AUG 17 1994

Before you and other members of your staff take off for a well deserved, late summer vacation, you might want to consider having a quick meeting to review our strategies and activities for CBC Legislative Week.

In addition to the message/talking points for Administration officials, we also discussed, generally, your hosting a meeting/briefing with the Black Leadership Roundtable, i.e. the heads of the 100 or so national black organizations. We need to provide information to this leadership group on what the President and Clinton Administration have been doing on behalf of African Americans. This briefing could include Black cabinet members. This would be especially helpful to the Secretary of Agriculture.

We also need to discuss the September launching of a coordinated African American communications initiative to get the Administration's message over to our people. This climate of awareness is critical in the November electoral process.

AFRICAN AMERICANS IN THE TELECOMMUNICATIONS AGE

A Free One-day Conference

September 14, 1994:
The second day of the Annual
Congressional Black Caucus Legislative Conference

Washington Convention Center
900 9th Street, NW

Hear Vice President Al Gore and Secretary of Commerce Ron Brown speak on the information highway and what it means for the African-American community

Hosts:

The Congressional Black Caucus Foundation and American Visions magazine

Are You Ready for the Revolution?

America is at the beginning of a revolution in telecommunications that promises to alter fundamentally the way we do business, the way we learn, the way we interact, and the way we spend our leisure time.

But are you, is black America, ready for this revolution?

The African-American community is ill-situated to take advantage of this revolution. So the call is going out for the leadership, for the visionaries in the community, to assemble to discuss African Americans and technology in the 21st century.

Agenda and Workshops

Welcoming Address and Opening Speakers

Concurrent Morning Workshops:

Broadcasting in the Information Age

Computer Literacy, Long-distance Learning and Job Training for the New Workplace

Regulating the Information Highway: Access,
Equity and Diversity

Hailed as "entertaining, inspirational, moving—a sweet anthem of a play" (The New York Times), this sharply witty, powerfully moving play from New Jersey's acclaimed Crossroads Theater tells the story of a turn-of-the-century family of black women who leave their homes in the south and head west for the bountiful land and the right to create their own "paradise." Flyin' West tells a memorable tale of courage and frontier justice, spiced with wit and served with love. The cast features Tony Award-winner Trazana Beverley and stage and television star Ruby Dee!

The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts is the national center for the performing arts where the world's finest artists and entertainers light up the Center's five stages with outstanding presentations of theater, music and dance. Every year, more than one million patrons enjoy performances at the Center; three million visitors to the nation's capital tour the building, which is a memorial to the late president; and thousands more benefit from the Center's arts education programs nationwide. The Kennedy Center is pleased to begin its 1994-95 theater season with the Crossroads Theatre production of Flyin' West.

Crossroads Theatre Company, regarded as one of the nation's most accomplished African American theater companies, was founded in 1978 by Ricardo Khan and L. Kenneth Richardson, two young African Americans, who envisioned a theater company that would offer black artists greater opportunities to develop and nurture their craft. Propelled by a mission to promote and develop African American theater for its artistic and social value, Crossroads has emerged as a "World Theater" that, in the words of one critic, "sets out consciously and consistently, to engage and illuminate the wider world."

In 16 years, Crossroads has enriched the canon of Black theater with 32 world premieres of such notable works as George C. Wolfe's The Colored Museum and Spunk, Leslie Lee's Black Eagles, and Duma Ndlovu's Sheila's Day, all of which have toured under the auspices of the company's NewRoads program. Last year, Crossroads became the first Actors' Equity company to perform in South Africa in more than 30 years. In 1991, it was honored with the National Governor's Association Award for Distinguished Service in the Arts and has been consistently designated a Major Impact Organization by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

Through its Associate Artists program, Crossroads provides a creative nurturing ground for the projects of such established artists as Ruby Dee, Avery Brooks, Ntozake Shange, and Mbongeni Ngema. Crossroads enhances the educational experiences and career opportunities for aspiring black theater professionals through its African American College Initiative Program in collaboration with seven historically African American institutions including Howard, Hampton and Florida A&M universities.

Also playing at the Kennedy Center during the conference:

- The musical hit Miss Saigon.
- The National Symphony Orchestra and a roster of acclaimed singers perform selections from George Gershwin's Porgy and Bess.
- Shear Madness, the comedy whodunit that lets the audience play armchair detective.

For program information and tickets, call (202) 467-4600 or toll-free (800) 444-1324.

Dear Ms. Herman:

I would like to invite you to join me on September 13, 1994 at a reception hosted by Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison, Senator Barbara Mikulski and Representative Nancy Johnson honoring Deloitte & Touche LLP for it being nationally recognized as one of America's best 100 companies for working women.

As you know, women have made significant contributions to make America a leader in the global economy. Companies that recognize the importance of tapping fully the talents of all our citizens are those that will lead us successfully to the next century. That is why as Secretary of Labor I made the Glass Ceiling Initiative one of my top priorities, and that is why I'm pleased to be currently chairing Deloitte & Touche's Council for the Advancement of Women.

The reception will take place in Room EF100 in the Capitol from 5:00 to 6:30 p.m. We will be joined by J. Michael Cook, Chairman & CEO of Deloitte & Touche LLP, and other members of the House and Senate.

We look forward to seeing you on September 13. Please RSVP by September 8 to Judy Natkin at 202-879-5333.
