Clinton Extends Ban

On Off-Shore Oil Drilling

By John M. Broder

President Clinton, navigating a middle course between environmental groups and oil companies, announced a 10-year extension of the moratorium on oil drilling off virtually all American ocean coastlines. Clinton also placed several marine sanctuaries permanently off-limits to oil exploration.

Chinese Army's Satellite Use

By Jeff Gerth

China's military has relied on American-made satellites sold for civilian purposes to transmit messages to its far-flung army garrisons for the last two years, according to highly classified intelligence reports.

Mayor Plans Command Office

at World Trade Center

By Kit R. Roane

Mayor Giuliani plans to build a $15.1 million emergency control center at the World Trade Center complex - bullet-proofed, hardened to withstand bombs and hurricanes, and equipped with enough food and beds to accommodate at least 30 people for up to a week.

Economy of Japan Continues Decline

By Sheryl WuDunn

The world's second-largest economy sank at a stunning annual rate of 5.3 percent in the first quarter of this year, according to official figures that painted

d an even bleaker picture than many economists had expected.

No Escaping Motherhood on Campaign Trail

By Melinda Henneberger

As more mothers of young children run for office, they are finding that the issue works in subtle ways with voters, many experts say.

NATO and Russia Set

Deadline for Yugoslavia

By Craig R. Whitney

The United States, Russia and six other major industrial nations that are meeting in London gave President Slobodan Milosevic of Yugoslavia until Tuesday to call off Serbian attacks on ethnic Albanians in Kosovo.

Pre-Emptive Action on Judge

By Neil A. Lewis

Republican senators have been blocking the elevation of Judge Sonia Sotomayor of United States District Court to a Federal appeals court mainly to make her less likely to be picked by President Clinton for the Supreme Court, senior Republican Congressional aides said.

 Pakistani Rebuff for India,

but Talks May Be Closer

By John F. Burns

An Indian proposal for talks with Pakistan later this month on ways of lessening tensions in the subcontinent was quickly rejected by Pakistan, but the exchange appeared to have moved both Governments closer to direct negotiations over the crisis set off by the nuclear tests that both conducted last month.

New Slant on the 60's: The Past

Made New

By Patricia Cohen

Historians are beginning to argue that the sixties do not represent as cataclysmic a break as portrayed or as exceptional a decade as the proliferation of co llege courses on the period would suggest.

<P>

William Finnegan's 'C
old New World'

<P>

William Finnegan examines American society through four young people and discov ers a bleak outlook.

 New Business School Program Takes On 'Information Strategy'

By David J. Wallace

"Combat economics" is how Eric Clemons describes a new program he and several students have developed at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. It combines two previously distinct fields: business strategy and information technology.

Quotation of the Day

t a time wh en the Mayor is screaming and yelling about pork in city government and trying to cut city services that keep libraries and day care centers open, it seems bi zarre to me that the city would be putting nearly $16 million into a rented spa ce that the city doesn't even own."
