are uncertain about their jobs, about crime, about their futures. So, we have dedicated ourselves to doing all we can to empower people to prosper in this new environment. And, as the Vice President has said, we have made significant progress [VEEP does accomplishments]. Our work is not yet done.

Ford Motor tour today. So, I am glad to be back here in New Jersey to finish what we started two-and-a-half years ago. Earlier today, we talked to the workers at a Ford Motor plant in Edison. They represent the heart and soul of America -- hard working middle class men and women who get up every day, go to work, produce the finest products in the world, and who are committed to building a future of prosperity for themselves and their children.

Debate in Washington. There is a great debate going on in Washington about the proper role of government. There are those who say our primary problems are personal and cultural, not economic and political. There are those who say the biggest problems we face are due to the fact that the federal government has too much authority, and more ought to be given to the state and local level. At one level they are right. If people don't do what they are supposed to, nothing the rest of us can do will make anybody get an education, or be a good parent, or stay out of a gang. But, I'm a Democrat because I believe the problems we face are personal and cultural, but not exclusively personal and cultural. And I think we're put on this earth to try to help other people reach their full potential. And we're better off when we do that.

I have been a proponent of smaller government for a long time. In fact, the Vice President and I have been successful in shrinking the size of government by more than 100,000 positions since we came to Washington. So, we all agree that government should be smaller and more efficient, and that individual responsibility is essential to our success. The debate now turns to precisely what a smaller, better government should do for the American people.

I believe that government must be a partner to help people who work hard make the most of their lives.

Balanced Budget. To build a secure future for working families and all Americans, we must reduce the deficit and balance the budget.

Agreement. For the first time in a long time, the leaders in both parties share the will to balance the federal budget. We need to seize this opportunity. The real question is how can we do it in a way that is good for the long-run and the short-run futures of America.

Differences. There is bipartisan agreement about a balanced budget. But, there are differences between my approach and what Congressional leaders want to do. The difference is between necessary cuts and unacceptable pain. Yes, there is a budget deficit, but there is also an education deficit and an investment deficit in the American people. I believe we have to reduce the deficit and at the same time continue to invest in the things that make us strong: education, technology, health care, the environment. My proposal does not give big tax cuts to upper-income people who really don't need them. We will save that money and put it back into education and medical care for the elderly and others who are in real need. So, let's find a way to balance the budget and still invest in the education and training and empowerment of all the people we expect to lead us into the 21st century. That's what it means to be a Democrat. And that's why I'm proud to be one.

When we talk about investing in people, here's what we mean:

Education. You and I are winners. We have the education and training to thrive in this global economy. I feel very fortunate just to stand here tonight. I'm the first person in my family to get a college education. I had student loans and I paid them back, but I needed them badly. For people to have the chance to make the most of their lives in the 21st century, we must give them the choice of lifelong learning -- constant re-education and training. We must give our children the same opportunities we had. Cutting education now would be like cutting the Defense Department at the height of the Cold War.

Environment. If you have no faith in government at all, then you're not doing anything wrong by letting polluters rewrite the laws like they are doing now in Congress. I don't believe that and most Americans don't either. We must not forsake our stewardship of the environment. We must protect the Jersey seashore and keep the air and water safe and clean for future generations.

Minimum Wage. If you believe that the market always solves all problems, and the government only messes things up, it's understandable why you would be against raising the minimum wage. But we know better. If we don't raise the minimum wage this year, it's going to be at the lowest level in 40 years next year. If we are serious about reforming welfare and moving people to work, we must make work pay. We ought to raise the minimum wage. It's the right thing to do.

Welfare reform. Real welfare reform moves people from dependence to independence -- from a welfare check to a paycheck. The Democratic approach to welfare reform achieves this without simply cutting people off or hurting their children. This will save more money down the road than the other Congressional proposals.

Crime bill. One of our most important challenges and responsibilities is to make sure that Americans feel more secure in their homes and neighborhoods. That our children can learn in school and not fear for their safety. That's why I fought hard to put 100,000 new police officers on the street. That's why we fought hard to pass an assault weapons ban. That's why we will keep those commitments.

Going Up and Down Together. In the face of all these challenges, I believe our nation is in the best position of any country to seize the opportunities of the 21st century, but only if we understand that we will go up and down together. It is folly for any of us to believe that we can live and function and make the most of our lives all by ourselves. That's why we are Democrats. We have always embraced the idea that beyond our families, we have work, we have communities, we have states, and we are part of a country. We must go forward together. We have been divided long enough. There are children out there to be saved and a world to be made, and that is what we intend to do.

Thank you and God bless you all.

Remarks
For
The Vice President
At
Clinton-Gore Luncheon
Excelsior Hotel
Little Rock, Arkansas
June 23, 1995

(ACKNOWLEDGMENTS FROM ADVANCE)

This is a homecoming for the President -- but it is for me, too.

The TCBY building right across the street. The old Gazette building -- where we all spent so many hours during the campaign. Right down the street, at the Courthouse, where we all celebrated an election night I know I'll never forget. And I've got a huge to-go order for Doe's tamales and rolls from Your Mama's Good Food for all the folks stuck back in D.C.

But mostly, it feels like my own coming home party because of you.

You made me feel so welcome back in 1992. I was grateful then and I still am. We've done so much together: now, I look on you all as family.

I know that most of you have been keeping pretty good tabs on the Governor since he's been away, but there might be at least one or two of you out there who are wondering if your local boy has made good. Let me tell you: has he ever!

Thanks to the Governor of Arkansas, there are now 6.7 million new jobs across the nation.

Thanks to the Governor of Arkansas, the deficit has been reduced for three years in a row -- and that's the first time that's happened since Harry Truman was in office.

Thanks to the Governor of Arkansas, there is a brighter future for our children. First, he expanded Head Start. Then he brought Goals 2000 to our schools. And then student loan reforms and National Service. To give our young people an opportunity to serve our nation, and themselves, by earning money for college. And for those who don't want to go to college -- he saw that they need opportunity, too: so now we have School-to-Work.

Thanks to the Governor of Arkansas, there is a Family and Medical Leave Act so that parents will never have to face the choice of their jobs and caring for their children.

Thanks to the Governor of Arkansas, working families are getting tax cuts -- more than 200,000 [202,759] in his state alone. Small businesses are getting tax cuts. There again, more than 12,200 [12,238] here in Arkansas.

Thanks to the Governor of Arkansas, the federal government is down to its lowest workforce since the Kennedy Administration, a drop of 272,000. And at the same time, it is now working more efficiently to serve its consumers: you.

Thanks to the Governor of Arkansas, we are protecting our environment, not just nationally but internationally.

Thanks to the Governor of Arkansas, the world has seen the growth of peace. Peace in Middle East, Northern Ireland, South Africa, Haiti. The leaders of the world are coming together.

All things considered, that isn't a bad record for a governor of a small southern state.

And all things considered, it has been great for our nation.

Now, there have been a lot of changes in D.C. in the past few months. Not all of them good: like when David Pryor announced his retirement. But I want you to know -- without a doubt -- we are still committed to going forward and making progress.

Going forward isn't a big idea for the Republicans. My attitude to them, well, it kind of reminds me of a Top Ten list of Governor Clinton's I saw once: one of them was something like "People are generally for change. It's in specifics when they have a problem."

Well, the President and I like the change and growth this Administration has been bringing the country.

And we do have a very specific problem with the way the Republicans are trying to turn back the clock.

They want to give tax breaks for the rich when they deny the working people a fair minimum wage.

They want to gut the education programs of our children. I have a specific problem with cutting school lunch programs and Public Television.

They want to stop us from putting 100,000 new police officers on the street.

They want to hurt Medicare and our elderly. I have a very specific problem with that.

They want to cut entire departments of the government instead of responsibly fix what doesn't work while still keeping what you need.

They want to repeal the environmental regulations that have cleaned our waterways and restored our lands. You all know that I have more than one problem with that.

Luckily, there is a President who has the solution. And I'm not just talking about his great new budget plan.

I'm talking about a President with leadership and integrity. Commitment to our children. Commitment to our families. Commitment to our nation.

And make no mistake: the reason we now have a President with such drive and energy is because of the people of Arkansas. You were there for him when things looked tough... just like you were out there on the lawn on Election Night. I know it... and so does he.

Now, we need your help again. The nation needs to see you out there once again -- reminding us all about what an incredible leader Bill Clinton was as governor, and is as President. And it doesn't matter whether you're here tonight, or back at a campaign office, or going around the country as an Arkansas Traveler -- I hope you'll be doing all three and more.

But what really does matter is that we are all spreading the word together.

That's how we will win. That's how we will help Arkansas. That's how we will help America.

And now, to tell us more about his vision of America, I want to present the man you've been waiting for. The man who -- thanks to the good people of Arkansas -- has done so much for this state and our nation, the President of the United States. Bill Clinton.

Withdrawal/Redaction Marker

Clinton Library

DOCUMENT NO. AND TYPE	SUBJECT/TITLE	DATE	RESTRICTION
001. schedule	Schedule of the President (partial) (2 pages)	06/23/95	P6/b(6)

COLLECTION:

Clinton Presidential Records
Speechwriting
Terry Edmonds
OA/Box Number: 10981

FOLDER TITLE:

6-23-95 C/G Fundraiser - Arkansas "Amer's Hope, Ark's Pride" Little Rock, AR

2006-0462-F
ry600

RESTRICTION CODES

Presidential Records Act - [44 U.S.C. 2204(a)]

P1 National Security Classified Information [(a)(1) of the PRA]
P2 Relating to the appointment to Federal office [(a)(2) of the PRA]
P3 Release would violate a Federal statute [(a)(3) of the PRA]
P4 Release would disclose trade secrets or confidential commercial or financial information [(a)(4) of the PRA]
P5 Release would disclose confidential advice between the President and his advisors, or between such advisors [(a)(5) of the PRA]
P6 Release would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy [(a)(6) of the PRA]

C. Closed in accordance with restrictions contained in donor's deed of gift.

PRM. Personal record misfile defined in accordance with 44 U.S.C. 2201(3).

RR. Document will be reviewed upon request.

Freedom of Information Act - [5 U.S.C. 552(b)]

b(1) National security classified information [(b)(1) of the FOIA]
b(2) Release would disclose internal personnel rules and practices of an agency [(b)(2) of the FOIA]
b(3) Release would violate a Federal statute [(b)(3) of the FOIA]
b(4) Release would disclose trade secrets or confidential or financial information [(b)(4) of the FOIA]
b(6) Release would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy [(b)(6) of the FOIA]
b(7) Release would disclose information compiled for law enforcement purposes [(b)(7) of the FOIA]
b(8) Release would disclose information concerning the regulation of financial institutions [(b)(8) of the FOIA]
b(9) Release would disclose geological or geophysical information concerning wells [(b)(9) of the FOIA]

Terry

SCHEDULE OF THE PRESIDENT
FOR
FRIDAY, JUNE 23, 1995

tba

MORNING RUN

tba

THE PRESIDENT departs [redacted] (b)(6) Residence via motorcade en route Excelsior Hotel
[drive time:]

[001]

Motorcade manifest:

tba

THE PRESIDENT arrives Excelsior Hotel

11:30 am-
11:45 am

MEET WITH JIM DUPREE AND HARVEY JOE SANNER
JOSEPHINE'S LIBRARY
Excelsior Hotel
Staff Contact: Bob Nash
CLOSED PRESS

12:00 pm-
2:00 pm

CLINTON/GORE '96 FUNDRAISING LUNCH
WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON BALLROOM
Excelsior Hotel
Remarks: Terry Edmonds
Staff Contact: Doug Sosnick
POOL PRESS

- Offstage announcement of the President, the First Lady, Vice President Gore and Mrs. Gore.
- Maurice Mitchell makes welcoming remarks and introduces Mack McLarty.
- Mack McLarty makes brief remarks and introduces Mrs. Gore.
- Mrs. Gore makes brief remarks and introduces the First Lady.
- The First Lady makes brief remarks and introduces Vice President Gore.
- Vice President Gore makes brief remarks and introduces the President.
- The President makes remarks.

as of 06/21/95 12:51pm

— All four principals exit stage??, work ropeline?? and depart.

2:00 pm-

2:45 pm

MEETING WITH DNC TRUSTEES

JOSEPHINE'S LIBRARY

Excelsior Hotel

Staff Contact: Doug Sosnick

CLOSED PRESS

— The President will informally meet and greet guests.

2:45 pm

DOWN FOR DAY

tba

THE PRESIDENT and the First Lady depart site via motorcade en route (b)(6) Residence

[drive time:]

Motorcade manifest:

tba

THE PRESIDENT and the First Lady arrive (b)(6)

Residence

BC AND HRC RON

(b)(6) RESIDENCE

LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS

E X E C U T I V E O F F I C E O F T H E P R E S I D E N T

20-Jun-1995 04:23pm

TO: James T. Edmonds
FROM: Gabrielle M. Bushman
 Office of Communications

SUBJECT: AR fundraiser

Thanks again for taking us to the Mess. I think my mom really enjoyed it.

Here's a few details on the AR fundraiser:

Program:

Rev. Horne will give the invocation
Mack McLarty
Tipper Gore
HRC
.VPOTUS
POTUS

Appx 800 people will attend.

I will keep giving you details as they dribble in.

E X E C U T I V E O F F I C E O F T H E P R E S I D E N T

20-Jun-1995 05:22pm

TO: James T. Edmonds
FROM: Karen L. Hancox
 Office of Political Affairs

SUBJECT: NJ / AR

6-2777

Here are the acknowledgements:

New Jersey:

Al DeCotiis -
Lou Katz -
Ray Lesniak -
Jack Rosen -
Bob Raymar -

} finance

Arkansas:

Jay Dunn -
Doug Hederman -
Maurice Mitchell

S.E. finance director for Campaign works for Skip Rutherford Rutherford asked they be receiving

thanks

E X E C U T I V E O F F I C E O F T H E P R E S I D E N T

20-Jun-1995 05:36pm

TO: Karen L. Hancox
TO: Gabrielle M. Bushman
TO: Rebecca A. Cameron

FROM: Anne Walley
Appointments and Scheduling

SUBJECT: DNC fundraiser in Little Rock

I wanted to let you know that Truman Arnold has requested that the President give brief remarks and then meet and greet after his remarks. I advised Kirk Hanlin the lead advance to have the toast lecturn available for the President. Karen or Gabrielle, can you pass this on to whoever would write the remarks or tell me who to talk to about this. Thanks