THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary

Embargoed For Release
Until 10:06 A.M. EST
Saturday, February 6, 1999

RADIO ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT TO THE NATION

The Oval Office

THE PRESIDENT: Good morning. Six years ago, I determined Washington had to get off the sidelines and join the front lines in the fight against crime. I committed my administration to recovering our streets from violence; to reclaiming our neighborhoods as safe havens for families. Since then, we've pursued a new strategy of law enforcement based not on tough talk, but on tougher penalties, better prevention, and the substantial, visible presence of community police.

This strategy is showing remarkable results. Since 1993, crime rates in America have fallen to the lowest point in a quarter-century. Property crime is down. Violent crime has dropped 20 percent in the last six years. The murder rate is the lowest in 30 years. Americans can take pride in streets that are safer, but mostly they can take comfort in lives that are more secure.

There are many reasons that crime is in a sharp decline. Chief among them is our growing ability to keep guns out of the hands of criminals. Gun-related crime is on the wane, and it's no wonder. According to a recent report by the Justice Department, the background checks we required in the Brady law have put a stop to nearly a quarter-million handgun purchases. Thanks to Brady, we turn away more than 200 felons a day, sending them home empty-handed instead of well-armed. And now that the Insta-Check system is in effect, we can conduct these checks in even less time. Retail gun stores, sporting goods stores, licensed gun dealers -- they're all working to keep guns out of the hands of felons and fugitives.

But there's a loophole in the law, and criminals know how to exploit it. They go to gun shows. Last year, there were more than 4,400 gun shows all across America. I come from a state where these shows are very popular. I have visited and enjoyed them over the years. I know they're the first place where many parents teach their children how to handle firearms safely.

But at the same time, at too many gun shows, criminals are buying guns with no questions asked. That's because the law permits some sellers -- one-quarter to one-half of the vendors at a typical gun show -- to skip the background checks required by Brady. That is a significant loophole. It's wide enough that criminals reach right through it, grabbing, collectively, thousands of firearms that disappear without a trace.

Last fall, I asked the Secretary of the Treasury and the Attorney General to report on the problem and to come up with solutions. I now have their report. It is sensible and sobering. It shows conclusively that gun shows are a forum for gun traffickers, a cash-and-carry convenience store for weapons used to maim and kill.

We must close this loophole. America cannot allow its gun shows to become illegal arms bazaars, where lawbreakers shop side-by-side with the law-abiding. That's why I strongly support the recommendations of Secretary Rubin and Attorney General Reno. We should extend Brady checks and gun-tracing records to any and all open markets where large numbers of firearms are sold. And we should vigorously and fairly enforce the rules. The gun lobby may not want to hear this, but clearly it's the right thing to do.

No background check, no gun. No exceptions.

To toughen enforcement of the existing law, my balanced budget includes new funds to hire more than 100 agents of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. These agents will help arrest violent criminals and gun traffickers, and will shut down illegal purchases of firearms. My budget also increases funding for firearms prosecutions, and expands our successful efforts to keep guns out of the hands of violent youth.

In these efforts, I am thankful for the leadership of Senator Lautenberg, and Congressman Blagojevich, who will introduce legislation to make this gun show policy the law of the land. I'm joined today by Senator Lautenberg, along with Senator Dick Durbin from Illinois, and Congresswoman Julia Carson from Indiana, as well as Deputy Attorney General Eric Holder. I thank them all for their support.

I'm looking forward to working with members of both parties in the coming months, so that together we can strengthen the laws that serve us so well, and in doing so, build a stronger America for the 21st century.

Thanks for listening.

END

Kyoto Critics in Senate Ready Legislation

Four of the Senate's most outspoken critics of the Kyoto climate treaty are preparing to introduce legislation mid-month that would address global climate issues through market-based mechanisms.

Senators Chuck Hagel (R-NE), Robert Byrd (D-WV), Larry Craig (R-ID) and Energy and Natural Resources Chairman Murkowski (R-AK) will cosponsor the bill.

A Hagel spokeswoman said the legislation would include provisions to increase scientific research on climate change, invest in long-term research and development and remove tax and regulatory barriers that prevent voluntary industry action.

The bill is a recognition that Kyoto is going nowhere, the spokeswoman said and is a market-based way to approach climate change.

Office of the Press Secretary

For Immediate Release February 6, 1999

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

At this difficult time, my thoughts and prayers, as well as those of all Americans, are with his Majesty King Hussein, his family and the people of Jordan. The United States stands by Jordan and is determined to do all that it can to support and strengthen it.

Next week, I will ask Congress promptly to provide the $300 million in supplemental bilateral assistance to Jordan that was promised as part of the Wye agreement.

The United States is working with the international community to mobilize additional resources to help Jordan maintain its economic stability. We are consulting with key allies, including our G-7 partners and the Gulf States, on further steps to support Jordan.

The International Monetary Fund will play a leading role in marshaling international support for Jordan. Substantial resources can be mobilized quickly under a new IMF program with expedited procedures.

The World Bank also is preparing to provide additional support for Jordan's economic reform program.

In addition, the United States will support substantial rescheduling of Jordan's obligations to bilateral creditors through the Paris Club, on the basis of an IMF program.

These initiatives by the international community, combined with U.S. direct bilateral assistance, will provide substantial resources in support of Jordanian economic stability and growth.

THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Vice President

Release

STATEMENT OF VICE PRESIDENT GORE ON THE PASSING OF KING HUSSEIN

At a time of tumult and turmoil in his region and in the world, His Majesty King Hussein of Jordan raised a rich, resonant voice for peace and progress in Jordan and throughout the Middle East.

In a region known for conflict, he moved people toward peace by appealing to their hopes and not their fears. He proved to the world that he could defend the interests of his own people, while still respecting the interests of other people. Indeed, he believed he could not do one without the other.

That is why, more than four years ago, here on the South Lawn of the White House, King Hussein and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin declared their commitment to a new era of peace on both sides of the River Jordan.

A true peacemaker must have courage, because nothing makes so persuasive a case for peace as the courage to risk one's life for peace. That is the kind of courage King Hussein had; that is the kind of courage can wake the conscience of the world. That courage made King Hussein a statesman in the eyes of his allies, and helped open the minds and hearts of his adversaries -- who began to ponder his message because they admired his example.

When King Hussein's life and legacy are recorded, historians will remember not only that he boldly risked his life for peace, but that in the end, he gave his last vital energy for peace. Fighting the fatigue of chemotherapy and the pain of cancer, with no more than a few months to live, he forced his weary body to Wye Plantation. There, in that deep, sonorous voice that seemed to summon the soul of wisdom itself, he pled with the Palestinians and Israelis to keep taking risks for peace.

Tipper and I extend our heartfelt sympathy to Her Majesty Queen Noor, to King Hussein's son and successor the new King Abdullah, to members of the royal family, to the Jordanian people, and to all the many millions, east and west, who today have suffered the loss of their hero. After fighting so long for peace, he is now himself at peace. May God embrace him, bless him and reward him for his valiant life's work.

THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary

For Immediate Release
February 7, 1999

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

Hillary and I are deeply saddened by the news that King Hussein of Jordan has passed away. I had prayed this day would not come soon. But God has called King Hussein to his reward. The prayers of all Americans go out to the royal family and the Jordanian people.

No words can convey what King Hussein meant to the people he led for nearly half a century. Words cannot convey what he meant to me as a friend and inspiration. Through good times and bad, through health and illness, he showed the power of a strong will applied to a worthy cause. It takes a rare kind of courage to be a peacemaker - the courage to learn from the past and imagine a better future. When peace finally comes to the Middle East, his name will be inscribed upon it. That day, King Hussein will smile on us one more time.

I had the honor of seeing him just a few weeks ago, as he was about to return home. There was no hint of the struggle he was waging. Instead, he spoke with his usual passion and humanity about Jordan's well-being, the future of the Arab world, the Palestinian cause, and peace with Israel.

To Queen Noor, to Crown Prince Abdullah, to the King's family, and to the people of Jordan, Hillary and I send our condolences. The United States stands with you -- today, tomorrow, and in the future. I ask all Americans to remember this good man and his family.

Recommend inviting:

Melinda
Mark Mazur
David Jhirad (DoE DAS who handles China/energy relationship)
Bill Nitze
David Berman (spec asst to Carol B, working on her China trip)
Dirk
Ken Lieberthal & Jeff Bader (NSC/Asia)
Susan Shirk (State China DAS)

(b)(3)

[003]

Jeff Frankel
David Festa
Roger

Would ask David Jh. to bring technical people who can speak to trends/potential in China power plant development. (b)(3) can probably do this, too.) Need at least one of Lieberthal, Bader and Shirk, but not all.

Would be happy to convene this (like Russia meetings), or have you do it. Will get better representation if you do. Would circulate article and your summary ahead of time. Think Nitze is out next week, but he's not essential.

Also fyi Sandy held a China PC last week. Will be more of these leading up to Zhu Rongji visit. You may want to get a seat at the table - let's discuss.
